

SEPTEMBER.

Calendar table for September 1890 with columns for S, M, T, W, T, F, S and days of the month.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

MAILS DEPART DAILY FOR Deer Lodge, Helena and points North and West of Helena. 8:00 A. M. Butte City, Mont. 10:30 A. M. Butte, Helena, Logan, Stuart and Minnesota. 3:10 P. M. Butte, Helena, Eastern, Southern and Western States. 6:10 P. M. Carroll and Lyness. 11:00 A. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

THE WEATHER.

The daily record of the thermometer in this city is reported by A. T. Playter, druggist, First street. The record for yesterday was: 7 a. m., 25 degrees; 12 m., 62 degrees; 4 p. m., 76 degrees; 8 p. m., 52 degrees.

ABOUT THE CITY.

Chief Ricey, of the fire department, has a force of men employed in caulking the cisterns at the intersection of Main and First and Cedar and First streets.

The handsome diamond pin which was up for raffle at Toocy & Hunt's place last night, was won by Hollywood, of Granite. He appears to be a successful candidate in more than one field.

The democratic club of this city lately placed a transparency in Evans' hall. Some miscreant whose name is not yet learned sneaked into the hall and slashed the banner into shreds.

Charles Bennett, messenger for the Pacific Express company, had the misfortune to lose a diamond ring setting last evening. It value is $125. The person finding the stone will receive a reward on returning it to him.

Several cases of typhoid fever have developed in the eastern part of town during the past few weeks. With a good sewerage system and the maintenance of proper sanitary conditions, an epidemic of this character is well-nigh impossible.

Acting Postmaster J. M. Moore received his commission from the postal department last evening. As the month is already well along, and in order not to confuse reports, his name will not be used as postmaster until the first of the month.

It is learned that all the forest fires in the immediate vicinity of Georgetown are under control and no danger is apprehended from them. Both Silver Lake and Georgetown have been threatened by the fires during the past two weeks and it was only by dint of hard work that the camps were saved.

MRS. LAW'S GUESTS.

A Gay Party of Excursionists Spend Yesterday in Helena.

Superintendent Law's private car carried to Helena yesterday morning, a jolly company of people who were the guests of Mrs. Law for the day. The occasion was in honor of Mrs. Dickinson of San Francisco and T. D. Crane of Omaha. Among the guests were Mrs. Brownlee, Mrs. Tuttle, Mrs. R. R. Hoge, Mrs. William Read, Mrs. Dawson, Miss Hallahan, Manager Harbaugh and L. C. Leonard. Marcus Daly accompanied the excursionists as far as Helena. Lunch and dinner were served on the car by waiters from the dining-rooms of the Montana. The dinner was dainty and as ever tourists desire. A visit was paid to the Broadwater hotel, to which the special car was drawn. The hotel and its magnificent surroundings were inspected and greatly admired. On the return trip Mr. Brownlee, Mr. Tuttle and Superintendent Law joined the party. The occasion was heartily enjoyed by all.

A Legal Medley.

Judge Fitzpatrick had before him yesterday two cases in which the same parties were principals. The participants were all from Mill Creek. First came C. B. Smith, who accused John Kozar, "Steve" White and Mike Bludsoe of disturbing the peace and quiet of his home. The charge was fastened on White, and his honor gave him fifteen days in the county jail and costs.

Mrs. Chamber of this city then stepped in and made complaint against Kozar and White for obtaining money under false pretenses. Kozar proved to be the offender in this case, the evidence showing that he had sold complainant a load of wood that did not belong to him. Subsequently the rightful owner came and took it away. The judge gave Kozar ten days and costs, but as the complainant was poor and the culprit desired to make her loss good, the court suspended sentence to enable him to do so. He left the legal presence vowing to furnish Mrs. Chamber a load of wood that he could prove title to, and as his guarantee was good the judge accepted it.

At Piney Point.

The run of talk regarding the ultimate removal of the Anaconda cemetery is kept up in a quiet way. The STANDARD finds that there are 246 graves in the cemetery, only 150 of which are marked in a substantial manner. In lots inclosed with a fence are 61 graves, 24 of which are marked with tombstones, 13 having monuments of pretension. Thirty-five of the graves in inclosed lots are unmarked by marble memorials.

Shows in Figures.

C. M. Parr's stock assets figure up $2,267.51, and it is thought his available book accounts will aggregate $800, which will bring the total assets up to $3,067.51. The liabilities are somewhat less than that figure. So his creditors will fare very well, and it is believed that an arrangement will be made whereby Mr. Parr will continue in business.

"Hurrah for Oklahoma!" is the latest cry in the city, and the stream to its hospitable sidewalk is continuous. Ike's door is nothing more than a flap, but it is ever open to the thirsty.

ALL GETTING IN LINE

Last Night's Enthusiastic Rally of the Democratic Clubs.

Three Good Speakers and an Immense Meeting of Voters—Live Campaign Topics Presented in Earnest Addresses—The Clubs out on Parade.

The democratic club of Carroll came up town last night to participate with the Anaconda club in the festivities of the occasion. An attractive torchlight procession numbering upwards of 350 voters, started from Evans hall at 8 o'clock and made a tour of some of the principal streets, which were thronged with enthusiastic spectators. The band played its prettiest, and by the time the parade was on its return to the scene of the speaking the hall was filling rapidly. When the orators came upon the stage they faced an audience as splendid in its proportions as it was intelligent, attentive and thoroughly interested.

S. Dougherty, president of the Anaconda democratic club, called the meeting to order and introduced the first speaker, Frank E. Corbett of Butte. Mr. Corbett said that man was qualified to address the assembly because he was a democrat, because of his faith in the principles of the democratic party, he was that man. He was a democrat first, last and all the time. This campaign was one of vital importance, not so much on account of party issues, as on account of the question what is the best thing for the territory to do for itself.

"We are," continued Mr. Corbett, "to decide whether Montana shall go into the democratic or republican column of states, to render a verdict as to whether or not Montana shall be swayed by the lust of republican government, or shall stand free and untrammelled under the flag of the democratic party. Each and every one of us must be up and active. What though it costs us a few days or a few weeks, if we are able on the night of October 1 to telegraph the national committee that Montana has chosen the democratic party, has renewed her devotion to the splendid cause." The speaker then briefly traced the political history of Montana, observing that experience was the best teacher.

With two exceptions the people of Montana have, since its inception as a territory, twenty-two or twenty-three years ago, entrusted the control of its affairs to the democracy. The speaker challenged anyone to produce a more prosperous, a more happy people. The laws and the system of government inaugurated under democratic control, and under the best possible satisfaction. With all debts paid the democratic party left $150,000 surplus in the treasury when the republicans took control. The very first thing the republicans did was to enact a law which brought hardship upon each and every voter, and to dissipate the surplus. Mr. Corbett said he did not condemn all systems of registration, but the present system is justly condemned by all fair-minded, intelligent men, because it places in the hands of a partisan registry agent, appointed by a prejudiced board, at a salary of $5 a day, the right to say whose names shall go on the registration books and whose shall not. He had sat by the hour at the office of the Silver Bow registry, and heard the most outlandish questions put to applicants for registration. The politics of their ancestors for three or four generations back had to be gone over. The registry law imposed upon the agent the duty to register every man who shall qualify under oath. The republicans charge the democratic party with opposing not only the registry law, but the Australian system of voting. The speaker challenged them to find in any democratic platform a single word condemning it. It was a matter of congratulation that the workmen could walk up and deposit their ballots without dictation from any source. Mr. Corbett then read an editorial in the Butte Inter-Ocean, which charged that the responsibility for silver being less than 100 per cent, was fastened upon the republicans. The editorial said that by a foul conspiracy the silver dollar was omitted from the coinage bill of 1873, and that the bill was passed by the republican congress and signed by President Grant in ignorance of such omission. It was the republicans, therefore, who devalued silver. The same paper said that if Secretary Windom wished to, he had the power to issue four millions in silver per month, instead of only two and a half millions, and such friends of the silver interests, why, in the name of common sense don't they issue four millions? If they did, silver would be restored to 100 per cent. Such was heard in Montana nowadays, always "Big Four" supporting the democratic candidates. Now because four men happen to be a little richer than some other men, and happen to be members of the same party, supporting the same candidates, all a mere coincidence, it was pure buncombe to raise this fact as an argument against candidates who were running on their own merits.

Judge W. W. Dixon of Butte, made a speech full of grace, dignity and power. The records of the two parties, he said, were conclusive. Since the war just great national measure has the republican party undertaken? What beneficial enactment has it inaugurated? Our merchant marine has received no fostering care or encouragement. The republicans have failed to provide for the navy. They have fraudulently given government lands to the railroads, they have devalued silver. By an oppressive system of taxation they have accumulated a surplus of millions, which serves as a constant means of fraud and corruption. Trusts and combinations, things never before heard of, have sprung into being under republican encouragement. The republicans make the most profuse promises and, failing to keep them, offer all sorts of excuses. Judge Dixon then showed, at considerable length and energy, the wise enactments undertaken by the democrats, including the Chinese exclusion bill. The tariff reform inaugurated by the democratic house of representatives was headed off by the republican senate. Taxes were raised simply for the purpose of the government by duties and imposts. The democrats maintained that a surplus was unnecessary and proposed to readjust the tariff. The republicans take a few men and protect them and make them rich at the expense of the people. The republicans by their senate bill finally admitted that democrats were right in their demand for a readjustment. But the senate bill did not go far enough. "There is no reason," said Judge Dixon, "why the cotton manufacturers of New England and the iron and steel manufacturers of Pennsylvania should have this protection all to themselves. If it is to be continued, it is to be shared in Montana. We insist on having a share of the chicken pie." Speaking of the democratic administration of Montana, Judge Dixon said that there was a more prosperous country, with laws better administered, property better protected and lower taxes. The republicans on getting into power passed this iniquitous registration law, created new offices, raised the fees of county officers and refused to pass a memorial to congress asking for Montana's admission to the union. Judge Dixon characterized Mr. Carter as a clever man of some ability, but with no experience in public affairs. Nothing in his career shows a respect for the constitution to which he aspires. He rode into office on a tidal wave. His opponent is an old, tried and true democrat, thoroughly experienced at Washington. Major Maginnis. Mr. Power is a man devoted at all times to the accumulation of wealth. In this he has been successful, but there is no reason why his friends should think that he possesses the ability requisite to the office for which he is candidate. Judge Dixon thought that Power had four times as much money as all the candidates on the democratic ticket combined. He enjoined Mr. Toole and Mr. Sturgis in glowing terms. In conclusion Judge Dixon urged his hearers to stand by their friends, paying no attention to republican threats and slurs that the severe slates. The judge was applauded most liberally. C. K. Hardenbrook of Race Track, was the last speaker. He talked briefly and effectively on the main issues of the campaign. Montana, he said, with no protection except on wool, pays the highest wages in the world. Instead of protecting them, the republicans were oppressing the people. Massachusetts with protection, pays lower wages than Montana without it. Mr. Hardenbrook's address, like those of his predecessors, was received with great enthusiasm.

NO CONTRACT YET.

Everybody Asked to Put in a Bid on the Proposed Sewer.

Several contractors were present at the special meeting of the common council held last evening in City Attorney Boardman's office to open the bids on the proposed sewer through Second street. The contractors listened patiently to the transaction of a little preliminary business and there was a buzz of expectancy when the question of the sewer came up, but Alderman Shovlin dampened their interest by moving that the remainder of the meeting be private and that all immediately interested in the bids for the sewer leave the room. This was carried, Aldermen Johnson and Murray voting against it. The Commissioner will therefore and City Engineer Blackford were excused with the rest, since they had also offered bids.

The bids were from City Engineer Blackford, Waldemar Johnson, Stevens, James Clark, Winters & McSherrick, and G. C. Vineyard. They were considerably less than the bids offered at the previous meeting, in fact the bids were a great deal lower. Even this reduction was not satisfactory, and the belief was strongly expressed that the bids should still be reduced $4,000 or $5,000. The amounts of the respective bids were kept secret by the Board. The matter was the subject of an extended discussion, at the conclusion of which motion was made that the clerk readvertise for bids in papers of Anaconda, Butte and Helena; and that separate bids be asked for the 10-foot and the seven-foot portion of the sewer. It was unanimously carried to that effect. The contractor bid on 2,700 feet 10 feet deep, from Hickory street to the eastern limits of the city, and for the 8,000 feet of seven-foot ditch from the eastern limits to the Anaconda company's ditch, the city to furnish the pipe.

County Commissioner Walker asked permission to use one half the street in front of certain buildings for the construction of booths. He said that, according to the Australian system of voting, booths must be built which will require about 35 feet of room outside the polling places. Before adjournment the aldermen discussed the ordinance relating to stoves-pipes. It will be rigidly enforced. Permission was given to erect a platform in front of a building on Main street.

BUILDING NOTES.

Stores and Dwellings Already Under Way or Soon to be Started.

Builders are busy in Anaconda, and contractors are pushing work in order to get everything in good shape while fair weather favors them. The residential improvement during the season and most of the new houses are attractive in design and substantial in construction.

S. C. Kenyon is completing a residence on Cherry street between Sixth and Seventh.

Henry Gilbert has just finished a handsome residence for W. S. Hunt, on West Third street.

Miss Carrie Murphy has just had completed an eight room residence on Cherry street, between Fifth and Sixth. Mayor Mahan has already moved into it.

E. B. Harris is building two handsome cottages on Birch street, between Seventh and Eighth.

Dr. Hough of Butte and Charles E. Winston of this city are now erecting a veneered residence on the alley in the rear of the building on east First street occupied by Swan Young. The same gentleman is also erecting a veneered story brick store 25x50 feet, on the lot on First street between the Stagg building and J. P. Dunn's store. Work on it will be under the supervision of Winston & W.

Three comfortable cottages have just been finished by Dr. Hough at the corner of Eighth and Birch streets.

The building about to be erected by Daniel Dwyer on Main street, between Keppel's store and Dr. Leiser's office, will be two stories in height and sixty feet in length.

William Copinus states that the building he will put up on the corner of Main and First streets will be two stories. He is now waiting to hear from the owners of the adjoining building respecting a partial use of their wall, and as soon as that matter is determined will commence operations.

The addition to the Catholic parsonage is well under way and will be completed soon.

M. S. Aschbach is preparing to make an addition 25x40 feet to his store, on the corner of Main and Birch streets, as a wall paper and carpet room.

The brick-work on the second story of the public school building is half completed. The contractor Hill gives the assurance that his part of the work will be completed by November 1. The new residence for John R. Toole is nearly inclosed and will be one of the most attractive residences in town. A year ago there were very few buildings south of Fourth and east of Main streets, but during the past twelve months there have been at least 40 buildings erected within those limits, most of them of a better class than the old class of dwellings. There are now a group of seven pretty tenement houses, and on Birch near Seventh there has sprung up a group of neat new houses.

"Oklahoma" is still booming. Ike Quinn's cheery face ornaments it at all times, and his friends are cordially invited to call. An elegant line of plushes, only 38 cents, at Estes & Connell Mercantile Co.'s.

FAILED TO MAKE A HIT

Republican Barnstormers Play to Poor Business at Great Falls.

Low Comedy and Blood-Curdling Tragedy That Failed to Bring Forth Applause—Democrats sanguine of Victory.

Special to the Standard. GREAT FALLS, Sept. 14.—The registry list in this town to-night shows 900 names. Compared with the vote cast last November this shows a gain of five votes. The registration indicates an increased vote in the city proper, but shows losses at the smelter where the working force had been reduced. The democrats are gratified at the result of the registration and count confidently on large gains. Returns are lacking from the country districts of Cascade county, but it is known that in the districts where registration was most difficult the democratic electors have done their duty nobly and placed every name on the list. The issue of first and second papers for foreign-born citizens has been large. Both democrats and republicans have availed themselves of the way in which deputy clerks have legally offered them. The registry office will be open tomorrow in accordance with a suggestion from a source in Helena. Col. Sanders and Col. McCutcheon opened this evening to a moderate business. McCutcheon was chosen, while Sanders played the heavy villain. McCutcheon appeared in the face of the "Public Bannoozled." It was full of stale hits at J. K. Toole, but failed to please the gallery. Sanders appeared in the "Chestnut Revived." He imposed on a patient audience and for hours talked on the tariff and told blood-curdling stories of what the democratic conspirators intended. His soliloquy on the registration and new fangled voting laws was funny. He outlined the calamities which the four millionaires were preparing for Montana. He made out that the republicans monopolized all the virtue that was going, and announced at the close that this was possibly his last appearance here this season. This announcement was received with applause.

Judge Race played the part of end man, and looked as gloomy as a pall bearer. McCutcheon and Sanders were called before the curtain and presented with the prizes reserved for those who would fabricate the most absurd yarns of the campaign. Both barnstormers have engaged to appear in September for Salt river.

NOTES FROM DEER LODGE. A Man Wanted for Murder Arrested in Nevada—Other Gossip.

DEER LODGE, Sept. 14.—The sheriff has received word from the state of Nevada of the capture there of Caleb H. Perry, the slayer of William McCoy at Silver Lake about the middle of last June. There seems to be no doubt of the fact that the right man has been arrested, as Perry has been identified by a person who knows him. A requisition has been applied for and in a few days we may expect to have Perry behind the bars in Deer Lodge.

John K. King, assessor, says that the assessment roll of Deer Lodge county will amount to about seven millions eight hundred thousand dollars.

The case of Albert R. Allen, arrested near Silver Lake and charged with stealing a mare belonging to the Quinlan Bros. of Race Track, was heard on preliminary examination this morning before Probate Judge Emerson. The defendant showed conclusively that he had purchased the horse of another party, besides, the prosecution failed to show that the horse belonged to the Quinlans.

Mrs. Ella Lyon, of Drummond, has purchased lots in Deer Lodge, and will at once erect a residence and remove her children, for better educational facilities.

At 10 o'clock to-night the voters registered amount to 644. The vote last year was 498. The registry agent says he will register any belated travelers to-morrow but their votes will be challenged.

DEER LODGE LICENSES. DEER LODGE, Sept. 14.—The following are the licenses issued for the week ending September 14, 1890, by Lew Coleman, treasurer of Deer Lodge county. This city has had Anaconda, as the deputy treasurer issues the licenses for that place:
