FOURTEENTH YEAR. VOL. XIII, NO. 40

J. R. HALLOWELL!

THE "BIG SEVENTH" SELECTS HIM AS HER STANDARD BEARER.

A Spirited Contest but Good-Feeling Prevailed Throughout.

Ever since the middle of last week the clans have been gathering, every train adding to the list of delegates, candidates, wire-pullers and spectators until the town is crowded to its utmost capacity of entertainment. Probably there are eight hundred people from abroad, though some think this a low estimate.

The loss of the Dodge House is now felt by almost every one of our citizens as it reduces our hotel accommodations at least three hundred. But our citizens have come to the rescue and thrown open their private residences to shelter and feed our visiting guests.

The importance of the convention even outside of the district is attested by the presence of a large number of prominent politicians from all over the state.

Following are the official proceedings: The Seventh Congressional District Republican convention convened in this city this morning. James Kelly, chairman of congressional committee, called the convention to order at 11:05 o'clock. The call was read by Jesse Taylor, secretary, after which the roll of counties was called of those entitled to seats, contesting delegations being left out.

Judge Strang of Pawnee, nominated James Kelly of Pratt, as temporary chairman, and his election was unanimous. W. T. Walker of Sumner, was chosen temporary secretary.

Morton Albough of Kingman, moved that a committee of seven on credentials be appointed.

Gen. T. T. Taylor moved an amendment that each candidate select one member on said committee, which motion was lost.

Taylor appealed from the decision of chair, whereupon Mr. Sluss raised a point of order.

On motion was made to amend to make one from each senatorial district and one from each judicial district. An amendment to the amendment that the chair appoint a committee of nine on credentials was adopted, and the motion was amended was carried.

A motion that a committee of nine on resolutions be adopted, prevailed.

A motion of Whitinghill of Sumner, chair was instructed to appoint a committee of nine on permanent organization.

Barnd of Ness, moved that a committee of nine on rules and order of business be appointed. Simons of Sumner, amended that a committee be appointed, one from each senatorial district and two from the 39th district, and one at large. Motion adopted.

Strang of Pawnee, made a motion that all resolutions be referred to committee on resolutions without reading. Adopted.

Martin of Sedgwick, moved to reconsider. Kelly of Sedgwick, moved to lay on table. On division of the house, there were 82 ayes, 75 nays. Motion to reconsider laid on table.

A recess of fifteen minutes was taken, after which chairman announced the following committees:

Credentials.—Morton Albough of Kingman; J. H. Lawson of Reno; Rodolph Hatfield of Sedgwick; J. W. Haughey of Sumner; J. N. Sloan of Hamilton; S. W. Vandivert of Edwards; T. J. Norton of Harvey; R. B. Shumway of Rice; Frank Grimes of Wichita.

Resolutions.—H. C. Sluss of Sedgwick; R. T. Simons of Sumner; J. W. Rush of Pawnee; I. N. Sharp of Meade; J. R. Barnd of Ness; H. B. Kelly of McPherson; T. T. Taylor of Reno; A. L. Green of Harvey; J. R. Hammond of Harper; H. D. Sowers of Clark.

Permanent Organization.—W. S. Whitinghill of Sumner; G. T. Copeland of Harvey; Jno. Kelly of Sedgwick; H. M. Wixon of Grant; W. T. Cannon of Kingman; James Dobson of Barber; C. A. Milton of Ford; Geo. Moses of Barton; C. P. Fullington of Kiowa.

Rules and Order of Business.—W. F. Collins of Grant; Ed Phillips of Sedgwick; W. H. Carter of Sumner; W. T. Walker of Harper; L. W. Rush of Kingman; N. D. Adams of Scott; A. Ringwald of McPherson; J. B. Darrah of McPherson; S. J. Shaw of Barton.

At noon convention adjourned till two o'clock p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Convention re-convened at two o'clock but the committee on credentials not being able to report, a further recess was taken to four o'clock, the intervening time being pleasantly spent by listening to the Coyote glee club and Col. H. M. Rogers, the noted convention singer.

Shortly after five o'clock the committee on credentials sent word to the convention hall that they were ready to report. The differences in the contesting delegations were amicably adjusted and the report was unanimously adopted.

The committee on permanent organization next made report, and the honor of chairman was conferred upon Senator H. B. Kelley, of McPherson county. Permanent secretary, W. W. Carney of Barton county, W. T. Walker of Sumner, reading secretary, and E. E. Smith, of Ford county assistant secretary.

The reports of the various other committees were then read and adopted, among them being the report of committee on resolutions, which were adopted with three cheers and a tiger. The salient features of the resolutions were the favoring of free coinage of silver, service pensions, revision of the tariff schedules, the reduction of rates on railway transportation, a pure ballot system.

Senator Ingalls' and James G. Blaine's names were greeted with round after round of applause.

The convention approved of the national and state administrations, and put itself on record as endorsing every act on the part of our members in the Senate and House of Congress.

The resolutions were the grandest efforts of the ablest minds in the Seventh district, and the platform as adopted is an omen of victory for the republican party at the November election.

The convention tendered a rousing vote of thanks to the publishers of the GLOBE-REPUBLICAN for the donation of elegant badges for officers and delegates.

Convention adjourned till eight o'clock p. m., at which hour the following candidates were placed in nomination: W. C. Edwards, of Pawnee county; C. M. Swenson, of McPherson; Theo. Botkin, of Seward; C. J. Jones, of Finney; J. R. Hallowell, of Sedgwick; T. A. Hubbard, of Sumner; J. M. Lewis, of Edwards; J. W. Jones, of Reno; Capt. J. M. Johnson, of Kearney; and A. H. Heber of Meade.

Nominating speeches were limited to five minutes, and when the last candidate was presented the secretary called the roll by counties and the real fun commenced. The result of the first ballot stood:

Edwards	20	Swenson	11
Botkin	14	C. J. Jones	7
Hallowell	35	Hubbard	23
Lewis	25	J. W. Jones	19
Johnson	5	Heber	5
Brown	1	Total	185

Necessary to a choice, 83.

On the second ballot a telegram was received from Rev. C. M. Swenson, who is in Europe, requesting his name to be withdrawn, and the same was done.

The balloting continued until midnight without much change, the twenty-first ballot placing Hallowell in the lead and Lewis second.

An adjournment was taken at midnight to nine o'clock Thursday morning.

THURSDAY MORNING.

Convention was called to order promptly at the hour, and a motion prevailed to the effect that the roll be called and the various candidates for congress be given five minutes each in which to make speeches, all responding to the request. When the roll was again called for the purpose of taking the twenty-second ballot, it was evident that there had been some good work done during the night by the Hallowell forces. The ballot was cast but before the vote could be announced Ford county asked leave to change three votes to Hallowell. This announcement spread rapidly throughout the hall and in a few seconds there was a general uproar on the part of the delegates to gain the attention of the chair for the purpose of also changing their votes.

The excitement was so great that the secretaries could not get the changes, and after peace and quiet was restored the chair announced that the roll would be called that all who desired to make changes could do so.

When the result of this ballot was announced the complexion was as follows: Hallowell.....103 Edwards.....2 Botkin.....3 C. J. Jones.....3 Hubbard.....15 Lewis.....23 J. W. Jones.....12 Johnson.....2

Three cheers from seven hundred throats left no doubts as to the warm feeling toward the nominee of the biggest congressional district in the United States. Colonel Hallowell was carried bodily on the shoulders of his friends and placed upon the stage, when he delivered a short but eloquent address of thanks.

The defeated candidates in turn pledged their hearty support to the nominee and the utmost harmony prevails in the republican ranks.

The Dodge City convention was the biggest, most harmonious, and most enthusiastic one ever held in the state, and the result of its deliberations will place Col. James R. Hallowell, of Wichita, in Samuel R. Peters' chair in the House of the United States Congress. Victory! Victory!! Victory!!!

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Net Adams, the biggest coyote in town is laying around the Pawnee camp.

F. N. Hanson, county clerk of Edwards county, is in attendance at the convention.

J. J. Miller, representing the Santa Fe Monitor, is taking notes at the convention.

The Coyotes favored the public with several very fine vocal selections last evening.

The Thirty-second district cornet band is supplying music for the convention.

G. W. Botkin is representing the Hutchinson News in the convention hall.

The Pawnees with Big Chief Edwards in the lead and Strang chief medicine man, have pitched their wigwam at the Delmonico.

W. H. Harris, of Kansas City, is spending the week in the city.

Rev. S. E. Busser and C. C. Baker, state printer, both of Topeka, came out Wednesday to see how it was done in the Big Seventh.

The Hutchinson delegates as well as the city of Hutchinson, don't agree with the original package house. They rented rooms and established headquarters, but when they found that they were over the original package house and across the hall from "Farmers' Alliance Headquarters," a low disreputable "joint," they vacated the rooms and found quarters over the post-office.

THE TRADE CARNIVAL.

Although this entertainment was announced as a repetition of the one given about two months ago, there was little of Wednesday evening's programme the same as the previous one. The general plan was the same. Few of the ladies who took part in the drill in the first presentation performed on this occasion, and the figures presented were all new and far more beautiful as well as difficult. It did not last quite as long but elicited more applause. The costumes were more appropriate and becoming to the business represented and an improvement in the get up of the banners, particularly in the plainness of the inscription, was often remarked. The music for the drill was unusually good, being furnished by Beeson's full orchestra, reinforced by two or three musicians from abroad. Several very pretty oblique movements, wheels, and hollow squares were presented, also a number of fancy figures, the names of which we are not familiar.

At the close of the drill the Coyote club of Larned, were called for and responded with a song of slavery days which was heartily encored, and they answered the encore with "Come Where my Love Lies Dreaming." This much of the programme was a surprise to the audience, as the Coyotes had not been announced, and did not appear on the printed programme. But their efforts were duly appreciated as was testified by the roar of applause that followed their retirement from the stage.

The costumes of "ye men and women singers" which took part in the Old Folks Concert were of the very ancient style, and many had a grotesque appearance to the younger portion of the audience. The music, though for the most part of old-fashioned selections, was nevertheless rendered in the highest style of the art.

The whole entertainment was well received, and very favorable comment has been current ever since. The audience was not what was looked for, as it was expected that an evening session of the convention would be held; but notwithstanding this the large opera house was more than half full.

Nellie Bly's Book.

"Around the World in Seventy-Two Days"; illustrated. Published by The Pictorial Weeklies Company, New York. Price fifty cents.

In Miss Bly's book is contained the first deliberately written account of her unique tour around the world. While she preserves the graphic sprightliness of the newspaper writer, she here writes at greater length and in more careful style the account of her experience and of what she saw. Not the least remarkable thing about it is that the books show how an American girl with her eyes open may manage to see a great many interesting things while hurrying round the globe at the highest rate of speed. The story is told in clean-cut language, without any pretense at elegance of diction, very much as one friend would tell another of similar experiences. The book itself is a big fifty cents worth being handsomely illustrated with half-tone engravings, and printed on good paper, with large, clear type. The handsome cover bears a portrait of Nellie Bly in her traveling costume.

Hotel on Wheels.

The Santa Fe Route has added to the elegant equipment of its Pullman vestibuled train, "Cannonball," between Chicago, Kansas City and Denver a fine vestibule dining-car service, complete in every respect. You may safely rely upon the uniform excellency of the food served in Santa Fe Route dining cars. The bill of fare contains every delicacy of the season. The "hotel on wheels" will always be found attached to trains leaving Chicago 6:30 p. m. and Kansas City 10:45 a. m., arriving at Colorado Springs 7:45 a. m. and Denver 10:35 a. m.; or train leaving Denver 5:00 p. m. and Colorado Springs 7:50 p. m., arriving at Kansas City 6:00 p. m. and Chicago 8:50 a. m.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Mrs. John A. Clarke was a great sufferer from indigestion and sick headache. She left her home last Saturday to buy a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, took a dose and her headache disappeared as mysteriously as it came. Try them. Sold by the Palace Drug Co. 24y

President Harrison has of late taken a little more frequent but short vacations from his public duties. Returning from a visit of three days to his family at Cape May, he spent part of a day at Fort Washington twelve miles down the Potomac, where the district militia are encamped, and then flitted off to Pennsylvania to visit the Pennsylvania troops in their camp. The ladies say the president is getting to be quite a "gad-about."

TO TRADE.

I will trade either a mule, horse or ox team, harness and wagon, for a small house and lot in Dodge City. Address Archie Keech, Dodge City, Kans. 37f
