FROM THE COEUR D'ALENES

Bonding of Valuable Properties of the Nine Mile District-The Parrot on Sunset Mountain-Copper Market.

It is with pleasure, says the Coeur d'Alene Miner, that it records a most important mining deal, whereby Nine Mile property is bonded for a good figure and insured development work.

Papers have been made out and signed bonding to George W. Hardesty and John D. Sullivan the Mountain Chief and Contact claims. These properties are located on Nine Mile creek, about two and a half miles from Wallace on the east side of the wagon road.

John B. Cameron and Sam Black are owners of the Mountain Chief, one-half interest each. Thirty thousand dollars is the figure on this. The Contact is owned as follows: Sam Black, one-fourth; John B. Cameron, one-eighth; E. D. Carter, one-half; John D. Sullivan, one-eighth. Four men are to be placed at work immediately, and there is to be continuous work.

THE PARROTT.

A Good Strike There Just as Work Was Stopped.

From the Coeur d'Alene Miner.

It appears that work was stopped on the Parrott, one of the big Sunset properties, now under bond to Spokane parties, just at the wrong time.

Information received from a source which is perfectly reliable is to the effect that the last few shots there exposed a fine body of ore. However, at that time all arrangements had been made to close down, and such were the instructions of the company.

IN NINE MILE DISTRICT.

The Outlook for the Coming Season Good-Rich Properties.

Special to the Standard.

MISSOULA, Feb. 10.-A letter received from the Nine Mile mining district says that the outlook there for the coming season is bright. The famous Woods-Larson gold property and the gold property of the San Martina Mining company are looking well.

They have cut across a rich lead in the tunnel. There is also some good silver property on Nine Mile, situated six miles from the above properties. There is a group of seven silver lodes situated on Camp creek. The croppings show from 30 to 100 feet on the surface. There is a cross tunnel on this property 130 feet long which has cut three leads about 15 inches wide, running 15 to 20 ounces in silver, 40 per cent. lead and $4 in gold.

The Copper Market.

From the Engineering and Mining Journal, February 6.

The copper market has been rather flat, principally on account of the rather rapidly declining market in Europe, especially for the speculative sorts. We understand that this decline is mainly due to rather important financial troubles in Paris, which cast a gloom over all the European markets, and copper buying of late been rather easily influenced by the speculative movement, a very heavy decline in it, and G. M. B.'s reached $47.75, or $48.10, for spot and about 10s. higher for three months prompt.

These are the lowest prices since September, 1889, shortly after the collapse of the Societe des Metaux, at that time the visible supplies in Europe being 105,000 tons, while now they are but 57,000 tons. Besides heavy quantities were known then to exist in the United States while stocks here now are only at a normal figure. Statistics are called over as having increased during the second half of January 600 tons, making a total increase for the month of January of about 1,400 tons. Of course as long as there is such an uncertainty and lack of confidence it is but natural that prices must be influenced, but then we can only repeat that the present exceedingly cheap prices for copper cannot last for any length of time, as with consumption going on as at present the supply will not be sufficient, as copper cannot be produced by the majority of companies at a cost that will permit the present values being accepted.

Although our market here has been rather dull, the decline has not been followed. Some isolated sales of Lake copper have taken place at 10.75c., and 10.65c., but exceedingly little is to be had thereat, and most of the sellers ask 10 1/2c. The Calumet & Hecla company is still holding for 11c. Casting copper continues scarce and readily commands 10 3/4c. to 10 1/2c. The exports, especially of refined copper, are very heavy just now.

LONDON NOTES.

Behring Sea Arbitration-Position of the Elder-Delings in Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 10.-In reply to the question asked in the commons this afternoon regarding the Behring sea negotiations, Lowther, parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, said Great Britain and the United States had agreed that France, Italy and Sweden should act as arbitrators of the Behring sea dispute.

Four wrecking steamers are lying along side of the North German-Lloyd steamer, Eider, which stranded on Athfield ledge, Isle of Wight, and they are all taking the cargo from the wreck. An attempt will be made to float the steamer when the cargo is all out.

In a collision to-day with a British steamer, the schooner Railway sunk near Cardiff and three of her crew were drowned.

Eight thousand coal porters of this city are on a strike over a dispute regarding wages.

In the commons to-day Thomas Sexton gave notice that he would move an amendment to the address in reply to the queen's speech, declaring that a majority of the Irish people and their representatives in the commons were convinced of the ability of the imperial parliament to legislate for Ireland in the manner provided by distinctive interests of that country.

Much anxiety is felt in shipping circles as to the safety of the British steamer Sir Walter Raleigh, which sailed from Philadelphia Jan. 12 for Falmouth or Plymouth. Nothing can be heard of her since she started on her voyage.

ANARCHISTS GARROTTED.

Four Men Are Publicly Executed in Madrid.

MADRID, Feb. 10.-The leaders of the anarchists who led the recent attack upon Xeres were garrotted to-day.

The platform on which the men were executed was surrounded by detachments of infantry and cavalry and the route from the jail to the platform was lined with soldiers with loaded rifles. The executions were public and the plaza and streets leading to it were packed with a dense mass of people.

The names of the four men executed are Brignoli, Zarzuela, Lamala and Lebrano. When the prisoners mounted the scaffold they were accompanied by four executioners, by priests and monks. Zarzuela was greatly excited and his demeanor showed that he was terribly frightened, but the other three culprits were calm and resigned. The condemned men were led to chairs, in which the executioners securely bound them. Metal collars were then placed about their necks. Then each executioner took his position at the back of the posts and grasped a powerful leverage operating the garrote. At a given signal each executioner gave a sharp turn to the lever and each of the condemned died instantly. After the executions the spectators, many of whom were friends of the men executed, were bitter in denunciation of the authorities, but there was no sign of disturbance and everything in town was tranquil.

IN A FIT.

LONDON, Feb. 10.-It is reported the Anchor liner Calcedonia from India and the British fruit steamer Valencia went aground on the rocks near Cape Legata in a fog yesterday. Spanish vessels have left Almeria to render assistance if necessary.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

Ups and Downs in Market Values on the Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.-In view of the facts in the coal deal, which were given out to-day, the stock market was a little more active in Reading, both in the stock department and bond list, and slightly more than half the entire business was in Reading stocks. There were many attempts to stimulate the general list, which was comparatively quiet and irregular throughout the day. The general tendency, however, was upward. The close was firm and most active, close to first prices. The net gain in Reading was 6 per cent., but it sold 1 per cent. higher than the best price, and Jersey Central rose 2; distillers, 1 1/2; New England, 1 1/2; Delaware and Hudson and Chicago Gas company, 1; while St. Paul lost 1 1/2.

Sent Him a Cutting Note.

Of course she was provoked when he passed her on the street without stopping to speak to her. He lifted his hat, it is true, but she recalled the time when he would have turned and walked several blocks with her, no matter how pressing his business. Hadn't she been sweethearts a few years before? Why should she be so angry that they had not met for three years so change him? Ought he not to be the more pleased to see her?

The more she thought of it the more she felt that he should have paid her some little attention, if only for the sake of old times, and when she reached home she was so angry that she resolved to make him repent his apparent slight.

The next day he received the following: Mr. Filkins: I believe you have a photograph of me-one that I gave you several years ago in a moment of girlish folly. I have since regretted that I was so thoughtless in such matters. I would like to see it if you will return the photograph at your earliest convenience.

ETHEL DEANE.

She held that it was a cutting note and that it would bring him to his senses if anything would. She told her best friend that she had brought him up with a round turn, but she didn't tell her best friend anything about the following reply which she received:

Miss Deane: If you insist, of course I will do as you wish, but it will be a great deprivation to the baby. The little fellow is passionately fond of pictures, and for nearly six months the photograph of you has been regarded as his especial property. Still my wife says she will take it away from him if you really need it. Very truly, ALBERT FILKINS.

She didn't send for it. She didn't even bow to him when she next met him on the street. She didn't do anything except wonder when he was married and why she was so foolish. -Chicago Tribune.

King Menek of Abyssinia is cultivating the friendship of the president of France. He has just sent a messenger to M. Carnot, offering him as a present two splendid Nubian lions which are now at his court. The same messenger took a letter from the king conferring upon President Carnot the highest decoration of the empire.
