THE CLOSING NET

Pathe Gold Reel Feature in Five Reels of Thrilling Melodrama, WITH HOWARD ESTABROOK, BLISS MILFORD AND KATHRYN BROWNE-DECKER

The story of "The Closing Net" is one that has lost itself to the screen with more than the ordinary avidity, allowing itself to be converted into one of the most acceptable of motion picture melodramas.

Admission: Adults 10 Cents; Children 5 Cents CONTINUOUS SHOW FROM 1:30 TO 11:00 P. M.

NO ONE IS HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DEATH OF CHILD

Dr. W. G. Hope Testifies That He Found No Sign That Fire Engine Skidded Into Fence at Dorris Home.

No one was held blameable for the death of little Corrie Dorris by the coroner's jury that sat at the inquest held yesterday in Justice George J. Craig's office.

Dr. W. G. Hope, driver of the fire engine, was the principal witness. He said that he had not skidded an automobile until five or six months ago.

Dr. W. G. Hope, who was called in the hope that the boy might be saved, testified that he examined wheel tracks to learn how the machine went into the fence.
