Purely Personal.
Miss Lizzie Howe accompanied Rev. and Mrs. Snyder to Colorado.

Dr. E. E. Hazlett spent Sunday and Monday in Junction City.

Will Gleissner attended the Gleissner-Northcraft wedding at Pleasant Hill, Mo.

E. George, proprietor of the Pacific House, Enterprise, gave the REFLECTOR a pleasant social and business call last Saturday.

Mr. Pearce, father of Mrs. L. H. Faulkner, arrived in the city last week from Maine. He will spend the winter here.

Messrs. J. Presney and Benj. Rice, with their wives, of Ellsworth, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Rice last Sunday.

Mr. T. E. Sewell arrived home from New York last Tuesday afternoon. He purchased a fine lot of Holiday goods while absent.

Mr. Patrick Riley, a pleasant gentleman and one of the successful farmers at Industry, gave us a call Saturday and invited the REFLECTOR to visit him every week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Freeman, of Chapman, were visiting and trading in town last Monday. Mr. Freeman is a substantial democrat, and while in town he gave the REFLECTOR a pleasant call.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wiley, of Detroit, will leave this week for Vermillion Parish, La., where they will spend the winter. Mr. Wiley gave the REFLECTOR a pleasant call last Tuesday and ordered the REFLECTOR sent to him.

An obituary of the late Dr. Keiser, from the pen of Dr. Hodge, was received after we had already put one in type. It was a graceful tribute to the lamented dead, and we regret the necessity which forces us to leave it from our columns.

Mr. C. S. Moore left Friday evening for Mineral, Ill., where he expects to spend the winter. His wife preceded him to the above place some three weeks. The REFLECTOR wishes them a pleasant visit, and will keep them posted about Dickinson county.

Miss Anna Yinger has sold her fine Indian pony to Mr. S. J. Wright. Miss Yinger is an accomplished lady rider and no doubt will miss her pony very much among the hills of Pennsylvania where she has gone on an extended visit to her parents.

Mr. James K. Morris, of Cincinnati, Ohio, has recently taken a position in the mammoth dry goods store of Sterl & Zahner. He is a gentleman of much business experience, courteous and accommodating, and the REFLECTOR is pleased to welcome him to the beautiful city of Abilene.

Mrs. W. M. Bates arrived at home from West Mansfield, Ohio, last Thursday, after a visit of some four months with relatives and friends. Mr. Bates was smilingly happy when he called down Saturday. And he had reason to be happy. His wife was at home after a long absence, and his 100 acres of corn will average 60 bushels to the acre. He says he prefers Kansas to Ohio.

Kansas democracy is enjoying good health.

J. M. Brenizer has just about the handsomest delivery wagon in the city.

Mr. Wm. S. Hodge is beautifying his new home on Buckeye Avenue.

Three of the successful candidates at the late election, Messrs. Miller, Waring and Harrington are next door neighbors—on west Fifth street.

The REFLECTOR returns thanks to Mr. O. King for a fine lot of turnips—they being nearly as large as a peck measure.

Mr. Daniel S. Clark, of Hope, recently sold his farm for $10,000, and purchased the farm of Mrs. S. R. Ladd, east of Abilene, for $6,500.

S. J. Wright is building a barn and carriage house on his premises. His little girl claims the pony and makes a pleasing picture when riding it about town.

Whichever way one turns, now-a-days, he is sure to see one or more dwelling houses going up. Abilene is rapidly growing.

There will be a special meeting of Cyrus Chapter, No. 25, R. A. M., Friday evening of this week, for the purpose of work.

The total vote cast in this county at the late election was 5057. The county clerk says that this is the largest number of votes ever polled in the county.

The Knights of Pythias lodge of this city will give the recherche ball of the season at Bonebrake's Opera House, Thursday evening, Nov. 29. Invitations will be issued.

Baptist Church. Service in Grace Chapel on Spruce street. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30. Sunday School at 9:45. Preaching at 11 o'clock. All are welcomed.

Mr. L. H. Litts has returned to Kansas to stay. He has bought Mrs. Lackey's pleasant residence in West Abilene, and is also making improvements on his farm, south of town, on which he has some of the best corn in the county.

Mission meetings, conducted by a Jesuit Father, will begin in the Catholic church at this city on the evening of November 25th, and continue through one week. All are cordially invited to attend.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Mr. I. Shockey's hardware store, which appears in this issue. Mr. Shockey is an upright business man, and is enjoying a growing trade.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give an oyster supper at the residence of Mrs. J. E. Bonebrake this Thursday evening. All are cordially invited. Supper served at any time between 6 and 10 o'clock.

Mr. Geo. M. Alexander, of Newbern, N. C., according to the latest returns, is the champion sweet potato and beet raiser. Four potatoes weighing 20 pounds, and three beets weighing 39 pounds, were the specimens brought to this office. Thanks. Next.

The REFLECTOR is pleased to note that Elder Love has been engaged by the society of Disciples of Christ to preach for one year. Elder Love is an able man, a pleasant speaker, and no doubt will be the means of adding much strength to the church.

Messrs. Raub & Jackson, of New York, have taken possession of Dr. Crise's dental outfit and business, and are now ready to perform all operations known to the dental profession. These gentlemen come highly recommended, are specially pleasant and will no doubt build up a good business.

The attention of our town and country readers is called to the buggy advertisement in another column. It is not wise for our people to buy cheap buggies of traveling men, when Bonebrake's Hardware Co. is offering such extraordinary bargains. Buy of a reliable company.

Whitley's Hidden Hand Combination will appear at Bonebrake's Opera House on Wednesday evening, Nov. 28th.

Dr. A. S. Gish narrowly escaped serious injury last Monday. He had just finished feeding the horses of a guest when one of the animals, apparently very docile, blazed away with her hind feet, one hoof striking the Dr. on the hand and the other on the hip. Fortunately, the Dr. was not near enough to receive the full strength of the blow.

The colored people of Abilene organized a Baptist church last Sunday, and Rev. Butler Harper is the shepherd of the stable flock. The members will meet in "Squire Clark's" office next Sunday afternoon at half-past one o'clock for the purpose of organizing a Sunday School. May this organization of our colored citizens grow in wisdom and grace.

The following encouraging words from Rev. W. H. Snyder, now at Georgetown, Colo., no doubt, will be read with much interest by his many friends here. In a letter he says: "Reached here in good time; preached twice Sunday to large audiences. Was warmly greeted by the Georgetown people and can truly say that I have fallen in love with them, as has my wife. We found every thing so cozy and nice; house furnished and ready to light fires and go to work."

Abilene Commandery of Knights Templar will meet the first and third Thursday of each month in Masonic Hall. The following is a list of the officers: John Johnst, E. C.; George C. Kenyon, Gen'l; Henry Litts, C. G.; Ralph McCormack, P.; John P. Quinn, S. W.; E. E. Hazlett, J. W.; M. Dowling, T.; C. J. McDivitt, R.; Wm. Hallowell, St B.; E. W. Olds, Sw. B.; H. H. Floyd, W.

Sebastian, Garvey, Wm. Flannelly and Jno. Jas. of the C. R. I. & P. R'y; W. D. Murdock, of the C. & A. R'y; A. C. Goodrich, of the C. & M., and McCartney, of the B. & O. R'y, all ticket and passenger agents, were at the Henry House last Sunday and Monday trying to get the River Brethren excursion party to go over their respective lines. There was a great deal of skirmishing, and Messrs. Murdock and Sebastian were the successful ones.

Mr. John Armstrong's team of horses, while standing at the City Mills last Tuesday, became frightened at an engine and started on a run. They were hitched to a buggy in which Mr. Armstrong was seated. The buggy was almost annihilated before the horses were stopped, and Mr. A. was thrown out and had three ribs broken. He was taken into the Continental Hotel and Dr. King was called in to attend him. Mr. Armstrong is a farmer, and lives some fifteen miles north of town.

Jesse Brown was a frightened darkey last Thursday evening. He had been in the habit of using hay and corn belonging to other people, and last week he was discovered at a hay stack, and pursued by a crowd of interested persons. Jesse took to his heels and a few shots fired in the air accelerated his speed, as Hamlet would say, made his eyes stand out like ink bottles. The darkey rushed into Mr. J. W. Hart's residence, dashed up stairs and locked himself in a room. By this time the City Marshal arrived and put a stop to the uproar. The frightened darkey begged the Marshal to protect him, which prayer was granted, and the wayward Jesse was soon languishing in the city prison.

While the parents were away from home last Saturday, the little son of Marshal J. J. Miller was playing in the barn on his father's premises with a number of playmates. In the midst of the jollity an old rusty pistol was discovered and the children amused themselves by cracking parlor matches with the hammer of it. Unexpectedly it went off, and a 44-calibre ball struck the instep of Mr. Miller's little boy. Fortunately, the extreme rustiness of the pistol considerably checked the force of the ball, and it glanced from the foot without breaking any bones. The little fellow is getting along nicely. Mr. Miller had found the pistol when he first moved into the house and had tried to discharge it, but failing, had thrown it aside as harmless and worthless. It is lucky that the wounded boy's instep was not completely shattered.

Excursion Party.
Last Tuesday an excursion party of fifty River Brethren left Abilene for Harrisburg, Pa., where they will spend some time visiting their old homes. At Kansas City the party will divide, some going over the Chicago and Rock Island and part over the Chicago and Alton.

The following is nearly a complete list of the excursionists: Peter Bufenneyer and wife, the Misses Betz, Dave Croft, Mr. Fyrmire, Andrew Bare, Albert Lowry and daughter, the Misses Gish, Milton Brant, Mr. Cressler, John Martin, Mrs. David Myers and five children, Joseph Negley and daughter, Michael Bert and wife, and two children, Sam'l Bert and wife, Jacob Bert and wife, W. C. Ritter, Jacob and David Engle, Messrs. Straub, Larkins and two or three others.

Great Bargains and Bedrock Prices at T. C. McInerney's, corner third and Broadway, sign of Big Boot.

Unhappy Clay Center.

The Clay Center Times, in a half-column editorial, bewails the disgrace which has been brought upon that city in two distinct cases by erring parties in good standing. The paper further says that there are, even now, rumors of other crimes of the same nature, which must, sooner or later, break up other families and cause innocent hearts to break. It is time for the newspapers to expose and denounce this evil whenever and wherever it shows its hideous head, and the glamour often thrown around it by a pernicious education or a vicious imagination will disappear. When a man or woman thoroughly understands that he who sins must suffer—understands publicly, suffer always, there will be fewer sins committed."

Married.
At Pleasant Hill, Mo., Tuesday, Nov. 13, 1888, at the residence of Mrs. M. F. Adams, by Rev. J. C. Chaney, JOHN M. GLEISSNER and Miss KATE M. NORTH-CRAFT, both of Abilene.

Mr. Gleissner, of the drug firm of Hawk & Gleissner, is one of Abilene's most substantial young business men, and is liked by all for his quiet, unassuming manners, his strict honor and integrity. Miss Northcraft is well known to our people, and her qualities of heart, mind and person have made her a social favorite. Such an auspicious union cannot help drawing to it the hearty and sincere good wishes of all who know them, and the REFLECTOR extends the hope that naught unpropitious or unhappy shall attend their way through life. Mr. and Mrs. Gleissner will arrive at Abilene next Saturday.

An Excellent Sermon.

The quarto-centennial of Luther's birth was celebrated at the Lutheran church in this city, last Sunday, in a very appropriate manner. The church about the altar was beautifully decorated. On the wall back of the pulpit were the words: "Luther memorial—1483—1883—The Just Shall Live By Faith." And on a banner was painted the first line of Luther's battle hymn, Ein Festeburg ist unser Gott, a free translation of which is, "A stronghold is the Lord our God." In front of the pulpit, on brackets and on the organ were beautiful flowers and house plants. Dr. Bowers chose for his text the third verse of the first chapter of Joel: "Tell ye your children of it, and let your children tell their children, and their children another generation." His sermon was a powerful one, full of philosophical thought and evident truths. He analyzed the present tendency of the age towards materialism, and deprecated the absence of spiritual thought and the non-development of those qualities which Matthew Arnold recognizes as the "richness and sweetness" of life. The aestheticism of the flowers in front of the speaker and the remembrances at his back of Luther's time, when men were given to religious and spiritual thought, seemed to illustrate and make stronger the beautiful vigor of the Dr.'s words. It was a sermon calculated to more than ordinarily impress and influence the thoughtful hearer.

A Serious Assault.

Last Monday witnessed an almost fatal assault on Spruce street in front of the saloon just north of the City Pharmacy. Conrad Buchenau, white, and Tom Collins, colored, had been going the rounds and both were "pretty full." Without any seeming cause they got into an altercation, and the white man threw the negro and pounded him on the head with his fist. Not content with this mild proceeding, he picked up a heavy stone and struck the drink-prostrated man two powerful blows on the head with it. Tom straightened out like a dying man under the blows, and for fifteen minutes seemed more dead than alive. City Marshal Miller arrested the assailant as he was trying to leave town, and on Tuesday morning he was brought before "Squire Clark" and bound over to the District Court in the sum of $2,000, to answer to the charge of making an assault with a murderous weapon. Tom Collins is a good natured, harmless negro, and from what we can learn gave no cause for the assault. Justice should take its course in this matter just the same as if Tom had been an aristocratic white man. His condition is not without danger yet.

IN MEMORIAM.

The funeral of Dr. J. F. Kessler, at the Episcopal church last Saturday afternoon, was attended by a large concourse of friends. The eulogical and beautiful burial service of the church was conducted by Rev. W. Wager, of Salina. The grand old hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Guide me, O Thou great Jehovah," were impressively sung by Mrs. Crane and Miss Wise, Miss Edith Tozer presiding at the organ. The pulpit was draped with flowers and adorned with white flowers. The casket was covered with lovely floral symbols, a crown and wreath, a sickle, the letter K, crosses, &c. The concluding services at the grave were most solemn. "The earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust," at the close of the calm, beautiful autumn day, were singularly appropriate to his last rites.

Dr. Kessler was born in Lexington, Ky., where the greater portion of his life was spent. He was about 82 years of age. Quiet and unobtrusive in his way, he was best loved by those who knew him best. His polished manners made him a welcome visitor in the home of the wealthy and cultivated, while his kindness of heart and open-handed generosity made him more than a mere physician to the needy and the illiterate. And to the skill of the doctor he added the tender care of the nurse, not deeming his duties ended with prescribing, but with his own hands applying the remedies. This alike for the servant or the mistress, the poor widow or the man of ample means. Regardless of heaping up riches on earth, he had great treasures laid up in Heaven. "He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord." He leaves a wife, daughter and three sons to mourn the loss of a kind, indulgent husband and father, and an aged mother, to whom he was dear all in all, the last of her family, a most loving and devoted son, who ever treated her with courtly deference. A few minutes before his death, his latter life seemed to fade from him, he was a child again, and as she turned from his bedside, he stretched out both hands saying—"mother, take me with you." She again bent over him with words of affection, but his voice became indistinct, he folded his arms on his breast and fell asleep. Death did not find him unprepared. During the previous visit of Rev. Mr. Wager, he received the Holy Communion, and adieu to all the cares of this world and was only waiting for the last messenger. Fifty were the words engraved on his casket—"REST IS PEACE."

A Complete Establishment.
There are but few towns of equal or greater size, that have as many large business houses as Abilene. This statement has become and will remain a truism. And among those that stand at the head of the list, the firm of Iron & Armitage is prominent. We enjoyed the pleasure of being shown through this immense establishment, and with the exception of clothing and groceries, everything that is needed for the complete furnishing of a home is kept in stock. Queensware, Willowware, Tinware, Stoves, &c.; lamps, sewing machines, organs, tables, chairs, etc., fill the lower floor. The upper floor is given up to furniture, and all qualities and styles are represented. Furniture in sets and single pieces at prices to suit the purchaser. Iron & Armitage stand at the head of house-furnishing firms, and those who contemplate beginning house-keeping as well as those who are old and experienced in the needs of a comfortable home, should remember this fact. The firm will take great pleasure in showing all interested through their establishment, and the time so devoted by the sight-seer will be well expended.
