The Horse That Saved Buffalo Bill's Life.

The following from Buffalo Bill's book of experience. It refers to one of his famous rides between Fort Hays and Dodge City:

"William A. Cody, otherwise known as Buffalo Bill writes the following experience which happened to him in the Wild West country:

"One day in the spring of 1868, I mounted Brigham and started for Smoky Hill River. After galloping twenty miles, I suddenly saw a band of about thirty Indians nearly half a mile distant.

"The only chance I had for my life was to make a run for it, and I immediately wheeled and started back toward the railroad. Brigham seemed to understand that it was a race for life.

"One of the Indians horses, a spotted animal, was gaining on me all the time, and his rider would occasionally send me a bullet whistling along. I saw that the fellow must be checked. So quickly wheeling Brigham around, I raised old Lucretia to my shoulder and fired. At the crack of my rifle, down went the spotted horse.

"In a moment we were again fairly flying toward our destination. The chase was kept up until we came within three miles of the end of the railroad track, where one of the outposts gave the alarm.

"Several cavalrymen came galloping to our rescue; and when the Indians saw this they turned and ran. Jumping to the ground and pulling the saddle of Brigham, I told the men what he had done for me. They at once took him in charge and rubbed him down so vigorously that I thought they would rub him to death.

"Captain Noland of the Tenth Cavalry now came with forty men and learning what had happened, he determined to pursue the Indians. He kindly offered me one of his cavalry horses and we started out. Before the Indians had gone five miles we overtook and killed eight of them, but the others escaped.

"When we got back to camp, I found old Brigham grazing quietly. He looked up at me as if to ask, 'Master, did you get any of those fellows who chased us?' I believe he read the answer in my eyes."

Paris had an industrial exhibition one that seems to have been a pronounced success. The war, terrible as it is, has not crushed France or Germany, and the American Congressman who does not see the need of a Tariff may have a sharp object lesson ahead of him.—Camden (N. J.) Post Telegram, 5-21-18.

A substantial Tariff upon cotton gloves after the war is suggested as an encouragement to one of the new industrial combinations wrested from Germany. Something like $12,000,000 worth of these products had prior to 1914 been imported from Germany. Factories in this country are now making cotton gloves of a high quality, and a government document notes the fact that technical difficulties have been overcome, and that in the future manufacture of this product may be continued profitably in this country.—New York Textile World Journal, 7-19-18.

OBITUARY
Mrs. Carl Slaughter, living near Yocemento, after a severe illness of typhoid fever died last Sunday night in Hays, where she had been brought for medical treatment. The funeral services were held in the Methodist church and the sermon was preached by the pastor J. W. Snapp. She was buried in Mt. Allen cemetery. A large number of people attended the services from her home neighborhood, which showed her high standing in the community. She was but twenty-seven years old and the mother of three precious little girls. She leaves to mourn her death besides her husband and three daughters numerous other relatives and friends. May God comfort the mourning ones and strengthen them with his presence with the hope of meeting again in the heavenly home.

I have a few Keystone Drills left which I will sell at a bargain.—Carl Leiker.

Lieutenant H. B. Neiswanger went to Kansas City, Wednesday of last week.

To "Hell Mit Der Kaiser" is the title of a play that will soon be put on at the Hays Opera House.

Miss Macintosh is now featuring the well known label "Eizee" hat from Levis and Zukoski, St. Louis.

T. J. White of Manning, Kansas, is going to locate in Hays so that his children may attend our schools here.

The union service will be held in the Lutheran church this Sunday evening at 8:15. Everybody is welcome.

Albert Reed of Camp Funston spent Sunday with the home folks. He was accompanied by Sergeant Reed of Funston.

Miss Macintosh returned from St. Louis, last Saturday morning, where she has been for the past three weeks buying her fall goods.

Come in any time now and inspect the new fashions in fall millinery. I shall be pleased to show you my new modes.—Elsie Macintosh.

Walter Ward left Tuesday night for St. Louis, where he enters the army service at Washington University in the automobile department.

Mrs. P. J. Deane and baby returned on Tuesday from their eastern visit and P. J. is now ready to go to work on the County Fair matter, of which he is secretary.

As an experiment and in accordance with customs elsewhere, Miss Macintosh will dispense with the usual "opening day." Customers are welcome to come in at any time.

Mrs. Al Slaughter of Yocemento died Sunday night at the Hays hospital from typhoid fever. She leaves a husband and three children. She was the daughter of James Griffin also of Yocemento.

J. F. Beveridge, Frank Jack, Mrs. Arch L. Taylor, Miss Maude Mollinger and the Russell people who took the civil service examination Wednesday, with hopes of being appointed postmaster of Russell.

W. H. Carrick and family arrived Wednesday night from Tulsa, Oklahoma, on a visit to his uncle, Thos. Carrick, and family. It has been about five years since Mr. Carrick has been in Hays.

Dr. Daniels has a soldier brother visiting him from Camp Lewis, state of Washington. He is here on a four-week day furlough. The doctor and his brother drove to Luray, Saturday afternoon to visit relatives and friends.

C. W. Miller is sending a safety razor to his son, John at Champaign, Ill., for grading eighty-seven in a recent airplane examination. The examination was on the large airplanes that are used for dropping bombs on the Hun. For the last time he has been in the service eighty-seven is going home.

Chester Tuttle of Rock Island, Ill., is here visiting his brother, Judge B. C. Arnold. The boys have not met before in twenty-five years. In a quarter of a century many things may happen, but time seems to have dealt gently with both of them, as they seem as hale, hearty and full of life and the joy of living as they were many years ago.

D. P. Sims of Hill City, the Standard Oil Company man is moving to Hays for the excellent advantages Hays has to offer. Mr. Sims is a professional band man and we look forward to him organizing a band in the near future. They will reside for the present in the Virginia Mauer cottage on West Normal avenue. We are glad to welcome Mr. Sims and his family.

Rev. A. S. Hale, former pastor of the Methodist church at this place, was here from Lincoln, Kansas, this week, where he has charge of a flourishing church. He arrived Saturday evening and delivered some of his vigorous and characteristic sermons at the church Sunday evening, to his old congregation at the Methodist church. His many friends in Hays, including the Free Press force, were glad to see him.

A McPherson county man was here this week with Mr. Holmgren, trying to find any buy broom-corn, as had been told Ellis county was a good broom-corn raising county. He found none. Years ago many farmers in Ellis county successfully raised broom-corn, showing our soil was well adapted to it, but there was no way to gather or prepare the crop for market without great expense so it was discontinued.

Bryant Hale's song "I'm Glad I Live in Dixie" has now been fairly launched, and knowing the merit of the words and their fitness for the times, to say nothing of the lasting popularity of the Dixie air, we can safely bespeak success for the song. The first edition of 250 copies will be largely sold in Lincoln, the hundred teachers now in institute session and residents of Lincoln, having spoken for nearly half of the number. Twenty-five copies have been placed on sale at Markwell's. This is all that will be sold in Hays from this edition, so those wishing a copy would better not wait. The fact that the young author wrote the song while he was a resident here, adds to the interest.

Dr. Clover is in Kansas City, taking special work in the Hay Fever clinic. Osteopathy has made long strides toward the cure of this very annoying and debilitating disease which incapacitates thousands every summer.

The doctor will also take a special course in the Kansas City College of Osteopathy in the treatment of catarrhal deafness. A large percentage of people are afflicted with slight or total deafness in one or both ears from this cause. This course is especially intended to prevent and cure this disease. He will return August 26th.

J. M. Lightner was up from Abilene over Sunday.

Quite a number of relatives of the soldier boys who are located at Fort Hays, were here the past week to visit them.

A card received by Mr. and Mrs. Justus Bissing, August 13th, states that their son, Francis, has arrived safely overseas.

Miss Henrietta Hodges of Kansas City, Mo., arrived last Wednesday for a several week's visit with her friend, Miss Clara Bissing.

Plainville is having a Chautauqua this week, and the opening troupe for Sunday came by the way of Hays and was hailed over by Mr. Bemis in his autos.

Mr. N. P. Gasman and Felix Bissing returned last Wednesday evening from an overland trip to Kansas City, Mo. On the way back they made a several hours' visit with Mr. Gasman's parents at St. Mary's.

Mrs. A. E. Bissing and little son, Marcell, returned home last Thursday, from Davenport, Iowa. A Chiropractic specialist was consulted in regard to the little boy's health and much hope for his entire recovery is maintained.

Saturday night lightning struck the wires between Hays and Russell controlling the block signals, putting them out of commission and midnight passenger train had to be led by track walkers with lanterns from Russell to Hays, putting the train several hours late.

Mrs. I. M. Yost left Monday evening on her return trip to her California home. That evening Mrs. J. H. Ward gave her a complimentary supper at the Brunswick, around the table being many of the old-time ladies of back in the 90s. It was a royal gathering, but when shall we meet again.

The afternoon drill of the soldier boys at the Fort Hays camp is drawing many visitors each Wednesday at 1:30 sharp. The Captain and Lieutenant give the boys some intensive drills that show military life and is well worth driving or walking out to see. The drill grounds are near the Co. I section.

Harry Felten and wife will leave the last of this week for a three weeks outing in Colorado. They will make the trip in their Overland automobile. The younger generation of Feltons will be left in charge of the business, which they are capable of handling. The absence of Mr. and Mrs. Felten, Harry has overworked himself in the last year, especially and needs the rest. "What avails a man if he gains the whole world" and loses his life.

OBITUARY
Thomas Munroe was born in Scotland of Scotch-Irish parents, March 7, 1875 and departed this life at Buchanan, N. M., Friday, August 9, 1918, at age of forty-three years, four months and twenty-two days. He came from Scotland to New York in 1895, and lived in several places in this country before coming to Hays. He came here from Omaha, Nebr., May 30, 1916. In September, 1916, he married Mrs. Constance Hays, and here they made their home.

Finding himself in failing health he went to Mexico in hope of restoring his health but the search was vain. His earthly life came to an end last Friday.

Let us hope that being so far from home and his companion, his heavenly Father was with him to comfort and sustain.

The funeral services were conducted in the home by Rev. J. W. Snapp Wednesday, two p. m. He was buried in Mt. Allen cemetery. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mrs. Munroe in her bereavement.

MIX UP FAIR DATES
Russell, August 13.—Lou Banker, D. W. Grover, J. W. Blair and H. A. Deaton went to Hays Friday night to meet with the directors of the Ellis county fair. The Ellis county fair dates are the same as the Russell County date and an effort was made by our directors to have Hays change the date. Hays offers every advantage that their advertising matter had already been ordered and would not change their dates. Russell, it would seem, has the just right to the dates. As the circuit follows along the route between Lincoln, Wisconsin and Russell. By Hays holding their fair the week following the Russell county fair, the circuit would not be broken or divided, but things could not be adjusted, so Russell and Hays will hold their fairs the same week.

The U. S. Public Service Reserve.
This is a voluntary enlistment of all who are so situated that they can volunteer their services that they can be called upon in any emergency for which they are particularly fitted. The Examiner in charge at the U. S. Employment Office will be glad to give you the chance to enlist and perhaps to better yourself financially. The following patriots have been enlisted and left last Wednesday for Lee Hall, Virginia, where they will assist in building a large munition factory: Walter Purcell, LaCrosse, Kansas; Clarence Varney, LaCrosse, Ka.; Ferman Shattell, LaCrosse, Kansas; Arthur Shattell, LaCrosse, Kansas; Clarence Welch, LaCrosse, Kansas; William H. Harbour, Ellis, Kansas; George Nulton, Hays, Kansas. Peace patriotic young men have enlisted and are waiting the call: Clark Warner, Weskan, Kansas; Harry H. Halsey, Sharon Springs, Kansas; Y. Clark, Hays, Kansas; Ivan E. Darnell, Sharon Springs, Kansas; J. L. Freeman, Ellis, Kansas; Roger Nulton, Hays, Kansas; Carl K. Miller, Manhattan, Ka.

Wanted—A good young mare, single harness and surry.—Geo. Cramer, care of Experiment Station.

DeNOON—GILL

Mr. Harold H. Gill and Mrs. Cora Belle DeNoon were united in marriage Wednesday evening at nine o'clock, Rev. C. F. Wiest pastor of the Lutheran church officiating.

The groom had prepared a home in advance, a fine residence on East Juniata Street, which has been in process of erection for some time, and they were married under their own roof—vine and fig tree, as it were.

Mr. Gill is one of the progressive and hustling young business men of the city that is making good; is affable, pleasant, and always on the job. We predict that his young bride will never regret her choice of a life partner.

For more than two years Miss DeNoon has been a trusted employee of the Citizens State Bank of this city.

She is a talented young lady and will rule over the new home with grace and dignity. Mr. Gill is fortunate in securing so excellent a young lady for his bride. May their journey down the aisles of time be blessed with peace, happiness and prosperity, is the wish of the many friends of this fortunate and happy young couple.

They will be at home to their friends after September 15, 1918.

Peace and Tariff

One of the best known and most influential bankers in the nation, Chas. H. Sabin, president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, has written these words in the current number of that institution's house organ, apropos of conditions after the war:

"It will be necessary for us to conserve our strength by every wise precaution we can devise. Chief among these is likely to be that of an adequate Protective Tariff. I have always been theoretically a 'Free Trader' but the competitive conditions which peace is certain to bring will be no different from those that exist here in preparing for a war. I am convinced we shall have to put up with protective bars, as will every other belligerent nation, rather than lower them, in international trade. So, the Tariff seems destined to be one of the issues after war."

Mr. Sabin's remarks are timely and to the point. Even two years ago we were neglecting the sound advice "in time of peace prepare for war," but that is no reason why, in time of war, we should also neglect to prepare for peace. Even Germany, whose divinity is war, is getting ready for peace; England and France, particularly the latter, are preparing to win industrial and commercial laurels as they have won them on the field of battle. It is not too early to plan. Simply because we are a creditor nation and because our natural resources are limitless it does not follow that we are invincible in world trade. After a year of preparation we are just beginning to cut a figure on the battle line. We need similar preparation for the contests of world trade, and the time to think out the preliminaries is now.

It is interesting to watch the progress of thought as regards the Protective Tariff plan. Just as nations which are not inclined to militarism, like France has been obliged to keep great standing armies to meet the menace of military nations like Germany, so men opposed to a Protective Tariff in the abstract are brought to see that if a Tariff becomes an economic factor in the hands of one nation its competitors are almost obliged to avail themselves of the same weapon.

If the Tariff is to be a big issue, as Mr. Sabin says, it will be really a national question, and the dictum that the "Tariff is a local issue" will lose whatever force it had. There has been talk for the business man in politics. He is likely to be needed there in even a greater degree after the war.—From the Philadelphia Ledger, May 24, 1918.

Adequate Protection Essential
The administration should realize that the best way or it to raise the sums required for the running of the country—each one of the three for the different industries of the country—each one of them—to be placed on as sound a basis of prosperity as possible. Only with all of the people steadily employed at high wages will they be able to respond in the colossal manner that the administration calculates is necessary, largely, of course, for war purposes.

This is the time, of all times, for a Protective Tariff. The Underwood thoroughly scientific and adequately abomination will wreck us, absolutely in an industrial way, if it is allowed to stand. It must be repealed. In its place must be substituted a new Tariff act that will provide maximum of Protection, in order to promote domestic industries to the maximum of the ability of the workmen employed in them. It must also supply the very maximum amount of revenue. Here where science is required, not the easy-going rule-of-thumb variety that Free Traders are prone to, but true science that will properly measure the industries of the country, their possibilities, the work-people they employ, their maximum capacity the markets for their products, both at home and abroad, and the means of transport.

How plain it is that we must have Protectionists in Congress to frame a new Tariff.—Economist.

To Raise $8,000,000,000 by Taxes.
The United States has responded to corporations and incomes, levied for the annual tax of $4,000,000,000 on last year. So, it is assumed by men in places, for this year we can stand $8,000,000,000. Maybe we can and maybe we will. It is estimated that such a sum represents about one-fifth of the annual gross income of the people of the United States. It is further said that it represents a full two-thirds of the net annual savings of the American people.

Not only will the people of the United States be expected to meet a tax levy of $8,000,000,000 for this year, but they will also have to subscribe heavily for additional bond issues if the total war budget is to approximate to $34,000,000,000 for the current year, as now seems probable—$34,000,000 or more.

Less than a quarter of a century ago Speaker Reed declared that the United States was a billion dollar country—meaning that it had reached the point where the annual expense of government had reached a billion. We don't know where we're going; but were on our way.—American Economist.

Point With Alarm
For 1917 published by the Hong Kong The annual review of world trade and Shanghai Banking Corporation after making special reference to the trade of the Far East says "Is it to be noted also that America has consumed large quantities of Chinese produce, which, before the war, found a market only in Europe." Yes, we are noting it, all right. We also note that during the nine months of the fiscal year 1918, ending March last, imports from China totaled $80,000,000 compared with $60,000,000 for similar period in 1917, and $48,000,000 for the 1916 period. During the first nine months of the fiscal year 1913, under Protective Tariff imports from China totaled about $3,000,000.

Five calendar years, 1913-17, imports gained $100,000,000, while on the other hand exports recorded a gain, 1917 over 1913, of but $19,000,000 and this was largely due to the fact that we have the most available market from which China can purchase in these troubled times. When the war is over China will have other markets in which to purchase—markets where the cost of production is considerably less than our own. But Chinese goods will keep right on increasing in volume as they pour into the United States under the Democratic Tariff law. The man who argues to keep Chinese labor on the Western Coast, and then argues for Free-Trade to the products of Chinese labor entering the ports of the whole country, has hamberger for a set of brains.—Tazewell (Va.) Republican 5-18-18.
