PROCLAMATION INVOLVES WORK

It has been customary in recent years for the Department of State to draft each Thanksgiving proclama-

After the draft has been O. K.'d by the President it is handed to the State department's expert penman, who in his copper-plate chirography writes it upon a large sheet of excellent parchment, which is sent to the President for his signature, and then returned to the State department to be signed by the secretary of state. Next It must be impressed with the great seal of the United States, whose custodian will refuse to place it even upon so important a document unless authorized to do so by a formal warrant signed by the President, for the use of the great seal or the possession of an impression thereof without the Chief Executive's written authority is a grave offense, punishable by law. Indeed, the great seal-which was made by a jeweler at a cost of $10,000 and which is kept locked in a great rosewood case-is the most sacred instrument used by the government.

Having had this hallowed cipher of the republic pressed into it, the new Thanksgiving proclamation is filed away in the State department archives, later to be bound in its chronological order, with other accumulated proclamations.

Uncle Sam takes all of these technical pains merely to retain the handsomely written proclamation as his own souvenir. But before the instrument has been filed away a typewritten copy is sent to the State department's official printer, who has a shop of his own in the basement of our foreign office. His printed copies are given to the newspapers or to anyone who wishes.

Each of the state governors must also be sent an exact copy, but the department's strict code of etiquette demands that these copies must not be printed. They are typewritten and signed by the President's and secretary of state's own hands. Each governor then seconds this move of the President in appointing the annual feast day of thanks and prayer and, in their turn, the mayors of cities now generally second the move of their governors. By such indirect means does the prompting of the nation's thanks theoretically reach the people, who actually receive it directly from the President himself through that eliminator of red-tape delays-the daily newspaper. In some localities the bishops receive the proclamation from the governors and hand it down in circular form to the lesser clergy, who read it from their pulpits upon the Sabbath following its issuance, In parts of New England it is still the custom to read the proclamation from the pulpit on two successive Sundays. These infinite pains are taken, despite the fact that there is nothing in the federal statute authorizing a President to set apart such a holy day. But the proclamations make the holfday legal.

Right Thanksgiving Spirit. We once saw a little card tacked up before the eyes of a busy man. He could see it every time he raised his eyes from his desk. On it he had written: "Get your pleasure out of your work or you will never know what pleasure is." That attitude will help us to get the right Thanksgiving spirit into our hearts. Les forget that we have pictured happiness in terms of idleness and sloth. It's just the other way. This Thanksgiving day will be a good time to get the new angle of vision.—Farmers' Guide.

NOVEMBER'S COME.

Hey, you swelled-up turkey felieri Struttin' round so big and proud, Pretty quick I guess your belier Won't be goin' quite so loud. ay, I'd run and hide, I bet you, And I'd leave off eatin' some, Else the choppin'-block 'll get you-Don't you know November's come?

Den't you know that Grandma's makin Loads of mince and pumpkin ples? Den't you smell those goodies cookin'? Can't you see 'em? Where's your eyes!

"Gobble! gobble!" oh, no matter!
Fretty quick you'll change your tune;
You'll be dead and in a platter,
And I'll gobble pretty soon.
"F I was you I'd stop my pumn."
And I'd book most awful glum—
Hope they give you lots of stuffin!
Ain's you glad Nevember's come?

Mr. Weaver, formerly drawing and writing supervisor of the Alliance schools, has consented to conduct drawing instructions in three of the county at Poland, Austintown and Canfield. Meetings will be held every three weeks. We are glad to announce that the epidemic of the chicken-pox in the Greenford schools has practically cleared up. The district health board informs us that there are a few cases of scarlet fever in the North Lima and Ellsworth districts. We now have the reports for all the schools of the county for the first month of the school year. Of necessity, some of these reports are at least a month old before a complete report for each of the 21 districts can be given out. The report shows the following information: Total enrollment of the school district, 6901; average daily at-tendance for this month, 6321; num-Nov. 19.—Mrs. Arlie Miller spent
