

THEY WILL MAKE A KICK

Merchants Do Not Take Kindly to the Idea. They will make a kick at the proposition of the ways and means committee of the city council to raise their license rate for doing business. The city has felt the need of increasing the revenues of the city in some way, and the ways and means committee concluded that its best course would be to raise licenses on some of the merchants.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Attorney Was Unable to Find Another Constantine. MR. HEINZE ON THE STAND He Told All About His Trouble With Batterman--When He Left He Took All the Maps and Survey Notes.

The suit of the Montana Ore Purchasing company against C. S. Batterman and others was on trial before Judge Lindsay all day yesterday. The forenoon was taken up in completing the jury. The experience with Juror Constantine the day before, when it was admitted by him that he had been offered a lease if he could get on the jury, opened the eyes of the attorneys and every other juror was put through a rigid examination.

Mr. McHatton said he could show by proof that the facts were that no such relationship existed between the parties at all. He was permitted to do so, and he introduced evidence that the lease and bond was executed by Hickey's brother to a man named Oswald, and the latter assigned his lease to F. Aug. Heinze, who still had it. Upon that showing the court overruled the challenge and the juror was retained.

Mr. Little, the stenographer, testified that he was employed in Mr. Wines' office at the time of his arrest, and that he wrote the letter to Senator Matlock at Pendleton, Ore., upon a dictation from Mr. Wines. The letter asked Mr. Matlock if he remembered the Laney incident at the race track, where he and Mr. Wines made inquiries for the missing witness.

Antone De Lois testified that Gabrielle also told him about the murder and that Eva Smith gave her a package which she thought contained a gun. She said nothing about a razor and did not say why she believed the package contained a gun.

Dr. Cayley informed the referee that it would be dangerous to put Gabrielle on the stand again during the day, as she was unable to faint away and her lungs, he said, were swollen and she might choke any minute. The doctor had been attending Gabrielle for heart trouble for nine years and he knew that her condition was dangerous. Mr. Nolan said he would not recall the woman again, and would conclude her testimony by introducing in evidence a transcript of the testimony she gave at the Shafer trial.

Deputy Sheriff Bart L. Shay testified that he first became acquainted with Bacher during the Shafer trial and after Bacher was arrested he took him on one occasion from the county attorney's office back to jail. Bacher was laughing when he came out of the county attorney's office and Shay asked him what made him feel so good and Bacher replied that he was going to get out of a bad boat and was going to get somebody else into it. Mr. Shay also said he was in the court room when the discussion was going on about taking the deposition of Ed Laney. Mr. Connolly said it would cost too much to bring Laney back to Butte and Mr. Wines offered to pay half the expense.

To save the trouble of calling a witness at the state auditor's office in Helena, Mr. Nolan admitted that the witness would testify that Mr. Booth was in the auditor's office on the 27th of last October.

C. K. Beard of Anaconda, a race horse man, testified that he knew Mr. Wines, and had also known Senator Matlock for 20 years. During the race meeting in Butte a year ago the witness said he met Wines and Matlock on the race track one day very early. They told him they were looking for Ed Laney, and Beard said he did not know the man, though Matlock said he certainly did. Beard went with them, and they made a round-up of the stables to inquire for Laney, but could not find him, as he had not been seen around the track for several days. A colored man told them that he heard Laney had skipped because he learned that he was wanted as a witness in the Shafer case. The search was continued for several days. Matlock described Laney as a tall, smooth-faced man, and said he had been following the race circuit for years. Beard's testimony did not agree with that of Mr. Wines, and the latter went on the witness stand again to make some corrections. He said Mr. Beard's version of the race track affair was the correct one. At the conclusion of Mr. Wines' testimony the hearing was adjourned indefinitely.

Gabrielle, who created a scene during the afternoon session, had so far recovered that the doctor removed her to her home.
