THE WEATHER.

The daily record of the thermometer in this city is reported by A. T. Playter, druggist, First street. The record for yesterday was: 7 a. m., 29 degrees; 12 m., 40 degrees; 4 p. m., 37 degrees; 8 p. m., 24 degrees.

Subscriptions to the Standard will be received at the business office, or at the store of Crockett & King, Main street. Advertising rates can be learned at the business office, Standard Building, corner of Main and Third streets.

ABOUT THE CITY.

A large force of extra men landed in town yesterday to push the railroad construction work on the new high-line.

General Manager Baldwin has made arrangements at St. Ann's hospital, in this city, for the care of injured persons in the employ of the Montana Union railroad.

Andrew King, a light weight of this city, desires the STANDARD to say that he will fight either the Boulder Kid or Harry Mitchell for $150 a side or any other sum.

A new fire-engine house has been built at the upper works. It is arranged on approved plans to secure quick hitching. When it is completed the steamer can reach any point in the city in much shorter time than was possible under the old arrangement.

The Bandmann company gave a masterly production of "Othello" at Evans opera house last night. Bandmann himself, as usual, acting with a power and brilliance seldom equaled on the stage. "The Night of Narcissus" will be presented. It is a strong play, giving the actor full scope for the exercise of his genius.

What Do You Know about the Superb Pullman Dining Cars which have been recently placed in service via the Union Pacific, "The Overland Route?" They run on the fast Vestibule Express between Council Bluffs and Denver and on "The Limited East Mail" between Council Bluffs and Portland.

If you want to get a sumptuous meal while traveling, don't fail to take the train on which these Diners run. Meals, which cannot be surpassed in any of the first-class hotels in the country, are served in these cars at 75c. each.

HOWLING IN DISGUST

The Crowd at Last Night's Fight Demand Their Money Back.

Mitchell Claims a Foul in the Sixth Round and Refuses to Continue the Battle—The Fight Declared a Draw.

About 150 men came out of the plunge-bath building at 10 o'clock last night, swearing good, round oaths. For a block around the air was heavy with the fumes of sulphur and brimstone. These men said they had been swindled out of a dollar apiece and they wanted their money back.

The fight was advertised to begin at 8:30 o'clock, but it was after 9 before the ceremonies were under way. Prof. Pat Sullivan called the assemblage to order and stated the object of the meeting. The two gladiators appeared and took chairs in their respective corners of the ring, heavy overcoats concealing their nakedness until such time as all was ready.

Jack Hurley was agreed upon for referee. Joe Shadwell and Morg Thomas officiated as seconds for the Kid, and Harry Smith and Dick McGuire performed the same service for Mitchell. Prof. Sullivan and Charlie Keeffe were the timekeepers. When the gloves were tossed into the ring, Deputy Sheriff Stebbins stepped inside, and picking them up, carried them to Chief of Police McKinley and Sheriff Quigley, who tested their weight on the palms of their hands.

First round—Both men sprang quickly to the center, and after a few seconds of cautious feints, the Kid led for Mitchell's wind but fell short. He repeated the attempt with no better result. A little later however, he landed on the Ogdén boy in good style and gained the first knock down. Mitchell got in a little one on his enemy's face, and the men clinched, breaking again at the command of the referee. Mitchell followed up the Kid and the round ended with the Kid under the rope.

Second round—Mitchell reached for his adversary's head, but the Kid made a beautiful dodge, which was liberally applauded. Mitchell received two blows, one on the neck and one on the side of the head, the latter a stinger.

Third round—Anaconda succeeded in administering two vicious thumps on Ogdén's ribs. The referee cautioned Anaconda not to strike so low, but Ogdén said nothing. In this round the Kid made another pretty dodge of a blow aimed at his head. Mitchell began to act on the defensive, and Mitchell followed up the Kid, trying two or three upper cuts which fell short.

Fourth round—Again the Ogdén boy acted purely on the defensive, while the Kid forced the fighting with great spirit and vigor. The men clinched once, but broke away again. Mitchell tapped the Kid once in the face. This round was very tame.

Fifth round—The Kid kept chasing Mitchell around the ring and finally forced him into his corner, where he pounded him once or twice. When Mitchell at last got out of the corner he was knocked over onto the rope. He seemed to think he was safe, in that position, but the Kid was not done, for a second or two he made no effort to recover his feet. The Kid saw his advantage and smashed Mitchell an awful one square in the face. Then there were cries of "foul," but the referee would not have it so.

Sixth round—The Kid seemed to punch Mitchell with care and precision, while Mitchell fell over forwards in such a manner that he rested on one knee and one hand, which position he presently changed so that he was on his hands and knees, with hands free. While he was in this position the Kid smashed him with all his might and main. Mitchell claimed a foul. The referee would not allow it, and Mitchell began to take off his gloves.

The referee said he would not allow a foul on any such monkey work. Neither would he award the fight to the Kid, who ordered the men to get on and fight or he would wash his hands of the whole matter. The crowd fairly howled with disgust and derision. They had come to see blood, and they were disappointed, but very little blood had been shed so far, although Mitchell's lip was bleeding. Mitchell said he would not fight with Hurley as the referee. Hurley withdrew in favor of any man Mitchell and his friends might select for the position. Mitchell rejected this proposition, claiming that he had been fouled, and that he could not get a fair show in Anaconda anyway, as the people were prejudiced against him.

The fight was finally declared a draw, and it was announced that it would be finished on Friday evening. The crowd wanted to know if they would receive tickets to the Friday evening show, but no response was made. They waited around the door demanding their money and cursing the manager, the fighters, and everybody connected with the fizzle until the lights were turned out. The gate receipts, which were to have gone to the winner together with an advertised purse of $200, had been attached by Loese & Maxwell for a debt which the Boulder Kid owed that Mitchell said to a STANDARD reporter that he had purposely acted on the defensive in order to wind the Kid. He said he was certain of accomplishing his purpose if he had a fair show. He said he was fouled five times. In the opinion of the crowd the Kid was altogether too much for him. Good judges said that Mitchell was a whipped man after the third round. Opinion as to the fouls differed, but it was plain enough that the Kid could have done his man if he had given him a chance.

But whatever were the merits of the fight, the crowd were mad—whopping mad. They called the fight a fake and a swindle, and they were about right.

Dr. Schultz, the eminent specialist, of Butte City, will be at the Montana, Anaconda, December 13th to 15th. See new advertisement.

MR. DOUGAN'S PARTNER.

A Missoula Man Tells of a Strange Disappearance Years Ago.

Special to the Standard. MISSOULA, Dec. 11.—The strange story of the finding of a skeleton of a man in Jefferson canyon by men employed in the construction of the Butte & Gallatin railroad, as published in the STANDARD Tuesday, fell under the notice of M. K. Dougan, proprietor of the Missoula flouring mills.

To-night Mr. Dougan called upon a STANDARD reporter and told the following strange story in connection with the finding of the body: In 1875 Dougan and a man named D. W. Walker came to Montana from New York. They were friends and for three years worked together as partners in mines. They worked the Ruby Gulch mine together. In 1875 Walker spent the summer prospecting in Jefferson county and made some money. In the fall he wrote to Dougan saying he had decided to return to his home in the east. Walker also wrote to his parents at Oxford, Chenango county, N. Y., about the same time, stating that he intended starting for home. In September, of that year, Walker dug a well for Amos Calvin, who now runs a ranch in Boulder county, about 20 miles from Butte, and who then kept a stage station there. Towards the end of the month Walker threw his blankets and the waste of some freighters going from Butte to Helena, and went as far as the mouth of the canyon, where he left them. Since then he has never been seen or heard of.

At the time of his disappearance Walker was known to have in his possession about $8,000 in gold dust. The theory has always been that he has been robbed and murdered, though a thorough search failed to discover the body or any trace of the crime. When Dougan read in the STANDARD of the finding of the skeleton he came to the conclusion that it was the body of his former partner, as Walker was last seen in the vicinity where the discovery was made. Walker was 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighed 160 pounds, had several teeth filled with gold, wore gold rimmed spectacles and had a peculiar mark on the top of his head.

An indentation about the size of a silver dollar was very apparent upon the top of the skeleton where there appeared to be some bone. Dougan thinks if the bone found is that of his lost friend he could identify it by these marks, also by the fact that Walker's hair was very fine and flaxen in color. Dougan would like to learn what has been done with the bones. He will probably go to examine them.

"Phillips John, or Phillips the Indian" charge with the murder of John Rumbaugh is on trial in this place. Evidence for the state was all in when court adjourned to-night. The case occupied all day.

W. T. Stone, a brakeman on the Bitter Root branch of the Northern Pacific railway, while coupling cars this morning slipped and broke his leg, badly injuring himself.

An Encouraging mine. The superintendent of the Derwood Mining and Milling Company has brought in some very fine specimens of silver-bearing ore from the Home Stake mine adjoining the Derwood property.

The shaft on this mine is 57 feet deep and the ore body there is 10 to 15 feet thick, and widening as depth is attained. The ore assayed in silver 108 ounces, and 20 per cent copper. This property bids fair to be one of the leading mines in the Derwood district. The Derwood company has taken a lease on this property for the year for $30,000. The property will no doubt keep step with other mines in the Derwood group. The company is making a double compartment shaft by the new year. When completed it will be 150 feet from the surface to the bottom of the shaft. The company has at present 5,000 tons of rich ore on the dump in waiting for their new mill which will be erected early in the spring.

CAUGHT IN MISSOULA

Contractor Hill of Anaconda Has His Trip Cut Short.

He Skipped Out and Neglected to Pay His Partner on the Steer Building—He Confesses His Guilt.

Special to the Standard. MISSOULA, Dec. 11.—John Hill was arrested by Sheriff Houston here to-night in response to a telegram from Deputy Sheriff Stebbins of Anaconda. Hill arrived here on a freight train last night in company with another man. They stopped off at this place to wait for a woman who arrived from the east on tonight's train. Both men were on the platform to meet her. They intended going on to Spokane Falls where the officer arrested Hill. The other man and the woman went to a hotel and registered as Riley and wife.

At 12 o'clock to-night Hill's partner called at the court house, and wanted to bail Hill out, but as the officer did not know what Hill was charged with, they refused to release him. Hill told a STANDARD reporter that he was a contractor and bricklayer in Anaconda. He drew about four hundred dollars upon a contract which he has on the Starr building and started out without paying the men in his employ. He admitted his fault and only expresses regret that he had stopped here instead of getting out of Montana while he had a chance. When arrested Hill became very inignant and claimed that the officers had the wrong man. He threatened them with a stern reprimand if they locked him up. Nevertheless, when once behind the bars, Hill confessed that he was the man wanted. He will be held pending instructions from Anaconda.

Hill was a well-known figure about the streets of this city and was counted a jolly good fellow among his many friends here, who will be surprised at his caper. The woman in the case is Belle Riley, who kept the notorious resort on Hickory street recently destroyed by fire. Her companion is "Bill Riley" a gambler who is well known among the fraternity in this city, who claims to be her husband. Hill was last seen in Anaconda last Saturday, and Riley left here Monday, his alleged wife following yesterday morning. It is said that Hill was intimate with the Riley woman, and Hill's friends say that she is in a measure responsible for the predicament in which he finds himself.

HOME WATCH AND DIAMOND CLUBS. Mr. Keppler Organizing Associations of Great Benefit to Their Members.

At the request of a very large number of patrons, J. C. Keppler has decided to organize home watch and diamond clubs, in order that the people of this city and vicinity may have an opportunity to procure goods upon that satisfactory plan. Soliciting agents of outside clubs have been in the city lately and when it is considered that their commission is necessarily added to the cost of the goods purchased, it will be seen that the home club offers a decided advantage over outside ones, as the agents' commission is done away with, and Mr. Keppler can thus dispose of goods at prices below what the same article can be purchased elsewhere. Another commendable feature of the home club is that it safeguards the interests of the members, whereas outside clubs confine their sales solely to watches and diamonds. The terms are the usual ones, $2 weekly payments. Mr. Keppler is now in readiness to take numbers for a $100 club, a $50 club and a $40 club. For further information apply to J. C. KEPPLER, Leading Jeweler, Anaconda.

Watch Club. We are organizing two watch and diamond clubs, of fifty members each. One requires the payment of one dollar per week and the other of two dollars per week. This manner of buying watches, diamonds and other fine jewelry has become very popular. The small amount required each week places a membership within the reach of everyone, and the money you pay in weekly payments is shown to you in the form of watches and diamonds, and without feeling it a burden you soon have an elegant piece of jewelry, and the best value for the money.

Brutal. "Yes," sobbed the lunatic's widow, "my husband got so deeply involved in the plot of a story he was writing that he could not extricate himself or his characters from it, and he went crazy." "The victim of a vile plot," ejaculated the sympathizing keeper. New underwear, over-shirts, neck wear, hats and caps, boots and shoes, at Estes & Connell's. For cutters, delivery sleighs and bob-sleds, go to the Montana Lumber & Produce Co. At Estes & Connell's the cheapest all wool hosiery every offered for sale in Anaconda. In the heart of the winter season, Estes & Connell Mercantile Co. have made a general out of 10 per cent on their entire line of clothing. See that you get 10 per cent. off on all purchases of clothing. Ladies, at Miss H. V. White's you can get all kinds of stamping done with neatness and dispatch. A large lot of patterns to select from. The latest fall and winter shapes in the celebrated Christy hats, at Estes & Connell's. John V. Petritz Has just received 50,000 cigars which will be placed on the market at reasonable prices. A. T. Playter has just received a large stock of paints and window glass. Crowley makes specialties of turkey dinner and coffee as mother made it. Call and see Estes & Connell's 35 cent plushes. The Manhattan dress shirt was received yesterday at Estes & Connell's. Visiting cards neatly written, at Tripp's Institute. Ladies all wool scarlet underwear at Estes & Connell's for 30 cents.

COMMON SENSE AND FACTS COUNT.

It is a well-known fact that all centers of population, especially mining and railroad centers, where the noise and bustle of trade is rife, have their pleasant suburban residence localities, where families can reside in peace and happy quietness; and BUTTE, THE DENVER OF MONTANA

Has its choice residence suburb at the pleasant and favorably located COLUMBIA CITY. At the end of the motor car line, near the Zoological Gardens, away from all ill influences, noise and smelter smoke, commanding a magnificent view of Summit Valley and the great city of Butte in all its smoke and activity, COLUMBIA CITY is well protected from cold winds. It has a plentiful supply of the best water in Montana, and the invigorating mountain air is always clear and pure. A quarter of a block has been donated for school purposes. In the early spring shade trees will be planted along the streets, and everything done to make it the most pleasant and inviting residence spot in Montana. The lots are now being sold on the monthly payment plan, or cash, at reasonable rates, by
