The Adams Express Company places its daily obligations to it for the very latest papers from the eastern cities.

The American Express Company has our thanks for the daily papers in the shape of the very latest eastern papers.

The expectation of the arrival of the President-elect, High Street with citizens at an early hour to day. By mid day large numbers of the people were about, in anticipation of the approach of the train, bearing Mr. Lincoln. It did not however arrive at the depot until 2 o'clock, P. M. which was, we believe, the appointed hour.

On the arrival of the train, the President-elect and his suite, attended by the Committee of Reception, left the cars amid the cheering of the assembled multitude and the firing of cannon. The military immediately formed in line, and served as a guard to the carriage in which Mr. LINCOLN rode. He was conducted by a multitude of people, where the programme hereafter announced was gone through with; after which Mr. LINCOLN appeared at the west steps of the Capital, and returned thanks to the people, in a brief speech. He was followed in a few remarks by Gov. DENISON, when he retired to the rotunda, to receive the congratulations of the people, in which laborious business he is engaged when we go to press.

THE FINAL OF THE DUEL.—Not long since, the Hon. G. C. Moody said something in debate in the Indiana House of Representatives about the late Governor WILLIAMS, which displeased the Hon. HORACE HERON, another member of the House. In consequence, all the preliminaries, including a voluminous correspondence, were gone through with, for settling the differences between the two gentlemen in a single combat. We are told that the parties were on last Sunday, with a reckless disregard of the sanctities of the day, engaged in the vicinity of Cincinnati, in trying their skill by shooting at each other.

On Monday morning, the combatants met for a final encounter, at a place called "Four Mile," on the Alexandria Pike, four miles from Newport, Ky. But the surgeon selected for the occasion, Dr. DORR, did not arrive until two hours after the time appointed for the meeting. While waiting for the surgeon, friends interfered, and the dispute was adjusted without the aid of either pistols or knives.

But as the party was returning to Cincinnati, Sheriff Cook of Campbell county, Ky., on a bench warrant issued by the Circuit Court of the county in session in Newport, arrested the principals, Messrs. Heron and Moody, for violating the laws of Kentucky in regard to dueling. They were brought into court in the afternoon, and held to bail for their appearance on the 20th inst.

D. C. LA RUE'S Panoplicon of the War in India will be opened for the first time in our city to-morrow night, at Montgomery Hall. From the Dayton Empire we clip the following:

The "Panoplicon" will be exhibited at Huston Hall this evening for the last time. Those who have witnessed its wonderful scenes, charming pictures, thrilling battle pieces, and the curious, pleasing effect of the ingenious and scientific mechanism which seems to impart real life to its pretentious, will bear ample testimony to the great merits of the infimitive work. Of course, its admirers will desire to look upon it tonight for the last time. Dr. La Rue, the proprietor, has made himself a great favorite here; he is a glorious, good fellow, as every one who has become acquainted with him, and we hereby recommend him to good folks everywhere, and more especially to those of Columbus, to which pleasant little city he goes to morrow. To our clever neighbors we commend the Doctor and his excellent "show."

Bosses run show.—The Dayton Empire tells a good story of a dog fancier in that city who went to the market the other morning and saw a Newfoundland pup for sale, which he felt sure would exactly match a pup he had at home, and finding the price ($5) reasonable, he at once purchased the animal and sent it home. When he returned to his residence, he met his little boy at the gate with his new dog acquisition—"Oh, pap!" he cried, "some fellow stole 'Prince' yesterday, and just now a good boy brought him back again!" and the little fellow danced with joy. He told the family how he had found 'Prince' in market, but he didn't tell them that he had paid $5 to get him back again!

THE GREAT "SALVE" CERTIFICATE.—HALL'S Journal of Health has the following, which "speaks for itself":

"Dear Doctor: I will be one hundred and seventy-four years old next October. For ninety-four years I have been an invalid, unable to move except when stirred with a fever. But a year ago last Thursday, I heard of the Great Salve, and I bought a bottle. I used it for a week, and I found myself a new man. I can now run twice and a half miles an hour, and throw nineteen dozen corns, without stopping.

ORPHAN'S HOME.—There is a premium offered for the best Union sentiment, and the best Compendium, at the Orphan's Festival, which comes off next Thursday evening, at Armory Hall. We trust the wits and avatars of this most pleasant city, will send us some of their most brilliant contributions for the occasion. We trust, also, that the friends of this truly worthy institution will make such efforts for its good, that the Festival will prove a success. Little blue face? Look out beseechingly from this appeal on made brighter and warmer, and our own hearts are made brighter and warmer, when we can remember charities which have made other hearts warm, and other faces bright. Surely it is "God blessed to give than to receive," and "God loves a cheerful giver."

Then come up to the work, kind friends all! Next Thursday night, remember there is work to do for the poor and needy. If only a little, let all give something of their abundance, and like the snow that falls like flake—but at last covers the hills; so shall your charities, mingling and widening, cover with a mantle as pure and bright the wilderness of our necessities.

"He that giveth to the poor, lendeth to the Lord,"

The earliest poet in New England was Mrs. ANNE BRADSTREET, the wife of Governor BRADSTREET, and the daughter of Governor DUDLEY. She was called "the mirror of the age and the glory of her sex." She was known as a writer in 1632. Her father and sister also wrote respectable verses.

DEPARTURE OF THE PRESIDENT-ELECT.—The President-elect will leave the residence of Governor DENISON at seven o'clock to-morrow (Thursday) morning, and the depot at 7:30, and proceed by way of the Central Ohio and Steubenville railroad, to Pittsburgh.

Friends, who desire to aid the approaching Festival for the benefit of the Orphan Home, will please send their contributions to Armory Hall on Thursday morning. The committees will be on hand in due season to receive them. Mrs. F. W. HURTT, Sec. Ex. Com.

"What do you ask for this 'ere horse?"

"One hundred and twenty-five dollars."

"Take him along—it ain't but a spoiled good horse trade for a hundred dollars."

Notice.—All ladies contributing articles for the Orphan Home, are requested to send them to the Hall early on Thursday morning.

Many people who have no patience with or pity for the stronger sensual passions, are extremely attentive to the details of ease, or some paltry epicures, and the temptation to the strongest may be comparatively trifling.

To-day, Feb. 13, is Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent. To-morrow is St. Valentine's Day, and to morrow evening the Ladies' Festival for the benefit of the Orphan's Home takes place at Armory Hall.
