GOOD CHEER AT WHITE HOUSE

President Harding's Reported Bill of Fare Certainly Smacks of Democratic Simplicity.

It is said that the Harding White House bill of fare will include chicken pie, as the first lady of the land knows how to make it—and waffles, browned to a turn, by the efficient old-fashioned cook of the Harding household.

This smacks of democratic simplicity and "homey" housekeeping of the good old days.

The state breakfast and the diplomatic dinner are necessarily more pretentious, and "old-time eating," served in the old-time way, if not altogether discontinued, is so disguised as to make the satisfying plenty of the home table seem like a far-off dream.

But, allowing for the proprieties of state banquets and the like, there is never a distinguished guest of them all but that has come up from plain "home raising," and still remembers the dishes of old days as more to thank God for than all the French refinements of later repasts.

The "homeliness" and heartiness of the former linger with them forever in much the same way as they did with our old friend of the "Uncle Remus" stories when, after a certain notable banquet, he and seldom attended such, he remarked: "Now I'm going home to eat!"—Atlanta Constitution.

TENANT FINDS BURIED MONEY

And Now a Court Must Pick the Owner of Treasure Discovered Hidden in Jar.

Rumors of the finding of a great treasure in the old Holland house here have been confirmed by the filing of suit in the Fayette county circuit court by the administrators of the Holland estate against a dozen defendants alleged to have shared in the division of the treasure, which amounted to $21,000, says a dispatch from Nuttallburg, W. Va., to the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Attachments were served on 80 banks in the surrounding section, where the money is believed to have been deposited.

The story of the treasure reads like romance. In the sixties William Holland, veteran of the Crimean war, came to this country from England and settled in the Pennsylvania coal fields. In 1872 he came to Kenney's creek and began the development of a vein. He built a home here in 1885, where he resided until his death in 1918.

He was an eccentric character, and none of his family knew of his habit of hiding money. He died suddenly of heart failure. After Holland's death the home passed into the hands of William Nelson, superintendent of the coal company, who began repairs and reconstruction. The gold was found in different jars at different times.

Shuts Out Sound.

Persons who wish to concentrate their attention upon studies, business matters or what not, often find themselves most annoyingly distracted by noises of one kind or another. Street traffic may be disturbing; the crying of a baby may irritate; or perhaps the jowling of cats on a back fence or the persistent tooting of a cornet in the neighborhood may induce exasperation.

To obviate this sort of trouble, Gabilo Janagreg of Bridgeport, Conn., has devised what he calls the "ear silencer."

It is a frame of light construction which may be fixed upon the head in such a way that two screws carrying soft rubber plugs on their ends are inserted into the ears.

When this adjustment has been made exactly right the two screws that carry the rubber plugs enter the wearer's ears horizontally and have only to be tightened sufficiently in order to fit snugly and exclude all troublesome sounds.

Opossum a Pest in Australia.

New Zealand has a native species of opossum which wears a very beautiful fur. It is not at all like the opossum that we know in this country.

Many years ago it was introduced into Australia, and, finding there none of the natural enemies that preyed upon it in its own land, it has since increased in numbers until it has become a serious pest. It is a robber of fruit trees.

However, the value of the animal for its fur is so great as to outweigh the damage it does in the fruit-growing sections, and in view of this fact, the Australians are encouraging the increase of opossums in forest districts. Their skins are becoming a considerable item of export, and already many of them are made up into fashionable garments for women in the United States.—Philadelphia Ledger.

First American Train Robbery.

Train robbery, a pastime which was for some years very popular in the West, was inaugurated 48 years ago at Verido, Nevada, when the Overland express was held up and despoiled of about $50,000. This robbery marked a new departure in the field of crime, for previously only stage coaches and travelers had fallen prey to holdup men. When western outlaws are discussed, the name of Jesse James is usually the first brought up, but he was not the pioneer train robber. That dubious distinction belongs to one Buck Taylor, who, with four companions, pulled off the train holdup which was the first of a long string of similar crimes.

A number of members from the lower charges attended the morning services. They have gone to housekeeping in the parsonage.

Sadness prevailed here when it was learned that Mrs. Ralph Fieldhouse had passed away at 6 o'clock Monday morning. She gave birth to a daughter Sunday, April 24, complications setting in from which she did not recover. All possible was done by relatives and friends and skilled medical aid. She was Miss Hannah Woods of East Palestine before her marriage to Ralph Fieldhouse, Nov. 26, 1919. They had been residents of this place since last July. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school of East Palestine. She was 32 years of age. Surviving are her husband and little daughter, father, four sisters and five brothers, all of East Palestine. On Tuesday afternoon the remains were taken to her father's home in East Palestine. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon. Interment at that place.

Commemorative exercises in the school auditorium last Thursday evening were largely attended. The spacious room was filled. The exercises this year were different than former years. The music furnished by the community choir was excellent, being highly appreciated by all present. A drama entitled "Anson Boggs, Frontier Man" was presented by the junior class. The exercises given by first and second grades were very entertaining. The exercises were all very well rendered and proved the ending of a very successful year. The class was presented their diplomas by Supt. J. W. Moore. The girls were attired in white dresses, and the young men neatly dressed. One member of the class, John Falconer, could not be present on account of illness. His diploma was presented him later.
