BUSINESS CONVERSATION.

This is the dialogue heard in Courtney's store, 338-310 N. Main St., most every business day in the year.

Customer—Indeed, Mr. Clerk, I am more than satisfied with the last bill of goods you sold me.

Clerk—Yes. Well, I am certainly glad to hear you say so, and would be sorry to have you otherwise than well pleased with our goods.

Customer—When I bought my last bill, I was not sure but that I was paying higher for the goods than I had bought them for elsewhere, but on going home I discovered that I was wrong in so thinking, and indeed as a matter of truth, I must say, that they did not cost me as much.

Clerk—I am prepared to hear you say so, for while we do not claim to sell the cheapest goods, we do claim, and are daily assured by our customers, that we give our patrons as good bargains in our line as can be had anywhere in the market. Our motto is "to afford our patrons protection in the quality and price of goods."
