

NORTHERN MONTANA

Well, it is measured by the foot, three feet being about the average. The snow last winter was 19 inches, 20 feet deep, and the winter lasted nine months. Dawson City very much resembles Montana mining camps in the early days, only it is much worse. Business is lively and the merchants are apparently making big money. Owing to the scarcity of meat fish has become the principal article of diet.

SCORE OF ARRESTS

Drinking Led to a Crowded City Jail. Great Falls, June 19.—It would seem as if every man who was accustomed to take a drink occasionally took one last night, and others drank in the same proportion. To-night the city jail is crowded, there having been over a score of arrests made, and the chances are very favorable for a still further increase to-night.

EVERY SPECIES OF JAG

An Ex-Policeman Arrested for Pounding a Man—A Negro Bartender Fined for Beating His Wife. Great Falls, June 19.—It would seem as if every man who was accustomed to take a drink occasionally took one last night, and others drank in the same proportion. To-night the city jail is crowded, there having been over a score of arrests made, and the chances are very favorable for a still further increase to-night.

Great Falls, June 19.—It would seem as if every man who was accustomed to take a drink occasionally took one last night, and others drank in the same proportion.

For just straight drunks the following names are booked: Joe Bush, Pat Farrell, Jim Shannon, John Healy, Thomas Bagley, Mike McCafferty, John Doe (will thank to give his own name) and William Kimball. About every nationality and about every species of jag is represented in the list.

G. W. Scott, who says he is a cook by profession, is in detention for having punched up a man who refused to give him money when asked to do so. Ed Falk is also under arrest for having punched a man. His victim was John Jacobson, who is a small man and lame at that, while Falk is over six feet in height and a very heavy man. He was formerly a member of the Great Falls police force, but after rounders had taken his club and gun from him a few times he was discharged and went to running a cheap saloon on First avenue south.

Police Sgt. Annie Shelby appeared at police headquarters and complained that her husband, Wales Shelby, had been beating her. He is a negro bartender and was soon found by the police and placed behind the bars. J. L. Wideman entered the store of Silverman Bros. & Co. yesterday evening, while intoxicated, and raised a disturbance, for which he was promptly arrested. Later he was released on his own recognizance.

Charles Corbin was arrested for stealing a coat and hat from a store on the south side. He will be arraigned for petit larceny in the morning and will lose the clothes in addition, as they have been recovered.

The last on the record in a trio of men, Hank Lewis, John Burton and Mike O'Neill, who indulged in a free-for-all fight in the Fashion saloon, a tough fight located in the tenderloin district.

Can Our Coast Be Effectually Blockaded? If assistance can be felt in the opinion of military and naval officers in high places at the seat of government, the coast of the United States to be blockaded effectively, even if our navy and sea coast defenses could offer no adequate resistance, seems to be impossible. When a blockade of the bowels is made, the result is a blockade of the bowels. With a blockade of the bowels, the result is a blockade of the bowels. With a blockade of the bowels, the result is a blockade of the bowels.

HOLDING THE FORT.

Hostilities Over the Building of a Railroad Fence. Great Falls, June 18.—John C. Sullivan, who has just returned from a trip to Helena, reports that the railroad fence building crew at that point, says the Fort Benton River Press. The crew was in the act of fencing in about 30 acres of Mr. Moran's ranch when he appeared upon the scene and ordered them to stop. The fence building crew, composed of about 40 men, withdrew from the field Wednesday afternoon, but Mr. Moran is still on guard at the old stand.

Mr. Moran's action is governed by the belief that if he allows the railroad fence to be built, the result will be a loss of his land in dispute. He will have to resort to an annoying and expensive lawsuit to recover his rightful property. He believes he is in the right and is perfectly willing to take the consequences of his hostile action.

Ernest A. Schultz had a severe attack of the Klondike Fever.

Great Falls, June 19.—Ernest A. Schultz has returned to his home at Choteau from a trip to the Klondike. He says that he had the Alaska fever in severe degree when he started out but he is thoroughly cured of it now. He left Dawson City on March 17, after having spent a year in the gold fields, and he has decided that it is no place for a poor man to go and get wealth, nor a place of pleasurable recreation for a rich man. Those who were there are held claims at the beginning of the time the days are 20 hours long and in the winter the proportion between night and day is just reversed. When asked how cold it was there he said:

Well, it is measured by the foot, three feet being about the average. The snow last winter was 19 inches, 20 feet deep, and the winter lasted nine months. Dawson City very much resembles Montana mining camps in the early days, only it is much worse. Business is lively and the merchants are apparently making big money. Owing to the scarcity of meat fish has become the principal article of diet.

Mr. Schultz tramped from Dawson City to the coast, 500 miles overland, and carried a pack of 70 pounds on his back. He says that he laid down to sleep many a night hoping that he would never wake up in the morning. The journey occupied two months, and he is content to stay in Montana or worse places rather than try any more life in the Arctic circle.

The Spotted Horse Mine. Great Falls, June 18.—It is stated on good authority that the arrival in Lewistown week before last of H. J. Subers of Pennsylvania and L. Chevellon, the mining expert of Denver, was for the purpose of making a final examination of the Spotted Horse property prior to its sale to Mr. Subers. Mr. Chevellon had experted the property some time ago and made a most favorable report. What effect the assignment will have on the deal is not known, although it is said Mr. Subers is very hopeful of the outcome. The latter, accompanied by Mr. Bright, who had been in Lewistown a couple of weeks, left for Columbus last Friday morning. Mr. Bright had paid $15,000 on the Spotted Horse, or one-half of the amount for which the property was sold.

Mrs. N. Belanger last week placed attachments on the mine to secure a claim of $2,100 for merchandise. There are labor bills unpaid, but it is believed all obligations will be liquidated and the property placed on a good financial footing.

Explored the Ice Cave. Great Falls, June 19.—A party, comprising nine young men of Lewistown, explored the ice cave last week, which it situated in the summit of Judith mountain, nine miles east of Lewistown. The cave has two apartments, the dimensions of the first being about 100 by 100 feet, and the second part of the ice cave has a rock bed, while the second part has an ice bed, which is so large that a man cannot throw a rock across it. The party was not able to enter this apartment, because during the winter the ice was so high as to almost close the entrance. This appears to be due to the caving in of two air holes, which are at the foot of the mountain, from which flowed a strong and ice-cold draft. These holes were not large as to allow the entrance of a man.
