REINDEER IN ALASKA.

Condition of the Animals as Described by Lieutenant Jarvis.

Lieutenant Jarvis of the revenue marine service, who has recently returned from Alaska, commends with the highest praise the Rev. Sheldon Jackson's plan of introducing reindeer into Alaska. He says the Chicago Record, Dr. Jackson has had to suffer a great deal of ridicule in this regard, and good men have denounced the scheme as absurd and a waste of time and money, but Lieutenant Jarvis says that reindeer are the only animals that can live and flourish in that country. They are invaluable for their milk, for food, for their fur as clothing and as beasts of burden.

There are now about 3,500 deer belonging to the government in Alaska, which are leased out among the natives near the missionary stations, to be taken care of under the supervision of government agents. The people who take care of them are allowed to keep the increase, which is about 50 per cent a year. They are not allowed to kill any and will not be until the total herd numbers 10,000 when Dr. Jackson thinks the deer will be able to take care of themselves. It is not the intention, however, to turn them loose and let them run wild, but they will be kept as cattle are in the United States in corrals and herded in the neighborhood of the missionary stations.

Two Big Trusts Gone to the Wall.

The supply of campaign thunder for all parties is seriously threatened. Everybody being down on the trusts, candidates and campaigners have been evolving ideas, sentiments and knock-down arguments, which later were to be squeezed in speeches which should capture voters by squads and battalions. National, state and county platforms were to bristle with denunciations of the trust octopus, and law-makers were to be instructed, pledged and sworn to carry out the will of the people. But all this has already been postponed too long, at least that is what the demagogues are apprehending. The trusts have commenced to grind each other, not a few of them centering their efforts to dominate or otherwise cripple the railroads. As a result of this trust against trusts, and combine versus combine, there has resulted over-reaching and the trust it is that is getting squeezed. Two of these have collapsed, and in a single day. The great flour trust and the far-reaching glass combine have both gone into the hands of receivers, and the federal courts will now administer upon their affairs. The flour trust went dead broke, and the glass trust failed to make good the dividends promised its stockholders, who, in turn are bowling "sawdust." Action and reaction, reciprocation and self-regulation will prove more effective in destroying the trusts than will legislation.—Wichita Eagle.

School Teaching as a Profession.

It is said that more young women are entering the rank of school teachers than of any other profession. In this age of growing advantages for women this seems strange. There are surely enough positions for women to fill without crowding one to such an extent.

In many cases the gaining of a teacher's certificate means merely a certain amount of favor, a "pull" as it is commonly called.

An editorial writer of the Chicago Times-Herald, commenting upon this subject says:

"School teaching, though a noble ambition, is at best a nerve-destroying, heart-breaking business, and the worst of it all is that the real task it imposes and the attributes it demands are woefully misunderstood by the great majority of those who seek the work. The prevailing idea is that the passing of an examination sets the seal of approval and gives all the equipment one needs for the profession. The fund of patience, the natural kindness, the ability to hold the temper in check, to disguise stern discipline under the mask of cheerful laxity, and to obtain and keep the affection and respect of children,—all these things are only part of the stock in trade that a teacher should possess. And yet to how many applicants does the place mean anything more than the regular monthly stipend?"

"Some day when we are ripe for the change, we will make the examinations for teachers really tests for the position, and not simply go-as-you-please cramming-races."

Who is Editor Blank.

Not a great ways from the White House a few evenings since some friends of the President were discussing the course of certain Republican newspapers on the Puerto Rican tariff question. There was unanimous agreement that the hullabaloo of opposition was altogether out of proportion to the provocation. The President has been consistently a believer that freedom of trade for the island would be best, but he has not been able to appreciate the indignation manifested over 15 per cent of the Dingley rates when every dollar of it was to be handed back to Puerto Rico. The discussion narrowed down to the course of one person in particular who had previously been an avowed personal champion of the President and a self-appointed guide, counselor and friend of the administration. "The trouble with Blank," finally said one of the circle, "is that he seems determined to be bride at the wedding or corpse at the funeral." The administration smiled, and the conversation turned on another topic.—Globe-Democrat Washington Correspondence.

February Moisture.

The first snowfall bulletin of the New Mexico section, issued at Santa Fe on March 3, thus summarizes the measurements:

Reports from all sections of the territory show that not only the snow lying on the ground is unusually light for the season, but also that the total snowfall for this winter so far was much less than the average amount. On the 25th of February, the date on which the estimates were taken, there was practically no snow below altitudes of 8,000 feet, and on southern slopes but little below 10,000 feet. There has been comparatively little wind, and as the snow lies evenly cut the summits, there is an absence of the large drifts from which comes the greater part of the spring flow. At the headwaters of the Rio Grande and San Juan rivers, in southwestern Colorado, there seems to be about the average amount of snow, but from the New Mexico tributaries these will receive very little increase. Of the streams whose watersheds lie wholly within New Mexico, it is safe to say that the present snow supply is not sufficient to keep up the current flow, and unless there is heavy snow soon or good early rains, the sections depending on these are threatened with a serious water famine in the early spring.

Why He Doesn't Walk.

A story is going the rounds that when William M. Everts was asked the other day to what he ascribed his long life and excellent health, he replied: "I don't know, unless it is because I don't take any exercise." This has been taken as one of Mr. Everts' jokes. Those who know the venerable gentleman best recognize the answer as absolutely true. Mr. Everts takes no exercise. He has carefully avoided exercise for many years. When he went from his home to his office he would not walk a block; he would take a carriage, no matter how short the distance. Mr. Everts isn't the only public man who has a theory that physical exercise, added to mental effort, is a waste of tissue, which tends toward debility and shortening of life. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain is a conspicuous example. He spares himself all physical effort, so far as he can. He will not walk up a single flight of stairs if he can help it. Senator Hanna is, perhaps, the most notable exponent of this practice in Washington. Vigorous as he is in speech and in mental effort, the Senator is seldom seen save in an attitude which suggests physical repose. The President walks daily. He feels badly without his constitutional. He strides with the movement of a man to whom the exercise is keen enjoyment. Usually he is accompanied by some one who may be at the White House when he starts. Nobody can remember to have seen Senator Hanna accompanying the President on a walk in the three years at Washington.—Correspondence Globe-Democrat.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. The Building Period.

Dodge City population has increased more than 300 people during the past year, as will be shown by Assessor Robinson's enumeration of the population. In view of the increase of population it is not surprising that new dwelling houses are being constructed to meet the demand. Last week we stated that lumber could be bought in Dodge City cheaper than could be purchased in Chicago. We have some additional statements to make, and which can be corroborated by the contractors of the city.

Since publishing the article last week we have visited H. Juneau's lumber yard. We are informed that he has the largest and most complete stock of lumber in the state, so lumber agents say. This immense stock is the saying of a lifetime—Mr. Juneau's wealth being in his lumber yard.

We saw a carload of red wood lumber in the yards. This wood is the well known California wood. The lumber was in 4 inch and 6 inch siding, firm and clear, and plain boards. Red wood does not blaze when on fire. It goes out like cork. A building constructed of red wood is practically fire-proof. The wood is as durable as cedar. Paint on this wood does not peel off, because there is no pitch in the wood. It costs a little more on siding, but all other kinds are the same prices as ordinary pine lumber.

An order for anything in the lumber or building material line can be filled as well at H. Juneau's lumber yard as in Kansas City, Chicago or St. Louis, and as cheaply and according to all grades. Mr. Juneau invites your attention to the quality and prices of his lumber. He will give you a better quality of lumber and at a cheaper price than you can buy at any of the large lumber points. Dodge City is as much of a lumber center as any of the large cities.

Republican Primaries.

The Republican voters of the Fourth ward held a caucus at the Third Ward school house last night. There were about 25 present. After electing Sam Stubbs chairman, and Frank Chapman secretary, the caucus proceeded to nominate six delegates and six alternates to be voted for at the primary election this afternoon, to serve at the county convention next Saturday. The following delegates were nominated: Sam Stubbs, W. J. Fitzgerald, George Stumpp, J. M. Baker, J. D. Bush, F. G. Morrow.

There are two tickets in the Fourth ward. The delegates on the second ticket are: E. D. Bowen, J. A. Arment, H. H. Crawford, W. J. Fitzgerald, Sam Stubbs, J. M. Grover.

Caucuses were held in the other three wards in the city, and the following tickets nominated:

First Ward delegates—A. Alters, H. Wing, J. M. Burns, A. Fasig.

Second Ward delegates—W. T. Coolidge, A. Russell, R. W. Evans, L. G. Grobety, L. J. Pettijohn, E. B. Driskell, W. W. Jackson, J. H. Swett, R. H. McElwain, L. R. Miller.

Third Ward delegates—F. A. Mandy, Joe H. Miller, T. A. Scates, N. B. Klaine, R. M. Wright, Chas. Thomas, O. N. T. Wright, Waldo Tarbox, Frank Harbst, C. H. Northrop.

High School Notes.

The seniors are rapidly bringing their work to a close in order to prepare for commencement.

All persons interested in the work of the schools will be given a chance to see what has been accomplished this year, as each class is to give an exhibit of their work on the last day of school.

Prof. Webb's announcement has caused a great many expressions of regret from the students.

The members of the geology class have begun to prepare their exhibit.

There will be given a literary, the 20th of April. A small admission fee of 10c. will be charged.

The members of the base ball team are practicing on the Chestnut street ground, and will be glad to have all parties interested meet with them.

Carl Van Ripper has been absent this week, being on a visit to his home.

F. Dumont Smith of Kinsley, was nominated for State Senator for the 38th district, at Garden City, yesterday, by acclamation. Mr. Smith is editor of the Kinsley Mercury. His election is conceded, as the district is Republican. The convention was a love feast for the short grass politicians and statesmen. Billy Edwards, F. E. Grimes, Chas. Lobdell, L. W. Pettijohn and T. A. Scates were present and were warmly received by the convention. Experimental meeting was the whole thing. L. R. French withdrew with modesty.

A man named E. Presson of Pressonville, Kas., wrote a letter the other day, saying the opinion of everybody in his town who has used Foley's Honey and Tar is, that it is the very best medicine for a gripe, colds, cough, etc. W. S. Amos.

RAILROAD NEWS.

—Conductor Hubbard is laying off for a few days.

—Brakeman Tracy Hurd was laying off last week.

—Fred Bonnerlin has been hired as fireman on the western division.

—Fred Berg has been promoted from switch engine fireman to road fireman.

—Engine 852, one of the new freight engines, took 60 cars west this week.

—Conductor Joe Dillard and wife have returned from the east part of the state.

—L. E. Foote, the Roundhouse foreman at Raton, is visiting his family here for a few days.

—Trainmaster G. H. Saunders was in town Monday accompanied by his little son and daughter.

—Conductor Wm. Wolf and wife accompanied the remains of Mrs. W. D. Hardin to Leavenworth.

—The private cars of President Diaz, of the republic of Mexico, passed through here Tuesday afternoon.

—Martin Vey and family, of Hoisington, Kansas, are visiting with his father-in-law, Jerry Shaw.

—Engineer A. H. Hartwell has reported for duty after about four months loss of time on account of sickness.

—Conductors Norvell and Jenkins have traded runs and Norvell runs between here and Denver while Jenkins is between La Junta and Denver.

—The machinery for boring an artesian well arrived yesterday at the Rock Island depot. The well will be drilled near the depot.

—A Fasig, having finished his well at Syracuse, has returned here and has commenced on the first of six new wells that he is going to bore just north of the Roundhouse.

—A new Santa Fe time card goes into effect Sunday. There is no change in the running time of passenger trains under the new schedule. The extensive changes contemplated will not be made until about May 1st, when the Santa Fe will be running through trains into San Francisco.

—A number of changes will be made in the Santa Fe engineering department on April 1 as a result of Vice President Barr's retrenchment policy. The number of resident engineers will be reduced, and in consequence increased territory given those who retain their positions.

Residency No. 32 will embrace all the lines west of Dodge City. C. H. Morse has been named as the resident, with E. W. Grant as assistant.

—It is reported that the new time table which will go into effect April 1st, will bring No. 17 which now goes through here at midnight, out of Kansas City in the evening, arriving at Kinsley early in the morning and taking breakfast at Dodge City. It will connect with the night train off the Superior Branch at Strong City and take the California travel from the northern part of the state. This will be a much more satisfactory service to us than at present.—Kinsley Mercury.

—SCOUNDRELS ARE SCARCE—All the agents of the Rock Island railroad remit their daily receipts to the Central National bank at Topeka. In a year these remittances amount to about $4,000,000. For the greater part they came in checks, drafts, and other forms of credit money, received by the agents from customers. Said Banker Bonebrake yesterday: "In the past year I do not remember of receiving a single check, draft or other form of credit money that was not good or a forgery. It is wonderful that this great amount of paper could be handled without finding one bad check or one case of forgery. The people are honest, and scoundrels are few and far between."

—Nothing definite regarding the new Santa Fe time card has yet been made public although it has been stated semi-officially that it will make a number of radical changes in the time of trains. The rumored change which will be of the most accommodation is that of the Kansas City express, No. 114, which now leaves Florence at 10 a. m., being extended to Newton, and a local from Larned connecting with it. It is claimed that this will be done, which will give a morning Kansas City train out of Hutchinson at some time about 8 o'clock. This train it is claimed will stop at some of the smaller towns, making a great improvement in the service for traveling men and people who live along the line. It is still rumored that the new time card will be out early next week.—Hutchinson News.

Moving wagons, with farm machinery, the old brindle cow, chickens, ducks, etc., can be seen going west through here nearly every day now. It reminds us of times gone by. The eastern people are getting the western fever sure enough.—Jetmore Herald.

Rushing Across the Continent.

Alex R. Peacock, vice president of the Carnegie Steel company, chartered a special train over the Santa Fe route at Los Angeles, Tuesday, under an agreement to land him in Pittsburg on Saturday next at noon. At that hour a meeting of the company is called at which his presence is necessary. The special consists of an engine, the private car "Convoy" and an accommodation coach.

This train in charge of Conductor McElwain and Engineer Jerry Shaw, with engine 256, left La Junta at 11:40 p. m. last night, and arrived here at 3:22 a. m. They made the run of 203 miles in 217 minutes, which, including stops, makes an average of about a mile a minute. The train was taken from here by Conductor Harry Vaughn and Engineer James Roddy to Newton, 168 miles, in 173 minutes. The portion of the Santa Fe from La Junta to Newton can always be counted upon for fast runs, and some day the world's record will be beaten over this track.

Captain D. L. Sweeney, Deputy U. S. Internal Revenue Collector, is at home this week. He lately visited the State Reform School at Topeka and was well entertained. Supt. Hancock is in charge. Captain Miener is assistant at this institution. His daughter, Miss Jesse, is a teacher in the school at the institution. Many improvements have been made at this reform school, and it is well managed. He also visited the Orphan's Home at Atchison. It is in charge of Supt. Hillis. This institution is well managed, and is up to date. Supt. Hillis and Captain Sweeney are from the same town in Pennsylvania, and are old friends. Many improvements have been made to the Orphan's Home. The Governor made no mistake in the appointment of officers of these institutions. He found wheat good, and there is prosperity every where. Capt. Sweeney will be at home for several days.

Judge Madison arrived Tuesday evening and convened court, it having adjourned from the morning to that time, awaiting his arrival. The docket was called and the time for hearing the cases fixed.

The case of the State of Kansas vs. Geo. W. Wiley was called up Tuesday evening, when Judge Madison informed the attorneys representing State and defendant, that while he was connected with the law firm of Sutton & Madison, Mr. Wiley had spoken to him in regard to becoming attorney for the defense, and he made the statement to avoid any possibility of being charged with unfairness by either side. Wednesday morning the defense made affidavit that the court, or the firm with which he was connected had been retained as attorneys and asked for a judge pro tem. to try the case. The court sustained the motion and A. P. Cochran, of Cottonwood Falls, was decided on to try the case. The time for trying the case was set for Tuesday, May 1, 1900.

Judge Madison has made a good impression as judge, being very determined in his rulings, and everyone seems very well pleased with him.—Meade News.

McKinley Compliments Long.

President McKinley paid Congressman Long, of Kansas, a fine compliment a few days ago on his Puerto Rican tariff speech. Cannon and Payne each made a speech on that subject. They called on the president a day or two later on official business. "You made good speeches on the tariff bill," said the president to them, "but Mr. Long's speech was the best delivered on the question."

The two gentlemen informed one of Long's friends what the president said, and Kansas in Washington are feeling good. The congressional and national committees are flooding the country with copies of Long's speech and it will be one of the principal Republican documents used in the campaign this year. Speaker Henderson has ordered 25,000 copies sent to his district.

They Were Safe.

A punctilious southern lady was married to a happy go lucky Carolinian with a notorious disregard for all matters of dress. He was going off on a trip, and his wife packed in his satchel six shirts, exacting a promise that he would wear a fresh one every day. He returned home in due course, and the good housewife proceeded to unpack the bag. Lo, not one of the shirts was there! "What's the matter, John?" she asked in great perturbation. "Where are all the shirts I gave you?"

John protested that he had followed orders and put on a clean one every day, but what happened to them he did not know. He retired down stairs to think out the problem. Ten minutes later an excited face was thrust into the room, and a happy voice rang out: "I've found 'em, my dear; I've found 'em! The whole six shirts are safe! I've got 'em all on!"—Kansas City Independent.

Newspaper Etiquette.

Parties wishing to enter the printing office at this season should be governed by the following rules: Advance to the inner door and give three distinct raps or knock the door down. The "devil" will attend to the alarm. You will give your name, post-office address, and the number of years you are owing for the paper. He will admit you. You advance to the center of the room and address the editor with the following countersign: Extend the right hand about two feet from the body, with thumb and fingers extended, thumb and forefinger clasping a $10 bill, which drops into the extended hand of the editor, at the same time saying: "Were you looking for me?" The editor will grasp your hand and the bill and pressing it will say: "You bet!" After giving him the news concerning your locality, you will be permitted to retire with a receipt for an obligation properly discharged.—Marcus (Iowa) News.
