

DEMOCRATS! KEEP UP THE FIRE

Do not be your ardent cool as is. Keep good temper and determined, and Ohio will assuredly give her vote for Polk. Never doubt this for one moment, and the day is ours. David Tod has come within a few hundred votes of being elected, where the whole vote cast exceeded THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND and Tod's election was not lost by the strength of our opponents, but an unfortunate division of our friends in a few of the strongest Democratic counties in this State where two sets of Democratic candidates were run.—Since 1840, the Democrats have increased their vote THIRTY THOUSAND, and have cut off nearly TWENTY-THREE THOUSAND from the Whig majority which was given to Harrison. An increase of ONE VOTE IN EACH TOWNSHIP in the State will secure the vote of Ohio for JAMES K. POLK. This can be accomplished with perfect ease. There are many townships which can give a gain of ten, twenty, or even of fifty votes. There are thousands of Whigs who will not vote for Clay. The moral, religious and conscientious portion of our opponents cannot cast their votes for a violator of the Sabbath—a professed gambler—a notorious duellist whose hand has been repeatedly stained with the blood of his fellow man.—The old Jackson men cannot support Clay, because he violated the instructions of his State, in the corrupt bargain and sale for the Presidency which was effected between himself and J. Q. Adams, by which Jackson, the choice of the people, was cheated out of the Presidency. We might extend the list of those who will not vote for Clay, but it is unnecessary. It can be seen at a glance.

How is it with the Democracy? They are united to a man on JAMES K. POLK. His private character remains unsullied and unspotted, and the Federalists have been compelled to retract the infamous slanders which they have been fabricating against him. His public life has been marked by the same uprightness of character. He is a Democrat at heart—an American and a Patriot. James K. Polk is one of the most eminent public speakers in the United States, is a statesman of the first order of intellect, one on whom the people can safely entrust the destinies of the Republic. He comes strongly recommended by General Jackson. He is the "YOUNG HICKORY" of Democracy, who will lead us on to victory. He will never surrender the one half of Oregon, and the whole of Texas into the hands of the British. Democrats! keep up the holy fire of patriotism and the good temper of honest and upright men, and Victory will perch on your banners.—[Chillicothe Advertiser.]

THE ABQUATULATORS AGAIN AT WORK TREASON AND REVOLUTION THREAT- ENED ALREADY.

Scarcely had the whigs ascertained that they had the power, accidentally in our State, before they began to develop their high handed acts, and threaten that which they dared not to propose to the people before the election. People of Ohio, read the following from the Journal of last evening:

THE REPEAL OF THE INIQUITOUS GER- RYMANDERING LAW.

"The whig press of the State, with such palpable evidences before them of the iniquity of the law adopted by the locofoco Legislature of 1842 dividing the State into Congressional Districts, are earnest in their demands for its alteration or repeal. The Cincinnati Atlas expresses the hope that one of the first acts of the next Legislature, may be its repeal. A law that gives to the minority of the voters of Ohio THIRTEEN members of Congress, while the majority are allowed but SEVEN, will not be tolerated by a republican and equality loving people."

Was there ever such a proposition made before in any State! Such revolutionary conduct would unsettle the whole order and regulations of the Union. If a party can thus clandestinely get into power, and then overturn every thing done in the order of time and under the requisitions of the constitution and laws of the land, what guarantee has the country for one moment's peace or stability! The people should call public meetings at once and denounce this movement as it deserves. The people have asked no reversal of it. The present power of the whigs is purely accidental, obtained by the suicidal divisions of our own friends.

[Ohio Statesman,

BEAR IT IN MIND,

That if Henry Clay had been a citizen of Ohio, and fought the duel with Jo n Randolph in this State he would have been liable to imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary, and unless pardoned out, forever debarred from holding any office or from testifying in a court of justice. What would the coons have done in that event, for a candidate and an "embodiment" of coonery!

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE,

That in 1828, the federal party, claimed all the morality and decency of the country as belonging to them, and that now they are supporting for the presidency a gambler, a profane swearer and a duelist.

DEMOCRATS REMEMBER,

That, in 1828, the democratic candidate for Governor was defeated by a majority greater than that by which Col. Tod is beaten now, and that at the Presidential election, three weeks afterwards, Ohio went democratic by near 5,000 majority. What has been done, can be done again.—[Statesman.]

TELL IT TO EVERY BODY,

That Ohio can, and Ohio will, if her democracy but half do their duty, give her twenty-three electoral votes to James K. Polk, and thus say to Henry Clay, as Clay once said to Polk; (omitting however the profanity,) "go home, — to where you belong." — B.

BEAR IT IN MIND,

That Henry Clay has passions so violent and vindictive, that at this very moment he is under bonds to keep the peace, in the penal sum of five thousand dollars.—B.

THE COALITION OF THE WHIGS AND NA- TIVES AT PHILADELPHIA.

Remember that this is the second coalition formed in two of the great cities in the Union! Keep this before the people! Let it not be kept under a bushel, or denied by a false and lying coon. Put it right there!

BRITISH GOLD.—Since the Whig papers have concluded to report that British Gold has been sent over to elect Mr. Polk, we understand, says the Louisville Democrat, that a great many Whig loafers and politicians have been very anxious to know when the Loco Epulo leaders would commence buying votes. (ib.)

"The higher the duties the lower the price of articles."

"If with high duties, duties are so small,
With higher duties they'd be none at all;
And thus, perhaps, in time's eventful round,
We'd have good coffee nothing by the pound."

CLAY BY A MASTER HAND.

The editor of the Richmond Enquirer states that two gentlemen, known to him, have seen the manuscript of the following in Mr. Webster's handwriting. No doubt can, therefore, remain of the fact that it did proceed from the "Mighty Mind." We, therefore, publish from him the following portrait, evidently from the hand of a limner at once a master of his art, and intimately familiar with the features he undertakes to draw.

MR. CLAY.

From a very early period of his political career, Mr. Clay seems to have fixed his eye on the Presidential chair as the goal which he desired, and expected ultimately to attain. Some men have been found sufficiently unpretending and patriotic as to rest satisfied with the good which their talents and energies could effect in the situation to which they may have been elevated by the spontaneous choice of the people, without raising their aspirations any higher—others have thought not of the Presidency until the gradual progression of promotion and widely disseminated popularity have almost placed it within their grasp, when the expectation of being elevated to the highest office in the gift of the people has been the suggestion of circumstances not the creation of their selfish ambition. Not so Mr. Clay!

When the years he numbered were barely sufficient to qualify him for a seat in the Senate of the United States, and he could almost without suspicion pretend to the innocence of a novice in political intrigue, he extended his vision through the long vista of party turmoil and revolution before him, and intently scanned the whole scene, that he might discover in turn all the tortuosities and difficulties of the path which led to the coveted prize beyond. To attain it, every energy has been served; every plan and every scheme has been employed, till the age of 70 has overtaken him—in vain.

He has figured among statesmen in originating and supporting measures deeply affecting the interests of the country, whether for weal or for woe; it was with the expectation of the Presidency.

He has figured among partisans and intrigued among politicians; he was with the expectation of the the Presidency.

He has poured his fluent strains of deliberative eloquence in the Capitol; it was with the expectation of the Presidency.

He has speechified at dinners and on the stump; it was with the expectation of the Presidency.

He has promulgated opinions and condemned them; he has joined parties and forsaken them—he has supported friends and abandoned them; it was all with the expectation of the Presidency. Amid every change of political opinion in himself—amid every revolution of party—whether he was representative, senator, commissioner in a foreign country, or quitted his popular position to become Secretary of State, he never lost sight of the one great object—the Presidency. As soon as he thought his arrangements made, his forces prepared, and the plan of campaign complete, he entered the field, and he was defeated. Again defeated in open warfare, he experienced in 1839, the additional degradation and disappointment of being rejected by his own friends. Vexed and harassed by reiteration of defeat, where stands he now? Upheld by his own desperation and the recklessness of a few desperate friends, he effects the modesty of retirement, while he promises indirectly a renewal of the contest.

Directly, he promises no such thing, but, in the morbid peevishness of frustrated ambition, (we will not quote an old and familiar adage,) he assails personally, as well as politically, one whose position he envies, because he has, by long reveries on his own aspirations persuaded himself that he should be there himself! But where is he now? At every struggle he is sinking further and further from the object he wishes to grasp. Are his hopes of the Presidency brighter?

His most sanguine friends cannot confidently make the assertion.

He has met the punishment which usually attends a constant tissue of intrigue. The calculations of his cunning have deceived him, and he is further from the Presidency than ever.

Yes, further than ever. When he betrayed the President, and declared himself in favor of a national bank, contrary to the professions of the party in 1840, and so far succeeded in his perfidy as to obtain the leadership of the Whig party after the votes—then, or up to that period, the Whig party held nineteen of the States by decided majorities. Under Mr. Clay's lead, and with his name as the candidate for 1844, in less than two years, the whigs have lost possession of all the States but five or six. This is incontrovertible, and will not be denied by any sane Clay man.

HOW HE IS A NATURALIZED CITIZEN.

Major Davezac was speaking recently in Virginia, when a Federal Whig called him a "Foreigner," the Major grew indignant. "Sir," said he, "judging from your appearance, I was an American citizen before you were born. I have a son, born an American citizen, older than you. As for myself, I have been four times naturalized. I was naturalized by the sanctity of the treaty of Louisiana—the highest form of law known to the Constitution. The rights of an American citizen were conferred upon me by the law creating the Territorial Government of Louisiana; and I was admitted to all the rights, blessings and obligations which belong to you, my fellow citizens, by the law bringing Louisiana into our glorious confederacy." Then turning to Whig speaker, his eye flashing as on the plains of New Orleans, and his heart swelling with the majesty of old recollections, "Sir, you look now as if you desired to know where and when was the fourth time of my naturalization, and who were my sponsors. The consecrated spot on which I received the right of naturalization, was the battle ground of New Orleans; the altar was victory; the baptismal water was blood and fire; Andrew Jackson was my god-father; and patriotism and freedom and glory were my god-mother." The mighty mass of listeners rose spontaneously, and gave nine cheers for our gallant speaker. The coon was soon missing. We are indebted to the "Eve Mirror" for this anecdote. From the Spirit of the Times.

FARMERS LOOK AT THIS, AND MARK THE HYPOCRACY OF THE FEDERAL LEAD- ERS.

Senator Toppan, of Ohio, proposed, in 1842, when the Tariff bill was under discussion, to insert it in a clause, that whenever it was satisfactorily proved that any foreign nation had passed laws to admit our own Corn, Wheat, Flour, Pork and Beef free of duty, then all duties on merchandise from that nation should be reduced, so that none should exceed twenty per cent. The amendment was voted down. Every Whig Senator voting against it, and every democratic Senator voting for it.—Statesman.

Native American, will be the name of the Whig party within two years! Remember that foreigners—Your rights and privileges are gone forever if they obtain the ascendancy. Mark that.

THE CHEERING RETURNS.

THE ONWARD PROGRESS OF DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES—DEMOCRATS! READ AND PUSH ON THE COLUMN.

Democrat! Look at your conquering progress—PENNSYLVANIA, that gave Harrison a majority of 43, now gives a DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY OF SOME THOUSANDS!

GEORGIA, that gave Harrison a majority of over 3,000 in 1840 now GOES DEMOCRATIC BY FROM TWO TO FOUR THOUSAND! A GAIN OF TEN OR TWELVE THOUSAND!

OHIO, that gave Harrison a majority of over twenty-three thousand in 1840, now gives only about one thousand, a GAIN OF OVER TWENTY-TWO THOUSAND!

A gain of nearly FORTY THOUSAND in only three States! knocking off one-third of Harrison's whole majority, in three States only! Is it any wonder, then, that the coons are alarmed, and that the democrats are full of life and confidence!

[Ohio Coon Catcher.

POLK'S ELECTION SURE.

New Jersey and Maryland have gone for the whigs by small majorities, but having tallied off thousands since 1840, but we don't need them.

Little Delaware, all unexpectedly, has gone for the democrats, which swells the victory three votes higher. The following States are now certain for Polk—and Dallas:

MAINE	9
GEORGIA	10
VIRGINIA	17
ILLINOIS	9
MISSOURI	7
NEW YORK	36
ALABAMA	9
MICHIGAN	5
TENNESSEE	13
PENNSYLVANIA	36
MISSISSIPPI	9
NEW HAMPSHIRE	6
SOUTH CAROLINA	9
DELAWARE	3
ARKANSAS	3
LOUISIANA	6

Necessary for a choice, 177

To spare, 39

We have a chance of carrying Ohio, New Jersey, Indiana, North Carolina, Maryland and Connecticut. And we can afford to lose New York, Pennsylvania, or Virginia; or we can lose any two of them, and carry Ohio, and still elect Polk.

So democrats! buckle on your whole armor—victory is certain, and Ohio must, and shall take her rank in the Democratic Pyramid of Democratic States.

[Holmes Co. Farmer.

From the New York Plebeian.

THE DEMOCRACY OF THE WHIG PARTY.

Look where you will—read where you will—ask where you will of the Whig, and the reply to the Democrat and the appeal of the Whig to the people is invariably about the pocket. The cry of the Whigs is, Tariff, Tariff—Bank, Bank—Exchange, Exchange. There is nothing about the liberty of the people, or the freedom of mankind in their bargains. The preservation of the government is nothing to them. It is self, self, self, to the end of the chapter. When you meet a Whig hereafter ask him these questions, and you will see him quail like a whipped spaniel before you. Country to him is nothing. The greatest good of any number to him is nothing. His whole song is how he can sustain about two hundred and fifty great manufacturers at the expense of twenty millions of people: how he can entail a tax (tariff he calls it,) of over one hundred per cent. upon the necessities of life: how your salt and sugar and molasses and flannel and serge and coal and iron can be taxed so as to make them cost double what they ought, in order to support Henry Clay and Daniel Webster's myrmidons. These are his topics, and nothing else. Does he talk about any thing to make mankind better or wiser or more comfortable? No, not a bit of it. The pocket of the bloated manufacturer is his especial god.

A TARIFF FOR THE POOR.

The rich Manufacturers, headed by Henry Clay, have stuck a double headed tax on the poor Mechanic for all the necessities of life. Salt 100 per cent; Sugar 100 per cent; Molasses 100 per cent; Coarse Flannels 100 per cent; Serges 100 per cent; Fustian 100 per cent, and some of these more than 100 per cent. on their first cost. One hundred per cent. seems to be a favorite tax of protection all round for the rich manufacturer, making every thing the poor mechanic eats, drinks and wears cost double what it ought; and all for the benefit of the rich manufacturer, who wallows in wealth. Well! How many of these rich men are benefited by pinching the poor! We answer—a few salt makers at Cape Cod and at Syracuse, a few Sugar planters at Louisiana, and a few lords of the loom in Rhode Island, who have incarcerated Dorr. There are not half a million of people, proprietors, negroes and all put together, who reap this hundred per cent. benefit; while nineteen millions of people, being the balance of our population, are suffering by the Tariff. The mass suffer and the few are benefited, in the proportion of thirty-eight sufferers to one that is benefited. The mechanic's rates are fixed by the same men, Clay and his adherents, at only 25 to 30 per cent. There is surely no equality in this. (ib.)

Short confab between a Democrat and a Coon.

Democrat.—What are Henry Clay's present views about a $50,000,000 Monster Bank; he still goes for that, I suppose?

Coon.—Henry Clay is for a high protective Tariff.

Dem.—How do you understand his late speech in favor of a Bank?

Coon.—I understand him to be for a high protective Tariff.

Dem.—Is he in favor of tearing the Constitution to pieces and destroying the Veto power?

Coon.—Somewhat so, but more particularly for a Tariff.

Dem.—He goes for passing another bankrupt law, I suppose?

Coon.—I tell you again, he goes along for a Tariff.

Dem.—I don't believe you know what Clay is for.

Coon.—He goes for the Tariff, Tariff, Tariff. Before the Democrat had time to ask another question, the Coon sneaked off, swearing vengeance at the Democrat for talking about any thing else than a Tariff, coon skins, hard cider and log cabins. (ib.)

HOW WE STAND.—The Congressional election

which has already taken place for the next Congress, give 48 Democrats, 25 whigs, and 2 Natives.

From the Philadelphia Times PENNSYLVANIA. ELECTION.

Below will be found returns from all the counties, 27 of which are official, giving Shunk a majority of 4985.

Canal Commissioners.—We have returns but from 50 counties. Harshbarger Dem., runs ahead of Mr Shunk, and we presume his majority will exceed six thousand.

The State Legislature will stand, Senate, 21 Democrats, 11 whigs, 1 Native. House, 53 Democrats 39 Whigs 8 Natives.

Congress.—A Democratic gain of 4 members, and but for an unfortunate division in our own ranks, we would have carried the 13th District, which would have been a gain of one more.

The Harrisburg Union says:

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY IN THE HOUSE OVER WHIGS, 14—OVER ALL PARTIES UNITED, 6.

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY ON JOINT BALLOT OVER WHIGS, 25—OVER ALL PARTIES, 16!

LATE FROM TEXAS.

We have news from Texas to the 28th ult. via New Orleans papers.

Captain Foster, of the Woodbury revenue cutter, and Commodore Moore, of Texan Navy, are at N. Orleans.

The returns which have been received from the various parts of the Republic, though not quite complete yet show that Anson Jones has been elected President, having succeeded by a majority of 200 votes.

Gen. Duff Green arrived at Galveston, on the 29th ult., and the News states that his appointment, as Consul, has given great satisfaction. He left Galveston on the 1st instant for Vera Cruz, in the Revenue Cutter Woodbury. The News also states that the United States steamer Union, on board of which General Duff Green left Pensacola on the 17th ult., had had some part of her machinery deranged, and was driven down the coast and came to an anchor off Velasco. No particulars are given of what damage it may, was done. General Green landed at Velasco, and came to Galveston overland.

The Texans keep a sharp look out for the threatened invading Mexicans, but as yet they are not "in sight."

The Texas brig of war Wharton, being in an unusual condition, was run ashore, and now lays on her beam ends, on the flats opposite Galveston.

CONTINUATION OF FALSEHOOD.

The following, which we find in the Tribune of this city to-day, as foul a falsehood as ever was invented. No such letter was ever received here by any one.

"Report says that Mr. McNulty has written a letter to his boon companion in Columbus, stating that the democrats have deserted him, and they may all go to hell."

We are surprised that Mr. Thrall, the editor, should suffer himself imposed upon in this way by the retailer of scandal.—Statesman.

Henry Clay lately wrote a letter to the Morrone and told them he took "a lively interest in the progress of the Later Day Saints!"

Was there ever a more consummate hypocrite than this same Henry Clay!

REMEMBER IT.—Thru in the sixteen States in which elections have been lately held, there is a Democratic gain over 1840 of 128,763 votes. Th. Co. J.

From the Democratic Watchman. THE RESULT--THE PROSPECT.

Once more has Federalism triumphed in Ohio. Not however, as it has been wont to do—Not by one of those overwhelming majorities that would at the time seem to bid defiance to the Democracy in after years—but by the meagre plurality of 10 or 12,000. A DEMOCRATIC GAIN OF 22,000!

since 1840 is not calculated to dampen the ardor, or to lessen the exertions of our friends. True we have lost the State for the time being, but the signs of the times all indicate that that Democracy is destined to triumph here, and that the State will ultimately settle down upon the basis of true Democracy. The tide is in our favor, and the Democrat who will allow such a defeat to discourage or dishearten him, is unworthy of the name and partakes not of its spirit. If we relax not our exertions, so sure as the sun of the 1st of November shall arise, so sure will it set upon a Democratic Victory in Ohio. A few days and the conflict is upon us, and let every one be prepared. Preserve your organization! Relax not one tittle in your efforts, and victory will assuredly perch upon the standard of Equal Rights, proclaiming that the people knowing their true interests, will ever maintain them.

From the Western Empire.

THE BARGAIN--NATIVEISM.

Harper, the Native Whig Mayor of the city of New York, spent some days in Philadelphia previous to the election, with the Clay Clubs, the candidate for Governor, and the notorious Wethered. A bargain was made, and the result shows what it was. Large majorities for the Whig Governor, in districts where other candidates of that party had scarce a decent poll. Who can doubt the fact longer? Whoever lives to see two years, will see the two parties headed, Democrats and Native Americans. Mark the prediction!

FOREIGNERS YOUR ONLY HOPE!

The only hope foreigners now have, is to unite with the Democracy and put down this Native Americanism. The Democrats are warring against it with all their skill and power. The Whigs are identified with it. Remember—foreigner! If Native America's whiggery succeeds, you may as well wear the chains of a despot in a foreign land, as to expect any privileges in this country.
