POLICE BAFFLED

BY LATEST MURDER IN CRIME
SWEEP COTHAM

Detectives at Work Admit They Have No Clue to Murderer of Heckler Girl.

New York, Aug. 4.—The case of Sophia Heckler, the little servant girl, whose body was found in the cellar of Leo and Harry Mack's house at 298 East Sixty-second street at 11 o'clock Saturday night, seven hours after the apartments above her had been robbed and set on fire, is a combination mystery against which the police made little headway today. Five detectives worked at it all day. In the afternoon Inspector McCafferty spent two hours in the house and all he could say when he merged was: "We haven't a blessed clue. There was a robbery, a fire, and apparently a murder, but how it all happened you know as much about it as I."

Coroner's Physician Lebane made an autopsy on the body of the Heckler girl in the morgue today. He found that both jaws, both cheekbones, the skull, the neck and a rib had been broken and that the girl had died of cerebral hemorrhage. On the right cheek there was a wound that cut clear to the bone, with a bruise extending from there to the right ear. Dr. Lebane didn't see how a woman could be battered in this fashion, from a fall down a ten step flight of stairs. Coroner Shradly agreed with him that Sophia Heckler must have been beaten perhaps killed before she was thrown into the cellar. Detective Bottati, while poking around in the house today found on a bed on the second floor—the floor that was robbed and fired—an ice pick. The pick belonged to an ice chest in the basement, the Macks told him. Its prongs fitted marks that were found here and there in the house, wherever a door or cabinet had been jimmied open, but there was no sign of its having been used on the girl. Nor was there a trace of blood anywhere except at the foot of the cellar stairs, where the body had been found.

RAILROAD SCHOOL

To Be Established by Great Lines in Effort to Supply 200,000 Men
Needed.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—The railroads of the United States need 200,000 more men to enable them to conduct the operating and transportation and they should be conducted."

This statement was made by F. S. Mordant yesterday, and it accounts for the establishment of the national school of railroading, with headquarters at 2941 Michigan avenue. A dozen of the biggest railway systems of the country are back of the school and it is to have the hearty support of every road. Its purpose is to try to supply the 200,000 shortage which Mr. Mordant declares exists in the supply of men for the railroads of the country. Arrangements have been made whereby students may be taught free and those who pay their tuition may have it refunded if they "make good" and remain with any railroad company for the space of one year.

In carrying out the plan, the railroads are to spend several hundred thousand dollars annually. From the standpoint of the young man who desires to enter the railroad service, the national school of railroading presents an assured future, for if he passes his examination with a mark of 75 or better he will be guaranteed an instant trial for ten days by one of the railroads, and immediate position if the trial proves satisfactory.

SUITS FILED

The Russell Engine company filed a suit in court Saturday morning against the Stark Electric Railroad company asking for a judgment against the defendants in the sum of $3383.28, with interest from the 14th day of September, 1904, on an account for materials, supplies and labor performed as set forth in the account attached to the petition and which according to the allegations of the plaintiff were furnished at the defendant's special instance and request. The plaintiff claims the account is due and payable. Lynch & Day, attorneys.

The Aetna Fire Insurance Association of Cincinnati, through its receiver, C. W. Richards, sues the Troy Laundry company on policy 30,926, issued by the association on the property of the defendant company against loss by fire, lightning and windstorms. It is claimed the policy was held by the defendant and was in force for one year in the amount of $2000. Judgment for $464.28 with interest from July 19, 1905, is prayed for as the total amount of assessment due under a decree of the Hamilton county common pleas court in order to pay defendant's proportion of the unpaidness and expenses incurred by the plaintiff company during the time the defendant held its policy. Shields & Pomerene, attorneys.

Miss Ida Krebs, Miss Emma Haggy, Miss Lillian Shanabrock, Miss Ada Summer, Mrs. May Berry, Mrs. Margaret Goerke and Miss Ritterbaugh were entertained Sunday by Mrs. Kline at her residence near Meyers lake.

Italy May Attack Church.
Rome, Aug. 4.—An interview with Signor Giolitti is printed ascribing to the premier an emphatic denial of the reports that the government intends to suppress the religious corporations and close their schools, as was done in France, a policy which, it is said the Pope believes to be probable. Signor Giolitti says that all that was done was to issue instructions to the proper authorities to survey all educational institutions, both religious and secular.

Helen Bertram, Whose Beautiful Soprano Voice is Charming Park Theatre Patrons This Week.

HELEN BERTRAM

Famous American Prima Donna Appearing at the Park Theatre
This Week.

Lovers of high class music should not miss the opportunity granted them this week by the management of the Park theatre of hearing Helen Bertram, one of the leading prima donnas of America. Miss Bertram has played with the Bostonians, in fact was prima donna of the company when such stars as Henry Clay Barnabee, W. H. McDonald, Jesse Bartlett Davis, Eugene Cowles and Alice Nielson were in the cast. With the "Prince of Pilsen" she was the bright particular star, and lately has sung the boy part of "Jack Horner" in the "Ginger Bread Man" company. She also originated the "Madame Yeliba" part in the "Song Birds."

This week she is appearing at the Park theatre and last night won her press completely. Many were the expressions of appreciation heard among her auditors and it is safe to say that her beautiful soprano voice is one of the best ever heard in this city. She sang a number of songs last night and will change several times during the week. "Love Me and the World is Mine," caught the ear of the house last night and Miss Bertram was forced to bow her acknowledgements time after time.

Spanish War Veterans Meet.

Defiance, O., Aug. 4.—Visitors for the fourth annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans have been arriving all day today.

This morning the order convened but no business will be transacted until after Tuesday, which is the big day, when Governor Harris and staff and Senator Dick will visit the city and the governor will address the veterans. Although no business sessions of the veterans have yet been held, it is probable that the next convention will go to Youngstown.

Haywood Given Reception.

Denver, Aug. 4.—Ten thousand cheering people, headed by a labor union reception committee of a hundred and a band of musicians met W. D. Haywood tonight at the union station and escorted him to the Albany hotel, where Haywood, Darrow and others spoke.

WHO DRANK CHAMPAGNE

And Who Got Cut Flowers Are Questions Worrying Georgia Statesmen.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 4.—Who ordered the champagne? Who sent the champagne. If it was not drunk, why not? Who pays for the champagne? Those are questions which have stirred the Georgia Jamestown commission, and also Governor Hoke Smith, who is going to sign the state prohibition bill tomorrow, although he owns one-third interest in "The Gal in the Fountain" bar of the Piedmont Hotel.

The champagne in question was used at the Georgia building on the night of Georgia day, June 10, and the New York firm that sent the wine has rendered a hefty bill with a request that the state remit. Wine is not politically popular in Georgia just now, and therefore members of the commission are standing under the bill which Governor Hoke Smith has ordered turned down. President Mitchell of the Georgia commission, says he never ordered the liquid. Mitchell says the firm sent wine to be paid for if approved, and it has never been approved as no one can be found who admits drinking any of the champagne, hence the New York wine house stands a poor show for its money. Governor Hoke Smith has also held up a lot of bills incurred by President Mitchell of the commission under the head of "entertaining."

There is one large bill for cut flowers, which the governor is investigating. He wants to know to whom President Mitchell sent the flowers.

"HIT HIM AGAIN"

Was Slogan in Fight in Which Three Well Dressed Couples Were Mixed in Square Last Night.

The square patrolmen were busy watching one of the Swiss Singing societies in the square last night and the three couples who had come in from the park a few minutes before 11 o'clock had their little argument without police interference.

All the women were young, well dressed and exceptionally good looking. The three men were also young in years and looked as though they patronized an up-to-date tailor.

No one knows what the trouble was about, except perhaps the participants, but after a few words one of them knocked another down. They rolled around on the sidewalk for a few minutes, the other man and the three women inciting their favorite to greater efforts in the scrapping, and finally both regained their feet, red faced, perspiring and disheveled.

They paired off and left the square without the formality of a good night, each couple taking a different direction. Who they were puzzled the few who saw the trouble but it is rumored that one of the couple was recently married.

CENTENNIAL

Of Cooperstown, Home of the Famous Novelist.

Cooperstown, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Cooperstown, famous as the ancestral home of the author of the "Leatherstocking Tales," will celebrate the centenary of its incorporation as a town by a gala week beginning today on much the general plan of an old home week, but with more elaborateness. For a year the citizens have been preparing for the event, and their efforts promise now to result in one of the most interesting celebrations of its kind ever held in this part of the state. Thousands of visitors are expected to attend during the week.

The centennial will be marked by literary exercises of unusual attractiveness. Prof. Brander Matthews has been secured to deliver the oration on James Fenimore Cooper. There will be addresses also by Bishop Henry C. Potter and Francis W. Halsey, and poems by Julia Ward Howe, Rev. Dr. Battershall and others. There will also be regattas, parades, and other outdoor attractions.

Few towns of the entire country are more interesting than Cooperstown, at the outlet of lovely Otsego

GREAT BILL

Offered Patrons of Park Theatre by Management This Week.

Patrons at the Park theatre are given the opportunity of seeing the best vaudeville show ever put on at that popular house this week. The management has spared no expense and though the bill of yesterday was something of a disappointment because the Zouave Girls did not show no one left the casino dissatisfied.

Helen Bertram, the famous prima donna, formerly of the Bostonians, Prince of Pilsen and other musical favorites, is easily the headliner and the greatest attraction ever offered Canton theatre goes. Another card which will please has been added. This is Care Miller and the Five Columbians in the sketch "A Bit of Dresden Chira. The act is beautifully staged and costumed and is one of the best things in high class vaudeville today. Miller and his troupe just closed an engagement in Cleveland and he was brought here to fill out the bill after much trouble.

Other numbers were Murry K. Hill, who is playing a return engagement. He is well liked and his "new bunch of junk" took well with the crowd last night. Goldsmith and Hoppe, comedy musicians, caught the popular fancy and were given a hand time and time again. Herbert Lloyd and three assistants gave a burlesque on vaudeville which was great. Lloyd has a variety of stunning costumes among which his diamond suit is a marvel. Another addition to the bill are the Piato Brothers, comedy acrobats, who have an excellent turn.

At both matinee and evening performances the house was filled to its capacity.

Editor Assassinated.

Helena, Ark., Aug. 4.—J. N. Scott, city editor of the Helena World, was assassinated at an early hour this morning, as he was leaving the office to go to his home. Five shots were fired into him, and two entering the brain, killing him instantly. No one was in sight at the time, and no arrests have been made. This crime is associated with the recent upheaval that shook this town until the entire city administration except a few officials were forced to resign and new officials elected. The Helena World led the crusade against the old administration charging the police department with graft and corruption, and demanding an examination of the books. The community has been very much wrought up over the upheaval and last week passed through an exciting election in which Scott and the World took a leading part.

ON GRASS AND HERBS

Demented Woman Had Lived for Seven Days—Hid Self Inside Barn.
Special to Morning News.

Marion, O., Aug. 4.—Lying face downward near a deserted barn south of the city, Miss N. A. Black, former Pittsburg school teacher, who disappeared from a local sanitarium seven days ago, was found at noon today by two men who joined a searching party, of several hundred people which has been searching the southern part of the county. Green stains on the woman's face showed that for the greater part of the seven days she had subsisted on grass and herbs. Her body is emaciated and she is in a precarious condition, but it is thought she will recover. "Water, water," were the two words faintly gasped by the exhausted woman.

Miss Black is demented, her mania being a desire to be by herself. It is thought that the entire time she was missing she hid beneath the old barn on the farm of Adam Neidhart, near which she was found. She left her hiding place only at night and in the day stuffed hay in the small opening leading to her retreat under the building. Miss Black came here from Salem, O.

May Prosecute Harriman.

Washington, Aug. 4.—E. H. Harriman and his associates having been in complete control of the Chicago and Alton road during the period when the Standard Oil company was alleged to have accepted rebates from it, for which offenses Judge Landis at Chicago yesterday imposed fines in excess of $29,000,000, federal officials are asking if in the prospective proceedings against the Alton Harriman will himself be prosecuted as an individual.
