GERMANS AGAIN PIERCE TRENCHES

Hammer Their Way Through the French Line on Front of 800 Meters.

PARIS SAYS TEUTONS WERE DRIVEN OUT

Turkish War Office Says Russian Reports of Number of Prisoners and Guns Taken at Erzerum Are Untrue; Forts Had No Value.

London, Feb. 23.—The forest of Givency, east of Sochez in northern France, near the Belgian border, has again been the scene of sanguinary fighting, with marked advantage to the Germans.

Paris admits the German gain, but declares the enemy was afterward driven out at all but a few points of the communicating trenches it had reached.

Another German advance, at Brabant-Sur-Neuse, is admitted by Paris. Here, too, the attacking forces pushed beyond the advanced trenches, but afterward they were driven back to the trenches originally reached, claim the French.

Artillery play is growing increasingly violent along the front at many points, according to the reports, the weather being more favorable. The attack is also busy.

Berlin admits the loss of the Zeppelin reported as shot down in the Meuse district. It is reported that the entire crew of 23 men lost their lives. The Zeppelin was struck by the incendiary shell at a height of 6,000 feet.

A Zeppelin dropped bombs on Luneville, 15 miles southeast of Nancy. The damage was slight.

Deny Russian Claims.

A Turkish retirement to positions west of Erzerum is announced by the Constantinople war office. The statement adds: "Fantastic Russian reports stating that 10,000 cannon and 80,000 prisoners had been taken at Erzerum are untrue. No combats took place in the vicinity of Erzerum besides those in the positions mentioned. The forts of Erzerum had no military value, nor had the town itself."

French and Bulgarian patrols have had a lively engagement in the Machkovo sector on the Greco-Serbian frontier, according to a dispatch from Athens. The Bulgarians were obliged to retire, leaving six prisoners in the hands of the French.

Austrian air raids over Lombardy, with damage reported at points attacked by the aviators, are announced by Austro-Hungarian army headquarters.

Italian forces have conquered the mountainous zone of Collo, between the Laganza and Cegnio Torrents in the Sugana valley region. They have also occupied the towns of Ronchi and Roncegno. This section lies about 15 miles east of Trent.

What Children Need Now. In spite of the best care mothers can give them this weather brings sickness to many children.

And many a man who loves his enemy carries it around in a pocket book.

BOOZE IN PANTALETTES

OFFICERS FIND OUT HOW WHISKY WAS GETTING INTO WEST VIRGINIA.

Callipolis, O., Feb. 23.—One of the most ingenious and successful methods of running whisky into dry West Virginia was discovered here when two young women were arrested. The women wore pantalettes. Each pair had 16 cleverly constructed pockets and snugly hidden in each pocket was a pint of whisky.

Detectives searching for boot leggers who have been operating for several weeks despite every trap laid for them discovered the pantalette blind flasks by accident.

Speed Up Child Labor Bill. Washington, Feb. 23.—The interstate commerce committee of the senate has laid plans to speed up the Keating child labor bill, which has already passed the house, in order to get it before the senate before the preparedness legislation demands attention.

The reason, it was explained by members, is that southern senators are planning a filibuster against the preparedness legislation in order to prevent the Keating bill from ever reaching the senate, as was the case last session.

Mystery Surrounds Dying Girl. Lisbon, O., Feb. 23.—Columbiana county authorities are trying to clear up the mystery surrounding the condition of Miss Elsie Bush, 18, who, physicians declare, was the victim of poison and assault. The girl is said to be dying, and William Penny, 20, a pottery worker, is being held awaiting the outcome of the girl's condition.

Man Is Killed by Car. Canton, O., Feb. 23.—An unidentified man about 40 years of age was instantly killed, and Pat McGreevey, 45, of Chicago, was seriously injured when they were struck by a Stark electric car on a curve near here.

Puts Ban on Sunday Movies. Alliance, O., Feb. 23.—Council, by a vote of 5 to 2, killed the ordinance which would have permitted Sunday afternoon picture shows.

Hero's Tribute. Lincoln said of Washington: "Washington is the mightiest name on earth, long since the mightiest in the cause of civil liberty, still mightiest in moral reformation. On that name a eulogy is expected. It cannot be. To add brightness to the sun or glory to the name of Washington is alike impossible; let none attempt it. In solemn awe pronounce the name, and in naked, deathless splendor, leave it shining on."

Season for Reflection. At a season like this it is good to turn back to the hour of the nation's birth and lay our garlands on the tomb of him who made this republic possible by his possession of just those qualities of patience and magnanimity and hope which most we need in view of the difficulties and perils of the present hour.

REPORT A COLLAPSE IS NEAR OF CARRANZA RULE

Conditions in Northern Mexico Approaching a Climax; Lack of Money Is Principal Difficulty.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Reports received in Washington during the past few days point strongly to the collapse of the Carranzista government in Mexico in the near future. The reports not only come from responsible individuals along the border, but from American consular officials in Mexico itself.

According to this information conditions throughout northern Mexico, in Sonora, Chihuahua and Coahuila, as well as in more southern states, are rapidly approaching a climax in which the local authorities allied by Carranza will find themselves helpless.

The principal difficulty in which the de facto government is said to find itself is a lack of sufficient money to meet the payroll of the constantly decreasing Carranza army. Only the fact that Villa and all the other bandit revolutionists are themselves nearly penniless accounts for the continuance of Carranza's waning power, the reports say.

After six years of plundering the Mexican loggers have picked the country clean, it is said. Willing enlistees in any cause and under any leadership that promises fresh spoils remain quiescent under Carranza's chieftainship merely because there is no other leader in sight who is in better financial shape.

Desertions from Carranza's army are becoming more and more frequent, however, according to these reports, the deserters in most cases joining the small detachments which were placed over American mining properties to "protect" them in the days when Villa was threatening all northern Mexico. These detachments, supported and paid by the mining companies, they pretend to guard, are about the only Mexicans who have any money, it is said, and the steadily increasing numbers of new recruits are rapidly assuming unbearable proportions.

Corroborating these reports comes word of the existence of a new revolutionary plot now being fomented by Felix Diaz and a group of sympathizers with the Diaz and Huerta regimes. The headquarters of the revolutionists are said to be a city near New York, where a dozen of the plotters meet daily.

On an island in the Gulf of Mexico these revolutionists are said to have stored away a vast quantity of arms and ammunition, including machine guns and other equipment of modern make. According to circumstantial reports, they have an abundance of money and are spending it freely.

The Spirit of WASHINGTON

By FRANK EMERICH

With all the world at war and we at peace, Thy spirit guide us, who didst first declare Against the entanglement, the insidious snare

Or foreign ties that draw us from our Thy searching wisdom need we sore today As world strife threatens to extend its sway

Thy mighty name, thy mem'ry well-belov'd Inspire our leaders, that the path may clear, Dark places yield to light, that dangers near

May vanish, by thine own great spirit mov'd; That this remain a refuge land serene, That naught its course from honor'd peace may wean.

Thou wast, indeed, in war a man of might Thyself, when arm'd in Freedom's precious cause, But war to thee was hateful—thou didst pause

And sheathe thy sword when victory crown'd the right, In peace, at last, was won thy greatest fame, For peace a blessed land doth praise thy name.

Now harried nations cast their envious eyes Upon the plenty and the blessings rare Which Providence hath granted for its share

Give, this country, father whom we prize, And, covetous of our contented life, Seek to embroil us in unholy strife.

Since thou wast friend of ev'ry folk and land, But lov'd thine own and unto it didst cling, All of thyself, that honor'd it might live And for oppress'd humanity e'er stand, Now may throughout this troubled, turmoiled earth Thy high example give to peace new birth.

SUFFERING AT VALLEY FORGE. General Washington and His Little Army Encamped There One Hundred and Thirty-Nine Years Ago.

General Howe, having sallied forth from Philadelphia, where he had established his headquarters, several times during the early part of December to give battle to General Washington, but finding the latter's forces were too formidable, Howe finally decided to go into winter quarters in Philadelphia, seeing that the campaign on the part of Howe would hardly be resumed before spring, and not having an army formidable enough for an attack, decided to go into winter quarters himself. He selected Valley Forge, about thirty miles northwest of Philadelphia. Washington and his army arrived there on December 11, 1777, and at once began the erection of huts. They were arranged in streets, giving the place the appearance of a city.

Although the winter was intensely cold, the men were obliged to work at the buildings, with nothing to support life but flour mixed with water, which they baked into cakes at the open fires. The horses died of starvation by the hundreds, and the men were obliged to haul their provisions from the woods. Sickness spread rapidly. "The unfortunate soldiers," wrote Lafayette in after years, "were in want of everything; they had neither coats, hats, shirts nor shoes; their feet and their legs froze until they became black, and amputation was frequently necessary."

It was when the army at Valley Forge was at its worst condition Baron Steuben, an accomplished Prussian officer, arrived in this country, and went to the camp. He set to work and as fast as possible brought order out of chaos.

Occasionally you will find a man so considerate that he will even make a fool of himself to save some woman the trouble of doing it.

Queer thing about our bills. They have a habit of running a long time without getting any further away from us.

A MERCILESS JUDGE. One Who Shows No Favor. A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Niles resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

J. E. Evans, of the firm Duck & Evans, dry goods and groceries, 30 Mill St., Niles, Ohio, says: "I had pains in my back for about a year and when they grew worse, I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I soon began to feel better and after using two boxes, I was entirely cured."

Permanent Results. On September 12, 1914, Mr. Evans said: "The results I got from Doan's Kidney Pills have been permanent. I still consider them the one effective medicine for backache and kidney trouble."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Evans has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

WINTER SPRAYING FOR SAN JOSE SCALE

The prevalence of San Jose scale throughout Mahoning County makes it necessary for the orchardist to spray his trees in order to save them from destruction. It has been found by many experiments, that San Jose scale can be held in check by thorough spraying with commercial lime-sulphur while the scale is in the dormant or resting stage. The concentrated solution of lime-sulphur should be diluted with water, one part of the solution to seven parts of water. The application can be made at any time before the trees start their spring growth. A stronger solution may be used without any ill effects, although the cost will be greater and the results no better.

Spraying should be done on a calm day when the temperature is slightly above the freezing point. On account of wind currents it may be possible to spray only one side of the trees, especially if they are large, on any one day. The other side of the trees may be sprayed at another time when the wind is from the opposite direction.

There are a number of cure-alls for tree diseases on the market. The Experiment Station at Wooster has tested out a number of these so-called cure-alls and reports them to be failures. "Theevax" and "Derror Improved Tree Fluid" were among those tested. These are mentioned because they have been sold extensively in certain sections of the state. They are absolutely without value as destroyers of any of the scale insects and the method of injecting the material into the tree is positively injurious to the trees, frequently killing them. Avoid the unknown and untested remedies. Let the Experiment Station do the testing.

The following paragraph may be found in the February number of the Ohio Experiment Station Bulletin: "It would be just as sensible to expect a physician to be able to produce a single nostrum to be taken internally, injected subcutaneously, or perhaps dissolved in one's bath, in order to ward off all human ailments, as it is to expect to get a similar 'cure-all' for the troubles of one's plant."

After Lagrippe—What? F. G. Prevo, Bedford, Ind., writes: "An attack of lagrippe left me with a severe cough. I tried everything. I got so thin it looked as if I never would get well. Finally, two bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar cured me. I am now well and back to my normal weight." A reliable remedy for coughs, colic, croup. F. A. Morris, Canfield.—Adv.
