

SEEKS TO EXPLOIT A BIG "HONEY MINE" NEAR GALLUP

LOS ANGELES MAN SAYS HE HAS TONS OF PETRIFIED SWEETS

Believes Granulated Honey Would Make a Hit and Declares He Has Thousands of Pounds to Sell.

(Los Angeles Examiner.) Bill Terry, an assayer who recently came to Los Angeles from Gallup, N. M., is looking for someone who will finance a scheme to withdraw tons of petrified honey from the rocks of a canyon near Gallup.

Granulated honey should sell rapidly, Bill thinks. Bill Terry is rough and hardy, of the miner type, and just at present is located in a tent in the 1200 block of Central avenue. He will come there until the man with the money is found.

This is the story Terry told an "Examiner" reporter last evening. "About everything is petrified ground Gallup. I hadn't been there day when someone showed me a petrified tree. Three days later I learned that there were whole forests of petrified trees. Then I saw petrified fruit. Something must have happened there some day to take the life out of everything. What it was I don't pretend to say.

"Well, I had been there several weeks when I got acquainted with an old squaw who took a liking to me. See that ring (displaying a band of silver on his left hand) well, that belongs to her. She wouldn't have given it to me if she hadn't liked me, would she? Six weeks ago she got me to get a couple of burros, saying that she was going to show me something which I few knew about. Out of curiosity I went with her. Eleven or twelve miles out of Gallup we rode into a canyon. She asked me for my knife. Opening it, she jabbed the blade into what appeared to be the solid rock of a canyon. She chipped off a piece of the 'rock' and put it into her mouth. Then she chipped off another piece and passed it to me. I put it in my mouth. It was sweet. Well, sir, what do you think it was? Nothing more nor less than honey.

"There is a vein about eighteen inches wide, a foot or so deep, running from the ground up through that entire side wall of the canyon, and it is petrified honey. That wall is 150 feet deep. How many hundreds of thousands of barrels of granulated honey is contained in that rock I don't profess to say, but I do know there is a fortune there for me and some one with a little capital. Bees placed that honey there and nature has preserved it. I want the man with the money.

"No, I won't tell where that honey is, but I'll take the man with money to the spot."

Heavy Losses in Cumpas Valley.

A. W. Jenks, manager of the Transvaal Copper Co., came in this noon from Nacoari, en route to El Paso on business for his company, says the Douglas Inter-Continental.

Mr. Jenks says the country south of Nacoari, in the Cumpas valley and Sonora-river valley, was hard hit by the recent drought. The farmers suffered the loss of from one-half to two-thirds of their crops. The corn crop suffered heavily, but the corn, beans and other food crops suffered less, and more wheat will be raised from the scarcity and consequent high price of food. Much property was also washed away, including houses. George E. Woodward, one of the principal property holders of Moctezuma, lost $12,000 in crops and ranches. Cumpas and Nacoari suffered many losses. Many adobe houses not washed away were "melted down," leaving the roof surrounding ruins.

Busy at Kelly.

There is great activity in the Kelly mining camp. Both the Kelly and the Graphic mines are rushing out the ore night and day. Just now both of these properties are putting on more men and there is a demand for good miners. No good miner need be idle if he will go to Kelly.—Socorro Chief-tain.

ELKS WILL CONDUCT THE FUNERAL OF THE LATE ROBERT HINDMAN

The funeral of the late Robert Hindman, whose death occurred in Albuquerque some days since, will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of A. Borders, under the direction of Albuquerque Lodge No. 461, of the Elks.

Mr. Hindman, who was a member of the Kingman Arizona Lodge, died in Albuquerque some time ago and the funeral has been delayed owing to difficulty in communicating with his brother J. O. Hindman, who reached Albuquerque last night, having come at once from Vanita, I. T., on learning of his brother's death.

While the funeral service will be the ritual of the order, Rev. Hugh A. Cooper, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will deliver an address. E. L. Washburn will direct the music. Interment will be in Fairview cemetery.

A "Lucky Thirties Tea" will be served by thirteen ladies of the Lead Avenue M. E. church, Wednesday, December 13, from 2 to 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. W. H. Hahn, West Railroad avenue. Every thirteenth person free of charge. Every one welcome.

If you need a carpenter, telephone Jessenden.

SALOON MEN CHARGE THAT SMALL DIVES RUN ON SUNDAY

Sunday closing in Albuquerque has been in effect for some time past, but an alleged leak in the "lid" has caused a bitter complaint to come from the proprietors of the leading saloons.

"See that," said the proprietor of a well known Railroad avenue house last evening as he pointed to a well laden individual ambling up the avenue. "That fellow has been spending his Sunday in one of the out of the way saloons and he is not the only man I have seen on the streets in his condition."

"A couple of weeks ago I had to get two bartenders when I came to open up, as both of mine were drunk. I know where they got their whiskey, but it would be wrong for me to have the proprietors of the place arrested for violating the Sunday law. Mind, I don't want to kick over the law, but what makes me mad is that the small dives are allowed to run and the first class houses must obey the law to the letter. There are several of us who are under big expense and we conduct orderly and quiet places—but we are forced to close. The small dive-keepers stay open in violation of the law and are not molested. If I keep my house open I am arrested. It is not on the law that I have a kick coming, but on the administration of it."

It is learned on good authority that a number of the smaller saloons have not been obeying the law and that in some of the places, while the doors are closed, the proprietors do an immense "boot-leg" business.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Albuquerque People. We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Albuquerque residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. It is emphatic and convincing. No better proof can be had.

C. G. Leit, for ten years station master in Albuquerque, now retired from active cares of life, residence 315 North Arno street, says: "I had attacks of backache stretching over a period of three years. One of them occurred shortly before Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I went to a prominent druggist for a box. I knew the cause of my trouble arose from imperfect action of the kidneys because of the behavior of the kidney secretions and their condition fairly proved it, but what to do to check the trouble was a mystery. Doan's Kidney Pills effectively stopped the difficulty. If every one in Albuquerque receives the great benefit I did from that remedy, kidney complaint, backache and trouble with the kidney secretions will cease to exist in this vicinity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
