

NOVEMBER.

Table with columns S, M, T, W, T, F, S and rows of numbers representing a calendar for November.

TRAVELER'S GUIDE.

TRAINS ARRIVE. 11:50 A. M.—From the South, East and West—Leaves Butte at 10:35 A. M., Silver Bow 10:50 A. M., Garrison 11:30 A. M., Stuart 11:55 A. M.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

DEPART DAILY FOR Deer Lodge, Helena and points North and West of Helena. 8:00 A. M. Butte City, Mont. 8:05 A. M. Butte, Helena, Deer Lodge, Stuart and Missoula. 8:25 A. M.

MAILS ARRIVE DAILY FROM

East and West of Helena. 11:35 A. M. Helena and Deer Lodge. 11:35 A. M. Butte City, Mont. 6:30 P. M. All points North and East of Butte. 7:15 P. M. All points North and West of Garrison. 7:50 P. M. Carroll. 8:30 P. M. Cable and Pyrites, 4:00 P. M. Tuesdays, Thursday, Saturday.

THE WEATHER.

The daily record of the thermometer in this city is reported by A. T. Playter, druggist, First street. The record for yesterday was 7 a. m., 27 degrees; 12 m., 38 degrees; 4 p. m., 64 degrees; 8 p. m., 49 degrees.

Subscriptions to the Standard will be received at the business office, or at the store of Crockett & King, Main street. Advertising rates can be learned at the business office, Standard Building, corner of Main and Third streets.

ABOUT THE CITY.

Yesterday fourteen bars of bullion were shipped from this city by the Anaconda smelting works.

Michael McAndrews of Butte grossly abused and maltreated a boot-black who was giving him a shave yesterday. He will go to the county jail for 30 days.

John S. Richards was charged in the police court yesterday with disturbing the peace. He was fined $5. A stranger was convicted of the same offense and fined $5.

A mule of an inquiring turn of mind undertook to inspect work on the new sewer yesterday and finally fell into the trench in Second street. It took two hours' time and a gang of men to get him out of the scrape.

Anaconda's Acquisition.

Monday next will see the opening of George B. Temple's new store in the Montana Hotel corner. Mr. Temple brings to Anaconda a superb stock of men's furnishing goods, complete in every detail.

Aechheim's Big Sale.

Aechheim has a special sale to-day which will undoubtedly draw crowds. There are bargains in children's clothing at Aechheim's to-day more tempting than anything in that line this city ever saw.

Their First Reception.

The reception given last evening at the Montana was a brilliant introduction for the series of companies which the Lowland club propose to give during the winter.

It's a Go To-Night.

A capital evening is promised at the Montana to-night, when an entertainment will be given by the Wesley Brown Minstrel troupe.

A full line of paints and brushes of all kinds can be found at A. T. Playter's drug store.

A. T. Playter has just received a large stock of paints and window glass.

Estes & Connell's $5.00 ladies' cloak is worth $9.00.

Brussels carpet 50c at Estes & Connell's.

Look at bargains in hosiery at Loeue & Maxwell's.

All-wool ladies' cloth 25c. at Estes & Connell's.

Pure drugs at A. T. Playter's drug store.

Look at the bargains in underwear at Loeue & Maxwell's.

AFTER THE BIG BATTLE.

Knowles and Campbell appear to have lost interest in the tunnel job.

The Ancient Expounder of Blackstone Says He Would Like to Get Shaved—Yesterday's Proceedings in the District Court.

Special to the Standard.

BUTTE, Nov. 1.—For the first time since the election trial began the crowd of spectators at the court room this morning was very small. Interest in the fight seems to be lagging. Even the lawyers not actually employed in the case did not attend the hearing this morning.

There were no expert motions and the court proceeded to take up the business of the day. Thompson Campbell said he desired to submit a motion for a continuance of the case until the next day.

Mr. Campbell proceeded to take up the case of the third alternative writ of mandamus issued by Judge DeWolfe to compel the canvassing board to count the returns from precinct 34 in the interests of Courtney, Dusseault, Gilligan and Hagan.

The court then said he would award the same order for a peremptory writ of mandamus as in the McHatton case.

The court adjourned until 4:30 o'clock to give counsel time to prepare the papers.

Notes From Deer Lodge. Special Correspondence of the Standard.

G. B. Winston, attorney at law of Anaconda, came down on business yesterday. Col. Geo. W. Morse and Mr. J. D. Walden were present at the meeting of the board of county commissioners.

Miss Maggie Wolfe, county superintendent of schools, returned from a trip to the school at Sunset in the north-west part of the county.

Miss Bertie Robinson, daughter of Hon. J. C. Robinson, who is handling some chemicals at the college, accidentally split some phosphorus upon her hands and burnt them so badly that the skin peeled off.

At the Churches.

St. Mark's church, Episcopal, will hold service in Odd Fellows hall to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

In the Presbyterian church services are held at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 12:30 p. m.

Methodist church, South, services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 12:30 p. m.

Robbed of $110. A man named Wilson lay down in the alley back of the Main street saloons Thursday night to recover from his jag.

Yesterday morning he complained to the police that he had been robbed of $110, which he was carrying in his hip pocket.

His story is probably true, as he was known to have had a good-sized roll of bills Thursday night.

SILVER BOW RETURNS.

They are Received at Helena But Not Canvassed by the Territorial Board.

Republicans Say They Will Throw Out—The Vote of Deer Lodge County to be Attacked—What Mr. Hall Will Do.

Special to the Standard.

HELENA, Nov. 1.—The state canvassing board held two short sessions today, but did nothing except canvass the returns from Choteau which came this morning.

Republicans here to-night say these returns will be thrown out, but nothing definite is known as to the views of the canvassers.

O'Bannon, Marshal Irwin, and Judge Galbraith were on hand watching things and it is believed they intend to object to the vote of Deer Lodge before the canvass is closed, but they did not show their hand and would not divulge their game.

Tom Power was whispering with O'Bannon and seemed greatly comforted by what the latter told him.

Secretary Walker and Russell Harrison sent a long message to the president to-night on the situation.

Will Not Obey the Mandate.

BUTTE, Nov. 1.—It is stated by friends of William E. Hall to-night that he positively will not obey the peremptory mandate of the court to count the vote of precinct 34, and is prepared and willing to go to jail for contempt of court.

HONORABLY DISCHARGED.

Two Policemen Arrested on the Charge of Being Drunken Prisoners.

BUTTE, Nov. 1.—The novelty of the arrest of two policemen was experienced in this city today.

Charles Williams was arrested last night for being drunk and asleep on the corner of Main and Adams streets.

When the court met at 2 o'clock, Judge McConnell desired to amend the second line of the writ of mandamus by changing the word "general" to "legislative."

The court then said he would award the same order for a peremptory writ of mandamus as in the McHatton case.

The court adjourned until 4:30 o'clock to give counsel time to prepare the papers.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

On receiving the charges made by Officers Waits and Leland were thoroughly ventilated in the police court to-night.

HIS FOOT SLIPPED.

A Stranger in Stepping Out of an Engine's Way Falls Head First and is Killed.

About 5:30 o'clock last evening an unknown man was struck by the engine of a freight train at Mill Creek, about four miles east of the city, and was instantly killed.

It appears that he was walking on the track in the direction of the approaching train. He kept on until he was within a short distance of the engine, when he stepped aside.

His foot slipped on the embankment along which the track runs at this point, and he fell backwards, his head extending over the track.

The beam of the engine struck him in the face and forehead. Death was instantaneous. The body was brought to Undertaker Elmer's early in the evening.

where it now lies. Coroner Paer was notified and came here last night. He and Deputy Sheriff McCarthy were unable to discover the man's identity last night.

An inquest will be held this morning. The features of the dead man are so badly bruised that it will be difficult to give a description of them.

From appearances he was a working man, of medium size, dark hair and mustache. It is impossible to form any approximate estimate of his age. The clothes are of a dark, coarse material.

THREW HIS WEALTH AWAY.

Having Made a Fortune in Australia, an Englishman Returns to Die a Pauper.

From the Liverpool Post. A most eccentric man has just died at Grantham. He went to Australia some twenty-five years ago and returned home in 1855 with a large fortune, which he began spending very freely.

He purchased valuable articles and invariably destroyed them. A gold watch was smashed up the moment it was bought, the back of a silver watch was wrenched off so as to be more convenient for winding up.

The straw was taken out of a new mattress for pig bedding, springs taken out of a new easy chair, shelves out of the house for firewood, clocks broken up and thrown away, bread burned daily in the fire, legs of mutton and sides of bacon were buried in the garden, valuable plants and trees were bought and chopped up.

He built a greenhouse and knocked it to pieces. A little pig that refused to be driven up stairs, where a bed had been prepared for it with great care, had its career ended by a blow on the head with a hammer.

Struck It Rich.

From the Detroit Free Press. Two Boston men have laid the foundations for big fortunes. One has invented a cookie which a boy can eat in bed without any crumbs falling on the sheets, and the other has brought out a wire holder to be fastened on the bed post to receive a quilt of gum and keep it safely.

Two Objects.

Charming Widow: And what are you doing now-a-days? He: Oh, amusing myself; looking out for number one. And you? "Looking out for number two."

A Boomerang.

Hardpush: Got a new conundrum, Dollyerly. If I ask you for ten cents, what time is it? Dollyerly: It's time for me to say no.

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

A ROYAL BREWERY.

Beck's, and Heineken Writing in Line for a Glass of Beer.

Yesterday the entire city was in a state of turmoil and uproar in honor of the tri-centennial anniversary of the foundation of the Hofbrauhaus, or Royal Brewery.

It was established on the 27th of September, 1583, by Duke William of Bavaria, and has become one of the national institutions of the country.

No one who has not visited Munich can form any idea of the grimy, dingy tavern in which the Royal Court beer has been retained for the last 300 years, and which forms part of the Alte Hof, as the ancient palace of the dukes of Bavaria is called.

There are no waiters, nor waitresses, everybody being expected to attend to his own wants. It is a common sight to see colonels, and even generals, in full uniform, take their places in line, often behind a chimney-sweep or a scavenger, and wait their turn for a stone mug, and then proceed to rinse it themselves at the tank before again forming in line for the purpose of having it filled.

They then take their places at the rough deal tables, which have done service from time immemorial, and purchase from the vendors present slices of wurst and schwarzbrot.

It will naturally surprise most people that great personages should be ready to put up with such trouble and discomfort for the sake of a mere mug of beer. A draught of the latter, however, is all that is required by way of explanation.

The royal and every way worthy of the ancient Dynasty of Wittelsbach, which produces it. Nowhere else in the world is it possible to obtain such beer, the recipe for which was obtained by the duel founder from the famous brewer, Degenberg, and has been kept a state secret ever since.

The net profit of the Hofbrauhaus—the beer sold only sold at retail, and drunk on the premises—amounts to about $800,000 or $1,000,000 per annum, and constitutes an important source of private revenue to the reigning sovereign of Bavaria.

What He Would Fight With.

From the Mason Telegraph. Colonel Robert Lewis, representative from Hancock, tells the story of a duel in which he was to act as one of the principals. He was then paying devoted attentions to a young lady, and had a rival as devoted as himself.

The rival grew quarrelsome, and his feelings, of which he possessed as fine an assortment as any duelist that ever stood on the field, were hurt by something that Colonel Lewis had said. He sent a "friend" to see his enemy. A card was handed to Colonel Lewis which read about as follows: "You have invited me and I demand satisfaction. You may choose the weapons we shall fight with. Shall they be pistols, shot-guns, bowie-knives, or what?"

To this card Colonel Lewis replied briefly that he would fight him with "what." "We haven't fought yet," said Colonel Bob. "I don't suppose they have yet invented the weapon I wanted to fight with. But every time I see that man in a crowd I can run him away—we are good friends now—by asking him if he still wants to fight."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

A ROYAL BREWERY.

Beck's, and Heineken Writing in Line for a Glass of Beer.

Yesterday the entire city was in a state of turmoil and uproar in honor of the tri-centennial anniversary of the foundation of the Hofbrauhaus, or Royal Brewery.

It was established on the 27th of September, 1583, by Duke William of Bavaria, and has become one of the national institutions of the country.

No one who has not visited Munich can form any idea of the grimy, dingy tavern in which the Royal Court beer has been retained for the last 300 years, and which forms part of the Alte Hof, as the ancient palace of the dukes of Bavaria is called.

There are no waiters, nor waitresses, everybody being expected to attend to his own wants. It is a common sight to see colonels, and even generals, in full uniform, take their places in line, often behind a chimney-sweep or a scavenger, and wait their turn for a stone mug, and then proceed to rinse it themselves at the tank before again forming in line for the purpose of having it filled.

They then take their places at the rough deal tables, which have done service from time immemorial, and purchase from the vendors present slices of wurst and schwarzbrot.

It will naturally surprise most people that great personages should be ready to put up with such trouble and discomfort for the sake of a mere mug of beer. A draught of the latter, however, is all that is required by way of explanation.

The royal and every way worthy of the ancient Dynasty of Wittelsbach, which produces it. Nowhere else in the world is it possible to obtain such beer, the recipe for which was obtained by the duel founder from the famous brewer, Degenberg, and has been kept a state secret ever since.

The net profit of the Hofbrauhaus—the beer sold only sold at retail, and drunk on the premises—amounts to about $800,000 or $1,000,000 per annum, and constitutes an important source of private revenue to the reigning sovereign of Bavaria.

What He Would Fight With.

From the Mason Telegraph. Colonel Robert Lewis, representative from Hancock, tells the story of a duel in which he was to act as one of the principals. He was then paying devoted attentions to a young lady, and had a rival as devoted as himself.

The rival grew quarrelsome, and his feelings, of which he possessed as fine an assortment as any duelist that ever stood on the field, were hurt by something that Colonel Lewis had said. He sent a "friend" to see his enemy. A card was handed to Colonel Lewis which read about as follows: "You have invited me and I demand satisfaction. You may choose the weapons we shall fight with. Shall they be pistols, shot-guns, bowie-knives, or what?"

To this card Colonel Lewis replied briefly that he would fight him with "what." "We haven't fought yet," said Colonel Bob. "I don't suppose they have yet invented the weapon I wanted to fight with. But every time I see that man in a crowd I can run him away—we are good friends now—by asking him if he still wants to fight."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

Quite Popular.

Parker—Did Simpson go along with you to Oklahoma, Tucker; I've forgotten. Tucker (just from Oklahoma)—Yes, he went out there as a politician.

"Followers?" He did that. Why they say it was the largest funeral the place ever knew."

D. J. Hennessy Mercantile Co

Are Now Showing the Finest Line of Silks, Plushes, Fancy and Plain

DRESS GOODS ETC.

Ever yet brought to this city.

NO DRESS IS COMPLETE UNLESS IT IS WELL TRIMMED.

We Have Just Received an Eastern Importation in the Very Latest Novelties in Trimmings.

HOLIDAY GOODS!

It is a little early to think about these goods, but call and look over our line. It is no trouble to show them and it will be worth your while.

We are making a special effort this fall to meet the demands of our customers in the NOTION LINE, and with our COMPLETE STOCK feel confident of success.

We invite inspection. Respectfully, D. J. HENNESSY MERCANTILE CO

Corner Oak and First Streets.