Eleven From Harvard Law School in Drawn Battle With Stars of Southern University.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 30.—Captain Hamilton Fish's eleven composed of Harvard law school students played the Vanderbilt-Sewanee stars a spectacular game in which neither side scored in the Vanderbilt university field this afternoon. In spite of a muddy field the game was fast. The feature was the run of Hamilton Fish for 1100 yards with a clear field and only Neely Brown, the celebrated Sewanee player in pursuit. Brown caught up with Fish and downed him ten yards from the Vanderbilt-Sewanee goal.

Audubon Society Officers Scent Scheme of Commercial Interests to Break Down Protective Laws Afforded Feathered Tribes.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] New York, Dec. 23.—Declaring that the new year of 1911 is to mark the fiercest struggle in recent years to American bird life from its human enemies, officers of the National Association of Audubon Societies are today perfecting plans here to combat the commercial interests that are plotting to break down protective laws in many of the legislatures of forty states. Men and money are to be used without limit by powerful groups of milliners and market supply men to buy their favored prey of the scant legal protection that has been given them, according to advices that are being received from all over the country.

RAILROAD OFFICER SHOOT AND KILLS MINER AT TUCSON

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 29.—Pat Boyle, a miner who has been working at Twin Buttes for the past two months was shot and killed across the street from the Heidelberg hotel last night by J. B. Canell, a Southern Pacific officer. Boyle was in the center of the street and lived for about an hour, dying at the Rodgers hospital. He was then removed to the Reilly undertaking parlors, where an inquest will be held today. The dead man was about 40 years of age, comparatively tall and raw-boned, and wore a closely cropped red mustache. He had been in Tucson frequently, but had been there only a few hours on his final trip.

Ketcherside, superintendent of the Arizona asylum for the insane, has handed in his resignation to Governor Sloan to take effect about the first of his year. J. F. Cleveland, who has resigned as private secretary to the governor to take effect the first of the year, like Dr. Ketcherside, has other business affairs that take up all his time. His resignation which is not surprising has been expected for some time since he has divided his time with outside business and duties at the capitol, being assisted at the latter place by A. G. Moritz. Mr. Cleveland has accepted the management of the Union Bank & Trust company of this city.

Koontz, general freight agent of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Gulf railway company, has prepared a statement about the adjustment of freight rates on wheat from Kansas City and Wichita to Galveston, referred to by Governor Stubbs in his speech at San Antonio and in his letters to President Lippley. Mr. Koontz' statement follows: "The governor says that this adjustment is costing the farmers of Kansas many millions of dollars. The comparison which the governor makes is as against a rate of 18 1/2 cents from Kansas City to Galveston, when for export the rate from Wichita, as fixed by Judge Prouty, of the interstate commerce commission, was 25 cents per hundred pounds. At the time Judge Prouty fixed the 25 cents rate from Wichita, he had full and complete information before him as to the existence of the proportional rate of 18 1/2 cents from Kansas City to the gulf.

San Francisco the Place.

The New York Evening Post, which is the exponent of everything that is staid and stable in the American metropolis, has been conducting an inquiry into the respective merits of New Orleans and San Francisco as to their fitness for holding the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915. Arguments have been submitted by Governor Gillett of Louisiana and Governor Sanders of California. Californians have reason to be proud of the showing made by their state, and the reading between the lines is that the Pacific slope is gaining ground every day and will have the backing of the real element in New York that counts for success.

San Francisco the Place.

It appears to be generally conceded that the Panama canal will make the Pacific coast the new neighbors of the seaports of the Atlantic, and that the national celebration that shall mark the joining of the world's two greatest highways of commerce should be held either in New York or in that city of the Pacific coast which makes the strongest bid for it. New York stands aside in deference to her peace neighbors, and while New Orleans is regarded as an important station, it cannot be classed as the big port at the end of the line.

San Francisco the Place.

Therefore New York and the east are coming to the opinion that the big fair should be held at the front gate on the Pacific, and not in the back yard on the Gulf of Mexico. Governor Gillett's claims for California made to the New York Post set forth the privilege and the advantages that would accrue to the nation by holding the fair there, while Governor Sanders merely put in the plea that San Francisco is difficult of access to the dwellers of the east.

San Francisco the Place.

David Rich, a Californian residing in New York, made a contribution setting forth why a trip to the Pacific coast was a liberal education to new Americans, and telling of the vast benefits that would accrue to the nation from pilgrimages from the east to the San Francisco fair. He portrayed the revelation of national resources to the securing by purchase of equipment for surveying parties that are now operating with hired equipment. The expedition to be sent north this morning marks the first result of Mr. Johnson's work in that line, this being merely one of various duties that come under his direction. In fact the outfitting is really under the direction of the surveyor general, the supervisor or leading his aid in the work, this being an added duty to those of the engineering matters under his direction.

San Francisco the Place.

This outfit consists of eight mules, three wagons and three drivers, together with camp equipment and supplies. It will go to Hackberry where it will be placed at the disposal of J. A. Wright, who is in charge of a surveying party now utilizing hired equipment. Mr. Johnson and General Gillett feel rather sure that their efforts yesterday and the result of their work they could tell horses from mules, or at least could tell that the mules were not horses.

SCREAM AT PEOPLE

about what...

You have our word you'll never regret.

It would be to the visitor and told of the many who would linger to develop the vast natural wealth of the west to the resultant good of the whole nation.

California is a part of the earth which every traveler the world over, holds the wish to see and which disappoints no one who has come under the spell of its scenic beauty. It is a land which, once visited, one must needs linger in, and from which few depart without a longing to see it "once more."

Troubles of a Collector. A St. Louis merchant had made use of one of his young clerks in the stead of his regular collector, who was ill.

When the young man returned from his rounds, his employer observed that he looked rather down in the mouth.

"Have any luck?" asked the merchant. "So-so," replied the young man listlessly.

"How about that Jones bill? I suppose you collected that. You said that Mr. Jones was a friend of yours." "Well sir," said the clerk, "I don't know whether to rejoice or not at my success with Mr. Jones."

"What do you mean?" "This time, when I went in and said, 'Mr. Jones, I have called to speak about a matter—' he interrupted me before I could proceed further with, 'That's all right, my boy; this is yours. Take her and be happy.'"
