MUSIC NOW DEAD IN RUSSIA

Under Bolshevism There is Little Possibility of "Concourse of Sweet Sounds."

In Russia, when revolutionary holidays are celebrated, government autos carry concert and opera singers to the halls or other buildings where they are to be heard. But despite all efforts of the Red government, music's outlook is not rosy, and music publishing, a state monopoly, has been almost entirely suspended. Scriabin's works are practically the only ones still printed.

Most great men of Russian music are living under a cloud of despair. Glazunoff can no longer compose because his stock of music paper is exhausted and there is no more to be had. Nicolas Medtner, the composer and pianist, is the head of a small village music school near Moscow; Julius Engel, the famous critic, has a similar position at a more distant music school for peasant children.

Yet at Petrograd there are three performances of opera with Chaliapin and Neschadanova singing in the "Barber of Seville" and "Khorantchina," though the state has not as yet been able to stage the Stravinsky and Ravel ballets it had intended to produce. But hunger paralyzes all artistic endeavor in the end, and as H. G. Wells says: "The great Russian musicians, artists, and scientists who have died as a result of existing conditions could no more live in the Russia of today than in a Kafir kral."

KINDNESS CARRIED TOO FAR

Affection Unwisely Bestowed Has Given Birth to a Saying That Has Become Famous.

Kindness brought to the point of embarrassment or even harm leads us to say that the recipient has been "killed by kindness."

This phrase has been variously explained. One authority brings its origin back to the days before Christ. Ancient history tells us of the death of Draco, the great Greek legislator, and his ancient "code of laws." He died in 500 B. C. in this extraordinary manner:

Draco made an address in one of the great theaters in his native city. He was so beloved by his people and they were so eager to give him a tangible demonstration of their devotion that they took their cloaks and other garments from their own shoulders and threw them on him as gifts.

The trouble was that in their wild enthusiasm they aimed so well that poor Draco finally succumbed under the weight and when the mountain of clothing was removed from him it was found that the old gentleman had breathed his last.

According to one authority, however, "killed by kindness" is a phrase used because of the fact that certain mother apes are so fond of their young that they clutch them so tightly as to smother them to death against their bodies.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Farmeritis.

The thing of living in the country is great.

First, all you need is a place to live in; and then a horse and a cow and some pigs and chickens.

Then, all you need is some feed for horse and cow and pigs and chickens, and a strong man—

But that's next; a strong man to feed them.

Then you need to read all the farmer books and government bulletins, and learn just how things should be done.

Then you need the nerve to go and tell your man how to do everything, and the courage to watch him do it another way and ignore your instructions.

After that all you need is the gall to pretend that you did it, when a bean comes up the way it was intended.

But, with all that, it's the life; and a fellow could stand it if it wasn't for the mortgage and paying the man and buying the feed.—Richmond Times.

New One to Her.

He dropped into a downtown candy store to make an inevitable purchase. "What will you have?" asked the young lady behind the counter, smiling at her various chocolates, creams, caramels and others too numerous to mention even in the advertisements.

The purchaser happened to be especially fond of a certain sort of chocolate-coated cream. Pointing at a pan of these, he said: "Put emphasis on this."

The girl looked blank for a moment, then replied, gravely: "I'm sorry, we are all out of that."—Washington Star.

Almost Horseless.

Four horses yet dwell in Woodland, the seat of Yolo county, adjoining Sacramento, Cal. These are used for delivery purposes, a milk wagon, laundry bus, express wagon and vegetable wagon being the horse-drawn equipment of the city.

The fire department and all other business are motorized.—Motor Life.

Good Logic.

A man the other day denied that John Bunyan was the author of "The Pilgrim's Progress." Being vehemently contradicted, he thus replied: "No, I question even if he contributed to the work, for it is impossible that a lunatic could contribute to any pilgrim's progress."

TRICKS OF CRIMINAL LAWYERS

Apparently the Matter of Affecting Juries Has Been Reduced to a Fine Art.

A former district attorney of Delaware county, who has tried scores of murder cases, says it is the defendant or defendant's attorney who prepares the case most carefully in advance, who wins, a Philadelphia correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star writes. Some of the stage tricks of murder trial stagecraft he reveals as follows:

"Garb the woman in the case as an innocent schoolgirl.

"Find if the alleged murderer has a twenty-second cousin or any distant relative with a baby, and bring them into court. See that the prisoner has an opportunity to kiss the baby, even if he never saw it before, just as the jury is filing from the room.

"Tumble with bloody clothes or click the murderous pistol when an opposing attorney makes a telling point. The noise distracts the jury's attention.

"Have silk hosiery prominently displayed before the jury box by a defendant.

"Find the alleged murderer's grandmother or someone that will look like a grandmother and will cry copiously. Have her sit where the jury can see her at all times.

"Find the defendant's husband or someone who will sit as a husband. Have pledges of loyalty made so jury can see vamp eyes."

PANAMA OF SMALL ACCOUNT

Little Republic of Importance Only Because of the Canal Which Cuts Across It.

The little republic of Panama is shaped like a section of waving ribbon or of a squirming snake. It is 31 miles across at its narrowest point and not much over 50 miles wide throughout most of its 450 miles of length. It is about the size of South Carolina. The greater part of the Atlantic side of the isthmus is occupied by jungles. The population is between a third and a half of a million. Some pure Indians occupy the central mountains and a part of the Atlantic coast toward South America.

There is a large negro element in the population. The remainder are of Spanish extraction and of mixed blood. The majority of the more civilized and progressive inhabitants live on the Pacific side of the island, and are concentrated noticeably in the western end, toward the Costa Rican border. Since the cession of the canal zone to the United States, Panama has had no army but has depended solely on its national police force.

—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

A Great Surgeon.

According to the books, Dr. Robert Abbe is 70. He was born and educated in New York. He is one of the great lights of surgery. He has been surgeon to St. Luke's hospital for more than a generation, to the New York Cancer hospital for nearly a generation. He is consulting surgeon at a number of other hospitals and he has been a lecturer on, or professor of surgery at two or three of our great medical schools. He was the pioneer in the use of radium in the United States. He completed not long ago a work on Mme. Curie and her monumental discovery. His life has been totius teres atque rotundus, a brilliant and beneficent record of devotion to science and the relief of human suffering. Amid the procession of louder names the quiet generals of the unending war against disease are too often forgotten. The more reason for some expression of public gratitude to "him who wears today the glory of his 70 years."—New York Times.

Women in Scotland Yard.

Conservative Scotland Yard is finding women of decided value on its detective force, especially in ferreting out the intricacies of certain sorts of crime, writes a London correspondent. The talent of these feminine sleuths, it is said, is due largely because of their greater success at practicing deception. And it has been found that they can keep a secret.

Many of the women detectives cover assignments at social events where it is necessary for them to wear evening gowns and jewels and to display the social graces. Women detectives were employed first in London, but now their activities have extended to the provinces.

Apprehensive.

She had received a proposal of marriage from a man she had always regarded more in the light of a brother than a lover.

"Janet," he began, "you know, I have always turned to you; that I have always thought of you. May I—that is—ah, will you be my wife?"

"What a start you gave me, Henry," said Janet at last. "Do you know I thought from your manner that you were going to ask me to lend you some money."

Will Teach Air Navigation.

Air navigation in peace and war is the subject of a new extension course to be given at Columbia university. The problems to be studied will be elementary. "In this course," says the announcement, "some elements entering into the employment of aircraft both for war and also for special commercial purposes will receive major consideration. Engineering accomplishments and problems awaiting solution will be described."
