G. P. A. WILL TRY TO SECURE MORE QUAIL IN STATE

How to increase the number of quail in this section of New Mexico is the problem which is being worked out by a committee of members of the Albuquerque G. P. A. which has recently been appointed by K. Baldrige, president of the local association. The committee is composed of Charles Quier, M. A. McCrodden and Aldo Leopold.

In many sections which are adapted to quail, none exist and in many of the sections where there have always been numbers of quail, but a few still remain. Members of the G. P. A. feel that while there has been fair quail shooting for the past few years, there should be more quail and some sort of plan should be worked out which would not only better the shooting, but increase the number of quail left when the open season is over.

The committee will meet this evening and will consider a number of plans which have been advanced for increasing the quail here, among them is that of establishing more bird refuges.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS FROM STATE DURING APRIL WERE HEAVY

More than 32,000 cattle were shipped from New Mexico during the month of April, according to figures reported yesterday by M. G. Keenan, secretary of the state cattle sanitary board. Most of the shipments went to Colorado, Texas and Kansas.

Shipments by districts for the month of April follow: Springfield, 2,312; Clayton, 1,857; Tucuman, 375; Alamosa, 3,425; Roswell, 4,694; Artec, 104; Deming, 478; Albuquerque, 402; Santa Fe, 694; Rincon, 991; Carlsbad, 7,495; Lovington, 844; Fortuna, 2,775; Cimarron, 116; Vaughn, 2,475; Columbus, 1,801; Silver City, 33; Jalisco, 190.

Two women who had booked passage on a liner for New York and had missed the boat-train in London hurried to the air-station at Crofton and engaged an airplane in which they reached Southampton a few minutes before the vessel sailed.
