KANSAS PRESS COMMENT

The Democrats promised peace and gave us war. The Democrats promised prosperity and gave us thirty-cent sugar, fifteen dollar shoes, fifty dollar suits and a national debt of millions added unto millions. Lord God of hosts, let's not forget; let's not forget.—Russell Record.

Bobbie Smith, Chicago, aged 13, sent the first dollar he earned to the Harding campaign fund. However, if all the Smiths do that, there is danger that Governor Cox's charge of a $15,000,000 purse may be realized.—Salina Journal.

It is not strange that Candidate Cox is rapidly accumulating the reputation of being the smallest and cheapest politician who ever secured, a presidential nomination from one of the major American parties. His mock morality, his jumpings from side to side, his choice of arguments that he apparently thinks have popular appeal, constitute about the greatest hypocrisy our national annals show.—Norcraft Courier.

Candidate Cox suggests that the Republicans stage a debate on the league of nations between William Howard Taft and Senator Hiram Johnson. All right, we accept the challenge, providing he will arrange a similar debate between himself and William Jennings Bryan and allow Senator Reed thirty minutes to close the argument.—Parsons Republican.

"I was surprised at the number of Democrats in Allen county who contributed to the Republican campaign fund," said former Congressman Segel at Republican headquarters yesterday. While in the city Mr. Scott offered his services to the Republican committee for speaking dates. Mr. Scott has some speaking dates in Ohio, Indiana and other Eastern states in October.

A preacher in an eastern Kansas town declared in a sermon delivered a few days ago that fifty per cent of the American public cannot vote intelligently. The reverend gentleman should not be so pessimistic. There are not that many Democrats in the country.—Parsons Republican.

For every three American boys who fell in the World War one American millionaire was created, yet the political party which was in power during that reign of greed is about what it will do to the profiteers if the people will only place it once more in control of the machinery of government.—Parsons Republican.

"There was so much harmony in the party councils at Topeka this week," Salina's grouchy man notes, "that all either party had to do was to rap the opposition and pat itself on the back."—Salina Journal.

Governor Cox, commenting on the Maine election, is reported to have characterized it as merely a Republican pyrotechnic display. The governor magnifies its importance. It was merely a preliminary rocket. The real pyrotechnic display will be put on by the Republicans early in November.—E. E. Kelley.

The Democratic party won't have to be killed this fall. Maine has scared it to death.—Jewell Republican.

Congressman Tincher of Kansas has an invitation to dine with President Harding and Senator Watson on November 2, 1921, at the White House, that being the birthday of all three. Might as well shake the moth balls out of the glad rags.—Capital.

Still, had we been in Mr. Hays' place, we should have framed our answer to Governor Cox along somewhat different lines. In effect, we should have said: "We are raising all the money we can; we shall leave no stone unturned to prevent the incredible misfortune of another Democratic administration within the time of the present generation."—Jay House.

Whip is Bridegroom's Wand. At Swedish weddings, among the middle and lower classes, the bridegroom carries a whip. This is an emblem of his authority in the domestic circle.

Bryan Raps Democrats

In the current issue of the Commoner, Mr. Bryan, while declaring his continued allegiance to the Democratic party, lets it be known that he refuses to be bound by party ties under existing circumstances.

Mr. Bryan maintains the masses of the Democratic party are progressive whenever a line can be drawn between the two elements, but right now they have no titular leader whom they can follow.

Taking a rap at President Wilson and inferentially at Governor Cox, he says:

"The administration presented no economic issue upon which a division can be made. Those who spoke for the President made the endorsement of the treaty without reservations the dominant abiding faith. On this nothing could be done or said that could in any way be construed as a reflection upon the administration or as any suggestion of improvement. At San Francisco the delegates who were willing to trade the constitution and the Ten Commandments for a glass of beer were just as willing to let Wall Street have its way on every subject. A man who will take the side of the liquor traffic against the homes of the land is not likely to take a firm stand in favor of any righteous cause or against any other form of oppression."

Nine Saddles to the Horse

When Thompson's colt swam the river to get a drink of water, that was thought to be about the silliest thing ever. Yet that performance was exceeded many times during the late world's war. And it was a man, not a yearling colt, that broke the record. Astonishing things were done, during the war, many of which, doubtless, have not yet come to light.

The Government's leather (head) expert ordered 945,000 high grade army saddles for just 100,000 cavalry horses. This is about nine saddles per horse. Just why that expert figures he would need such a backlog of saddles for those horses, has never been ascertained, but his mental performance clearly puts him in the same boat with Thompson's colt. See if you can solve the riddle; nobody else seems to be able to.

Again, another leather expert ordered enough harness at one time to require in their construction 300,000 more hides than the Government could procure in a year's time.

Still another expert (?) ordered six halters, five nose bags and four covers a piece for those cavalry horses, and another one purchased four curry combs for each of them.

But another "dollar a year" man pulled the biggest "boner" of them all. He purchased two branding irons a piece for those horses—not ordinary steel branding irons either, but made of copper and fearfully expensive.

To cap the climax, another expert ordered that the horses be branded on the hoofs, regardless of the fact that the marks would grow out in a few weeks.

Verily, Thompson's fool colt had plenty of company.

KANSAS STATE FARM BUREAU

What Shall Kansas Pay for Corn Huskers?

Manhattan, Kans., Oct. 5.—What price shall Kansas farmers pay for corn huskers this fall? Charles R. Weeks, Secretary of the Kansas State Farm Bureau, is sending out a letter to all county agents and all county farm bureau officers in the state, asking if it is desirable to fix a standard wage and recommend that all farmers stick to it, as they did to the standard wage set for harvest hands the past summer. He is also asking those to whom the questionnaire is sent, what they consider a fair wage.

The Iowa Farm Bureau Federation has recommended a standard wage for huskers in that state. The price set is six cents a bushel where the farmer furnishes an elevator for unloading the corn, and seven cents where it must be shoveled. H. D. Farm Bureau Federation, is also sending a letter to each county in his state to learn whether the farmers there wish to take similar action. In a letter to Mr. Weeks, Mr. Lute stated that he believed, in order to get the men, it would be necessary in Nebraska to pay a higher wage than that recommended in Iowa.

Ralph Snyder, of Oskaloosa, president of the Kansas State Farm Bureau, and John L. Boles, of Liberal, representing the National Farmers' Equity Union, left last week for Chicago, where they will meet with the national grain marketing "Committee of Seventeen," of which they are members. The committee was appointed by J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, to work out a system by which the farmers of the United States may market their grain co-operatively. It is expected that the committee will be in session several months.

Chicago, October 5.—J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has called a marketing conference of the canning crops growers to meet at Columbus, Ohio, October 22-23. The reason for calling the conference is that producers of many of these crops are getting prices that do not cover the cost of production, President Howard says in the letter sent out announcing the conference.

The Fort Hays Normal Offers College Work by Correspondence

The Fort Hays Kansas Normal School has just received a large consignment of new Correspondence Catalogs for distribution. There was a time when the work of a college was limited to those on the campus, but today any ambitious student can earn college credits at home by correspondence study when it would be impossible for him to attend college.

The new Normal catalog offers courses in Education, Literature, Science, Commercial work, Art, Music, Home Economics and History. By utilizing his spare time a student can make himself more efficient in any line of work and can earn credits to apply on teachers' certificates and toward college graduation.

The Normal School now has three times as many students enrolled by Correspondence as are on the campus and when the new catalogs are distributed the enrollment will likely increase. Anyone interested may secure a catalog by addressing the Extension Division, Fort Hays Kansas Normal School, Hays, Kansas.

"These Rats Wouldn't Eat My Beat Grain," Says Fred Lamb.

"It's hard to keep rats out of a feed store. Tried for years. A neighboring store sold me some RAT-SNAP. It worked wonders. Gathered up dead rats every morning. Bought more RAT-SNAP. THAT MORNING LAMENESS

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on Hays testimony.

Mrs. E. E. Gates, Hays, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different times when I have had symptoms of kidney trouble. This complaint has caused my back to ache and become awfully sore and weak. There were sharp twinges of pain across the small of my back and when I stooped over, I would feel awfully dizzy and tired. Mornings when I first got up, the muscles in my body were sore and lame and the action of my kidneys was entirely too frequent."

Mrs. E. E. Gates, Hays, says: "I always take Doan's Kidney Pills at such times and a short use entirely frees me of the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gates had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

What Protection Did

We developed, during these fifty years, a domestic commerce five times as large as all the export trade of the world, and an industrial payroll equal to that of all the rest of the human family. This enormous domestic commerce is a direct result of the consumptive capacity of our people, and the consumptive capacity of our people is, of course, the direct result of our enormous payroll. These Republican policies logically—not accidentally—resulted in conditions peculiarly American. The big wage goes to the store for necessities, comforts and luxuries, from the store it goes almost immediately to the producer of these things, then again to labor and back to the store. The rapidity of this circuit which William McKinley estimated at ten times a year, would have been impossible but for our railways, in mileage exceeding that of all Europe and practically equal to that of all other countries combined, with freight rates less than half the charges for like service anywhere else.

That you may be fortified to defend these marvelous claims I remind you that England, France and Germany, the three greatest manufacturing countries in the world outside the United States, before the war were able to consume only 75 per cent of their output. We manufactured over $5,000,000,000 more than all three and consumed 95 per cent of our aggregate.

We own and operate 95 per cent of all the automobiles of the whole world.

The greatest crop in the country's history is in prospect for this year's harvest, according to official estimate. The forecast of production based on September 1 conditions, was placed at 3,131,000,000 bushels, which would exceed by 6,000,000 bushels the previous largest crop on record, which was 1912.
