WHAT THINK YOU OF THIS?

Boys under 15 and girls under 15 will have a hard time finding work which they may do legally this summer, even when school is not in session, in view of an opinion given the State Industrial Commission by Attorney-General Hogan interpreting the new school age law.

Twenty-five kinds of employment are enumerated in the law in which children under these ages may not be employed and Hogan's ruling is that the law gives no sanction for their employment even when there is no school to take their time.

These are the occupations which boys and girls under 15 and 16, respectively may not have during their summer vacations or any other time, according to the law:

"In, about or in connection with any mill, factory, workshop, mercantile or mechanical establishments, tenement house, manufactory or workshop, store, office, building, restaurant, boarding house, bakery, barber shop, hotel, apartment house, boot-blacks' stand, public stable, garage, laundry, place of amusement, club or as a driver or in any brick or lumber yard, or in the construction or repair of buildings or in the distribution, transmission or sale of merchandise, or any boy under 15 nor girl under 21 in the transmission of messages."

Heavy fines are provided for the employer who will use children under legal age in these businesses.

SAYS PEOPLE ARE IN RISING MARKET

Merchant Declares Workers No Longer Are Mats for the Rich.

Philadelphia, June 24.—Working men and women no longer are mats for the rich to wipe their feet upon, said John Wanamaker in giving his testimony before the United States commission on industrial relations. "Men and women are in a rising market," asserted the noted merchant. "They are being better educated and have more sanitary surroundings."

Recognize Labor Organizations. "It's an insane thing not to recognize organizations of labor," he said, in reply to a question whether employers should recognize labor unions. "I believe that labor and capital have the right to organize. On the one side, capital, there is responsibility, and on the other, labor, there is none. There you stop. The missing link I believe to be prejudice and misunderstanding, which must be overcome."

Commissioners Lenson of Illinois and O'Connell of Washington, who are the representatives of workmen on the commission, pled Mr. Wanamaker with many questions. Asked whether he was an advocate of the eight-hour day, he replied, "Eight hours or less."

On the question of the minimum wage for women, the witness said that as an experiment it should not be condemned. "It ought to be tried," he said. "There might be a graduated wage to fit women of different capabilities."

It is unjust to women to say to them they are all worth just the same, and again it does great harm to compel an employer to pay for what he does not get. Such a law would work unjustly in certain cases and should be carefully studied.

Discusses Public Ownership. Discussing public ownership as a means to reduce industrial strife, Mr. Wanamaker said he was an "absolute believer" in government ownership of public utilities.

Speaking of capital, Mr. Wanamaker said John D. Rockefeller, Jr., "made a great mistake when he put President Wilson in the position of sending troops into Colorado. I might be mistaken in this," he said, "but that is the way I feel about it."

Mayor Blankenburg, who was also a witness, gave the commission information on the relations between the city and its employes. There is nothing prettier in theory than public ownership of utilities, the mayor said, but it won't work out so long as politics can be injected into the operations of publicly owned enterprises.

During the discussion Commissioner Weinstein dropped the remark that the commission will, in drawing up its recommendations to congress, consider the wisdom of advocating public ownership of utilities as a means of reducing strife between the employer and employes of public utilities.

Danford was hit in the face by a baseball and had to be taken to a hospital for treatment. Lightning struck the police patrol and stunned Detectives Byrd and Purcell. Robert Duncan, a farmer, was overcome by heat while hoeing corn.

Auto Overtakes, Two Hurt. Buffalo, June 24.—While travelling 35 miles an hour in a racing machine, Roy C. Bauer, a lawyer, and Robert Maxwell Smith, a newspaperman, were seriously injured when the machine skidded on "death curve," near the city line, and overturned.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat. There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow eating." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

ENGLISHMAN IS ELATED

MAN WHO PLANS TO SOAR ACROSS OCEAN TESTS FLYING BOAT AMERICA.

Hammondsport, N. Y., June 24.—Twice Tuesday and for the first time the Curtiss flying boat America demonstrated in glorious soaring flights that, despite the huge bulk and cumbersome body, she could travel through the air like a swallow. Eastward over the glassy surface of Lake Ontario and high over the purple vineyards of Pleasant valley she swung like a happy living thing until she lost herself in the skies of the late afternoon, and then back to the water she slid like a messenger from above on the broad orange path of the setting sun.

Glenn Curtiss, who piloted the America on her premier trip over the lake, declared that she exceeded all his expectations. And the taciturn Englishman, Porte, who is to pilot the great whalelike flyer through the mysterious air pockets over the riotous Atlantic, became voluble.

"Ripping, by jove, ripping," he cried as he clambered from the tiny cabin after piloting the America on her second flight. "Finest machine I ever handled. She's as steady as a blooming rock. We had tons of horsepower and she insisted on planning, rising, you know, all the time. Why it was all I could do to keep her down. Fly across the ocean? My friend, she'd keep on over all Europe."

Tornado Kills Nine. Aberdeen, S. D., June 24.—Nine are known dead and many are missing in a tornado that swept this city, cutting a path four blocks wide and 18 blocks long.
