

ANACONDA NEWS.

SUNDAY IN ANACONDA

Twenty-Five Hundred People Left Town for the Day.

GREGSON SPRINGS OPEN

That and Other Resorts at the City Received the Pleasure Seekers.

Yesterday was one of the most beautiful Sundays that Anaconda has enjoyed in a long while.

It is estimated that more than 2,500 persons went out to the country or to the parks yesterday.

During the practice of one team a young man who was playing behind the bat without a bat struck on the nose by the ball.

The MacCallum & Cloutier employees held their annual picnic yesterday at Silver Lake and they had a good time.

The formal opening of Gregson Springs took place yesterday, a large crowd being in attendance from Butte, Anaconda and surrounding country.

The large pavilion had been profusely decorated. A grand dance was given in the afternoon and evening by Professor Aker and the A. B. & C. orchestra.

IMPORTANT ARREST.

Jim Madden, Arrested for Grand Larceny, is Wanted in Butte.

James Madden, alias "James Gryce," a man well known to the police as "Handsome Harry," and who has a claim to be one of the most dangerous thieves in the country, was arrested last evening at 7 o'clock by Night Chief of Police Frank O'Brien, charged with the robbery of a woman named Vera Westbrook.

When arrested, Madden was searched but no money was found on him. He told the police he had not taken the jacket and did not know anything about it.

The robbery is supposed to have been committed some time in the last few days. Madden had been hanging around her place for several days, and yesterday morning at about 5 o'clock he left the cabin and stole the jacket.

Shortly after his departure the woman missed the jacket and she immediately informed the police of the robbery.

Night Chief O'Brien took up the case. He went to the Anaconda Lake park yesterday afternoon, meeting to find his man there, but he did not, and shortly after having returned to the city he ran across Madden in a Mainville saloon and placed him under arrest.

The officers are unable to find sufficient evidence against Madden to hold him on the charge of grand larceny, the man will not be brought with his troupe, as he will be sent to Butte, where he is wanted on a charge of robbery.

According to Officer O'Brien, Madden is a dangerous thief and an ex-convict. He was arrested about three weeks ago in South Butte on a charge of robbery.

When the officers were taking him to the court house for his trial Madden got away from them and the authorities of Butte have been looking for him ever since.

Madden served time in the Deer Lodge penitentiary under the name of James Gryce for petit larceny.

BELLS WILL NOT WORK.

Citizens Say It Is Impossible to Arouse Drug Stores at Night.

Trade citizens have complained lately that the night bells on city drug stores are delusions and that pressing them fails to bring forth a clerk.

"Friday night," writes a citizen to the Standard, "I pushed the night bell-button on five drug stores about 11 p. m. and could not get a response from any of them. My doctor said he had frequent kicks on this, and that some mention should be given in the paper."

THROWN FROM A CART.

John A. Bielenberg the Victim of a Painful Accident.

Deer Lodge, June 18.—John A. Bielenberg was the victim of an accident today which fortunately will not prove fatal, though it is quite a severe and painful one.

He had been out on a party to look after the ditches which Rock Creek water from Rock Creek lake to his placer mines near Pioneer.

When returning his horses, which he was driving to a California cart, became unmanageable, breaking one of the reins, overturning the cart and throwing Mr. Bielenberg and young Jonas Gerstoecker, who accompanied him to the ground, inflicting a cut upon Mr. Bielenberg's chin and a half long and curring the chin to the bone. He also received a severe cut and bruise in the back of the head and was rendered unconscious for a time. The boy was severely shaken up and badly frightened, but did not need the care of a physician.

Dr. J. H. Owings dressed Mr. Bielenberg's wounds when the latter reached town, and says while they are very severe and painful, they are not at all likely to prove fatal.

No bones were broken. The cart was badly damaged. The accident occurred on the grade above a level on the side of Rock Creek lake and the wonder is that the occupants, team and all were not dashed down the grade to their death.

H. A. McFarson and W. P. Raffert were spending the day at the lake and were on their way home when they came upon Mr. Bielenberg lying unconscious upon the road and the boy beside him.

They lifted him into their buggy and Mr. McFarson drove to town with him, afterwards returning for Mr. Raffert.

TILLIE CARR IN JAIL.

Arrested Yesterday for Being Drunk and Disturbing the Peace.

Tillie Carr, the woman who was mixed up in the Santi murder case, was arrested yesterday by Night Chief O'Brien and charged with disturbing the peace in her cabin on East Park avenue.

The woman was arrested at the demand of a neighbor, who complained that she was kicking up an awful racket in her cabin.

Arrived at the cabin Tillie Carr was very drunk and was using abusive language. Two men were in the cabin with her.

Tillie Carr is the woman who was the principal witness in the Santi murder case. After giving her evidence at the trial she was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace, which case was dismissed Saturday owing to the lack of evidence.

EAGLES WILL FLY.

A Grand Social Session Will Be Given This Evening.

Feathers will fly this evening in the grand social session given by the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The charter list will be closed and it is expected many candidates will be initiated at this meeting, as the number of persons desiring to get in on the ground floor of the order is large.

Important questions will be discussed this evening, so that a large attendance of members is expected.

A Mean Man's Views.

From the Atchison Globe.

Another Atchison girl who gets $40 a month for sitting in an office will resign in a few weeks to wash dishes and cook for love and her board.

When a girl has a new engagement ring she finds many occasions for feeling if her back hair is in wood order.

Mean people say that the man a yellow selects to support her at her husband's expense is the one she usually marries afterward.

"Well, I see Mrs. Blank is breaking in," is the woman's comment when they read in the paper that Mrs. Blank will give a reception.

By the time a man has saved up enough money to have a palm and a Brussels carpet in his parlor his daughter has reached the "company" age and he is not allowed to sit there.

It is a pitiful truth that women trust their daughters with men when their husbands would trust to open an account.

A certain Atchison woman is always invited to serve the brick tea team at parties for the reason that she cuts it in such thin slices.

One Cent for Fare in Italy.

Electric power has been introduced on all the street railway lines in Milan, Italy, and the directors of the road have tried the experiment of raising the fare from the equivalent of 2 cents to 1 during the rush hours 7 to 9 a. m. This effort was a gain of 50 per cent over previous receipts for that period of time, three passengers being carried at 1 cent for every one carried at 2 cents. The innovation will be made permanent.

ONLY ONE LITTLE RUN

It Was All the Copper City Boys Secured at Helena.

MET CRUSHING DEFEAT

Their Opponents Took Twenty-One Runs, Eighteen of Which They Got From Lynch in the First Five Innings.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

Helena, June 18.—The baseball game today between the Anacondas and the Helena clubs resulted in a sweeping victory for the home nine, the score being 21 to 1.

The visitors labored under the disadvantage of not having practiced as often as the Helena team, and were confronted by a further drawback in having been recently changed around in the field.

The Anacondas would have held Helena down better if King instead of Lynch had pitched the entire game.

Lynch pitched the first five innings and was such a mark for the Helens that King was placed in the box. When he began twirling the ball the Helens had 18 runs, and for the remaining four innings he held them down to three.

Ryan for Helena pitched good ball, which proved a puzzle to the visitors. After the game was over the Copper City boys admitted that they had been fairly beaten by a nine that at present shows the results of continual practice and generally better playing.

There was a little unpleasantness in the seventh inning between Burton, who played second base for the Anacondas, and Arneson, a Helena base runner. Burton claimed that Arneson blocked him from making a double play by catching his arm as he was about to throw the ball to first after putting Arneson out. Burton refused to put out the batter, who had just knocked a small fly. Burton is accused of having kicked Arneson. There was considerable excitement for a few minutes, but peace was soon restored and both principals afterwards regretted the unpleasant occurrence.

There was a large crowd and a liberal amount of applause accorded the visitors when a good play was made. The Anaconda boys, who are making their third-baggers and Anaconda one (Taborn), Ryan for Helena struck out four and Lynch two and King eight for Anaconda. Bases on balls—Ryan, 4; Lynch, 4; King, 2; Errors—Helena, 3; Anaconda, 3; Hits—Helena, 11; Anaconda, 3; Impres—Last and Smith.

It was reported at midnight that the train on which the local live in the city at 4:45 this morning.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Yachts on the Lakes to Be Towed by Kites Instead of Sails.

E. Hofer, writing to the Forest and Stream from Mammoth Hot Springs, says:

"I suppose we shall have to say it's spring here at last. The snow is off between here and Gardiner, and there is considerable green grass, and now that the water is flowing, it is not long before we will see a few Johny-jump-ups and the buds of some nutcrackers."

"I see no game along the road, as much as there is working back. Antelope have gotten as far as Yankee's, although there are a few close to the town of Gardiner and on the flat across Gardiner river. Blacktail and elk have not been seen just now along the road, because there are crews of men putting the road in condition for the season's travel. It is possible to ride through Snow gats, the old road, Golden gate is impassable. Scouts and soldiers have been to Riverside station and the Lower Geyser basin this spring with horses, and to Yankee's and Soda Butte, and the officers of cavalry here now are to go to Manila; they will start soon after being relieved by M troop of the 1st cavalry. It is thought that it will be about July 1 before they can get away, as there are men at the outer stations that cannot be gotten in much before that date."

"The spring is more than a month behind that of last year. Where the snow is off the grass has not started, or is only very short. Toward Gardiner the lowest and warmest section of the park, the country looks a bit green."

"The order I mentioned in my last, limiting licensed drivers to only one team, has been revoked. Now, five wagons for passengers, and all the baggage teams necessary for a party, are permitted with each license, one requiring the holder to accompany a party personally."

"The Yellowstone Park association is not going to have their lunch stations this year, but only the lunch transportation company or some other parties will run the lunch business at Norris, Upper Geyser basin and the Yellowstone lake outlet. I understand that no coupon tickets will be sold this year by the railroads including the park trip. It will be a sort of free-for-all, and parties who are prepared for transporting tourists expect to do a large business."

"Captain Edwin has, during the past winter, added to the animals in the enclosure in front of the Mammoth hotel four moose, four blacktail antelope (deer) and four white-tailed deer. They are looking very well, and it is expected that there will be some increase by births."

"Scout Morrison, who has traveled nearly a hundred miles through the park on snowshoes, tells me that there are over 250 dead elk between the mouth of Blacktail Creek and Hellroaring, a distance of about five miles along the Yellowstone trail. These are mostly calves, with a few old cows. There are about 250 dead elk along Soda Butte creek and slopes toward Soda Creek, mostly again young elk, showing what a very hard winter it has been. On Falls river, during one of his snowshoe trips on March 1, he saw 12 moose, one herd of two bulls and three cows, and the others, three, two and a lone one. I saw two moose in the Madison basin. There are more moose than ever before reported. Morrison found three dead mountain sheep along the Yellowstone river that had died of starvation. He saw 25 live ones that were very thin and starved looking."

"After I wrote my last letter, while the ground was yet covered with snow, an order came from Washington to expend $200 for hay for the antelope, deer and elk in the park. Hay was scattered out where it was thought best, and as far as teams could get with it, I think it did considerable toward saving some of the smaller animals; but so few elk could be reached that only antelope and deer got much benefit.

"The first young elk seen last year was May 11. This year I have not seen any, as I have not been out among them. I was out a few times after pictures, and got some of sheep, deer and elk. Some very good photos of elk and other game were secured by Scout Morrison and one of his soldiers."

"The bears are out now at the Fountain hotel. Six were seen one day last week, all black. If the bears in the Helena are as common as last year, some of them will have to be killed to give others a lesson in good manners, as it's not thought polite for them to climb into wagons and eat up all the provisions belonging to camping parties."

E. HOFER.

A recent dispatch from Berlin says: The Hamburg-American line is continuing its experiments with carrier pigeons for the purpose of conveying news from vessels at sea, either at Hamburg or New York. The Augusta Victoria set several pigeons free during her voyage to New York. One of these homed from New York, 1,500 miles out, to Hamburg, inside of two days.

The foregoing dispatch from Berlin is accurate in details, contains information that must awe even the most incredulous and argues the advisability of the wonderful power of light and intelligence of the homing pigeons. As it stands the report is regarded with doubts by the local fanciers, although they would declare positively, in the face of some reports, that it is impossible. But as compared with the best previous long distance flight, which is 1,083 miles over land, the return is most incredible.

Flying over water means that the pigeons must have spent the night on the wing, unless it by chance rested upon the spars of some passing ship. Homing pigeons seldom fly after midnight for they cannot keep their bearings. Again, the fact that two days of continued flying would exhaust the most powerful bird lends color to the theory that the bird may just by accident have spent the night upon some steamer bound toward the east and thus have been assisted in the right direction.

In this manner the bird might have been able to find its way back to Hamburg without a peer in homing record. So far as the need for food and water goes, it has been proven that during the flight the digestive organs of the homing pigeon discontinue their office.

To have accomplished this fly the bird, allowing for 30 hours of flight, must have done 50 miles an hour on the average. In a recent fly from South Carolina to New York, the bird covered 400 miles at a speed of nearly 33 miles an hour. But this was only a fourth of the above flight and over land.

Fanciers in this country, and, in fact, all over the world, will await with interest some more definite details of the dispatch, which are expected when the Augusta Victoria reaches port.

Several members of the Columbia Yacht club are interested in a boat, which, as a freak, takes first prize. She will be launched at Waukegan, Ill., Friday, and will make the trip from that point to Chicago by way of the Great Lakes instead of sails. The boat is 21 feet in length. The kite which will be used is of the box variety and six feet square. Fine piano wire will be used instead of string.

The boat resembles one of the gondolas that used to earn a dollar an hour per passenger during the rainy days of the world's fair. The owner and designer of this queer craft is H. Van Ripper, and he claims for his boat a record of 100 miles per hour, as he has never been surpassed by any boat in the city, nor, perhaps, in the country. He says that if the boat tips over all that will be necessary for him to do is to drop the boat overboard through and let the boat go along with the waves. He also avers that he will be able to go to within six points of dead windward using only the kite and tiller.

So far the members of his club have been successful in their efforts to get the boat to wait until next week, when his boat will be first tried out.

A dispatch from Oxford, England, says: Both here and at Cambridge college athletics reflect the stimulus that has been imparted to all amateur sports by the announcement even of intercollegiate contests to take place at the Queen's club, London, next July, between the representatives of Yale and Harvard on the one side and Cambridge on the other.

Every lover of amateur sports has recognized the need of such a tonic, and the mere announcement that the terms of the American and English university programs had been arranged was received with the greatest satisfaction not only at the university towns, but throughout the amateur athletic world.

"English university men take matters of this kind with much less demagoguery than Americans," said C. N. Jackson, Harvard college honoray treasurer of the Oxford University Athletic club, to-day, "but their interest is just as great." Mr. Jackson has been connected with Oxford athletics for nearly 20 years, and in promoting these intercollegiate events has been moved solely by a desire to show the world that amateur contests could be relieved of all taint of professionalism.

"It makes little difference," continued Mr. Jackson, "whether America or England wins. None of the universities suffers by defeat in these events, as in professional contests. What they may gain from it is not bona fide students. The matter being satisfactorily settled, no one need fear for the success of these games."

"The time short for preparation. It will require plenty of work to get all these young men together at a season when everyone has his engagement book filled, but I have hopes that all the boys will be comfortable both as to make our American friends as welcome as we know they would make us, and I have little doubt that their lack of objections for their entertainment when they arrive."

It has been definitely decided that the programme shall consist of ten events, as at the Oxford and Cambridge regatta. The first two rival teams seem to be very evenly matched and it has been said that it would perhaps have been advisable to have included another contest, say at 220 yards, as to avoid a tie, if possible.

The attorney general filed a petition in the supreme court at Indianapolis the other day praying that body to adjourn to the city of Anacoda, and give an early decision in the interest of good morals and the integrity of the laws of the state. The case is one in which the state has prosecuted a man for selling lottery tickets, and for gambling, and the attorney general is anxious to have it disposed of before the summer vacation of the court.

JAIL BREAK PREVENTED

Fatsy O'Brien Caught Talking to the Prisoners.

THROUGH OPEN WINDOW

Was Promptly Arrested, for the Midnight Hour and His Actions Gave Rise to Suspicion on the Part of the Officers.

What might have been a jail-break at the county jail Saturday night was averted by the vigilance of officers. As it is, a man who was communicating with the prisoners, and possibly passing them tools, is under arrest and will have a hearing to-day.

Under Sheriff Morgan has a sleeping apartment adjoining the jail and communicating with it by a window. Late Saturday night as he was retiring he put his head through the window, as is his custom, to listen for any suspicious sound.

As he did so the sound of murmuring voices came to him from the far end of the jail near a window. He dispatched Deputy Sheriff Daly to the outside of the jail. The deputy stole quietly between the building and the one next to it, and came to the window and listened through the window. He found that a man was talking down to prisoners below him. Daly pounced upon the man and took him inside. The prisoner proved to be Fatsy O'Brien, a notorious character who has served terms for petty larceny. O'Brien vouchsafed no explanation of his conduct.

The window through O'Brien was talking is below the surface of the ground and faces a hollowed out area under a sidewalk. In this sidewalk is the grating through which O'Brien was talking. The window itself is grating and is covered on the inside, as a rule, by a wire screen. This screen had been removed evidently by the prisoners. After O'Brien was taken to the cell a search of the jail was made, but nothing was found. It is believed O'Brien was discovered before he had been able to fulfill his mission, whatever it was. It would have been easier for him to pass any small article through the grating and stench through the open window to the prisoners below him. Possibly his only endeavor was to pass in morphine or other forbidden drugs to a friend inside.

Prison authorities throughout the county have been constantly on the lookout to prevent weapons, tools, morphine or other dangerous articles being smuggled into prison, and oftentimes are outwitted. A soap of freemasonry exists among criminals in and out of jail and they are enabled to communicate many times through the authorities think communication is absolutely impossible.

An instance is on record in this state where a vigilant official himself unwittingly gave the coveted morphine to a convict. A friend of the official met the officer on the street and asked him to take a bag of fruit to the prisoner. The officer complied, but before allowing it to go in had the fruit examined by the guard. The fruit had been concealed in it. A few hours later look at the prisoner showed he had secured morphine. The fruit was uneaten. Then a field search was conducted. After hours of patient investigation it was found the paper bag in which the fruit had come had a double bottom pasted in it. Between the false and real bottom the morphine had been concealed.

Newspapers are frequently used as a means of sending messages. Copies of a newspaper are procured and from one of them a column of printed matter is carefully cut out. The morphine is scattered over the corresponding column in the other paper and the clipped column is pasted over that, tenacious paste being used and being put along the edges. The prison authorities open the paper, glance through it, and unless familiar with the trick or gifted with exceptional perception, overlook the concealed column.

Oranges and bananas are frequently used as mediums to convey morphine, and even files and saws. The drug of the tool is placed in the heart of the fruit, the skin being first carefully parted to admit it. Then the wound in the skin is patched up in a manner to defy detection.

The simpler form of direct communication from the outside, such as O'Brien used, is rarely resorted to, but now and then is successful. Though the chances of detection are great, O'Brien had not been discovered, could have passed tempered saws and files through to the prisoners and assisted them in sawing away the bars to liberty.

O'Brien's standing as a criminal is clearly established. His last term in jail was served for the theft of garden hose.

Feed Strawberry Pudding.

Boil a pound of sugar and a pint of water together for 30 minutes, watching carefully that it does not get too thick. Beat the yolks of six eggs very light, add them to the boiling syrup, stir over a fire for a moment, then turn into a large bowl. Beat continuously until cold and thick like a sponge cake butter. Then add a pint of strawberry juice and freeze.
