THE WEATHER.

The daily record of the thermometer in this city for yesterday, as reported by C. W. Brandon, was: 7 a. m., 30 degrees above; 12 m., 31 degrees above; 4 p. m., 33 degrees above; 8 p. m., 24 degrees above.

ABOUT THE CITY.

Mrs. Ed Maxwell has gone East to spend a few weeks with friends. The W. C. T. U. will meet this afternoon in the M. E. church. A full attendance is requested. The little child of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Davidson, who was dangerously ill with diphtheria, is recovering. Mrs. Harry Flower and son left for Chicago yesterday afternoon and will be absent about three months, on a visit to friends. It's all right enough for winter to linger in the lap of spring, but there is not wanting evidence hereabouts to show that winter has taken up its permanent residence there. The juvenile Templars will give a butterfly social and entertainment at the Mattie block hall this evening. Admission 25 cents, including supper. Doors open at 7 o'clock. There will be no service in the Presbyterian church on Sabbath, owing to the pastor's absence at the Presbytery meeting in Helena. The Sabbath school will meet at the usual hour, however. Not a little interest is being awakened in the lecture of Rev. Dr. Raleigh to be delivered in the M. E. church next Tuesday on the subject: "The Chinaman as an American Laborer; What Shall We Do With Him?" Last night's dance at Brennan & Gettings' hall was one of the most successful assemblies of the kind ever held there. There was a large number in attendance and the dancing seemed to be enjoyed all the more on account of the wintry appearance of the weather outside. The wayward Dolly Lee, who got drunk a day or so ago and attempted to kick the insulators off the top of the telegraph poles at the corner of Main and First streets, was sentenced yesterday to spend 30 days in the Quigley institute at Deer Lodge. Dolly needs inoculation with chloroform of public decency. She has been spending most of her time in jail of late. John Hatt and George Turner, a colored gentleman, are in a fair way to find themselves denied the right of suffrage in the election next Monday. They are gentlemen of opinions, both of 'em and because they could not make their opinions jibe early yesterday morning, they started in to punnell each other into small chunks. They were in a fair way to accomplish their designs when an officer interfered, and placed both under arrest. They will tell how it happened in the police court today.

NOTICE.

At the last regular meeting of the Deer Lodge Trades and Labor assembly it was resolved that all business men be requested to withdraw their patronage from the Chinese by the 15th of April.

Those who wish to erect buildings will have an opportunity of securing the professional services of N. J. McConnell who is the leading architect of the state. He will be in Anaconda for one week and can be found at room 9, Montana hotel.

Ed Gustafson will open a new restaurant at 316 East First street on Monday morning, April 11th, 1892. He intends to run a first class place. White help only employed.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN

Anaconda's Next Mayor Has Something to Say.

HE IS IN THE RACE TO WIN

The Adventures of a Tenderfoot in a Gambling House—Politics and Poets.

Dan Dwyer, democratic nominee for mayor of this city, returned last night from a 10 days' visit to the eastern part of the state. Mr. Dwyer was seen by a STANDARD reporter shortly after his arrival in the city. "I want to say to the people of Anaconda," said Mr. Dwyer, "that I do not lightly regard the honor they have done me during my absence from the city in nominating me for mayor. It is an honor that I feel I did not deserve, and one which I certainly did not seek. But now that I am in the contest I will use all my own efforts to secure not only my own election, but the election of every man who is on the ticket with me. I am sincerely grateful to the people who have imposed the confidence in me to make me their candidate; if elected I pledge my word that I will use my best endeavors to give this city an honest and impartial administration. I have lived in this city quite a while, and think those who know me will not fear that I would be unjust to any class if elected. I do not pretend to be a statesman, but think I could give the people of Anaconda a satisfactory administration if honored by election. But I do not propose to use any unfair methods to secure my election. I would like my friends to vote for me if they can do so; but I have no strings to pull; the matter is in the hands of the people themselves."

The people's party, or the citizens party, or whatever Commander McCaffery calls the organization led by him, has filled the vacancy on their aldermanic ticket in the Second ward by the nomination of G. Vingar, an old-timer in this city. The commander has had a time of it keeping his men in the ranks. His candidates have shown a disposition to resign, which has greatly distressed him. It's a poor day when there isn't a vacancy on the ticket to fill.

Commander McCaffery is beginning to think he bit off more than he could chew when he contracted to deliver the entire labor vote of this city to the people who promised to elect him chief of police.

Says the Indianapolis News: "There is a serious invasion of everybody's comfort at the theaters here. It is the indefensible habit of grabbing hats, shoes and wraps as a performance nears the end, and the moment, or frequently before the moment, when the bell for the final curtain sounds, to rush for the door." Unfortunately this bad habit is not peculiar to Indianapolis, as any one will testify who goes to the theater in this city. In churches also in this city it is the custom of many unthinking men to annoy every one around them by putting on their overcoats while the benediction is being pronounced. Their object can't be to save time, for they don't get out a moment sooner on account of their unmannerly haste.

Spring is here. By these signs ye shall know it: Wind, Politics, The poets, That tired feeling, Vacuum in the coal bin, Bits of green grass a-showing, Loungers in the street corners, The shop windows full of light fabrics, The frayed look on the men's overcoats, The noisy chatter of the birds in the morning.

The woman's query: "How are you having it made?" The chill of the mornings and evenings and the warmth of the midday sun. Blue birds may be a little scarce, but spring is now all right. Though springtime you hail, since you think it a boon A path through the wild wood to trace, It leads when you think of that dear girl will soon Have freckles all over her face.

It was in a gambling saloon in Butte, The tenderfoot from Chicago had taken to the warpath and announced his determination of relieving a few of the miners of what spare change they happened to have about them. Without much trouble he found a victim who was willing to try a hand or two at poker. Luck favored the stranger from the start, and he won steadily. Finally he drew four aces, and after the stakes had been run up to a comfortable figure he magnanimously refused to bet further. "This is downright robbery," he exclaimed, "and I don't want to end the game here by bankrupting you. So, here goes." He threw down four aces and reached for the money. "Hold on," cried his antagonist, "I'll take care of the dust, if you please." "But I held four aces—see?" "Well, what of it? I've got a looloo." "A what?" "A looloo—three clubs and two diamonds." "The stranger was dazed. 'A looloo?' he repeated. 'Well, what is a looloo, anyway?'" "Three clubs and two diamonds," coolly replied the miner, raking in the stakes. "I guess you aren't accustomed to our poker rules out here?" As he spoke he jerked his thumb toward a pasteboard card which ornamented the wall of the saloon. It read:

A LOOLOO BEATS 4 ACES.

The game proceeded but it was plainly evident that the unsophisticated young tiger hunter had something on his mind. Within five minutes he suddenly braced up, his face was wreathed in smiles, and he began betting once more with his former vigor and recklessness. In fact he staked his last dollar on his hand. Just at this juncture the barkeeper stopped in the midst of the concoction of a Manhattan cocktail and quietly hung up another card behind the bar and above the dazzling array of glasses and bottles. The stranger threw down his cards with an exultant whoop. "It's my time to howl just about now!" he cried, as he reached for the money. "There's a looloo for you—three clubs and two diamonds." "Tut, tut!" exclaimed the miner. "Really this is too bad. You evidently don't understand our rules at all. You certainly don't mean to tell me that you play poker in such a fast and loose, slipshod way down east, do you? Why look at that rule over there." He pointed directly over the head of the busy barkeeper. The Chicagoan read his doom in the handwriting on the wall; it was the Belshazzar case over again. The bit of pasteboard bore this legend:

THE LOOLOO CAN BE PLAYED BUT ONCE A NIGHT.

The young man has not reached home yet, but as the walking is said to be pretty fair nowadays, he will be due in Chicago about the middle of next week.

QUAINT AND CURIOUS.

In Germany the extent of land devoted to agriculture amounts to 78,405,000 acres. There is a colony of darkies in Western Alabama which is ruled over by its own queen.

It is interesting to note that of the 338,000 divorces granted in the United States during the last 20 years 210,000 were granted at the request of wives.

Out of 956 street car plants existing in the United States and Canada 580 are operated by horses, 40 by cables, 246 by electricity and 73 by steam.

There are 955 religious papers in the United States, whose combined circulation is about one-eight of all the newspapers published in the country.

The total sheep stock in Great Britain at the end of last year exceeded by 3,000,000 head the flocks of two years ago, and by more than 4,000,000 the flocks of 1881.

According to Le Patriote, the value of the freemars exported from Belgium during the first year amounted to 22,624,118 francs. Against 16,533,981 in 1890, and 18,088,201 in 1889.

One of the most interesting results of the British occupation of Egypt has been the naturalization of the game of football within earshot of "the murmur of the moving Nile."

The cocoanut trees of Florida are due to nuts washed ashore from a wrecked vessel 16 years ago. Now the state furnishes nearly all the cocoanuts used in the United States.
