THE WEATHER. The daily record of the thermometer in this city is reported by A. T. Playter, druggist, First street. The record for yesterday was: 7 a. m., 41 degrees; 12 m., 42 degrees; 4 p. m., 76 degrees; 8 p. m., 77 degrees.

ABOUT THE CITY. B. F. Mahan has been appointed to collect all rent for property in this city owned by W. D. Starr.

John Traeten was run over by the horse cart last night. He was taken to his home and medical attendance was summoned.

At the meeting of democrats to be held in this city next Monday night an address will be delivered by Judge Lars M. Rand of Minnesota.

The Estes & Connell Mercantile company received yesterday several carloads of Pennsylvania hard coal, which will be sold at reasonable figures.

Robert Jones, charged with using indecent language and disturbing the peace, was fined $25 and $15.00 costs in police court yesterday. He paid $14 and was allowed to rustle for the balance.

The children of St. Mark's Sunday school will give a festival service this evening at 7:30 o'clock. A special address will be given. Services of this church are held in Odd Fellows' hall.

The platform at the Montana Union depot caught fire last night from a torch used in the procession. An alarm was sounded, but the flames were soon extinguished, with no damage to the property.

AT THEIR WIND-UP. Butte Republicans Fall to Come up to the Democratic Figures. Special to the Standard.

BUTTE, Sept. 28.—The republicans to-night held their final blowout of the campaign. Clubs from Walkerville, Meadorville and other neighboring places joined the local clubs in a torchlight procession, swelling the total number of men in line to exactly 639, exclusive of members of bands. A meeting was held at Turner Hall, addressed by Thomas Carter, candidate for congress. Mr. Carter released the same story that has been used in every republican meeting during the campaign. The hall was filled and the crowd was good natured. Great efforts had been made by republican managers to secure a larger procession than that of the democrats a week ago. In this they failed, as the democratic procession numbered more than ninety men, thus being nearly one-third larger than that of to-night.

TOO COLD FOR COMFORT. A Meeting in Helena Which Even Col. Sanders Could Not Warm Up. Special to the Standard.

HELENA, Sept. 28.—Col. Sanders spoke for two hours to-night in the open air to a fairly good audience. His effort was really grand, but was addressed to the coldest gathering ever attended in Helena. The air was filled with frost and the entire crowd seemed covered with a wet blanket. After seeing this meeting the voter may be surprised by republican managers that may come up for the grand old party in Lewis and Clarke counties. Allusions to Toole and Maginnis were frequently applied to the speaker by republican men at the meeting by announcing a grand demonstration in honor of Carter Monday night. This announcement fell flat on the crowd.

Hurt in an Explosion. Special to the Standard.

GREAT FALLS, Sept. 28.—In the Sand Coulee, this afternoon, an accident occurred in the coal mine. Five men put in a charge of explosive. On withdrawing the tamping needle, it struck a sulphur ball in the coal, causing the charge to explode. Four men were injured. Alex. Anderson lost an eye, by republican manager Michael Toole, who was severely hurt and a Finlander was badly burned. This is the first serious accident at the mines.

Coal. The Montana Lumber & Produce company are now receiving large consignments of Lehigh, stove and nut, Colorado, anthracite and Red Spring of it. They are especially for family use, which they are prepared to furnish to consumers at bottom prices, in small lots or by the car load.

Anaconda Turns Out in Crowds to Greet the Favorites.

ALL THE CLUBS IN LINE

Winners in Next Tuesday's Election Joining in a Rally.

Workmen Marching in the Most Impromptu Procession This Town Ever Saw—All the Issues of the Campaign Taken in Review.

Anaconda was wholly given over to the democrats last night. The officers of the local club had made arrangements for the grandest rally of the campaign, and the enthusiasm of the occasion surpassed anything ever witnessed during the years that have rolled by since the foundations of the city were laid. The march on the banks of Warm Springs creek. Promptly at the appointed time the members of the Anaconda club met the large delegation brought by special train from Carroll and a parade was formed with four brass bands and nine hundred and twenty torch-bearers in line. A tour of the principal streets in town was made, and the scene was inspiring beyond description. Cheers upon cheer greeted Toole and Maginnis as the marching host filed in front of the grand stand. There was no limit to the enthusiasm and it was long before the assembled masses could be brought to silence in preparation for the formal addresses of the evening.

When Chairman Dougherty introduced Joseph K. Toole the cheers were almost deafening. The uproar lasted for several minutes, and no more flattering tribute to the popularity of a candidate could be imagined. Mr. Toole said in substance: "Mr. Chairman and fellow citizens of Anaconda. I am completely surprised at this great demonstration. I always knew that Anaconda could be relied upon in any emergency to produce a solid democratic phalanx, but never until this evening was I aware that it could bring to the front a more inspiring meeting. This, fellow citizens, is the most memorable campaign in the history of the territory of Montana. There are political parties to such an extent but that on next Tuesday they will vote for the party which, in their judgment, will best promote the interests of the new state. It is the duty of every American citizen to ally himself to that party which will do most for the public good. From the origin of Montana in 1864, until January, 1889, all the local affairs of this territory have been in the hands of the democratic party; a period of twenty-four years during which all their acts have been subject to the closest scrutiny and investigation. If it has not stood the test of an honest party, it is your duty to cast your lot with another political party. It has passed a law supplementary to the constitution, which has enlarged the liberty of citizenship and guaranteed the enforcement of the law. It is no experimental business putting the democratic party in power. Not for one or two or three years, but for twenty-five consecutive years it has made a record that is unimpeachable. It has enforced the laws at the possible expense to the people. It has guaranteed to them a minimum of taxation. After twenty-five years of control this young and lusty territory was led by the democratic party up to the standard, with public buildings, school houses, court houses and institutions of which it justly is proud, its credit good, and with $140,000 surplus in its treasury. A change came over the politics of this country in 1888. It was a most unexpected surprise, and to no one more than the republican party. Flushed with victory and filled with desire to get its hands into the public treasury, the republican party took control. Let us see what they did. The first thing was to pass a law increasing by 50 per cent the fees and emoluments of the county officers. There was no public demand for this increase. It had never been urged by the press or the people that the salaries of these officers were incommensurate with the services performed. But they inflicted upon you this burden, for you are compelled to foot the bill. But further, that legislature did this thing utterly disregarding the laws of the land as well as in defiance of popular sentiment. Congress had passed a law that the salary of no officer should be increased during the term of his office. But the republican legislature defeated the law of the land in order to carry out its own selfish purposes. Is such a party fit to be charged with the administration of affairs? Our people had been clamoring loud and long for the time when we might elect a party to full-fledged statehood. They had been curtailed in their rights long enough. Just as this time draws near this republican legislature, ever in the unscrupulous registration law, an act to disfranchise the people on the frontier, the miners and the stockraisers. Away from the cities and towns along the railway these men have been compelled to travel from 25 to 100 miles to put their names on the register. They have been paid to do this, and the expense by the legislature, which instead of curtailing citizenship should have done all that would properly enlarge it. The republican party pledges itself to favor this in the legislative assembly and everything is being done to protect the purity of the ballot, and the assertions of the republicans to the contrary are deliberate falsifications. In two short months the republicans have spent the $146,000 in the treasury, and instead of Montana going into the Union with money in its pockets it will be, I am informed, four or five thousand dollars in debt. If the past record of the two parties is any guarantee, the people of this county will be willing to unite with us in making this shift of state a democratic craft, emanating from those who storn with democratic official. This enthusiasm here is but an echo of what is heard along the Yellowstone, in eastern Montana. The people are responding with their own unconcealed voice. Last year was an off year. The democratic party was then on a strike, but all are back in the fold now, even to the good men. The late night party made it possible for me to-night to address you in the capacity of a candidate for a state office. In 1888 the people sick and tired of being dominated by the powers at Washington, sought admission to the union. A convention met at Helena to further the project. At that time was the territory's delegate, and it took that bill to the president and both houses of congress. Montana was then as usual democratic. It was born this way. At that time the republican party which had always been republican in both ways of three exceptions was seeking admission, and its delegate, Mr. Charles S. Voorhees, was elected on that platform. The late night party was at the head of the senate committee on cities. He took the bill for the admission of Montana and shoved it into a pigeon-hole, there to stand for a long time. He impudently the senators day after day, setting forth the resources and development of Montana and the patriotism of her citizens, and carried to the floor. I went to Voorhees and asked him to introduce an amendment to his Washington bill, identical in every way with it, and simply substituting Montana for Washington. He refused to do so, without disturbing the political phase of affairs, both territories might enter the Union together. Mr. Toole here read from the Congressional Record the following "Siamese twins" objection to the bill, and Senator Butler's reply that Montana possessed all that was necessary to statehood and should not be treated as a territory. Mr. Harrison raised. Remember, continued Mr. Toole, that Harrison's only objection was on the ground that two states should not be admitted under the same bill. Now when congress met at the last session a bill came up in the senate for the admission of South Dakota. The democratic evidence of New Mexico was the sentiment of the party that both the Dakotas, with Montana, Washington and New Mexico should be admitted. The republican orators can clamor as much as they please against the democrats voting against our admission, the truths of history remain. New Mexico was eliminated from that bill by the republicans on an absurd ground that her people were dominated by Mexicans. We went to our democratic friends and begged them to stand by us. They refused to do so. It was being practiced towards New Mexico, and twenty-two or twenty-three democratic congressmen did come to our rescue. Mr. Carter pointed out that we must vote only these twenty-two or twenty-three votes, but the reasons of the others were based on honest considerations. Do you know the history of New Mexico? In 1876 New Mexico was a republican territory and its delegate was Stephen B. Elkins. The senate passed a bill admitting it to the Union. The bill came up in the house and the republicans were in a majority, and it was lost, although it received a majority of the votes. The republicans then supported New Mexico's admission to the Union. The republicans changed of heart and have since been ardently democratic. Its population and wealth has been increased, its laws are enforced, and it has all the essentials of a state. But the republicans say she is disqualified from becoming a state. Now when we were seeking so hard to gain admission last winter, we were not so particular. What do you say? A memorial petitioning congress to admit Montana was laid on the table by Montana's republican legislature by a strict party vote of thirty-eight yeas and for it. What position was I in at Washington?

I was met by congressmen, who said that I had been representing to them that Montana was a republican territory and they wanted to know what this refusal of Montana's legislature to pass the memorial meant. What could I say? About this time the republican party was in a record was as clear as when he went in. And after all these years having retired from politics, he comes forth again to enter the arena of his party, like Caisus Coriolanus in the white robe of purity, asking for your suffrages. The democratic party is the firm friend of the people that the republican party is and unlimited coinage of silver. The republicans hold forth nothing but a hollow and an empty promise. Up to 1872 the joint duties of the republican party had never been assailed. The republicans struck down silver by passing a bill demonetizing it." Mr. Toole here gave an accurate and comprehensive review of the legislative record of the republican party, and continuing, said: "If these professed friends of silver mean what they say why does not the republican president of the United States, who is such a party secretary of the treasury enforce the law? They do not even coin silver up to two millions, the minimum amount established by the constitution. In August the coinage was less than one million. Yet the republicans proclaim that Grover Cleveland favored the demonetization of silver. But the democratic party gave him to understand that he did not reflect the sentiments of the democratic party. But have the republicans the fairness to let the people to vote for Thur, and Garfield and Hayes and Grover called for the suspension of the coinage of silver. Mr. Toole next dwelt upon the Chinese question which was the subject of lead ore from Mexico, and how Edmunds as the head of the senate judiciary committee, refused to override the Executive veto of the Chinese question, and other republican holders of Mexican property could have their say Harrison and Windom would do nothing to alter the present condition of affairs, as regards the Mexican ore. Speaking of the republican grant of a strip of territory 40 miles wide to the Northern Pacific railroad, Mr. Toole showed how settlers had to pay $100 an acre to the company for it, the government receiving nothing. Was that a friendly act to the people? Harrison's unsatisfactory attitude towards the Chinese question was next gone over by the brilliant speaker. Harrison was no sooner inaugurated than a construction was put on the Chinese restriction act passed by the democratic administration, nullifying it in effect and allowing the Chinese to pour into the country as before. The democratic party always said since the Chinese came to this country they wish to become American citizens, but keep out those who have no such intention and who do not need to be identified with us and of industry and constitution for his bidden convict labor from coming into conflict with free American labor. The democratic party honored labor, and had complimented it by taking from its ranks a candidate for state auditor, Mr. Fitzgerald. Continuing, Mr. Toole said: "The republican party having been pressed to the wall for ten days past have abandoned the discussion of the issues of the campaign, and through their lickspittles who blew into this country in an evil hour, have been engaged in making sage attacks upon the characters and reputations of men whose lives and energies have been devoted to building up and developing this great country. In an attempt to win the support of the people the unpardonable lie that the state central committee were proposing to send out libelous matter against one of their candidates, and in less than twenty-four hours the republican party were forced to swallow their own vomit. A new attack was ordered and imported orators are sent here to try to win the support of the people. The manhood of our mountain men has asserted itself and the purchased orations which were directed at the people and the aene of mean motives is reached and a personal attack is made upon your respected and public-spirited citizen who has the honor of your city and the prosperity which surrounds you. He is accused of intimidating men in his employ and with originating a scheme to prevent republicans from voting at the coming election. The republicans have indicted Marcus Daly before these people in his own home. They have sought to tear down the reputation of the men of industry and integrity have made. The trial is on and you are the jury. He has marched up and down the hills with many dogs and has been seen to lead a pack of his word is as good as his bond. Labor had its reward and fortune smiled upon honest endeavor. He won his way to the top of the hills and stands this magnificent edifice, a monument to his liberty and generosity, and here around me stretches out this beautiful city upon the bosom of your valley that stands ready to testify to his unexampled enterprise and public spirit, and within sight are the burning lights of industry giving employment to thousands of men, and all ready to testify to the success of a successful issue under the management of the man now defamed and abused by the republicans of Montana. They prepared an indictment and the trial is on for Tuesday. What will the verdict be? Men of Anaconda you are the jury and you are the witnesses. Will you join hands with the political hyenas and jackals who would destroy and disgrace your friend and citizen, or will you return a verdict that shall vindicate him before his countrymen? Your votes on Tuesday will indicate your verdict. I am a believer in honest and untrammelled election—before me are thousands of men, has Mr. Daly intimidated or bribed his way to the top of the hill? What will the verdict be? Men of Anaconda you are the jury and you are the witnesses. Will you join hands with the political hyenas and jackals who would destroy and disgrace your friend and citizen, or will you return a verdict that shall vindicate him before his countrymen? Your votes on Tuesday will indicate your verdict.
