Advocating a law that will prohibit the killing of cattle until they have reached a certain age, because cattle are becoming scarce, a committee recently appointed by the chamber of commerce of the District of Columbia will confer with Secretary of Agriculture Houston. After investigation the committee has decided that within the next 10 years children will have to wear shoes, beef will sell at between 40 and 50 cents a pound, milk will be at least 15 cents a quart and the price of butter will soar to the sky. All this is laid to the killing of cattle without giving them a chance to breed. The only way in which to stop this, says the committee, is to have passed a law which will prohibit the killing of cattle until a fixed age, which should be three years in the case of steers and six years for cows.

A. C. McMahon indicted.

Contrary to established custom Ambrose C. McMahon, charged with bribing and corrupting a juror, was not arrested Saturday, says the Youngstown Vindicator. Prosecutor A. M. Henderson instructed McMahon to come into court and give bond. The officials had no fear that the defendant would jump the state as he is the owner of considerable Austintown township real estate and a string of valuable horses.

One of the local common pleas judges declared Saturday that a conviction on the charge of tampering with petit jurors is needed in Mahoning county. He gave as his opinion that there has been too many attempts to reach common pleas court talsmen during the recent past.

The jurist in question stated that the juror alleged to have been bribed and corrupted deserves much credit. After he learned that he had been put in bad the jurymen hurried to a common pleas court judge and related in detail what had happened. McMahon is alleged to have taken the juror, who is a prominent man, to the Tod House Cafe where he bought him several beers and prejudiced his mind.

It is not thought that the criminal cases resulting from the May term probe can be tried before the first or second week in June.

ADMITS BEING IN DYNAMITE PLOT

Indicted Massachusetts Man Turns State's Evidence.

Boston, May 21.—During the trial of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Co., Frederick E. Atteaux, a dye manufacturer, and Dennis J. Collins, a dog fancier, Collins created a sensation when he turned state's evidence and told of carrying packages of "juice" from Boston to Lawrence during the strike of the textile workers two years ago.

Told It Was a 'Joke.'

Collins testified that he received the "juice" from John J. Breen, who has already been convicted on the same charge, and fined $500, and that Breen told him where to carry the packages in Lawrence. Collins asserted that he did not know what the packages contained, other than that they were called "juice" by Breen.

Collins said: "Breen told me that 'Billy' Wood of the American Woolen Co. was back of him in his attempt to play a 'joke' on the Lawrence textile operatives."

When District Attorney Pelletier sprung his surprise in calling Collins to the stand, the attorneys for the defense objected, but the court ruled that Collins could testify against himself if he so chose.

Collins testified that Breen asked him several times if he knew Wood and that he always replied to these questions that he knew him only by reputation.

Says He Received $50.

Collins told in detail how he had met Breen in Boston, at the latter's room, and how Breen had given him the "juice," or dynamite, which he afterward learned was purchased from a granite quarry in Quincy. Collins testified that he received $50 in all for the work he did in carrying the packages of "juice." He denied knowing that Breen was to receive $2,500 for his share in the work.

That a real tragedy which might have cost the lives of many innocent persons was narrowly averted developed from the Collins story. He frankly admitted that he had carried 40 pounds of 75 per cent dynamite through the crowded downtown streets of Boston, aboard a crowded passenger train, and that, when alighting from the train in the crowded Lawrence depot he had stumbled across the tracks and fallen, the package striking on the railroad track. Only the fact that the explosive was frozen prevented a terrible disaster.

ACCEPTS LIPTON'S RACE CHALLENGE

New York Yacht Club Sends Cablegram to London.

Shamrock IV, Will Fight for Trophy With Defender to be Selected by Americans During Summer of 1914.

London, May 21.—The New York Yacht club Tuesday cabled the Royal Ulster Yacht club accepting the challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton to race for the America's cup, and the summer of 1914 will find the Shamrock IV, close hauled off Sandy Hook, fighting for the world's premier yachting trophy with the defender to be selected by the New Yorkers.

The races are to be sailed under the New York Yacht club's rules of measurement, time allowance and racing rules, according to the understanding here. This means that the conditions heretofore governing the contests for the America's cup will be complied with, with the provision that it is understood that the rule requiring a yacht to race at the highest limit of her class in certain cases shall not apply to this match.

Sir Thomas is at liberty under these conditions to send over a 70-footer, which he specified in his first challenge several weeks ago and the New York club can select a 90-footer to meet the smaller boat, but under the rules of the yacht club the larger boat would be forced to grant a material time allowance to the challenger. It is believed in yachting circles, however, that the American club will select a yacht which is of about the same size as the challenger.

Comparative Digestibility of Food. Made with different Baking Powders. From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests: An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time. The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows: Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder: 100 Per Cent. Digested. Bread made with phosphate powder: 68 1/2 Per Cent. Digested. Bread made with alum powder: 67 1/2 Per Cent. Digested. These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them. Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.
