BUSY BILLINGS PEOPLE

The Last Few Days Have Witnessed Some Interesting Events in Affairs in Eastern Montana.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.

Red Lodge, May 4.—If the number of transfers made every week be a criterion, there is considerable activity in Red Lodge real estate. Mrs. John L. Burns has just bought of the Conrad estate the town hall building and lot on which it stands, paying therefor the ridiculously low price of $225. What is known of the "Conrad estate" is the relic of the Conrad bank, which is now in the hands of a receiver, and everything goes to a cash buyer. It was this estate that made it possible for Carbon county to get a court house on such terms as practically meant a gift to the taxpayers.

Surveyors have been at work all week staking out the streets and corners all over town. This is preparatory to the work of making all the buildings square around to the points of the compass. The new council, who go into office next Monday night, are presumed to be in favor of setting the town to rights at once. The sooner it is done, the better it will be for all concerned.

At the request of the purchasing department of the Northern Pacific, the weighmaster at the Rocky Fork coal mine this week made observations and calculations to determine the number of cubic feet in a ton of coal loaded on the cars. Ten cars were weighed carefully, the cubic contents calculated, and from the average of the whole it was determined that one ton of coal occupies 32.26 cubic feet of space.

County Assessor H. C. Proomse has just started on his job of assessing Carbon county property. He has a big county to go over, but he has a short time to do it in. The new county coming into existence on May 1, he has two months' less time for his work than the assessors of the other counties of the state. Some of the rapid advancement of this county's state may be gathered from the fact that has taken place within the past five years. When Mr. Proomse moved up from the Yellowstone five years ago he did not pass a single house in the whole distance of 44 miles. Now there is a string of improved ranches for the whole distance.

BILLINGS PEOPLE.

Seven Days Have Brought Many Things to Gossip About.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.

Billings, May 4.—Though the weather was so very unpropitious most of the members of the whist club assembled on Friday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCormick, it being the regular evening for their meeting. A number of guests were also present, though several of those invited were, because of the storm, unable to attend.

A delightful evening was spent. The whist prizes were won respectively by Miss Chris Fraser and Dr. Townsend. The lady's prize was a bon bon spoon of exquisitely done gold and silver filigree work; the gentleman's prize was a pack of playing cards in a case of oxidized silver. For those of the guests who did not play whist a halma table had been provided. Mrs. Horace Williston was the most successful player at this game and received in consequence a bottle of perfume in a handsome case. The invited guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Hays, Frank McCormick, J. McCormick, O'Donnell, Townsend and Whitney. Mesdames Clement, Gunwell and Williston, Misses Chapple, Colvin, Chris Fraser, Hayden, Edith Matheson, Beatrix Matheson, Winifred Matheson, Cora McCormick, May McCormick and Nixon, Messrs. George and Spear.

Dr. and Mrs. Chapple gave a very enjoyable little high five party on Saturday evening. Delicious refreshments were served at 11, the party breaking up at midnight. The guests were Misses Chapple, Winifred Matheson, Edith Matheson, Beatrix Matheson, Messrs. J. Chapple, Gray, Johnston, W. Johnston and Setzler.

On Saturday evening a number of Miss Marion Goss' friends got up a surprise party in her honor, the occasion being her birthday. The girls of the party presented her with a very pretty little gold pen with pearl handle. Those present enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Whist was the principal amusement, and Mr. Will Allen, after cutting with Miss Winnie Rixon, became the lucky winner of the prize, a pretty cup and saucer. After the prize was awarded tempting refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Grace Church, Lois Fagaly, Tessie Fisch, Maud Gruwell, Tessie Hirsch, Alice McCormick and Winnie Rixon. Messrs. Will Allen, Lewis Babcock, George Mains, Fred Rixon, Willie Rixon, Wikes and Harry Woods.

Mrs. James McCormick entertained a number of young people in a very delightful manner last Friday evening. Cards and dancing were indulged in, and late in the evening refreshments were served.

THEIR WORK WELL DONE.

Labor's Representatives Spoke Right Out in Meeting.

Special Dispatch to the Standard. Helena, May 5.—The visiting delegates to the State Trades and Labor council, just organized in this city, left today for their homes. This meeting was the best attended and most harmonious gathering of union labor's representatives ever held in this state. Nearly 50 delegates were present, and more than 30 labor organizations were represented. Before adjourning last night the council adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, The country, in the opinion of this convention, is suffering from ill-advised legislation affecting our financial system; and

"Whereas, A majority of the laboring classes of the country are unable to find employment or remuneration for their labor or the products of labor; and

"Whereas, The whole system of our finances seem to be in the interest of the creditor and money-lending class of our people and foreign bankers; and

"Whereas, We believe that the demoralization of silver and the consequent appreciation of gold is directly responsible for these ills; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That this convention pledges its support only to that political party which will pledge in its national platform to rehabilitate silver and restore it to free coinage at the mint of this country, at the ratio of 16 to 1, with gold, and that this country shall act in this matter independent of the action or wishes of any other nation on earth, and we recommend to all laboring and producing citizens of our state to cast their suffrages only for that party which shall pledge itself without equivocation to the enactments of these principles in its national platform, and that will encourage and use every endeavor to promote: 1. Compulsory education. 2. Direct legislation through the referendum. 3. A legal eight-hour work day. 4. Sanitary inspection of the workshop, mill and home. 5. Liability of employers for injury to health or life. 6. Abolition of the contract system in all public work. 7. Abolition of the sweating system. 8. Municipal ownership of water works, street cars, gas and electric light plants. 9. Nationalism of telegraphs, telephones, railroads and mines. 10. Occupancy and use the only title to land. 11. Repeal of conspiracy and penal laws, national and state, affecting workmen. 12. Abolition of the monopoly privilege of issuing money and a system of direct issue to and by the people.

"Resolved, That the delegates to this convention be and are hereby instructed to use all efforts to induce their respective organizations to do all in their power to extend the sale of all classes of union made goods, particularly such as are manufactured in this state.

"Resolved, That the proper state authorities be requested to put a long-distance telephone in the office of the free state employment agency and that every means be given it to make its establishment a complete success.

"Resolved, That we heartily concur with and hereby ratify the principles set forth and adopted in the preamble to our constitution."

Celebrated Man on a Celebrated Railroad. Gen. Lew Wallace, the renowned author, statesman, traveler and author, pays this compliment to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway in the St. Paul Evening News-Record, Oct. 2, 1904.

"I have traveled all over the United States and Europe, but never before have I seen such magnificent train services as I enjoyed on 'The Milwaukee' between Chicago and St. Paul. The private compartment cars are superior to anything of the kind I ever saw."

The trains referred to by the author of "Ben Hur" are vestibuled throughout, heated by steam, lighted by electricity and arranged with the famous electric berth reading lamp.

BUSINESS CONVERSATION.

This is the dialogue heard in Courtney's store, 308-310 N. Main St., most every business day in the year. Customer—Indeed, Mr. Clerk, I am more than satisfied with the last bill of goods you sold me. Clerk—Yes. Well, I am certainly glad to hear you say so, and would be sorry to have you otherwise than well pleased with our goods. Customer—When I bought my last bill, I was not sure but that I was paying higher for the goods than I had bought them for elsewhere, but on going home I discovered that I was wrong in so thinking, and indeed as a matter of truth, I must say, that they did not cost me as much. Clerk—I am prepared to hear you say so, for while we do not claim to sell the cheapest goods, we do claim, and are daily assured by our customers, that we give our patrons as good bargains in our line as can be had anywhere in the market. Our motto is "to afford our patrons protection in the quality and price of goods."
