Topics of General Interest in the Four New States and Elsewhere.

A sad case of destitution and death comes to us from the West Gallatin, near Saleville. It is that of Mrs. James Farro, who died in child-bed on Wednesday night of last week, unattended by any physician, and together with children—eight or nine in number—huddled in a cold and cheerless cabin, destitute of the ordinary necessities, to say nothing of the comforts of life.

The county commissioners yesterday awarded the contracts for the building of the two bridges over Sun river to A. Y. Bayne & Co., of Minneapolis. The bridge across the river at Sun River will be 230 feet long—two spans of 110 feet each—of the best of wrought iron, to cost completed $5,789.70.

At their meeting yesterday the directors of the First National bank of Fort Benton declared a half yearly dividend of five per cent on the capital stock of $100,000. It also has in its surplus fund accrued profits to the amount of $75,000.

The Blackhawk mine at Smith's Camp is proving one of the largest mines ever found in Montana. Levels run 100 feet north and south and 100 feet east and west at the depth of 100 feet has failed to strike either wall, thus demonstrating the ore body to be over 100 feet in width.

It is not improbable, says the La Grande (Ore.) Gazette, that the Blue mountain region abounds in natural gas. A couple of the operators of the Grande Ronde will assert that a peculiar odor was detected along the river above the mill, and one of them applied a match and a flash of fire was the result, burning the proprietor's whiskers.

At present men are at work developing a 15 foot vein of coal that is within one mile of Castle Rock, Ore., and the Advocate claims in the early spring of 1890 not less than 1000 tons of coal will be shipped from Castle Rock daily.

The Chohulump grange at Jefferson, Marion county, Ore., has adopted a set of resolutions, opposing the appropriations by the last legislature of $125,000 for laying out, locating and working on highways, and the members have pledged themselves not to vote for any man who will not promise to use his influence against such legislation.

Two young men living on Cedar creek, Wash., says the Winlock Pilot, who were out hunting, had wounded a deer and were following its trail when they ran into a bear den. As it was getting late in the evening they concluded to go home and go back the next day.

The census of school children in Park county between the ages of 4 and 21 years, compiled by County Superintendent Eva M. Hunter, from reports received from the clerks of the 27 organized school districts in 1889, for whom school money is drawn. This is a very favorable showing compared with last year, there being then in 21 districts 1,119 pupils—a gain of 502 in the county.

Joe Marion, of Frenchtown, is in the city. He says that Frenchtown is preparing for a small sized boom in the spring. Surrounded by a productive country, blessed with good, enterprising citizens, there is no reason why the town should not come to the front as one of the best in Missoula county, as another year it will have railroad advantages equal with any town in the county.

BONDS AND STOCKS.

Ups and Downs in Market Values on the New York Exchange.

New York, Jan. 18.—Trusts supplied all the features there were in the stock market to-day, being again decidedly weak and scoring material declines, while stocks of the regular list were generally extremely dull, but firm, for the greater portion of time but showing irregular and slight changes from last night's prices.

The Duke's Eyeglass. From the San Francisco Argonaut. The Grand Duke Constantin, the most talented and clever member of the imperial family of Romanoff, was wont to disconcert those who were presented to him for the first time. His single eyeglass hung from his neck by an elastic cord, and as soon as ever his interlocutor had embarked on some long-winded speech he would quietly give the elastic an imperceptible twitch which had the effect of sending the eyeglass re-ounding up to his eye, where it remained fixed, without any apparent effort or action on his part.
