CHARGES AGAINST MURPHY PROBED

Subpenas Are Issued From District Attorney's Office.

New York, Oct. 29.—A dozen subpoenas were issued at the district attorney's office late Tuesday calling, it was said, for the appearance of men believed to have knowledge of facts alleged in statements made by John A. Hennessey in his campaign attacks on Edward E. McCall, the Tammany candidate for mayor.

Among the subjects of inquiry is the $25,000 contribution mentioned by Sulzer as having been offered by Anthony N. Brady, capitalist, through Judge Samuel A. Beardsley, Sulzer has stated he rejected this money and that it was sent to Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall.

John Doe Action Asked. One outcome of Hennessey's statements was a request by the prosecutor to Chief Magistrate McAduo to begin "John Doe" proceedings on Thursday, at the conclusion of which Magistrate McAduo will submit a report from which the prosecutor will determine whether he shall submit the matter to the grand jury.

Stephen Stilwell, former state senator from New York city, acquitted of bribery charges by the senate last spring, convicted afterwards by a jury, and now serving his sentence in Sing Sing, appealed to William Sulzer, governor, for a pardon and offered, in return, to expose the inner workings of "boss rule" in New York, "whereby representatives in the legislature are placed between the alternative of political destruction by failure to obey the boss or the violation of their obligations to the people."

John A. Hennessey last night read from the telephone record a sensational portion of Stilwell's confession to him in Sing Sing. It was the most enthralling chapter of Hennessey's exposures of Tammany corruption and Murphy rule. Stilwell, convicted in the criminal courts, as the record read, declared he had saved himself from conviction in the senate by threatening to expose fellow senators who had caucused against him.

Stilwell's offer to tell what he knew, long rumored but never before definitely established, is contained in a letter made public by Sulzer Tuesday.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Charles Katz, a New York brewer, must serve from three to seven years in prison for grand larceny. His conviction was upheld by the court of appeals. Katz was charged with having induced F. A. Heinze to post $100,000 worth of stocks as security for a loan of $50,000 and then manipulating the deal so that Heinze lost $49,000.

Auto Kills Boy, Preachers Mobbed. New York, Oct. 29.—Rev. Andrew Wilson, pastor of St. Paul's Protestant church, Brooklyn, and Rev. Peter Rose were badly beaten by 500 men and women when an automobile in which they were riding ran down and killed a six-year-old boy in East New York. Policemen rescued both from perhaps fatal injuries.

Engineer Kills Himself. Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—George F. Coleman, 62, a mining engineer of Kansas City, Mo., committed suicide in a private hospital here by shooting himself in the mouth. Coleman came here recently and underwent an operation.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

Exempting Public Bonds from Taxation.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein: That for the purpose of procuring a short ballot for county and township officers, there shall be submitted to the electors of this state, in the manner provided by law, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1913, a proposal to amend sections 1, 2 and 18 of article III of the constitution of the state of Ohio, relative to the election of governor and other state officers.

Article XII. Finance and Taxation. Sec. 13. Bonds of the state of Ohio and of any city, village, hamlet, county, road district or township, in the state, and bonds issued in behalf of the public schools of Ohio and the means of instruction therefor shall be exempt from taxation.

Section 2. That this amendment shall take effect and be in force from and after its adoption. C. L. SWAIN, Speaker of the House of Representatives. HUGH L. NICHOLS, President of the Senate. Adopted April 18th, 1913. Office of the Secretary of State. I, CHAS. H. GRAVES, Secretary of State of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the foregoing is an exemplified copy, carefully compared by me with the original rolls now on file in this office and in my official custody as Secretary of State and found to be true and correct.

Section 1. That, for the purpose of procuring a short ballot for state officers, there shall be submitted to the electors of this state, in the manner provided by law, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1913, a proposal to amend sections 1, 2 and 18 of article III of the constitution of the state of Ohio, relative to the election of governor and other state officers.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

People are in good business when attending to their own business.

Mrs. Ellen Matthews died in Sebring last Sunday morning, aged 90 years.

Canfield will have an old-time Mardi Gras celebration Friday night. Be here and enjoy the fun.

Frequent rains have had the effect of making traveling on dirt roads anything but a pleasure. Few automobilists have the temerity to attempt to travel them.

Several barns in Columbiana county have been burned by incendiaries during the past two weeks and an effort is being made to run down and prosecute the scoundrels guilty of the crimes.

Wm. Rafferty, an East Palestine boy, went hunting last Saturday and accidentally shot and killed himself. He carried an old rifle which had been told by his parents to let alone, and when he used a knife on the cap to make the gun shoot the bullet pierced his heart.

John L. Sullivan, aged 68, who lived near Alliance, was struck by a Pennsy train Monday afternoon and killed. He was hauling a load of coal and after waiting for one train to pass Bandy's crossing drove on to another track just in time to have another train strike his wagon.

Last Sunday at Kent George W. Austin celebrated his 105th birthday anniversary. On Saturday he was given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kent and none of the many who called to congratulate him on having survived so many years enjoyed the occasion more than Mr. Austin. His mind is clear and he takes a lively interest in what is going on in his community.

E. E. Miles of Youngstown, well known in Canfield, where he has relatives, is in the Youngstown City hospital suffering from a brain ailment on the fingers of his right hand. Several weeks ago while Mr. Miles was starting his automobile the crank struck his fingers and a little later the healing developed. It was necessary to remove a small piece of bone from one finger.

At a recent grange meeting the following resolution was adopted: "Be it resolved that Mahoning County Pomona Grange in session at Greenford Oct. 18, is unalterably opposed to the short ballot and small legislature amendments to the constitution, and in favor of the initiative prohibiting the shipment of liquors into dry territory, and that we urge all members to vote and work accordingly."

William Dustman died in Deerfield last week Thursday of a complication of diseases, aged 77 years. Deceased was born in Berlin township but most of his life was spent in Deerfield. He is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Schwartz and Mrs. Louisa Harmon, both of Berlin Center, and two brothers, John and Isaac. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in the Berlin Center cemetery.

Garrettsville Journal: We take this opportunity to remind our readers that the election is drawing near and that it is the duty of every voter to decide how he is going to vote on the amendments to the State Constitution. The "Short Ballot for State Officers" heads the list. In determining how to vote on this amendment we need only to ask our state officers if we have them appointed by the governor. We believe the people of Ohio are yet capable of selecting the men whom they want to occupy these positions. If we are qualified to select a governor we are qualified to select his subordinates. It is very easy to see how the chief executive of the state could build up a political machine if he is given the power of a czar. Let us see to it on November 4th that this pet measure is buried so deep that it can never be resurrected. Vote no on the short ballot propositions for state and county officers and thus confer a lasting favor upon yourself and the people of our dear old Ohio.

Coming to Him. "A coming man? Him? He's nothing but a spendthrift!" "I know it, and I am a pawnbroker."—Houston Post.

LONESOMEST SPOT IN WORLD

Group of Islands in South Atlantic Thousands of Miles From Mainland.

"To Let—the lonest place in the world." That is what was said the other day—in much more solemn and official language—by the British government. It lay hidden in the announcement that bids would be accepted for the leasing and exploitation of the whale fisheries and guano fields of the Nightingale, Inaccessible and Gough Islands, for included among these is Tristan d'Acunha, that remote little rock tucked away in the South Atlantic, thousands of miles from South America and Africa, the nearest mainland, and long known as the lonest spot on the face of the earth.

St. Helena, where Napoleon died a captive, is lonest enough, but Tristan beats even St. Helena. Its only communication with the rest of the world is by means of occasional ships which touch at its shores while engaged in whale fishing. The population consists of a handful of people, descendants of shipwrecked mariners, English soldiers who belonged to the troops who guarded Napoleon, and women from St. Helena.

In spite of—or possibly on account of—its isolation, life on Tristan d'Acunha seems to be pleasant enough. Uneventful it is, but one of the events that do not occur is the commission of crimes. For years no serious crime has been recorded in the island's annals. One of the conditions made by the British government in its call for bids is that those obtaining the lease of the whale fisheries must agree to have every whaler they send out touch at the lonest place in the world and thus keep up Tristan d'Acunha's communication with the rest of mankind.

WOULD NOT OFFEND DEITY

Child's Idea of Everyday Politeness Applied to All Cases and Needs.

To a normal child all things and people, even those most highly esteemed and wonderful, are to be taken simply. To a polite child, for example, the rules of everyday politeness are sufficient for all cases and needs. A medical missionary recently returned from India tells the story of a sweet little girl, who was much troubled by the prevailing plague of mosquitoes.

"What does God make them for?" she asked. Told that the Divine purpose in the matter was unknown, but that such purpose undoubtedly existed, the little one pondered silently for some moments. Then: "Do you suppose I could ask him about it when I go to heaven?" she inquired. "You see, I'd just love to know why we have to have mosquitoes, but I wouldn't want the good Lord to think me rude."

Bank Salaries.

To enter the service of the Bank of England a candidate must be nominated by a director, be of good moral character, pass a qualifying (not competitive) examination and be between eighteen and twenty-two years old. The first year his salary is $500, and then it rises at the rate of $50 a year. At the end of the fifth year he proceeds to the fourth class or else leaves the service of the bank. According to figures furnished by one of the bank's officials, the average pay at the end of ten years is $1,000. At fifteen years it is $1,300, twenty years $1,545, thirty years $1,945; after that the senior clerks pass to $2,150. The staff and special posts, numbering about 100, are won by meritorious service. The highest salary is paid the chief cashier, and is $15,000. The chief accountant draws $12,500 and there are several appointments ranging from $7,500 to $5,500. Agents of branches receive up to $12,000. There is a pension system to which the clerk does not contribute, but for which he is qualified after ten years' service.—Moody's Magazine.
