

INTERLOCKING PLANT FOR THE ISLETA STATION

Big Improvements Under Way at the Junction.

PART OF GENERAL SCHEME OF COAST LINE BETTERMENTS

Extensive improvements are under way at Isleta, the junction of the Santa Fe main line and the coast line, twelve miles south of Albuquerque, where two hundred men are at work on the grade, station improvements and other changes which are to be completed within thirty days.

The chief improvement at Isleta will be the installation of an interlocking switch system which will be operated from a tower in the station, which is now being moved several hundred feet from the west to the east side of the track. Now it is necessary for all trains to stop at Isleta while switches are thrown, and reset. With the new plant, it will only be necessary for the incoming train to give a signal, or its running time to be known. The man in the tower will do the rest. The chief signal engineer has already sent most of the material for the plant to Isleta and will come on in a few days to install it. There have been the usual objections of the Indians to the moving of the station, but these matters have been settled and the work is going ahead.

In addition to the switch system, the grade is being raised and rehabilitated for miles on either side of the junction. A hundred men are working on the track near the station, while a bridge gang of twenty men is putting in a steel bridge in place of the old wooden structure which was put in temporarily after the last flood. The bridge will be higher and longer and will prevent any future trouble from floods at that point.

The work at Isleta is only a small part of the work going on all over the coast line. The track between Albuquerque and the California line looks like new and when the work is complete it will be almost a new track with new ballast, new bridges and additional switching facilities all along the line.

BILLY STILES KILLED WHILE WITH YAQUIS

NOTORIOUS COMPADRE OF BUZI ALVORD MEETS DEATH AGAIN.

Pio Quinto, who owns a number of prospects in the district south of Mochizuma, arrived in Douglas yesterday with a story to the effect that Billy Stiles, the partner of the notorious Bert Alvord, had been killed while fighting with a band of Yaquis against soldiers of the Mexican government.

According to Quinto, the fight took place Tuesday on the bank of the Yaqui river, at the crossing of the trail south from Mochizuma. The Indians in ambush, opened the attack on some 200 soldiers of the Mexican army, and after an hour of sharp fighting, were beaten back, leaving seven dead on the field. It is claimed, says Quinto, that one of those, painted as an Indian, and who had acted as leader during the fight, was the notorious Stiles who is so much wanted on both sides of the line.

The story is plausible, as it is known positively that Stiles is in that country or was recently, and his presence there with a band of active Indians will account for much of the depredation which has been going on in that country. It is also possible that this is an explanation of the death of Stiles, of Douglas, who was murdered near Tapachi recently.

CLIFTON MAN KNOCKS PROFESSOR SENSELESS FOR CHASTISING CHILD.

The following account of a lively time which occurred a few days ago in one of the Clifton public schools is taken from the Clifton Star of that city: "A deplorable affair occurred in the North Clifton schools last Thursday afternoon. It seems that Professor Reese had quite severely chastised the eleven-year-old son of E. Lafave. From an account of the boy's mother, with an undue amount of severity. It is reported that he was not only whipped, but was also kicked and dragged around by the hair of his head. When Mr. Lafave went to his dinner, he heard the boy's story, and immediately went over to the school house, where he met the professor. Lafave states that he asked the professor why he beat the child, and the professor replied that because he had a right to do so. Lafave then struck the professor a blow that knocked him senseless for some considerable time. His face and one eye were badly cut by a pair of glasses which he wore on at the time. The professor was so badly knocked out that he was not able to resume his duties for several days. When the professor had sufficiently recovered as to be able to do so, he swore out a warrant for Lafave, who was fined $50 from which he may appeal. It seems that when the professor attempted to chastise the boy the little fellow put up a fight and made things so lively that the professor evidently lost his temper, and no doubt went further than was his intent or desire. This is the professor's second term as principal, and up to the present time he has been getting along very well with the pupils."

YUKANINI APACHE GETS FIFTEEN MONTHS—OTHER PRISONERS SENTENCED AT PHOENIX.

Yukanini, the Apache Indian who was indicted for beating up Halamba, an old woman of his tribe, on the McDowell reservation in Arizona, has been sentenced by Judge Kent at Phoenix, to fifteen months in the penitentiary for his crime. It will be recalled that Yukanini attacked the old Apache squaw and tried to kill her because he suspected her of using witchcraft to compass the death of Yukanini's wife. The old Indian predicted that the huck's squaw would die by a certain date, and the prediction came true. This infuriated the brave to such an extent that he tried to murder the supposed witch. Judge Kent passed sentences on the prisoners who had pleaded guilty to the indictments which had been found against them. Two of them were bicycle thieves, Escabello Ramirez, and his case was set for trial on November 8. The dates of trial were set for the cases in which the defendants were indicted for bicycle stealing:

ISLETAS FILE CLAIM FOR $5,000 AGAINST SANTA FE COMPANY

For Damage Done Crops by Spring Floods.

ALLEGED REFUSAL TO CUT EMBANKMENT DELUGED TOWN

The Indians of the pueblo of Isleta through their officers have filed with Superintendent J. K. Allen, of the government Indian school here a claim for slightly over $5,000 against the Santa Fe Railway company for damages alleged to have been sustained to crops and property during the floods last spring, through the company's action.

The claim of the Pueblos is that the railway embankment caused the water to back up over their lands adjacent to the village and thus caused a big loss to the people of the village in crops and other property.

It will be remembered that the Rio Grande during the spring freshets changed its course at this point and the water backed up over part of the village. The embankment of the railway acted as a dam which prevented the escape of the waters. The Indians after vainly requesting the railway company to cut the embankment and drain off the water appealed to Mr. Allen. A hundred men are working on the track near the station, while a bridge gang of twenty men is putting in a steel bridge in place of the old wooden structure which was put in temporarily after the last flood. The bridge will be higher and longer and will prevent any future trouble from floods at that point.
