DOES A GOOD BUSINESS

No Doubt That the Copper City Limited Is Appreciated.

THE BITTER ROOT VALLEY

It Never Looked So Well as It Does Now—The Farmer is at Peace With the World—Crops Are Excellent.

Hamilton, June 18.—The man who says that the Copper City Limited is not appreciated and that it does not do a good business ought to stand at the railway station in Missoula for half an hour at the time the train arrives from Butte and watch the crowd that assembles to wait for the train.

There has been much written and more said about the appearance of the valley this year, but not had the truth has been told. There are men about here who have been in the valley for a score of years and they will all tell you that it has never looked as well as it does now.

There are some who have it in their minds as the train starts out from the towns along the line to laugh at Bob O'Hara, Colonel Crutchfield, Lee McCallister and the other men who have left their former homes in other Montana cities to live in the Bitter Root.

It is pleasant to watch the arrival of the children from Butte, who have not seen much of the country life. They rush from the station platform out into the grassy meadows where they have been met by the time they reach the hotel their arms are filled with grasses and blossoms.

The Bitter Root strawberry is right on deck. The vines are heavily loaded with the succulent fruit that is ripening rapidly. There are enough berries that have already turned red to have afforded a delightful dessert for many a table this week.

Missoula, June 18.—The Bitter Root river has risen several inches in the past two days. The other streams are holding their own or remaining stationary.

FROM THE BITTER ROOT.

The Carloads of Horses for the Butte Race Track. Missoula, June 18.—A special train from Hamilton this morning brought down three carloads of horses from the Bitter Root valley en route to the Butte track, where they will remain during the summer meeting.

Trainer J. J. Moran has in his string some likely ones owned by Messrs. W. J. O'Connell, Neilson of Hamilton and others. The string includes some of the most promising youngsters that have ever been sent out of the valley.
