NEITHER SAINT NOR DEVIL. Pocock Makes a Showed Address and Bids Defiance to His Enemies. TOLEDO, O., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Gen. Pocock has apparently blocked the moves of his enemies and at the noon recess of the convention had not suffered at the hands of the National Guard association. He called the convention to order at 11 a. m. and read from manuscript a shrewdly compiled address, stating he was neither a saint nor a devil. He asked a Committee to investigate him, referred to his record in war and peace, and asked for justice. He called the vice president of the association, Colonel Anthony to the chair and retired. The convention appointed a committee to nominate officers and adjourned for dinner. The detective Foster got a tongue lashing from the brother of a lady whose name Foster dragged into the Pocock trouble this morning in the Boody house rotunda. H. C. SMART.

WASTING TIME. The Ohio House Indulges in a Useless and Discreditable Discussion on Opening the World's Fair on Sunday. COLUMBUS, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—There was a sensational debate in the house all the forenoon on the Sunday closing question at the World's Fair. Representative Lillard quoted from a memorial by M. M. Murphy of Ripley, Ohio, favoring opening the fair on Sunday and announcing the doctrine that Sunday is not the Sabbath day, but is no more the Sabbath than Monday or Tuesday. Mr. Murphy asserted that the Sabbath is of pagan origin originated by the sun worshipers and that all Sunday legislation is the product of pagan Rome. Mr. Clapp of Geauga and McCoy of Columbiana took exceptions to the reading of the Murphy memorial and denounced Lillard violently. Mr. Griffin of Lucas, said he did not propose to be preached to by anybody, but would yield the right to no man in the Legislature to teach him how to observe it. Mr. Beard of Ashland, said the actions of this Legislature would not have a feather's weight either way in determining the matter. Pending this discussion the House recessed. It is a case of great ado about nothing.

SKETCH OF MURPHY. The New York Senator is an Irishman From Away Back. NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The Senator but which is now soon to make his debut arrayed in the glories of the toga, Edward Murphy, Jr., first saw the light of day in Troy, N. Y., on December 15, 1838. His father and mother emigrated from Ireland in 1832, landing in Canton, but soon after settled in Troy, where the elder Murphy began business as a brewer in 1840, and made a large fortune. He took his son into partnership and the young man soon made himself remarkable as not only a smart business man but a popular member of the volunteer fire department. At the age of 25 he was alderman for the first ward, and continued in office for several terms. Then he began his political career, and was appointed fire commissioner. He was elected mayor in 1874. The Democratic party, which had been disunited was soon brought into line by the active leadership of young Murphy, who was elected mayor without opposition for four successive terms, and became the Democratic leader of Washington county and all that section of State. He was always ready to fight for his party and to give both his money and his time for its benefit. It has been said by his opponents that he is not fit for a senatorial position for want of education, but there is no truth in that, as he graduated with honor at St. John's College, Fordham. In his person he is a man of elegant manners and address. Mr. Murphy is happy in his domestic relations, and is eminently a good husband and father.

WITHOUT A HOME. The Humane Society Takes an Interest in an Unfortunate Youth. John Quigley, a bright lad aged 16 years, applied to Mr. Charles R. Frazer, of the Humane society, Wednesday, for assistance. The young lad tells a pitiful tale of destitution and privation. He says that he practically has no home, as the family circle is disrupted and the father, Mike Quigley, does not provide for him. He says that he has been sleeping in barns and cuddling up in out of the way places for some time past, but the recent cold weather now makes such action impossible. The family is well known in certain circles in Canton. Mr. Frazer took an interest in the boy, who stated that he would be very willing to work if he could secure a place. An arrangement was made by Mr. Frazer for the reception of the youth temporarily at the County Infirmary. Any one needing the services of a sixteen year old boy, may send word to the Infirmary people.

CANTON BRICK Again Scores a Triumph in a Severe Test Case. Canton brick is again in the lead and in a contest in Kentucky came in ahead of all others. A special correspondent located at Newport, Ky., sends the following from that city the Cincinnati Enquirer:

The result of the test of bricks offered by the several bidders for the paving of Fourth and Jackson streets is as follows: The Metropolitan brick offered by Charles Sparks absorbed the least water and was marked as the best. The Hallwood block presented by Traf. O. Brown, was the next best, and the various others offered fell away below the above mentioned.

The Metropolitan brick, mentioned in the foregoing, is the product of the Imperial Brick Company of this city and the competition with this block has been close. Competitors, however, find it very difficult to beat the Imperial Brick Company's product, and the result is that this brick is in universal demand. Mr. Dager, who has been pushing the brick on the market, is much pleased with the result of the late test at Newport. He has returned home. That Canton brick is superior to all others is generally conceded.
