has the following:

Variety of food is a matter of much import-ance in fattening swine. At this season a greater variety is easily commanded. The garden, if it be a good one, yields a great many refuse articles, squashes, beets, carrots, apples, melons, tomatoes, and corn, which will find a good market in the sty. One of the best articles of food for them, is aweet corn, cut up by the roots and fed whole. They are very fond of it, and it makes them thrive very fast. A half acre near the sty may be prefitably cultivated every year expressly for this purpose. If this be not on hand, corn from the field may be fed in the same way once a day. mixed with the roots and other vegetables. The meal absorbs large quantities of water, is more highly relished by the pigs, and is more perfectly digested. Numerous experi-ments fully prove the economy of cooking the food under ordinary circumstances. the food under ordinary circumstances. Some claim that they can make pork for less than three cents a pound in this way. A dairy farmer of this State made one year 4,227 pounds of pork. The feed with which he did it was 4,127 pounds of corn and oat-meal at $1 50 a hundred, 470 pounds of shorts at 75 cents, 147 bushels of potatoes at 16 cents all of which are seened. 16 cents, all of which are cooked, and half 16 cents, all of which are cooked, and half an acre of green peas, worth may $15, making the total cost of feed $103 95, or not quite two and a half cents per pound for the pork. The value of the whey and sour milk was not reckoned. This and the labor of tech-ing, with the fuel for cooking, are very prop-erly balanced against the manure they made. There can be no doubt that cooking the food pays well. pays well. A dry, warm place for sleeping is another

A dry, warm place for steeping is another important item in keeping swime thrifty. They should have a good sty, with roof and board floor, and plenty of straw, so that they can keep themselves clean. With these con-ditions pork can be made very fast, and the sty will be found to pay as well as any part of the farm arrangements.

THE IMPROVEMENT OF CIDER.-Let the new cider from sour apples (sound and selected fruit is to be preferred) ferment from one week to three weeks, as the weather is warn and cool. When it has attained to lively fermentation, add to each gallon one-quarter of an ounce of sulphate of lime. Stir the powder and cider until intimately mixed, and return the emulsion to the fermenting liquid. Agitate briskly and thoroughly for a few moments, and then let the elder settle. The fermentation will commence at once, When, after a few days, the cider has become clear, draw off and bottle carefully, or remove the sediment and return to the origi-nal vessel. If loosely corked, or kept in a harrel on draught, it will retain its taste as a still cider. If preserved in bottles, carefully corked, which is better, it will become a sparkling cider, and may be kept indefinitely long.

11111 THE HOUSING OF CATTLE .- An English experimenter, last autumn, tied up four bull-ocks under a hovel, three in separate boxes, and kept seven loose in two yards, four in one and three in another, each having a hovelor shed to run under. The fourteen hovel or shed to run under. The fourteen beaute were all alike in age, and were treated in the same way, namely: eight pounds of linased-cake each per day, three-quarters of a bushel of mangel-wurzels, and hay or est-atraw distributed equally to all. Those shat up in the boxes, and those tied up were all ready for market first, and those fed in the wards replaced them in the boxes but when Stinin'97 yards replaced them in the boxes, but when they came to be marketed it was found that they were not ready by a month as early as those that were tied or fastened up.—Stock
