RALLY FOR RELIGION

Closing Day of the Brown Revival Meetings.

THE MIRY PIT AND CLAY

The Subject Last Night—Three Meetings to Be Held at the Auditorium To-Day—A Farewell Service.

To use the campaign phraseology, Dr. Brown's revival meetings are closing "in a blaze of glory." The attendance has been maintained night after night and has averaged larger during the last week than any of the season of meetings. The converts have for the past week been taking a particularly active part in the testimony half hour and have freely given their experiences.

To-day there will be three rousing meetings, the first at 10:30 o'clock, when Dr. Brown preaches on "The Three Crowns." A talk to men only will be given at 8 o'clock in the afternoon. Last Sunday 700 men heard the address on "Social Purity," and the subject to-morrow will be just as important and interesting.

The evening meeting is a grand farewell mass meeting, at the Auditorium, where all of the meetings to-day will be held. Dr. Brown leaves on Monday for Boulder, where he will remain one week before entering upon the revivals in Butte. Some persons have reported that Mr. Brown who has spent one month in Anaconda receives a fabulous sum of money for his labor, but this is a statement entirely contrary to the facts in the case. Dr. Brown has his expenses paid and for his services he makes no charge, and during the 20 years he has labored as an evangelist he has been supported by the free will offerings of the congregations visited.

His subject last night was "The Horrible Pit and the Miry Clay," taking the text from Psalm xl. 1, 2 and 3. "I waited patiently for the Lord and He inclined unto me, and heard my cry. He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my going. And He hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God; many shall see it and fear and shall trust in the Lord."

Dr. Brown described the pits in Palestine. They are about 20 feet deep, round and smooth. The bottom is of quicksand. David slipped into one of these pits and cried for mercy, and some one helped him out. He used that as a type of sin. He found that he could not save himself from sin, and God alone could help him. So it is to-day. Men are in a horrible pit. They cannot save themselves and God alone can save them.

He described the various excuses that men make when you try to help them out, that they are afraid they will not hold out; that they did not want to come out of the pit because they did not feel like it. He spoke also of those who are looking at other people and saying, "No, I don't want to get out of the pit because there are some of those who profess to be Christians who don't do right. He called upon all to cease such folly and meet the rescuing hand with assurance in God's power.

SHE'LL BE HERE.

Effie Ellsler is the Most Perfect "Rosalind" in the World.

John Maguire, the autocrat of things theatrical in the Northwest, is authority for the statement that Effie Ellsler is the most perfect Rosalind of the American stage. As a reader of Shakespeare she is letter-perfect; in character and method charming and delightful. The play is magnificently mounted and costumed and all the music including the "Cuckoo Song" will be introduced. This is the bill for Monday night at Evans, a perfect production.

This enchanting comedy is perhaps the most purely ideal of any of Shakespeare's plays. Although the plot is borrowed from the novel or tale of "Rosalinde," by Thomas Lodge, a contemporary writer, yet Shakespeare in passing the materials furnished by the novelist through the alembic of his own imagination, has created new characters and incidents and has imbued the whole with a higher cast of thought and feeling than could be attained by Lodge. It is in fact the alchemic transmutation of the baser metal into pure gold, which genius, in its adaptive faculty can alone achieve. The contemplative Jacques, that prince of philosophical jesters, Touchstone, and the "rustical" Audrey are pure creations of Shakespeare's fancy, worthy of the master-mind that gave them birth.

The late annotators of Shakespeare have exercised their erudite talent of analytical disquisition by endeavoring to trace the gradual development of the great poet's powers in the successive works he produced. "As You Like It" is, by this process of analytical inquiry, referred to that epoch of the author's life when he had attained the perfection of poetic and romantic comedy. It was the period when his brilliant, youthful genius shone forth in all its freshness of intellectual superiority, "mingled with the thoughtfulness of maturer age." However doubtful may be the theory of these annotators, the fact will readily be conceded that "As You Like It" is one of the most delightful productions of that poet's pen. As an acting play it is very exciting. The character of Rosalind is almost unapproachable, unless by actresses of that high and peculiar order of genius now so rarely to be found in the professor of the histrionic art. Nor are the other prominent characters in this true dramatic treasure scarcely less difficult of embodiment. What a host of portraits, lifelike and vivid, are concentrated in the group the poet has peopled his Arcadian forest with. How beautifully probable is the whole dramatic action of the piece where, in the language of Campbell, "Shakespeare has snatched us out of the busy world into a woodland solitude. He makes us breathe the fresh air, we enjoy its pastoral peace, feast on its verdancy, admire its bounding wild deer, and sympathize with its banished men and simple rustics. But what a tablet of characters! The witty and impassioned Rosalind, the love-devoted Orlando, the friendship-devoted Celia, the duty-devoted Adam, the humorous clown and the melancholy Jacques; all these, together with the dignified banished duke, make the "Forest of Arden" an elysium to our imagination. To realize this picture on the stage in all its varied and distinctive beauties is indeed a difficult task. But

Miss Ellsler, with the assistance of her father and talented company is equal to it. It will be a scholarly performance which no one should miss.

THE STOCK INDUSTRY.

A Prosperous Year for the Cattlemen of Montana—An Interesting Report.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

Helena, Jan. 4.—The report of the board of stock commissioners, just filed with the governor, shows that 1895 was a very prosperous year to Montana stockmen. During the early part of the season it was generally considered the supply of beef would fall far short of the demands, and prices bumped up accordingly. Stockmen who shipped early fared splendidly in the markets, but the collapse came late in the season, when prices dropped to an unusually low figure. The total number of cattle on the markets from Montana exceeded that of last year, or any year in the state's history, and the results of the inspector's work were proportionately better. The shipments of cattle during 1895 aggregated 246,460 head; slaughtered for home consumption, about 80,000 head, making a total of 306,348 head. The average price for the year was a little more than $38 per head. The cattle industry alone brought more than $11,000,000 into the state last year.

The commissioners' report says: "During 1895 our inspectors recovered 24,245 strays, representing a value of almost $100,000. Of this number 4,930 were remitted to their owners through the Stock-growers' association, the proceeds of these aggregating $175,721, which amount has been distributed among the respective owners residing in every part of the state. The above figures show that the work of the last year exceeds in volume that of any previous year, but this may be naturally expected in view of the improved methods and increased efficiency of the system conducted by the board."

Twenty-nine arrests of persons violating the stock laws were made by inspectors last year. The report shows that there was on Jan. 1 a balance in the stock-inspector and detective fund of $11,517.29. There was a balance on Jan. 1, 1895, of $12,273.17. $13,259.12 was received from various counties during the last year, and $15,955 was paid out in warrants.

STOREY SENTENCED.

The Gay Singer Will Spend Three Years at Deer Lodge—Helena Notes.

Special Dispatch to the Standard. Helena, Jan. 4.—Guy St. John Storey, the embezzler, who ran away from this city, leaving his bondsmen in Salt Lake City, pleaded guilty to-day and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Judge Blake. The court told him that had he shown any disposition to do the right thing when he had a chance he might have walked away free. Storey stole $150 belonging to the Northern Pacific Express company while acting as its agent at Rimini.

J. H. Macley pleaded guilty to burglary in the first degree to-day and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Macley a few nights ago broke into the residence of Court Sheriff, on Fifth avenue, and stole $250 worth of goods. Macley is an expert penman, well known in Butte, where he wrote visiting cards for a living.

The Douglass-Stubbs company of Helena was incorporated to-day to do a mercantile business, with a capital stock of $10,000.

WAS GOULD INSANE?

Financial Worry and Physical Exertion Not the Greatest Destroyer of Human Life.

For Humanity's Sake, After Thirty-Six Years of Nerve-Creeping Slavery, He Tells How He Was Set Free.

Caldwell, N. J. Jan. 4.—(Special.)—One of our prominent citizens, S. J. Gould, who has suffered terribly from tobacco tremens, has in behalf of humanity, made known his frightful experience. In his written statement, which is attracting widespread attention, he says: "I am now forty-nine; so, for thirty-six years I chewed, smoked and snuffed and rubbed snuff until my skin turned a tobacco-brown and cold, sticky perspiration oozed from my skin, and trickled down my back at the least exertion or excitement. My nerve, vigor and life were being slowly sapped. I made up my mind that I had to quit tobacco or die. I tried to stop tobacco time and again, but could not. I saw double and my memory was beyond control, but I still knew how to chew and smoke, which I did all day until toward night, when my system got tobacco-soaked again. Finally I gave up in despair, as I thought that I could not cure myself."

"Now, for suffering humanity, I'll tell what saved my life. Providence graciously answered my good wife's prayers and brought to her attention a booklet called: 'Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away!' What a sermon and warning in those words! Just what I was doing. It told about a guaranteed cure for the tobacco habit, called No-To-Bac. I know it sounds like a lie when I tell you that I took eight tablets the first day, seven the next, five the third day, and all the nerve-creeping feeling, restlessness and mental depression was gone. It was too good to be true. It seemed like a dream. I used one box. It cost me $1, and it is worth a thousand. I gained 10 pounds in weight, and lost all desire for tobacco from the first day. I sleep and eat well, and I have been benefited in more ways than one."

"I firmly believe No-To-Bac will cure any case of tobacco using if faithfully tried, and there are thousands of tobacco slaves who ought to know how easy it is to get free. There's happiness in No-To-Bac for the prematurely old men who think, as I did, that they are old and worn out, when tobacco is the thing that destroys their vitality and manhood."

The public should be warned, however, against the purchase of any one of the many imitations on the market, as the success of No-To-Bac has brought forth a host of imitators and counterfeiters. The genuine No-To-Bac is made by the Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago, Montreal and New York, and carries a guarantee to cure by all druggists, and every tablet has the word No-To-Bac plainly stamped thereon. You run no physical or financial risk in purchasing the genuine article."
