A MOST DARING HOLD-UP

H. M. Hadfield Relieved of the Sum of $114.

ROBBERS STILL AT LARGE

While Dumping a Pan of Ashes in His Own Back-Yard Two Men Hold Him Up With a Gun and Take His Money.

The boldest and most daring holdup that has ever occurred in Anaconda was that in which H. M. Hadfield lost $114 at about 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning while engaged in dumping ashes in his own yard. The deed was committed by two men, who, up to this time, the police have been unable to locate.

Mr. Hadfield is the foreman of the Standard's composing room and his residence is at No. 559 West Fifth street. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Hadfield brought from his home about $125, which he intended to make use of in a business transaction. He was disappointed, however, in meeting the man to whom he intended to pay the money, and as a consequence he still had the money when he finished yesterday morning.

At about 11 o'clock on Wednesday evening Mr. Hadfield went to lunch at Whatley's cafe, and after finishing his meal he took the money, which made quite a large roll, from his pocket, in order to pay the cashier. He made no display of the roll and he believes that only one or two other printers were in the place saw the money. He says, however, that the restaurant was quite well filled with people, some of whom may have seen it. When Hadfield quit work at about 3:50 o'clock yesterday morning he stepped for a moment into the Montana hotel. As he was going up the hotel steps he saw two men standing at the corner of Park avenue and Main street, at the northeast corner of the hotel. In the hotel Hadfield's attention pulled out his roll of bills, but there was no one present at the time. When he came out of the place the two men whom he had seen upon entering had crossed to the opposite side of the street, and were standing in front of the Durston block, apparently engaged in conversation. Hadfield paid no attention to the men at the time, but the circumstance recurred to him afterwards.

After leaving the hotel Hadfield and A. W. Greeley proceeded westward on Fourth street and south on Maple street. At the corner of Maple and Fifth the two parties parted company, and Hadfield proceeded to his home on Fifth street, Hadfield's home is on the south side of the street, and just as he passed into the house he saw two men coming from Pine street. He went into the house and removed his coat and vest. It is his custom each morning to remove the ashes from the stoves in the house and dump them in the yard. He removed the ashes from one of the stoves and was making his second trip when he saw a man approaching him. Hadfield thought that it was one of the neighbors who might, perhaps, be sick. The man came to the corner of Pine and Fifth streets through its rear yard, Hadfield's back yard to a certain extent, but there is a part of the yard which is in the shadow caused by the house. When the man approached he was in the lighted part of the yard, and had his hand up to his face as though he had a toothache. He came close up to Hadfield and reached out with his right hand. He caught Hadfield by the neck and held him. Just as he did this, a light fell upon the man's face and Hadfield saw that he had light blue eyes and about a week's growth of whiskers on his face. He wore a derby hat and a sack coat. At this instant another man came across the dark space. There is a deal of ice there and the man slipped and fell. As he was getting up, Hadfield saw that he had a revolver in his hand, which he pointed at Hadfield. The man who had caught Hadfield then uttered a sound, in a disguised voice, which sounded to Hadfield like "cough," and also "hold it," meaning Hadfield's hand. The man with the gun kept him covered all the time.

a few, however, who escape police surveillance, and it were well for all citizens to be on their guard against strangers when meeting them at night.

THE SECOND MEETING.

Another Large Congregation Present to Hear Evangelist Weber.

The large congregation present in the M. E. church last night must have gone out with the thought uppermost that they never saw a livelier preacher than the Rev. Mr. Weber. His text last night was "Be Not Deceived." He spoke of what religion means. A man who will not pay his honest debts is not religious, no matter how loud he prays. If he owes others and will not pay, he is a sneak. A man was convicted. He went to every store in town and paid up all his old bills. He was honest. Some very plain things were said about the sin of profanity and about lying. The speaker illustrated how profane men and liars always get the worst of the bargain. He said the audience would roar with laughter and at other times a pin could be heard to drop. Mr. Weber says this is not a Methodist man, but a Baptist, Presbyterian and all other churches cordially invited to come in and take part and share the results.

The pastor of the church extends the same invitation to all. To save souls is of more consequence than to simply get them to unite with the church without being willing to forsake their sin and be honest with the Lord and their neighbor.

There will be no meetings in the afternoon this week on account of Mr. Weber's exhaustion, due to his long meetings in the East. Friday night there will be a meeting and Sunday he will hold three meetings, one at 11 o'clock a. m., one at 3 p. m. and one in the evening.

Some of the Local Coursing Men Will Go to Market Lake.

In accordance with the suggestion contained in yesterday's Standard, at least three of the most enthusiastic coursing men will go to Market Lake to-day. They will take part in the big rabbit drive which will take place at the Idaho town on Saturday.

Three dog cranks who will go down are John Reese, Hugh Day and J. B. Williams, each of whom owns a kennel of speedy hounds. They expect to be joined by other members of the local dog fanciers. After the drive they will select a carload of the biggest and strongest jacks in the corral and bring them to Anaconda. The carload of rabbits will be turned loose in the enclosure provided within the athletic field. Here the rabbits will be fed and kept until required for matches in the spring.

To-day at Market Lake food will be distributed, so that the hares may feed and be in good condition for tomorrow's drive. It is expected that a great crowd will be present at the drive, which event is one that arouses general interest in Idaho each year.

A SPOKANE MARRIAGE.

William Wood Brings to Anaconda a Charming Bride.

William Wood returned yesterday from Spokane, where, on Tuesday, he was united in marriage with Miss Matilda C. Harbeck of that city. The marriage was solemnized at the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Mr. Giboney officiating.

Mr. Wood has been for some time the storekeeper at the E. & P. railroad shops in this city, and is a young man of sterling qualities, well known and popular in business and social circles in this city. His bride is a St. Paul girl, who will find a warm welcome awaiting her in this city. The employees of the B. A. & P. presented Mr. and Mrs. Wood with a magnificent arm chair in token of the esteem in which Mr. Wood is held by his associates. For the present the newly wedded couple will make their home at the Shoemaker.

THE OFFICIAL CANVASS

County Commissioners Count the Special Election Ballots.

THE MAJORITY NOW 1556

The Total Poll Lacks Only 12 of Being 3,000—716 Votes Were Cast Against the Court House Bonds.

The board of county commissioners met yesterday in special session to canvass the vote of the recent special election on the proposition to bond the county in the sum of $100,000 for the purpose of building a court house. The official vote shows that there were 2,988 votes cast, and that of this number 2,272 were for the loan and 716 against it, leaving a majority for the loan of 1,556, more than two-thirds of the vote cast being in favor of the bonds.

From two precincts, Nos. 25 and 36, no returns were received, and, as provided by the statutes, it was declared that no election was had in these two precincts. The following table gives the official vote, as canvassed by the commissioners:

Table with 3 columns: Precinct Name, For, Against. Totals: 2272 For, 716 Against.

Majority for the loan 1556

After canvassing the vote the commissioners discussed the court house proposed at some length. While no action was taken in the matter, it is probable that at to-day's meeting the board will make an order advertising for the submission of plans and specifications. It is proposed to advertise for 30 days, at the end of which time the board will be in session again for the regular quarterly meeting. At the March meeting it is expected that the plans will be opened.

BEAT HIS WOMAN.

Ed LaRue Made Things Interesting for "Half Breed Jess."

Yesterday morning at about 5 o'clock word reached the police that Ed LaRue had beaten his woman, Jessal Dillon, in an unmerciful manner. The woman was found in her cabin in Mainville by a neighbor, who notified the officers. A search was instituted for LaRue, but he could not be found.

When the 6 o'clock train for Butte pulled out Officers O'Brien and Stebbins were aboard, and they searched the train, but LaRue could not be found. When the train reached Butte the first man whom the officers saw getting off in the toilet room was named LaRue. He was held by the officers until a Butte policeman could be found and was then turned over to the officers of that city.

It seems that LaRue had locked himself in the toilet room when the train left Anaconda and had not ventured forth until the cars stopped at Butte.

LaRue was brought back to Anaconda on the 6 o'clock train last night and hit by the police. He has been in police court a number of times for being an idle and dissolute person. He was arrested a short time ago in a raid made by the police on the bad lands secretaries, but in some way he escaped. He was retaken a few days ago and fined.

The woman, who is known as "Half-Breed Jess," was at first thought to have been seriously injured by LaRue's beating. It is developed, however, that she sustained no further hurts than a black eye and a few bruises about the body. The reports that she had been almost murdered are without foundation. She was taken to jail last evening, where she will be held to appear as a witness against LaRue.

HILL ON TRIAL. A Motion to Instruct the Jury to Acquit Taken Under Adversity Until This Morning.

In the district court yesterday the case of the state against Frank Hill was on trial before a jury. The jury is composed as follows: Steve Havarth, B. F. Crosswhite, Joseph Sladich, Steve Hennault, Pat Walsh, Hamilton Bothwell, M. J. Wagon, F. J. Vane, C. McLean, C. A. Barker, John A. Johnson and Joseph DeLodge.

Hill is charged with grand larceny in having, together with Claude Weymire, robbed the bill of the Yukon restaurant on Main street of something like $50. The state, represented by County Attorney Teppert, introduced about the same testimony as that given at the preliminary examination. Claude Weymire testified that he had told Hill that he had a notion to take some of the money to go to Livingston and see his mother. This was on the night of the robbery.

When Mrs. Webling, the proprietress of the Yukon, left the room temporarily Hill had urged Weymire to take the box containing the money, which he had promised to take to her. He said that he had not done so, and that he had a notion to take some of the money to go to Livingston and see his mother. This was on the night of the robbery.

When the 6 o'clock train for Butte pulled out Officers O'Brien and Stebbins were aboard, and they searched the train, but LaRue could not be found.
