The irrigation project is flatteringly commended by the Kansas City Journal.

The late washout on the Santa Fe branch of the A., T. & S. F. railroad extended five miles of the track.

The A., T. & S. F., and the D. & R. G., are both pushing their lines to the Mexican coast with marvelous rapidity.

The Chieftain says the Arkansas river is booming, but the citizens of Pueblo are compelled to drink its stinking, filthy waters, and sickness is being noted on every hand as a consequence.

There has recently been turned out of the company's shops at Topeka, a new engine, said to be gotten up and finished in the most artistic manner. It is called the Little But-tercup, and is intended to haul the pay car.
—Nickerson Argosy.

Dr. Tanner entered upon the thirty-first day of his fast, Wednesday, apparently bright and in good spirits. During the morning he walked around the enclosure of the hall twenty-five times. His gait was firm and step elastic.

Yellow fever is carrying off the populace of Havana at the rate of fifty a week, and a bark has arrived at Mobile with several casues on board. It will be a marvel if some of the bronze destroyer doesn't slip into this country before the middle of August.

The railroad agents along the line have been notified to receive no more freight for, or sell no more tickets to points below Trinidad, Colo. The reason of the order is that the entire country in New Mexico is flooded and the road badly washed out in many places.

Of the Cimarron city irrigation the New West says: The first water from the raging Arkansas was let into the new ditch last Saturday. The company has done good work, and hard work, and now their work will be put to the test, and we shall soon see whether it is a success or not.

After all the Western people have little or no appreciation of humor. A comic weekly newspaper made its appearance in Denver last Saturday, and the editor, J. A. Wynne, has already been sued twice for libel, and has been hunted by four irate citizens with shot guns and revolvers.

The New York press is now engaged in establishing the fact that there is a great acar-city of small bills. The press of the west has taken up the subject, and there is not an editor now in the land but what complains of this deficiency. Let us have more small bills—especially let the newspaper men have them, and the complaints will cease instantly. Yes, "fork over" by all means.

John J. Donahue and Miss Etta V. Welsh reside at Grenada. The Chieftain says on Saturday last they were sitting at the table, when Donahue in a spirit of fun bantered Miss Welsh to marry him. They were married in Pueblo on Sunday. No mention of marriage had ever passed between them before Saturday, and their acquaintance had been short.

It seems that the Ute commission is having a little trouble. While Ouray has proved to be master of the situation and holds his tribe in apparent subjection, yet there are murmurings of discontent, and a break may occur at any moment. The Indians have signed the treaty for their removal, but there are a few who denounce the treaty as an outrage, and it is feared that these may now the seeds of discontent and bring about a rupture. The Pueblo Chieftain says it wouldn't be a bad idea for the miners in that section to load up their rifles and prepare for any emergency that may arise.

A horrible murder was committed south of Caldwell, on Monday morning. G. W.
Padgett murdered W. H. Stevens, foreman of cattle men, thirty miles south of Caldwell. The murderer was apprehended. The Commonwealth correspondent says the dead man was foreman of Stevens & Fleming's herding camp on Salt Fork, and a brother of Stevens of that firm. His home was in Comanche county, Texas. The prisoner is also of Texas. Padgett had formerly worked with Mr. Wagner's herd, and was now in the employ of Stevens. Some of Wagner's steers got into Stevens' herd and were recognized. A dispute arose about what to do with them; one proposal being that they should be sold and proceeds divided. High words resulted. Both men were in the saddle. Padgett shot Stevens through the heart.
He claims habitual abuse and insult from Stevens, and personal attack with his quirt, while the dispute lasted.

J. Max. Clark, writing in the Greeley Sun says that experience in alfalfa growing in Weld county point to two or three facts, viz:
1st. that alfalfa should not be sheared very close to the ground at the last cutting.

That it should be liberally supplied with water late in the season, or watered at least once after last cutting.

3d. That water applied after the weather is so cold as to freeze ground solid or freezes a sheet of ice over the surface will entirely destroy the plant.

Mr. Clark further says that the impression that alfalfa is not strong enough feed for work horses is erroneous; that any horse fed on alfalfa will show it clearly in his sick, glossy coat and fine flesh. All the horses in that county fed upon it can be distinguished by these characteristics from those which are not.
