IT'S NOT PURE WATER

A Municipal Excursion to the City Reservoir and Return.

DIRT, DREGS AND A SMELL

The City Engineer Says it is indeed a Sorry Layout—The Fluid May Be Used for Quenching Fires—His Suggestions.

Mayor Thompson, City Engineer Blackford, Alderman Montgomery, chairman of the water committee, and Superintendent Carroll of the water company, drove out to the water reservoir yesterday afternoon to see what kind of water the people of Butte will have to use this summer. They returned last evening, and the municipal part of the excursion is unanimously agreed that it was the meanest looking water outside of perdition. The party merely went to the reservoir and did not go up the creeks at all. There is plenty of water coming in, Basin creek water, and the reservoir is filled up to within eight feet of the top. In ten days more it will be overflowing. The water in the reservoir, looked at from the top, has a yellowish, Ohio river sort of a look. A bottle of the decoloration, taken out of the reservoir looks much like the water that comes from the Butte hydrants. But the saddest sight is the water that comes in from the creeks. It is about 26 per cent dirt, dregs, mud and things in general. It looks no more like water than molasses does. It is tumbling into the reservoir fast enough and adding to the dirty mass already in there. All the men brought back specimen bottles of the water.

"It is the doggondest looking water you ever saw," said Mr. Blackford last evening. "It's muddy, roily and dirty and tastes horrible. There is plenty of water coming in. I have not computed the amount, but it is a good deal. But the quality is very disappointing. The dirt and dregs will, of course, partially settle in time, which will clarify the water partially, but is not likely to improve its taste. For two months at least as it is now. Then there will probably be some improvement in appearance.

"If there any remedy possible?" "If the council had compelled the company, as I suggested, to build flumes to carry away this dirty, roily water, and then fill up the reservoir with the good water later if any comes, Butte would have had much better water this summer. I suggested that in my report, and it was certainly practical. The water now rushing in is not fit for any purpose, and should be allowed to escape. In all probability, there will be better water later. The freshest from Fish creek has not arrived yet, and even from Basin there will be an improvement later. The reservoir could have been filled with better water and things would have been better than they will now be. About the only thing that can be done now is to filter the water with a system of sand filters. That would clarify it and also improve the taste.

TO-MORROW'S EXERCISES.

The Line of March as Planned by the Committee on Memorial Day Parade.

The committee on Memorial day parade met last evening and completed all arrangements. The parade will form and march as follows, preceded by a squad of city police. Officer of the day and aides. The national guard will escort the Grand Army of the Republic and a squad of Confederate veterans, followed by the P. O. S. of A., uniform rank K. of P., Jr. O. U. A. M., and other civic orders; next, battalion of High School cadets, grammar school cadets and school children in band wagon; the carriage, by the marshal of the day, orator of the day and mayor of the city, W. R. C., city council and citizens. The right will form on Broadway, resting on Montana street, looking north, the line in order as indicated above, extending east on Broadway, carriages forming on side streets to join rear of column.

The march, commencing at 10 a. m., will proceed north on Montana, east on Granite, north on Main, east on Quartz, south on Wyoming, east on Broadway, south on Arizona, west on Park, halting column at Montana, open ranks, when carriages containing school children, W. R. C., mayor, orator, etc., will pass through the line, followed by various societies in the order named; on Montana, the G. A. R., W. R. C., school children and others will take cars to the cemetery; other societies will proceed from there to their various halls, or to the cemetery by street cars. Street cars will return from 1 o'clock to 1:30 p. m.

THE CONCERT.

It Was One of the Most Artistic Musical Entertainments.

The concert given at Maguire's opera house last evening by Madame and Signor Ferrari, assisted by local talent, was one of the most artistic musical entertainments heard in Butte in a long while. Signor Ferrari is an accomplished singer and the possessor of a rich voice. He appeared on the programme a number of times, and was most enthusiastically received. Madame Ferrari has a charming soprano voice and won many admirers by her singing last night. Mrs. Fitz-Butler, one of Butte's favorites, also delighted the audience with several selections. One of the very good things of the evening was a violin solo by Professor Wright. The professor is a thorough master of that instrument. Miss Addie Masel assisted in a violin concerto. Signor Costa and Mr. Paynter and 60 voices of the Butte Choral society, also took part in the concert. The accompanists were Mrs. Hill and Professor Gaebel.

Thanks Express d.

The many warm friends of the late Percy F. Grove, who met an untimely death in this city recently, will be pleased to learn that the many floral tributes they sent East with the body were appreciated by the friends and relatives of Mr. Grove in Indiana. The following letter has been received: "Liberty, Ind., May 24, Joseph Richards, Dear Sir:—Say to the friends of Percy, at Butte, that the heartfelt thanks of his relatives and friends at home go out to those kind hearts, unknown to us, in that far off country, in appreciation of their many acts of kindness almost beyond human speech. One lovely mountain rose and the name of each cherished giver of the beautiful floral tribute accompanying his body are now treasured by his loving mother. There cannot be more convincing proof of the big, open-hearted people of the West than this, the return home coming of Percy F. Grove. Yours respectfully, H. G. Fosdick."

Experts Come High.

From the New York Times.
Dr. Walter T. Scheele of this city, the chemical expert, who analyzed the garments worn by Mrs. Mary Lalor at the time her son, William E. Lalor, was found murdered in his home, 403 Jackson street, Long Island City, Jan. 2, 1896, has presented a bill for his services.

It will be recalled that blood stains were found on Mrs. Lalor's apron, skirt and handkerchief, that organic matter was found on the handkerchief, and that the axe with which the murder was committed had hair and blood on it and blood stains were also found on the pillow of the bed in which Lalor's body was.

The bill of the expert, which amounts to $1475, was presented to the Queens county board of supervisors for payment. It was certified to by Coroner B. G. Strong, who conducted the investigation, but has not yet been paid. Supervisor Frederick Dunton of Jamaica objected to the paying of the bill, claiming the charge made was excessive. He succeeded in having the bill sent to a committee for investigation.

The bill contains the following items and charges, and shows what the chemist considers his services worth:

- Examination of one spot on apron..... $200
- Examination of one spot on skirt..... 250
- Examination of blood on handkerchief..... 200
- Examination of organic matter on handkerchief..... 100
- Examination of powder from axe..... 200
- Examination of hair from axe..... 100
- Examination of blood from axe..... 200
- Examination of spots on pillowcase..... 200
- Typewriting and stenography..... 25

Total..... $1,475
The supervisor believes the bill excessive and will try to have it reduced.

Bridal Huron on a Wheelbarrow

A honeymoon trip on a wheelbarrow around the world—this is without exception the most eccentric of all fine de steel notions. Nor is it the whim of a base Englishman or a shabby gentry Yankee or a young French bride couple will brave the jeers of the rural folk and the ridicule of metropolitans. They have already started, for a big wager, on a two years' trip in this odd fashion around the globe. M. Galais, the bridegroom, is a strapping young Parisian, who looks as if he could perform the task twice over without much fatigue. It is feared, however, by the friends of M. Galais that he will lose his wager, as to accomplish it seems impossible. Counting off the sea voyage, the couple will have to traverse at least 23,000 miles. Figuring that the bridegroom wheelbarrow-pusher will travel four to five miles per hour and that he will be on his feet 10 hours per day, he would in two years, or 730 days, have covered not more than 30,000 miles. The couple have started eastward, and it is doubtful if they will average as much in the deserts of Asia Minor and other unpaved highways. Inclement weather, storms, danger and sickness should also be taken into consideration. It is suspected that M. Galais undertook his queer honeymoon more for the sake of gaining notoriety than in the hope of winning his wager. At any rate, reports from the continent show that wherever they arrive, the couple get a hearty reception and are royally entertained in towns and villages.

A Woman's Weakness

That singular woman, Miss Middy Morgan, who for 20 years wrote the best reports of the cattle market printed by the New York papers, while not afraid of vicious cows or even of that terror of womankind, a bull, was mortally afraid of burglars. In the little house where she and her sister lived on Staten island there were no stairs to the second story, but a ladder, which the two women pulled up after them when they went to bed. Miss Morgan confided to a friend of the writer that she kept several cannon balls near her bed in readiness to drop on the head of a burglar bold enough to break in below.

Athletic Christianity.

From the Chicago Post.
"The fact is," said the divinity student, "that we give too much attention to the mind and not enough to the body in the ministry at the present time. What we need is athletic Christianity."
"I'm not so sure about that," returned the good deacon, with a shake of his head. "We had an exponent of athletic Christianity here a couple of months ago."
"Didn't you like him?"
"Oh, we liked him well enough, but the church wasn't built for too much athletics, and he put so much strength into his sermon that he smashed the pulpit."

In accordance with an agreement between the Montana Retail Butchers' Protective association and the Butchers' union, all meat markets will be closed all day Saturday, May 30th, 1896, Memorial day.

LOSSES.

Not wholly lost are the departed
Whom we have lain away with tears:
Their absence leaves us broken-hearted,
But memory fills with balm the vacant years.

The truly lost are those who wandered
Aside in paths of poisoned briars,
Where happiness and youth are squandered
Upon the vintage of corrupt desires.

Theirs are lost the wide world over,
Whose wifely lambs outgrow the fold,
Whose aching hearts can not recover
The image beautiful in days of old.

Who know they loved a lie that led them
Down barren paths to utter woe,
With hollowness and falsehood fed them,
Then fled like phantoms from the morning glow.
—Ave Maria.
