GREAT FALLS SOCIETY.

GREAT FALLS, Jan. 5.—The second week of the holidays in a social sense kept pace with the first. To use a trite expression it was a continuous round of pleasure from beginning to end for those who are socially inclined. The custom of making New Year's calls was more generally observed than ever before in the Cataract city. At four residences the lady of the house, assisted by female friends, received during the afternoon and part of the evening. In each case the reception rooms were handsomely decorated, floral and otherwise, while splendid collations were served.

Among those who formally announced in the papers that they would receive were: Mrs. W. T. Pigott, assisted by Miss Blake, Miss Nellie Blake and Miss Broadwater, all of Helena, Miss Ella B. Downing, Miss P. R. R. Gordon, assisted by Mrs. R. S. Ford, Mrs. J. H. Rice, Misses Asby and Raleigh of Helena, Miss Downing, Miss Eva Connor, Miss Sarah Connor; Mrs. Longway, assisted by Mrs. Vidal of Neihart, Mrs. Skinner, Miss Longway; Mrs. Theodore Gibson, assisted by Mrs. A. J. Shores and others.

The leading event of the week, if not of the season, was the ball given in Elks' hall Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pigott, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Weirick and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ford in honor of Miss Blake, Miss Broadwater, Miss Nellie Blake, Miss Asby and Miss Raleigh, five young ladies from Helena who have been visiting here during the holidays.

The floral decorations in the ball room surpassed description. Besides a profusion of hot-house flowers, veritable gems of the florist's skill, there were elegant wreaths of holly suspended from the chandeliers and gracefully festooned upon the walls.

The banquet room adjoining was also tastefully decorated, as were the tables, which were loaded with dainty viands. It would require a column in the STANDARD to do justice to the many elegant costumes worn by the fair sex. Rice's orchestra of three pieces furnished the music. The invited were: Messrs. and Mesdames Parker, Chown, Moore, C. M. Webster, W. Webster, Crutcher, Goodrich, Adams, Rice, Nelson, Taylor, Blauvelt, Bruce, Dunn, Stanford, Vesey, Mattison, Cooley, Gordan, Hatcher, Elms, Huy, Collins, Rogers, Hatcher, Murray, Leslie, Rohr, Phil Gibson, The Gibson, Dickerman, W. His administration of the office for the past four years has been second to that of no other sheriff in the state.

SHE KISSED HIM.

And That Settled the Matter With Her Parents.

A kiss once played an important part in the life of the famous Belgian statesman, Frere-Orban, who is now seriously ill at his country place, says the New York Recorder.

In his youth the future minister was a poor student, bearing the simple name of Frere. He had great difficulty in earning enough money to keep him at the university till he was ready to pass his examination in the department of law.

The young man fell in love with a Fraulein Orban, the daughter of a wealthy and aristocratic family, who opposed his suit.

"If you pass your examination well to-morrow," said Fraulein Orban, on the eve of the trial of her lover, "come to the theater and to the box in which I shall be sitting with my parents."

"Will they allow me?" asked the student.

"I shall see to that," was the determined young woman's answer.

Frere was successful and entered the box in the evening, happy, but frightened. The pretty girl, as soon as he had crossed the threshold, stood up, rushed toward him before a word was spoken, and kissed him heartily on the lips.

The astonished parents were soon informed of the significance of the kiss by the daughter. As many other people had seen the young girl's action, the parents decided to make the best of it and accepted young Frere as a son-in-law on condition that he add Orban to his name. This he did, as a matter of course, and made it famous.

Wanted to Advertise.

From the Gaults. Abraham, the wine merchant, called at the advertising office of a leading paper and inquired if the big advertisement of Traubel, the liquor merchant, which that day figured in the columns of said paper, was going to appear again.

"Oh yes," he thoughtfully replied the clerk. "It has to be kept in for a month."

"In that case," said Abraham, "will you please insert immediately below it the following announcement: 'Abraham Isaac Jacob, wine and liquor merchant, supplies all the wines named in the above advertisement 10 per cent. cheaper?'"

She Is a Woman.

From the Detroit Tribune. See the woman. Is she a beautiful woman? She is a beautiful, a foxy and a married woman.

Is the woman telling her husband that she loves him more than all the world? That is the identical song she is giving him.

Can those sentiments be redeemed with the loud talk she made the other day because they don't sell boxes of cigars in 30-cent stores?

Oh, no. Is she a woman? She is a woman.
