THE LAW OF NEWSPAPERS.

Bedrie E. H.

Where shall the soul find rest! Tell me, ye winged winds, That round my pathway roar, Do ve not know some spot Where mertals weep no more? Some lone and pleasant dell, Some valley in the West, Where free from toil and pain, The weary soul may rest?

The loud wind dwindled to a whisper low, And signed for pity as it answered-"No!" Tell me, theu mighty deep, Whose billows round me play, Know'st thou some favored spot, Some Island far away, Where weary man may find The bliss for which he sighs, Where serrow never lives, And Friendship never dies! The loud waves rolling in prepetual flow,

Stopped for a while, and sighed to answer-'No

And thou serenest moon, That with such holy face. Dost look upon the earth, Asleep in nigh's embrace, Tell me, in all thy round Hast thou not seen some spot, Where miserable man, Might find a happier lot! Behind a cloud the moon withdrew in wo. And a voice sweet, dut sad, responded-'No!'

Oh? tell me, Hope and Faith, Is there no resting-place, From sorrow, sin and death; Is there no happy spot, Where mortals may be blest, Where grief may find a balm, And weariness a rest?

Tell me, my secret soul,

Waved their bright wings, and whispered ... " Ves! in Heaven!"

How to Weigh Live Cattle.

This is of the utmost utility to all those who are not experienced judges by the eye. By the following directions, the weight can be ascertained within a mere trifle:

Take a string and put it round the breast. stand square, just behind the shoulder blade; the bone of the tail which plumbs the line quare superficial feet, and that multiplied by 13 (the number of pounds measures less then 5 in girth,) make 718 pounds. Where the animal measures less than 6 and more than 7 in girth, 31 is the number of pounds to each superficial foot.

Again, suppose a pig or any small beast should measure 2 feet in girth, and 2 along the back, which multiplied together, make square feet, that multipled by 11, the number of pounds allowed each square foot, of cattle measuring less than 3 feet in girth, makes 44 pounds. Again, suppose a call, a sheep &c., should make 4 feet 6 inches in girth, and 3 should make 4 feet 6 inches in girth, and 3 ing unnecessary expense, if adopted by our feet 2 inches in length, which multipled to-younger folks, would bring around the most

MODE OF DOING BUSINESS IN CONGRESS.

The mode of doing business in Congress is thus graphically and truthfully described by the New York Express: The way laws are now made in Congress is such that vicious legislation will never bo corrected until the appropriation bills are killed, and an extra session is compelled, as a consequence of the loss of these bills. A quasi revolution, in thus stooping the supplies, may awaken the people, perhaps, to the outrayes and perils that exist in the now long prevailing habit of enacting the most important laws from 11 o'clock to 6 o'clock in the morning, between the night before and the day of the 4th of March. For ten years past the halls of the Capitol have been thronged day and night in March, or on the closing days of the long sessions, with an army of obby members, pushing all sorts of things into the appropriation bills, and exerting all Society.-Those can most easily dispense such as is to be deplored. Besides, as Congress nowdays will do little or nothing but what it does in the appropriation bills, there is a kindly disposition to engraft opon them such measures as membera deem "good," upon which otherwise there would be no earthly hope of action. This consideration, taken in connection with the fact that corruption really desires no action upon the appropriation bills till the very just hours of you have not, never had, and you can give me the session, when, amid the noise and confusion, corruption can best conceal itself, enables the bad to mix up with the good such a curiosity as the last civil and diplomatic bill presents; a bill which no five men in either 'Why you might have had that fifteen years House of Congress understood, or could underago, if you had only said the word, but I was stand, unless they were on the committees of

The civil and diplomatic bill was twice voted down in the House of Representatives during the night of the 3d of March, mainly because the members had no means of even quessing what was in it, but partly because here was a general increase of pay for Secretaries, for Foreign Missions, &c., &c. THE IRISH HEART .- One of the most admirable traits of the Irish character, is the fine vein of true golden affection that runs through it. It is a perpetual thing to find in the newspapers accounts of how poor starving woman who have come from the old sed. and, from day wages, have saved enough to bring over either an infirm father, a desolate and starving mother, or a brother, whose life was an eternal toil, with hardly a subsistence. These are noble traits of character, and may be found everywhere among the Irish peasan-

An Irish paper states that at the Limerick post office letters are continually received enclosing from $50 to $500, sent by poor emigrants to their poorer kin to help them onward from the desolate home of their birth to these far-off golden fields .- Nobile Tribune which apprentices, clerks, and others have of spending their earnings as fast as they accumulate, is one great reason why so many never attain a position above a mediocrity in life. A person who receives a small compensation for his services, will with a little care over his exchequer, and a system of regularity in his expenditures, find that at the end of the year he is prepared to encounter any emergency or mishap. But, as a general thing, they manage to get rid of their earnings quite as quick as they are due, thus leaving them wholly unprepared for emergencies, by sickness or otherwise. A system of curtail-
