"The Belgian communication reads: 'The day was calm, but there were a few actions with artillery and bomb throwers on the south part of our front.'

"On the night of June 3-4 and the day of June 4 the enemy sought to flank Fort Vaux by the south. He was stopped by our trenches south of the fort, and was driven back on the occasion by counter-attacks near the village of Dambloup. He entered also the village of Dambloup, which he held at the end. Several attacks were stopped by our fire north of Fort Vaux on the eastern outskirts of Lunain wood.

"On the fifth of June we repulsed two debouching attacks, one at Dambloup, the other northeast of Fort Vaux.

"On June 7 a violent offensive against our trenches at the approaches of Fort Vaux failed. The same day the fort itself, in which desperate fighting had been carried on from June 2 fell into the hands of the enemy.

"On June 8 the enemy renewed his assaults throughout the day from north of Thiaumont, from the Yser ravine, and in the forest, occupying several of our trenches in the neighborhood of the farm, and near the Callette wood.

"On the left bank of the Meuse attacks on Hill 294 were repulsed on June 4 in the night of June 8-9 and especially in the day of the ninth, on which the enemy made several attempts with the employment of bomb throwers."

DEMOCRATS WILL RELY ON RECORD AS MAINSTAY OF THEIR PLATFORM

Drafts of Several Planks Are Placed Before Chairman of National Committee by Senator Stone.

WILL JUSTIFY MEXICAN POLICY

Administration to Point Out That Southern Republic Has Been Handled in Disinterested Manner.

ST. LOUIS, June 11.—Senator William J. Stone, who will be chairman of the resolutions committee which will draw the democratic platform, arrived here tonight with drafts of a number of planks, some of which have been prepared by President Wilson himself. Mr. Stone laid the drafts before Chairman McCombs of the national committee and held other conferences with party leaders who will be associated in the final preparation of the declaration of principles as it comes before the democratic convention.

All the planks as they now stand are subject, of course, to the action of the party convention, but certain of them which express especially the sentiments of President Wilson are sure to be incorporated virtually as they were brought by Senator Stone.

Generally the object of the platform builders is to present a concrete record of party achievements as a platform in themselves, to accept the challenges of the republican platform and meet the indictments contained in Mr. Hughes' telegram of acceptance of the republican nomination.

The principal plank as they stand tonight when Senator Stone went into conference with Chairman McCombs may be authoritatively outlined as follows:

Foreign Relations. Pointing out the unprecedented world conditions brought about by the war, the candidate will claim by the administration of President Wilson, while keeping the United States at peace, has maintained a neutrality both "strict and honest."

The diplomatic achievements of the president in prevailing upon Germany to pledge herself to cease submarine warfare, in violation of her international law will be pointed out as one of the potent reasons why the democratic administration should be continued in power.

Mexican Situation. The Mexican situation, presented frankly and fully from the viewpoint of the administration, will be recited with claims of justification for the administration's course, were best shaped to conserve peace with the neighboring republic.

The course of the administration will be held to be one in aid of a distracted and distressed people, and in furtherance of the progress of their own destiny. The United States, as the next friend of Mexico, it will be contended, has been acting disinterestedly in Mexico's aid and with full respect and consideration for her sovereignty.

Preparedness. This will be treated under two separate heads, one dealing with what already has been accomplished, and the other with that which is in the making. It will be pointed out that the party has not new world conditions, but has met them with a national defense, by pointing to the advanced stage of preparedness of the navy, both in ships and men; legislation already enacted for the enlargement of the navy academy and administration of the navy; and the enlargement of the national force for defense at sea. It will be contended that more probably has been done during the three years of democratic administration than had been accomplished for many preceding years under republican rule.

Enlargement of Army. The enlargement of the regular army and the reorganization of the national guard with provisions bringing it more thoroughly under federal control will be cited among the measures of achievements for national defense already accomplished.

The federal reserve act, reorganizing the currency system of the country, to a basis calculated to provide for the expansion and contraction of currency to meet the fluctuating courses of trade and to thwart the financial structure of the nation against times of panic, will be pointed out as one of the foremost achievements of the party and an act which the republicans unsuccessfully dealt with for many years. Pending legislation for a system of rural credits also will be cited in this connection.

Tariff Question. The reduction of tariff duties on a scale which the democratic platform makers contend will be a normal income for the support of the government in normal times will be pointed out as a party achievement. The enactment of an income tax will be presented as one of the party measures to bring income to the support of the government, while dividing the burden according to the ability of the individual to bear it, the creation of a tariff commission for scientific study and readjustment of duties to protect American industry against the flood of European products after the fighting nations turn to the pursuit of peace, the shipping bill now pending to create an American merchant marine to relieve the commerce of the country from the lack of ocean transportation, and the plan to withdraw government operation from competition with private capital when the latter is ready to undertake the enterprise; these also will be presented as reasons for continuing the party in power.

Foreign Trade Improved. The platform will contend that legislation at home, and diplomatic legislation abroad, have lent a strong stimulus to American foreign trade and that as a result, industrial prosperity has greatly been enhanced and foreign trade established on a firmer basis than ever before.

NEWS NOTES from BY DAISY DEAN

Marion and Madeline Fairbanks.

The difficulty in telling these twins apart may be imagined when it is realized that in height, weight, color of hair and eyes, and even to complexions and managements, they are as one.

Now that they have passed their fifteenth year, the "Thanhouse Twins"—Marion and Madeline Fairbanks—have modestly requested that in forthcoming releases they are desirous of having their names appear in the cast, though not for the purpose of differentiation, having long ago given up hope of ever having people tell them apart.

"We have been known so long as the 'twins' in screen productions," said Marion, speaking for her sister as well as herself, "that now that we have passed our fifteenth birthday we think it best that we be known as Marion and Madeline. It looks much more important, we think, to be listed by our individual names than it does merely as the Fairbanks Twins."

Telling these two young ladies apart has long been a difficult matter at the Thanhouse studios. On one occasion, during the staging of a feature, Director Sullivan, perturbed at his inability to pick the right one, bit upon the happy idea of fastening a ribbon to their arms. Marion was assigned a blue one and Madeline a red one. Thereafter, little difficulty, so far as identification was concerned, was encountered. The same scheme has been resorted to frequently in the staging of releases in which both young ladies appeared.

There is always something new in filmland. Florence Rose, formerly fashion editor of L'Art de la Mode, has been engaged by J. A. Best, of the Pathe company, to conduct a fashion department—pictorial, of course. She will put out a special reel of fashions twice a month. Accompanying these films will be a series of articles written to be published simultaneously with the release of the pictures.

Clara Kimball Young, now in her own company, has already started work on a film play from the Robert W. Chambers novel, "The Common Law."

The Lubin company has started to film the Rex Beach novel, "The Barrier," planning to make it a successor to "The Ne'er Do Well."

Champ Clark issued a statement today criticizing the republicans for selecting a justice of the supreme court as a candidate for the presidency and the progressive for continuing Roosevelt's violation of the two-term rule.

"If Colonel Roosevelt accepts the nomination of the bill members Woodrow Wilson will win in a walk," said the speaker.

"If Colonel Roosevelt declines the nomination and support Mr. Justice Hughes, it will be what my Kentucky friends call a 'hoss race,' with the odds very much in favor of Woodrow Wilson."

"Some philosophers claim there is nothing in luck, President Wilson's career should confound them utterly. The regular republicans and the bill members might have agreed on some man of ability, who would not have been confronted with the wise and wholesome precedents of more than a century."

FIVE CANDIDATES FOR G. O. P. COMMITTEE HEAD Chicago, June 11.—Five names were mentioned as possible candidates for chairman of the republican national committee, and manager of the Hughes and Fairbanks campaign in the political discussions of the subject by republican leaders here today prior to their leaving for their homes.

The names mentioned were, Frank H. Hitchcock, of New York; Ralph E. Williams, of Oregon; Joseph H. Keating, of Indiana; Fred C. Tanner, of New York; and Charles B. Warren, of Michigan.

Hitchcock managed the pro-republican campaign of Hughes in Chicago in 1906. He was vice chairman of the republican national committee and was in charge of the New York headquarters during the campaign of Theodore Roosevelt. In 1908 he was chairman of the republican national committee and managed the campaign of William H. Taft.

Ralph E. Williams is national committee man from Oregon, which was one of the first states to declare for Hughes. Fred C. Tanner is republican state chairman of New York, and was an active supporter of Hughes. Joseph H. Keating, of Indiana, is a life-long friend and close political associate of C. W. Fairbanks. Charles B. Warren is national committee man from Michigan.

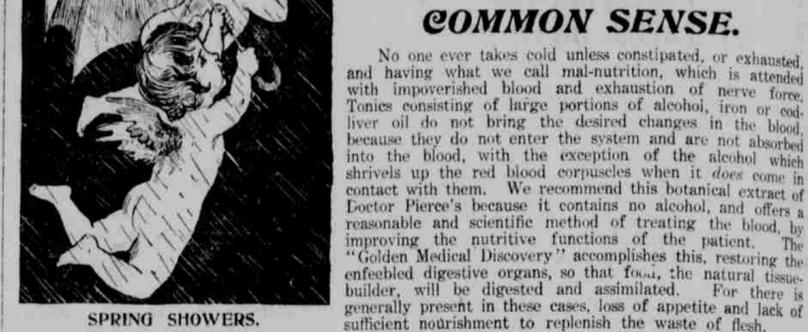

Henry Allen, of Kansas, one of the leaders at the progressive national convention today declared he would support Hughes. A number of Roosevelt delegates to the republican convention also called on Mr. Hitchcock to pledge their support.

GERMAN LOSSES UP TO MAY ARE ABOUT 3,000,000 London, June 11.—Germany up to May had lost 2,924,586 soldiers, of whom 734,412 were killed, according to a British official tabulation of the German casualty lists given out here today. The compilation did not include German losses in naval engagements, or in the fighting in the German colonies.

The British official statement quotes the German casualty lists for the month of May as placing the total German losses in killed, prisoners and wounded, at 102,507. This number, it is pointed out, brings the German total, exclusive of naval and colonial casualties, to 2,924,586.

200,000 BOYS TO GO INTO SCOUT CAMP TRAINING

Military Drill Not to Be Included, but Preparedness for Everyday Duties Will Receive Attention.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Nearly 200,000 boys will go into preparation camps in all parts of the country this summer under the leadership of men identified with the Boy Scouts of America according to an announcement made at the organization headquarters here today. Military drill will not be given the boys but in other ways the camps will be very similar to the military instruction camps for adults at Plattsburg, N. Y., and other places.

"An analysis of the program for the Plattsburg and similar camps promoted by Gen. Leonard A. Wood reveals that fully three-quarters of the subjects and activities taken up in them are included in the Boy Scout scheme," the statement reads, "and they will be provided in this summer's boy scout camps, the first of which will open next week."

The aims in view, it is explained, are not only to build the boys physically but to give them "knowledge and skill" that will immeasurably increase their usefulness to their country in any crisis. Under this plan the following subjects are included in the course of instruction:

Camp-site selection, tent-pitching, drainage, sanitation, commissary equipment and management, fire lighting without matches, cooking, long-distance code signaling, setting up of field telegraph and wireless outfit, bridge-building, construction of signal and observation towers, fire fighting, swimming, rescue of drowning persons, resuscitation, managing boats, first aid to injured, observation and memory tests, map making and reading, exploration of unfamiliar territory and search bearing. In addition the scouts will learn, largely through games and competitions which quicken interest, a great deal about nature, and will be taught to put into practice the code of conduct known to them as "scout law."

The camp motto will be "be prepared," which has been the boy scout slogan since the incorporation of the movement in 1914.

Everyday Preparedness. "The most ardent preparedness advocate of today," the statement declares, "has added nothing new to the arguments that were recognized by the promoters of the boy scout scheme; indeed, the scout scheme goes further and provides a workable plan one that is actually working for preparedness for everyday life, for the routine requirements of citizenship, as well as for emergencies, including the remote possibility of war."

In explanation of the fact that the boys will not receive military drill, the statement says:

"The rifle, the sword and other military accoutrements form a part of the boy scout equipment. The boy, through his own initiative, acquires in his adolescent years, we feel, is not sufficiently benefited by practice in the manual of arms to have it take the place of other things which are of a more positive and constructive value."

No Military Drill. "Lieutenant General Sir Robert Baden-Powell (who developed the boy scout movement upon the 'preparedness' plan), with long experience in England's re-arming work, strongly opposed military drill for the younger boys, and is fighting hard now against the cadet system which is advocated by some in Great Britain. He opposes it on the ground that it defeats the object it is intended to accomplish; that efficient, well-disciplined, fighting men cannot be made without a personal development of character, responsibility, self-discipline, physical health, none of which come from the sort of military drill that young boys receive."

The Boy Scouts of America goes in a different way about the business of training boys for the service of their

WOULD-BE GROOM'S BIGAMY RECORD CHANGES HER PLANS

HOW TO GET RID OF A COLD. Summer colds are serious. Read how C. E. Summers, Holdrege, Neb., got rid of his: "I contracted a severe cough and cold and could hardly sleep. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and the very first dose relieved me. I took a second dose before going to bed and can truthfully say I did not cough all night. By using as directed the next two days my cough was entirely cured and I give Foley's Honey and Tar full credit for my speedy recovery." Foley's always soothes and heals. Children love it.
