The question of the hour in Canton is, "Will the moving pictures move at the auditorium this winter?"

How do the farmers and other taxpayers of the Eighteenth congressional district relish digging down in their pockets for the necessary $8400 which will be necessary to pay for the second Republican congressional primary?

The man in charge of J. C. Welty's farm down in the south part of the county reports that he will have a corn crop of 3000 bushels. He has already sent up a few samples of the crop which the candidate for congress is very proud of showing to his friends.

The Jewish new year began last evening and will continue until tonight. Canton people of that faith are duly observing the custom of laying aside business cares for the day. Religious services are being held in all Jewish synagogues of the county.

As a punishment for unruly boys a Cleveland school teacher has decided to call the young men "up to the front" and require them to sit on her lap. It's owing to the beauty or ugliness of the teacher whether the boys will consider the punishment a pleasure or a real humiliation.

The county fair season is at hand, to the delight of the toilers on the farm. It promises to be a prosperous season for the fair managers, and the one in Stark county which occurs next week, will be no exception to the rest of them. Already entries enough have been secured to insure success for the annual gathering of agriculturists and their city cousins.

Republicans up in the Toledo district are also having trouble in nominating a congressman. Several knockdowns have so far been indulged in among the friends of the half dozen candidates, while those who did their scrapping with their mouths called each other all the vile names they could lay their tongues to. Like this district, Toledo is controlled by the Dick-Cox-Forsaker machine.

The conscience of W. H. Ritter, of Denver, Colo., is troubling him. Four years ago, so he wrote to Governor Folk, of Missouri, when he was a member of the lower house of delegates in St. Louis, he received and distributed among his fellow members of the "combine" $250,000 as a means of getting through certain legislation which they desired. He will come back to Missouri and tell the governor what he knows about it, but in his letter he does not say anything about refunding the money which the combine got.

Some time ago the young, unmarried women of Sterling, Ill., organized a "Matrimonial Help club," the object being to prod up the young men of the city who have been shy in making marriage proposals. Now the men have come back at the girls with a "Betterment Club;" the object of which is to promote matrimony and at the same time guide the unwary young man. Each club has twenty members. The men's club proposes to pass on the eligibility of the women for matrimony, being bent especially on finding out whether the girl can bake and mend and keep house in addition to playing whist, dance, roller skate and attend the theater. If she be either frivolous or addicted to the jewelry habit she will be blacklisted. Here in Stark county the men have no need for such clubs.

A Victory to be Proud Of is the final and absolute cure of a sore throat in which the rawness and tenderness have been spreading dangerously near those guardians of life, the lungs. The luxury of a sound throat and robust lungs is most keenly enjoyed by people who, having suffered all the consequences of a "flu" cold, you know, have been rescued from misery and danger by Allen's Lung Balm.

INSTANT DEATH

Fred Istler, a Carnahan Employee, Run Down by a Pennsylvania Train. Body Badly Mangled.

Fred Istler, 40 years of age, employed at the Carnahan company, as a fireman, met death instantly Wednesday morning by being run down by a Pennsylvania train near the Carnahan shops. Both arms were cut off and the body severed at the abdomen. Istler quit work at 10 o'clock, but it is not known whether he immediately left the shop. The body was found by the engineer of engine No. 7403, who stopped at that point to oil. In walking around the engine he found the body, still warm, almost under the pilot. This was about 2 o'clock. Several other employees of the Carnahan works, who passed over the track about midnight, failed to discover the body, and it is therefore presumed that the man was killed some time between that time and 1:30.

He is survived by his wife and three children, two brothers, one in Wilkinsburg, Pa., the other in Newark, O. One sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Shaub, resides in Canton.

The funeral services will be held from the home 1929 Henry avenue, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Welshimer will officiate.

ALL'S WELL NOW

Senator Bailey Forgives Roger Sullivan Who Denies Making Statement Credited to Him.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Senator Bailey before leaving for Texas this evening replied to Roger Sullivan's telegram, which denounced the Sullivan alleged interview reflecting on Bailey, as follows:

"I have received your telegram and am pleased to know that you did not make the statement attributed to you."

Commenting on the criticisms that have been made of his connection with the Waters-Pierce Oil company, the senator said:

"No client of mine has ever attempted to influence my opinion on public questions, and if they should ever attempt to do it they would have to get out of my presence very quickly. If a rule is to be laid down in this country that no man is to serve in congress and have business interests outside, either professional or otherwise, we will soon get a body of professional politicians. For myself, I propose to do as I have done for fifteen years. I have practiced my profession, and I have never allowed that practice to interfere with my public duties."

SEVEN YEARS

The Russian Revolution Will Last According to a Famous Liberal.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—The Russian revolution is not to be a brief affair, according to Peter Struve, the famous liberal, now in the czar's capital after a long exile in Stuttgart and Paris, where he published the newspaper Emancipation, as an organ of the constitutional reformers.

"Our disorders will continue a long time," he predicted. "Even should we advance one hundred times as rapidly as has England, the revolution must last seven years. Though a believer in peace, I cannot forget that the government has always closed the door against peaceful propositions."

"It would be more than human for the revolutionists to be scrupulous in dealing with such a government."

Our Friends, the Druggists.

It is a pleasure to testify to the generally high character of druggists. But because of a few exceptions to the rule, it is necessary to caution the public to be on guard against imitations of Perry Davis' Painkiller. See that you get the right article, the soothing, helpful Painkiller that was used in your family before you were born. Don't be talked into buying a substitute. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

For "Peace" Day.

Chicago Sept. 19.—The Chicago peace society has asked all Chicago churches to observe October 7 as peace day. "The largest problem of the day is world peace," says the call. "To hasten such a possibility there should be the greatest expression of public opinion. Chicago pastors are urged to preach at least once on the subject of peace day."

ENOUGH GOLD

To Sink a Ship Was Brought Into New York Port Yesterday—Valued at Millions.

New York, Sept. 19.—Enough gold to sink a small ship came into port today on the Cunard liner Carmania. There were 275 boxes of the precious stuff, each box weighing between three and four hundred pounds, and the total value of the contents was $10,328,500. It was the largest gold shipment ever sent to this country in exchange. Most of the gold was in the form of American double eagles, although there were some English pounds and a number of bullion bars. To the National City bank was consigned $4,079,500; Kuhn, Loeb & Co. took $5,500,000, and the rest was consigned to order.

The shippers were the London County Banking company the London City and Midland bank, Hope & Co., and the Deutsche bank of Berlin. The gold was sent over in such bulk because of the low rates in exchange in Europe which made it easier to send the gold than to purchase drafts abroad.

It took two hours to load the golden freight aboard at Liverpool, and more than two hours to unload it. During the voyage the gold was lodged in a specie room on Deck E. Three armed men watched the room day and night. There was a considerable force of men at the dock to look after the unloading of the heavy, iron shod boxes. The steamship company provided several men and the banks sent armed messengers also. The boxes were taken away from the piers a few at a time.
