

THEY'RE HOME AGAIN

The Livingston Boys Tell About the Missoula Game.

UMPIRE THE BEST PLAYER

Champion Garden City Ball Players Are Invited to Meet the Yellowstone Tossers in Another Contest.

Special Correspondence of the Standard. Livingston, Sept. 11.—The Livingston baseball team returned from their glorious trip to Missoula Tuesday morning defeated but not discouraged. The story of their heroic but futile efforts to wrest from the Garden City boys the championship of the Northwest had preceded them, and consequently no ovation awaited the arrival home of the vanquished wielders of the willow from the banks of the classic Yellowstone. Instead of cheers they were greeted with a whole lot of joshing. Some individual having a keen sense of the ludicrous perpetrated a ghastly joke on the returning team by manufacturing a miniature coffin out of a cigar box. This was placed in a conspicuous position in Mike McGilvery's place and strewn with faded flowers. A plain slab served as head stone, and on it appeared the following touching epitaph:

In Memoriam. The Livingston Ball Team. Born June 1st, 1895. Died September 9th, 1895.

Mighty Giants of the Willow Peacefully they slumber Under the same pillow This sad September.

The boys all took a look at the coffin and sighed sadly as they read the inscription on the "marble shaft" erected to their memory. They enjoyed the joke and joined with the crowd in ordering "embalming fluid" and singing an appropriate requiem. But laying aside all joking the Livingston boys did not do so bad in Missoula, after all, considering the odds they had to contend with. They all claim that they would have won the first game had it not been for the unfair decisions of the umpire. As one of the boys expressed it, they "got out ten dead." The umpire shuffled, cut and dealt. He was the best player on the ground. The second game was not so bad as the first, so the boys say, yet the umpire favored the home team whenever he could. The last day's game was umpired by a new man and his decisions were eminently fair, but the visitors were discouraged and disheartened and didn't try to play ball. Even if they won the third game it would do them no good, they had already lost the championship by the superior playing of the umpire. The boys claim they can defeat the Missoulians on their own grounds, with a fair umpire, and any time the champions think this is not so they will give them the opportunity to win or lose $500 by trying conclusions on some other grounds. Aside from the treatment the visitors received during the games, the Livingston boys speak very highly of the hospitable manner in which they had been entertained during their three days' stay in the beautiful metropolis of the Bitter Root valley.

James Leonard, one of the old-time miners and prospectors of Castle, has at last struck a bonanza. It is a silver mine. The ore is not only very rich, but the body is extensive to a phenomenal degree. The mine is situated near Robinson, a small camp four miles north of Castle. Mr. Leonard came in from Castle Tuesday, bringing with him samples of the ore for assay by Assayer Williams of this city. The returns from the assay made at the Livingston office are: Silver, 131 ounces, 65 per cent.; total value, $86.46; lead, 9.7 per cent.; $5.82; per ounce, $92.28 per ton. Even with the present low price of silver, Mr. Leonard has good reason to be elated over his strike. He has been working on the claim for the past eight years, and this is the first assay he has ever had made. He has a tunnel in 150 feet and it follows the lead all the way. Only one wall has been encountered and this is porphyry. The lead is 35 feet wide on the surface. It is an immense body of ore. Mr. Leonard has traced the lead by superficial croppings over the mountain for a distance of 2,000 feet. With a railroad to Castle, and this is assured, the mine will no doubt prove a veritable bonanza.

Ex-Mayor P. H. Tooley of Castle, was in the city Tuesday. He says that it begins to look now as though the grade would have a railroad before long. The company that is building from Toston has a force of about 300 men at work grading, and has completed nearly 16 miles. The company is paying for the work in scrip, redeemable in two years. The paper brings all the way from 70 to 80 cents on the dollar. After Oct. 1 it is the intention of the company to pay employees cash and then a larger force can be secured. "It has been stated all along," said Mr. Tooley, "that the road would reach Castle by Jan. 1 next, but I am convinced that this cannot be done. I think work will be suspended for the winter when the grade reaches Sixteen Mile creek, which is 16 miles from Castle, and that as early as next spring as possible work will be resumed and the road pushed on into Castle by June 1, 1896." The Castle Mining company, of which J. Kennedy Tod, the New York millionaire, is president, is interested in the Castle railroad. From what I have been able to learn the company intends to build to Great Falls by way of Nehalem and Belt. From Toston the road will be built to Butte via Virginia City. The people of Castle are much encouraged over the prospects for a road, and I believe that before this time next year Castle will be one of the liveliest camps in the state.

HOME-MADE WINES.

Methods of Treating the Juice of Elderberries and Grapes. From the New York Sun. In the country women and boys are now actively engaged in gathering elderberries, which grow wild by the roadside and they find a ready market for them. The berries make an exceedingly rich wine, excellent for the sick. By many it is considered better than any other native wine known. The following recipe for making elderberry wine comes from a connoisseur. The wine is pronounced equal to any imported wine. To equal parts of berries add a quart of water and boil them for half an hour, straining them so as to break the skins. Strain, and to every gallon of the juice add three pounds of cream of tartar. Boil for half an hour. Take a wine cask or large demijohn and put in one pound of raisins to every three gallons of the wine and a pound of toasted bread cut into pieces and covered over with good yeast. When the wine has become cool put it into a cask and place in a room of even temperature to ferment. When the fermentation has entirely ceased bottle the wine and put the corks in tight.

There are many varieties of grape wines. The following brief directions will enable you to make the most desirable varieties: Let the grapes become thoroughly ripe before gathering. All grapes make a stronger, better flavored and sweeter wine for being fully ripe. Gather the grapes and let them lie in a cool, dry place for several hours. Sort the grapes before using, removing all decayed or green fruit. Wash the grapes with a beater or put them through a press. Strain the grape juice into a wine cask and put in a cellar of even temperature, not lower than 50 degrees Fahrenheit, and where there is plenty of air. Fermentation commences very soon and lasts several weeks. The cask should always be kept full by filling occasionally from a jug containing grape juice and kept for the purpose. The wine ceases, bottle the wine and cork tight. Lay the bottles on their sides in a cool cellar. Frequently the wine will not become clear, in which case add a little charcoal to it. The wine will improve with age.

Wine like the Rhine vintage of Germany may be made as follows: Use good ripe Catawba or Isabella grapes and pound or grind them in a mortar for 24 hours. Fumigate a wine cask with burning strips of muslin dipped in melted sulphur and suspended by a wire across the bung-hole. Strain or press out the juice into a clean place of ice. Add to this a bottle of ginger ale, mix well, and serve.

Prehistoric Egyptian Giants. In 1881, when Professor Timmerman was engaged in exploring the ruins of an ancient temple in the banks of the Nile, 16 miles below Najaf Diftah, he opened a row of tombs in which some prehistoric race of giants had been buried. The smallest skeleton out of some 500 which were examined during the time Timmerman was excavating at Najaf Diftah, measured seven feet and eight inches in length and the largest eleven feet and one inch. Memorial tablets were discovered in great numbers, but there was no record that even hinted that they were in the memory of men of extraordinary size. It is believed that the tombs date back to the year 1043 B. C.

An Overrated Virtue. For the last few days I have been wanting to thrash two boys. One of them is George Eves, who has attended the Plumstead Board school for nine years without being absent or late a single day. The other is Alfred Pulling, who has attended his master in the same way for 10 years. I know of no more uninteresting, commonplace being than the man who is always in time. It simply means he hasn't enough originality to be late, and a two priggish boys have been encouraged in their punctuality by rewards and gold medals and so on. If I were their master I should for the future come then very heartily every day they were not at least five minutes late. It would hurt me a great deal more than it would them, but still I should do it.—New Budget.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreadful disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and removing all impurities therefrom by destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by curing the constitution and adding nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Celebrated Man on a Celebrated Railroad. General Lew Wallace, the renowned soldier, statesman, traveler and author, pays this compliment to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway in the St. Paul Evening News-Record, Oct. 6, 1894: "I have traveled all over the United States and never before have I seen such magnificent train service as is enjoyed on the Milwaukee, between Chicago and St. Paul. The private cars, Pullman cars are superior to anything of the kind I ever saw."

The trains referred to by the author of the above testimonial are run through heated by steam, lighted by electricity and arranged with the famous electric berth reading lamp. J. T. CONLEY, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., St. Paul, Minn.

A Cure That Cures. Is the kind most people desire. Such a cure is Ripley's Tablets, but not a cure for everything. They are for all liver and stomach disorders and one tablet gives relief.

The Latest from South Africa. Late advices from Johannesburg and other South African mining camps show that valuable properties are being constantly located. Experienced miners, machinists, engineers, carpenters and timber men are always in demand at good wages, while fruit growing offers lucrative occupation to persons understanding the business and desiring to enter that field of industry.

Johannesburg, a city of 60,000 souls, is an excellent market for the various kinds of fruit, which are raised in abundance in the vicinity of the town, at small cost. The only fruit growers in the country, being an indolent class, do not supply the demand. Persons desiring to visit the "Gominy Country" can obtain information by calling upon or addressing the undersigned, agent for all steamship lines. Through tickets to Cape Town, Johannesburg, England, Continental, Scandinavian and Finnish points; in fact to any point on the globe, at lowest rates. J. E. An Interesting Budget of News Notes From Bozeman—Another Old Timer Passed Away—Brewers in Town.

Special Correspondence of the Standard. Bozeman, Sept. 11.—The death of Miss Bessie Welliver of Sappington on Sunday by strychnine administered by her own hand shocked the people of Bozeman, where she attended college and was well known. She was of a happy disposition, and it is hard to make her friends believe that she committed the rash act. But she did, as a note, the contents of which have not been revealed, left by her, fully demonstrates. She was buried Tuesday at Sappington. Bozeman people are showing a great deal of interest in the international yacht race, and as bulletins come, a crowd surges around them. The experiment station of the Agricultural college is now busily engaged in harvesting and threshing its various crops. Grain is carefully tagged, and the greatest of care taken in classifying it. John Davitt, the contractor, arrived on Tuesday from Chicago to figure on the college building. Capt. James Penford and family are Helena visitors this week. T. P. McDonald arrived in Bozeman Wednesday from Red Lodge. James Henderson, George Davis, F. H. Harris and Doc Cargill went to Helena Wednesday.

NOTICE!

I wish to inform the public that I am a first-class tailor and have established myself at 409 N. Main street. I guarantee to give as good satisfaction in making and fitting as any first-class tailor in the United States, having had 30 years' experience in the business. There are a great many so-called tailors going around soliciting orders that never made a suit of clothes in their lives and don't know the first thing about taking a measure. All of my work is done in Butte, not by eastern tailors and is guaranteed to be first-class. Suits made to order. Patronize home industry. Cleaning and repairing a specialty. M. GOLDSTEIN, 409 N.
