Oct. 14—Nearly everyone from this neighborhood attended the funeral of Dr. Hulin in Greenford Sunday.

Greenford Disciple Church Destroyed By Fire.

GREENFORD

Oct. 15—During the electrical storm last Friday evening lightning struck the steeple of the Disciple church but the fact was not known for more than an hour afterwards when flames were discovered issuing from the belfry.

When an alarm was sounded people hurried to the church but the fire had gained such headway that the volunteer firemen could do nothing to save the structure. Had the fire been discovered immediately after it started a few buckets of water would have saved the conflagration.

When it was seen that the building was doomed men set energetically at work to remove the contents and most of the seats were gotten out. The church, a large, beautiful structure, was erected in 1896 at a cost of $5000—it would cost double the sum now—and its destruction is a distinct loss to this community. It was insured for $2000 in the Springfield Township Mutual Insurance Co. As yet no plans have been made to rebuild, and for the present the congregation will hold services in grange hall at the usual hours. Take your song books with you.

The Patrons of Husbandry will hold their annual fair in grange hall Saturday evening, Oct. 17.

Dr. P. H. Leimbach of Lorain, Ohio, has located in the village to practice his profession, the town having been left without a doctor when Dr. Hulin was called away. Prof. Lester U. Hulin is named sole legatee in the last will of his brother, Oscar W. Hulin, filed for probate Tuesday. Beneficiary is also named executor. The will was signed October 5, 1909.

THRIFT

Thrift consists of four elements. The first is industry which enables a person to earn money. The second is prudence which plans what one shall do with his money when he has earned it. The third is Economy which sees that full value is received for every dollar that is expended, and the fourth is Frugality which impels one to save a part of his money for future uses.

These four elements exist to some degree in every normal human mind. To aid in their proper development is one of the duties of

WAR AND WHEAT

Demand Bids Fair to Become Greater Than the Supply.

From different reports on the world's bread crops, it now looks as if the importing countries will need 650,000,000 bushels of wheat this season.

Of this, about 575,000,000 bushels will go to different points in Europe, if it can get there.

But wheat is conditional contraband of war. The neutral shipper has the right to ship his grain to any warring country he chooses, but he runs the risk of capture of his cargo, in which case he can make no appeal to the Government at Washington.

This danger may deter shipments to Germany, but not to England and France.

The Southern continent has little wheat for export, and the new crop will not come on the market for nearly six months. The total acreage is rather less than last year. Roumania usually furnishes a surplus of 50,000,000 bushels a year, but this season's harvest is a disappointment. Russia is a large exporter, and has a good crop to sell.

But at present the Baltic and the Dardanelles are bottled up. India might furnish 50,000,000 bushels. But at present the risk is greater than the need. Unless a way is opened for Russia and India to ship their wheat, North America must be the source of supplies until the Southern continent comes into market.

But the American farmer should look far ahead than the crop he is now marketing. Last year the warring countries produced 1,750,000,000 bushels of wheat, and a slightly less quantity of rye. With the exception of about one-third of the Russian wheat crop, this is all autumn sown.

With the able-bodied men withdrawn from their occupations, and immense armies tramping down the fields of France, Germany and Belgium, the crop prospect is a serious one. The American farmer should be awake to this fact and sow as much wheat as he can properly care for. The demand bids fair to be greater than the supply.—Wall Street Journal.

is not an ordinary boot. It is a new "Ball-Band" Boot perfected and produced after six years of experiment. It is made of high-grade material by men who know how—and vulcanized by vacuum process, which makes this boot positively the best ever offered the public by anyone. There is no exception.

"Vac" boots and shoes are not only light, pliable and very comfortable, but are particularly adapted to hard wear. By actual test they have shown their superiority over all other rubber footwear worn on Farms, in Mines, Fisheries, Creameries, Construction Work, Refineries and wherever a boot is subjected to unusual wear. We welcome tests with any other boot in the world. We know that the comparison will be favorable to the "Vac" "Ball-Band" Boot.
