IT IS GOOD PICKING

The Boyle-Hume Case Is a Snap for the Reporters.

WHAT THE JURY HAS DONE

Mrs. Gleim Will Be Liberated on Bonds—Wyman's Trial Will Be Expensive—No Business in Court Yesterday.

Missoula, Nov. 19.—For many months the suit of Robert Boyle and his wife against John Hume, manager of the Gem theater, has furnished a regular item for reporters and when it came to trial yesterday in the district court, the item-chasers prepared to bid farewell to a long-time friend. But providence was kind to the scribes and the case is still on the docket and will, in all probability, remain there for at least three months longer. By that time the Brunell-Logan case will probably be revived again and there will be another standing item to take the place of the variety theater suit, in case the latter is disposed of. It would have been bad, anyway, at the beginning of a hard winter, to have such a good producer of news disposed of, and it is probably for the best that the queer jury that considered the case yesterday didn't agree. The Standard to-day contained a report of the peculiar action of the jury last evening and their subsequent retirement for the night. It will be remembered that the jury reported that a verdict had been reached and that judgment was found for the plaintiff but, when the jurors were polled, one of them changed his opinion and the standing was seven to five instead of eight to four, as it had been in the jury room. All night the jury was out in charge of a bailiff, but when court convened this morning, the only result that was reported of the protracted deliberation was that no agreement had been reached. The jurors were positive that they couldn't agree if they stayed out till doomsday, so the court discharged them, and the Boyle-Hume case is still with us.

Numerous ballots were taken during the night, the results varying from seven to five for the plaintiff to seven to five for the defendant, but there was no time when eight men could be found who were on one side. Sometimes the vote would be a tie, but most of the ballots were seven to five one way or the other. The result of this will be that this trivial suit, which was originally for $50 and was later reduced to $25, will cost the county several hundred dollars and the litigants several times the amount before the jury was sworn. There is no sense in this sort of business, but if there is, nobody but the lawyers can see it.

Aside from receiving the jury's report and the discharge of the jurors, there was no business transacted in the district court to-day, all cases set for trial having been disposed of. By to-morrow at the latest, Mrs. Mary Gleim will be released from the county jail, on bail. Messrs. Yerrick and Powers will, it is said, be the bondsmen and, after nearly 18 months of prison life, Mrs. Gleim will resume her residence at her home on West Front and Main streets.

The grand larceny case against Fred B. Wyman promises to be an expensive one for the county. The value placed on the stolen horse and saddle in the information filed against Wyman is $80. This, it is generally believed, is too high, and the chances are that Wyman will not be found guilty of a more serious charge than petty larceny, in which case the expense of the trial will seem higher than ever. The cost is made so great by the fact that it has been necessary for officers to go to Helena and Ovando for witnesses and for the stolen property.

HOFFMAN'S FLYERS.

Charlie Jefferies writes a letter from Bozeman. Missoula, Nov. 19.—Charles D. Jefferies writes from Bozeman to the Standard, an interesting letter regarding the flyers of the Hoffman stable, which he has now in charge. Mr. Jefferies is much pleased with his new horses and thinks that he will have next season one of the best strings of harness horses ever camped in Montana. The animals are all in good winter form, he says, and under the excellent conditions which prevail at Bozeman will be very fast in the spring.

The probable makeup of the Hoffman stable. Mr. Jefferies gives it in his letter, bearing in mind the prediction that it will be a good one. At its head will be Bozeman (2:17) one of the best known horses in Montana. He is a handsome bay horse, 7 years old, dam by Belmont, Jr. With Bozeman will be the well known bay mare, Yollula (2:15) by Volunteer, dam by George Wilkes. The other horses in the string will be: Wakefield, bay horse, 4 years old, by Bozeman, dam by Maxim; Irene B. (2:25 1/4), bay mare by Bozeman, dam by Kentucky Volunteer; Lady R. E. D. (2:15 1/4), bay mare, by Gladly, dam by Meredith; Hoffman, bay colt, 2 years old, by Bozeman, dam by Maxim.

These have been decided upon and it is probable that other colts will be added to the list if their spring work is good. Those named will constitute the nucleus of the stable that will make the circuit next summer and, under Mr. Jefferies' training, they may be expected to make a creditable showing. Mr. Jefferies closes his letter with the pleasing information that he expects to bring his horses to this city for the training season next spring. He will be welcomed for his own sake and for Senator Hoffman's, as both are favorites with local horsemen.

Montanans Are Fortunate. Missoula, Nov. 19.—C. H. McLeod, whose return from Chicago was mentioned in the Standard, said to a reporter: "From what I saw on my recent trip, I am more than ever convinced that we have been singularly fortunate here in Montana. Our farmers are receiving higher prices for their crops than prevail anywhere else that I have been. In Minnesota and Dakota there is no market at all for potatoes and but little demand for grain. In some places no effort at all is being made to harvest the potato crop, as it is impossible to dispose of it. Our farmers here do not know what hard times are. In business circles, too, I believe that this state is better off than nearly every other Western state. There is a marked depression in business all the way between here and Chicago."

BRIEFS AND PERSONALS.

Missoula, Nov. 19.—D. A. Bishop of Hamilton came in to-day from Anaconda and spent the afternoon visiting the local fire department and getting pointers on running a fire brigade. Mr. Bishop was for a long time a member of the Deer Lodge department and is now at the head of the Hamilton fire fighters. George R. Ogden went up to Lou Lou this afternoon on a business trip. G. N. Hartley went up to Hamilton this morning on business. A marriage license was issued to-day to Louis Beauregard and Mrs. Susan Clemens. A. B. Rhude of Murray, Idaho, has sold to John W. Miller of Thompson Falls a quarter interest in the Bullion silver mine, near Mountain Home. The price paid was $500.

There'll Be No Delay.

Missoula, Nov. 19.—There is to be no delay in the construction of the new electric light and power plant at Bonner, which is to furnish light for this city. As stated in the Standard several days ago, the wheels which will furnish the power have already been shipped and will be at Bonner in a short time. Yesterday the cedar poles for the line between Bonner and this city were contracted for and to-day a contract was let for digging the holes for the line. This work will be done as quickly as possible, so that the poles may be set before the ground freezes. President Byllesby is now in the East purchasing the dynamo and other machinery for the plant.

Shoplifters in Town.

Missoula, Nov. 19.—Shoplifters have been operating at several of the local drygoods stores during the past few weeks and one of them was caught in the act Saturday afternoon at the store of the Missoula Mercantile company. There was an unpleasant denial, angry protest and wrathful tears. There was the usual termination, too-prayerful apology and a restoration of the lifted goods.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Nov. 19.—A variety of influences depressed the stock market to-day. In some instances the reiteration of the old bear arguments operated effectively. London was unpleasantly active in a seller of most of the international stocks and foreign advices in relation to the political situation renewed uneasiness. The decision of Justice Harlan in the Western Union-Pacific case was again used with a decided effect against the stock. None of the counsel of the company had received the text of the decision to-day and there was consequently no official statement as to the full effect of the opinion.

Money Market.

Money easy; closed 2 per cent. Sterling exchange firm; $4.89 1/4 for demand and $4.87 1/2 for 90 days. Government bonds weak.

Sales were at an extreme range of $3.35 to $3.65 for hogs, while pigs sold chiefly at $2.30 to $2.60. Sheep—Natives were dull at $1.40 1/2 to $1.45; westerns were slow at $2.40 1/2; lambs, $3.60 to $4.00.

Boston Wool.

Boston, Nov. 19.—Although the wool market is quiet for this season of the year, yet there has been a sufficient number of manufacturers needing wool to keep considerable stock moving. Prices are steady and dealers are not anxious to force sales. TONY WAS ARRESTED

He Is Thought to Be the Murderer of Pat Strongue.

IT IS ALL CIRCUMSTANTIAL

The Prisoner Had Worked With the Deceased—A Man Bought a Pistol and Cartridges, and That May Be a Clue.

Missoula, Nov. 19.—A special to the Missoula office of the Standard from Florence says: "Sheriff Chaffin this morning arrested Tony Florence for the murder of Strongue at the McEneny ranch Friday night. When arrested Florence was working out his road tax on the county road near here. He was at once taken to Stevensville and is now in the county jail. The evidence upon which Tony Florence was arrested is purely circumstantial, but it is considered sufficient to establish the fact that he has at least some knowledge of the murder. Some time Friday night a shot was fired which ended Strongue's life. It is supposed that the murder was committed shortly after 8 o'clock. On that evening Florence returned from a trip to Missoula, reaching Florence station at 7:30 o'clock. He left at once for Rube Holden's ranch, where he lived. He did not reach the ranch until 9:30 o'clock, though the distance is only about two miles. He told the people at the ranch that he had seen a man rushing along near the McEneny ranch who was muttering to himself, 'I've fixed the — — —' and said he thought the man must be crazy. At this time nothing was known of the shooting and no attention was paid to the story told by Florence, who, however, repeated it to others, after which he returned to the McEneny ranch. Ed McEneny, who owns the ranch where Strongue lived and worked, says that Florence came to the field where Strongue was plowing on Thursday. In reply to a question, Strongue afterwards told McEneny that Florence had asked him to go to a dance. He made no allusion to anything else that passed between them. The next morning Florence went to Missoula, where he spent the afternoon. Since this special was received, a Standard reporter has made some inquiries, and finds that a man who answers in a general way to the description of Florence bought at a second-hand store in Missoula Friday afternoon a 38-caliber revolver, which he took to another store to have the chambers filled with cartridges. As far as can be learned, no gun can be found near the scene of the murder. Tony Florence, the man who was arrested, came to the neighborhood of Florence last spring. During the winter season he worked with Strongue on the McEneny ranch, and since that time he has been employed at Rube Holden's ranch, where he ran a threshing engine last month. Nothing is known about him there, except that he has always seemed attentive to business.

ITALIAN SKIES.

The Weather Is O. K. for Building—New Houses.

Missoula, Nov. 19.—No better weather for builders could be desired than that which prevails in Western Montana at present. If it were not for the snow on the mountains, there would be no indication that the winter season is close at hand. Contractors are making the most of the opportunity and are pushing their work as rapidly as possible. The buildings which are enclosed before snow flies. At the new depot, Contractor Gibson's men are making the lumber fly and the building will be under cover in a few days. The timbers are nearly all in place and the masonry work is very substantial and the building already begins to attract attention by its prominence. The bricklayers here as elsewhere are crowding their work as rapidly as possible so as to take full advantage of the good weather. The machinery for the brewery plant will begin to arrive before long and every effort is being made to have the building ready for it when it gets here. On the sidehill northeast of the brewery, Mr. Lang is building a handsome double residence which will be occupied by himself and his partner. Its location is a pleasant one and the house itself is being well built. In South Missoula Ed Trudeau has a pretty one-story cottage enclosed and the carpenters are preparing for the finished work. The building is on the lots recently purchased by Mr. Trudeau from E. W. Schilling and will be used as a winter home by its owner, who will spend his summers on his new Bitter Root ranch. W. H. Raymond's handsome residence on the Rattlesnake is nearly enclosed and will be finished this winter. It is pleasantly situated on Mr. Raymond's well known orchard land and, when completed, will be one of the handsome buildings in the city. On the school section several small cottages are nearing completion and will be occupied before Christmas.

Johannesburg Gold Fields Their Destination.

Fifteen well-known millwrights and carpenters were ticketed through to Johannesburg, South Africa, via the Great Northern railway, for the sailing of the new American Line steamer City of St. Paul, from New York, November 20th. Twelve of these men go to Johannesburg to work under a three years' contract at five dollars per day. The other three having implicit faith in their ability to secure employment at still better wages, chose to go on their own account. This is the largest number of men ever forwarded from Butte in a body destined to the South African gold fields. Persons ticketed through to South Africa are routed via England, where they may be permitted to visit relatives and friends before re-embarking. Fare includes meals and sleeping accommodation, New York to Cape Town, unless passengers stop over in England at their own request, where they will pay their own expenses. Other large parties are forming for sailings during November, December and January. Steamers sail from New York every Wednesday to connect with the Union and Castle lines, sailing from Southampton every Saturday. The Great Northern through ticket system has given eminent satisfaction to all of the many people who have been forwarded to South Africa from Montana and other western states, during a number of years past. Those contemplating the journey, should make application to the undersigned, who will be pleased at all times to furnish rates and full information concerning the Cape district. Street scenes in Johannesburg and Cape Town, also wall map of South Africa, and descriptive literature may be seen at the Great Northern ticket office, No. 41 North Main.
