FREIGHT CAR BROKE AWAY

Peculiar Happening Hailed as Some thing Particularly New in History of Railroading.

The Eric railroad has demonstrated the practicability of a theory that a freight train may lose a car from its midst and keep to its schedule with Its crew in ignorance of their loss, and Ed Mott, of Goshen, the local historian, is happy. For a generation Mott has been tell ing folks of an Erie train that left Sus quehanna in the winter of 1855 with 15 cars of cattle. At Port Jervis one car was missing. It had disappeared from the middle of the train without leav ing broken couplings or other traces of the manner of its electment. Two days later the missing car was found in a field near the track at Shohols It was empty. The cattle it had held were recovered in Sullivan county New York. They had freed themselve from the car and crossed the Delaware river on the ice.

Engineer Albert O. Roberts was driving a train to New York last Sunday morning. At West Tuxedo alt brake trouble ted to the discovery that the fourteenth car was missing. The thirteenth and fifteenth cars had recoupled themselves. Search led to the discovery of the missing car alongside the track a mile to the north. The accident of Sunday was exactly the same as the one which Mott de scribes as of sixty-odd years ago, ex cept that the modern form of brake caused the loss of a car to be discovered more quickly than was the care in the old days, when the couplings were of simple design and the brakes were operated by hand .- New Haven

GOOD EXERCISE IS MOTORING

Physician Seems to Have Made Out Good Case for His Side of Argument.

Dr. Henry Williams, in an article in Motors, combats the theory that motoring is reducing our opportunities for exercise. He says its benefits are threefold-physical, mental and vo litional. The buffeting of winds and the inhalation of large quantities of oxygen stimulate digestion, assimilation and excretion. This is true of the person who merely sits, as well as of him who drives. The latter, how ever, benefits directly. Doctor Williams says: "When you drive a car 40 or 50 miles over average American roads, or a fraction of that distance in any city, you give your arms and torso a course of purposeful calisthenles that redounds directly to the bene fit of your muscles and arteries and heart, and indirectly, but no less sig difficantly, to the benefit of your diges tive organs of elimination as well as the nervous system."

With the unveiling of the figure of Gen. William Shepherd in the commu nity of Westfield, Mass., a worthy figure is added to the American population of revolutionary heroes whose memory is perpetuated by a public statue. General Shepherd, before the Revolution, had taken part in the "Old French war," which justified Macau lay in saying that because Frederick the Great had decided to rob a neigh bor, "red men scalped each other by the great lakes of North America." He began as a private soldier and rose to the rank of licutenant colonel under Washington, and later commanded a brigade under Lafayette. Individuals have sometimes questioned the utility of public statues; yet in this case, as in many another, the statue defeats the common forgetfulness of past deeds that has found expression in the old saying, "Out of sight out of mind.

No More Pups. A little friend of mine who lives next door has been teasing his mother for a puppy. Knowing the destructive habits of such animals, she has firmly refused to let him have one. At last he persuaded her to let him borrow PNEUMONIA-FLU KILL 477,467 one for half a day to show her that a puppy knew enough to properly behave himself. Being warned that he must watch the puppy every minute It was in the house, the little chap for a time was careful to keep his eye on it; but, finally tiring of such vigilance, he relaxed his attention only to give the puppy the chance it had been waiting for. It improved it to the fuil by chewing to pieces one of his mos cherished Christmas toys, This was too much for the young host, "Good night," he exclaimed, "no more pups for me; I'll get me a 10 year old dog.

THEY TOOK HER LITERALLY

$1.50 A YEAR

But Probably Musical Comedy Star Did Not Mean Just What She Threatened.

A popular musical comedy star was taking her summer vacation in a New England village this year, and good naturedly agreed to participate in an "entertainment" to be given at the town hall for the benefit of local char-Itles. She procured from New York one of the costumes from her last winter's show, and a fetching poster showing herself in that same costume. Soon after the poster was on display a delegation of village ladies waited upon the committee of gentlemen who were engineering the entertainment and protested against the chic costume of the poster, which was, in fact, that of the conventional "prince" of musical comedy, with a frank if pleasing display of silk-encased limbs. "Let's send for Miss de Lancy and see if we can't fix it up," a committeeman suggested, and this was done. Now, besides being good natured, Miss de Lancy is high-spirited, and rather thought that the costume which had been good enough for her to appear in for some hundreds of times in New York would do for one appearance in Hicksville "There is no use talking," she announced with decision, "I'll appear in that costume or nothing!" There was a moment of horrified silence, then quick whispering among the lady delegation, and a moment lator their protest against the proposed costume was withdrawn.-Philadelphia Ledger.

COSTS MONEY TO RUN ZOO

Pets of Londoners Are Really Expensive Propositions in the Feeding Line.

How much does it cost now to feed an elephant for a year? Two thousand dollars, say the officials of the London zoo. And a giraffe costs half as much. So that, with the increased prices of food, have come new problems for the keepers of menageries. The meat foods include beef, horse flesh, guines pigs, rats, cats, mice, rabbits, frogs, snakes, fish, pigeons, ducks, sparrows, gentles, snalls, ants and cod liver oil. The gazelles, buffaloes and antelopes must be provided with rock salt. They are fed on oats, bran, hay, green clover, together with carrots and potatoes. The birds are the most difficult to feed satisfactorily. Flamingoes for instance. require soaked wheat, bolled shrimps and fish cut small. Some birds are fed largely on bullock's liver. This is cut into slices, boiled, then put through a mincing machine. The mince is dried in a slow oven and preserved The dry mince is usually mixed with bran or pollard. Quantities of insects have to be kept in stock for the insectenting birds. These are principally meal worms and gentles, which is the polite name for ment maggets. But for some birds flies and grasshoppers are required. The monkeys require fruit, such as bananas and apples, while the snakes must be fed on small animals, such as rabbits, mice and

New Idea in Storing Coal. The ingenious plan of storing coal n carbonic neid gas, as undertaken at Dortmund, Germany, gives the safety from spontaneous ignition of underwater storage, while the container offers the convenience of the overhead bunker. Each of the three cylindrical bunkers constructed, with a capacity of 2.500 tons, has semi-spherical top and bottom, and three filling openings at the top, with three discharging outlets at the bottom. The lower outlets are gas tight when closed, but as the carbonic acid is much heavier than air the upper openings do not require being absolutely leak proof. A grab on a structural steel tower unloads the coal from a barge. The coal is dropped into a small hopper, and then fed to a push-plate conveyor, which is so placed that it may serve in filling or emptying the three bunkers. The small amount of carbonic acid gas that leaks out in removing coal can be readily

Fun for the Girl.

One evening, coming home from the theater on the street car with my lady friend, I stepped from the car and noticed an automobile coming up behind the car. I kept my eye on the automobile and took the elbow of the next person alighting after me, expecting it to be my friend. Still watching the motor, I led the elbow safely to the walk, and then turned my attention to her. But, to my embarrassment, who should I find myself escorting, but a great, tall man, who said in the sweetest voice: "Thank you, I was never escorted by a young man across the street before; you are the kindest fellow I ever met." My lady friend was following us, and she giggled over the joke all the rest of the way home.-Exchange.

Artificial Tree for Birds. Dr. H. B. Warren is having a concrete tree built on his lawn at West Chester, Pa., to provide homes for birds. The tree is upon a wire frame 15 feet high. Holes of different sizes will lure the birds to meet and rest. At the base of the tree will be a large concrete bath to provide the guests with running water at all times. Imitation limbs on the "tree" will give perching accommodations. But the perching accommodations. But the question is, will the birds be footed by this elaborately counterfeit tree? We have seen some most elaborate and expensive bird houses empty year after year.
