

ANACONDA NEWS.

IT IS A DEATHLESS LIFE

That in Christ Is As Fresh To-Day As at Creation.

WILL NEVER GROW OLD

Christ Becoming All To-Day in Our Humanities and in Our Patriotism.

Rev. W. T. Euster's Sermon Yesterday.

Rev. W. T. Euster, pastor of the First M. E. church, preached to a fine audience yesterday from the text found in Colossians 5:11. "Seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds, and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of Him that created him, where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free, but Christ is all and in all." He said in part:

"When we realize the conditions at Colossus in the time of Paul, and see the heart desire to understand in relation to the gospel of Christ we shall have a better and a broader idea of the truth as it is in Christ Jesus. To effect this has been found necessary in all ages; it is an easy matter to distinguish the old from the new world. Upon the hinges of the first advent the door of the future swings open, while the door of the past swings closed. The new has been growing ever growing, as the ages have passed by, while the old has been ever growing older.

"While in the reverie of the study there came an illustration to mind which I once experienced. One day I dust-covered plains of Nevada, where for many weary miles nothing but dreary wastes of sage brush could be seen, the train swung wearily, at hot noonday, at dull and monotonous pace, it crept along, all too slowly. At times there would be just a little breaking of the monotony; and when at last the end of that mysterious Humboldt river was reached, where far along the mountain side one could see where in previous ages the water mark testified to a sea higher and grander than the murky and stagnant waters that now are there—for the river here sinks under the mountains—here came the thought of the Idow old. It was just like that. Selfishness, pride, hatred, avarice and inhumanity, mingled with fearful sensuality, had dried and blasted all. Far away along the mountain side one could see a mark indicating that ages before some golden age had existed before men were corrupted and fallen as they then were. Our train climbed in and out up the steep grades of the Sierra Nevada, not just as in the early ages Christianity had the steep to climb, but when the summit was passed and the valleys of California were entered, the great valleys of oak forests, the flowery valleys, the progress and life manifested in the cities, plains and groves of the most beautiful of lands.

Christ Will Never Grow Old. "So it has been with the new world, and Christ has made it possible. Whatever else may grow old the spirit, the power and the love will never grow old. It is as new to-day as it was in the morning of creation; it will be as new and as fresh when probation's day is done as it is now. Creeds may pass away, systems may decay, customs may vanish, but these values which are the fundamentals of our religion will remain forever and forever new and becoming newer all the time.

Christ is becoming all to-day in our humanities. No sister of charity ever kneels beside a wounded soldier upon the field of battle, no deaconess ever seeks out the poor and those in want, no nurse ever kneels beside the suffering one in the hospital without Christ being back of that and its inspiration, too. The institutions of mercy found in Christian lands have all been inspired by Christ. To do unto others as you would have them do unto us, and to have the established principle of future responsibility to be as it is given in the closing words of the 25th chapter of Matthew, where action in relation to the poor, the sick and the ones in trial is the one thing looked upon by our God; these must forever be the foundation of all humanitarianism.

Christ in Patriotism. "Christ is coming to be all in our patriotism. In the old world, before Christ came, the highest principle of patriotism found was self-preservation and conquest. What cruelty, what inhumanity we see there? The war of the rebellion freed many slaves who were helpless; our last war was founded upon a much higher principle than any ancient war known to history. Christ is reigning in culture. No one can be right in life and in heart without being like Him, and as many owe their all in character to Him, who will not acknowledge His lordship as there are active members in the church. He is all in our liberties.

"I never fully realized this until after taking part in a debate started by infidels in an infidel neighborhood upon the proposition: 'That we owe our liberties to Christianity.' From 8 o'clock in the evening until 1 o'clock next morning the debate lasted, with the city hall filled with people. The leading infidel of that place said next day: 'I have always depended much upon the assertions of our infidel friends and have taken for granted that they had the right side, but from now on I am done with infidelity.'

"Christ is all in our experiences, as He should be all in our ritual, for it means nothing excepting as it leads to him. All denominations will yet unite in spirit, being baptized by the spirit of the cross, and they will unite the cross. All schools of the higher life who teach sanctification, holiness and perfection, will yet meet, clasping hands about the cross. Higher can no one ever attain that has not been better than no one ever attain than was Christ, and highest and brightest experience is found nearest His side. May He be all and in all to us in our theology, our church work and our lives as Christians. We can overcome with Him. We can be prepared for heaven and all its immortal and glorified companionships through Christ."

ECLIPSE THIS WEEK.

One of the Moon Will Be Witnessed Thursday Night.

If next Thursday night be clear Anacoda people will have an opportunity of viewing a total eclipse of the moon. Astronomers have scheduled the eclipse for that night, saying it will be visible in the eastern portions of Asia and throughout the Pacific ocean and the western portions of North America, but not visible east of the Rockies. The end will be visible in eastern Africa.

Summer begins in this region, according to the almanac, Wednesday morning, June 21.

Several important anniversaries take place this week. To-day, June 19, is the anniversary of the declaration of war made against England in 1812. A year ago Wednesday, June 21, General Shafter's army reached Santiago, and a year ago next Saturday, June 24, the skirmish or battle of Sevilla was fought.

June 25 is the anniversary of the Custer massacre in 1876. June 26 is the anniversary of the Seven Days' battle of the civil war, it having taken place in 1862. June 30, 1882, Guitteau was hanged.

BRIGHT MONTANA BOY.

He Wins Honors at Bishop Scott's Academy, Portland.

A Montana boy has been winning honors this year at Bishop Scott's academy, the well known military academy located near Oregon. In the report of the closing of the school for the summer vacation the Portland Oregonian says that among those receiving special mention for high standing in studies during the last quarter of the school year was Harvey Allen, Houston of Missoula. He was also commissioned cadet captain for the ensuing year.

The academy is a famous school on the coast, having been established over 25 years. The military department was instituted in 1887, but recent though that that department fought in the Hispano-American war. Fourteen of these were officers, five were non-commissioned officers and 11 were enlisted men.

FELL INTO THE LAKE.

But Escaped With no Damage Other Than a Wetting.

An event not on the programme took place at the Lake park yesterday when the 8-year-old son of W. M. Tooby accidentally dropped himself into the lake and emerged a frightened and dampened youngster. His fright was occasioned not by the dip into the water, but by the fact that he felt his parents would not approve of his action in falling in. The boy slipped into the water in careless small-boy style and was fished out promptly and scientifically.

Paragraphs That Tell in Brief of the Leading Fashions.

The finish of sleeves at the wrists is a point in fashion very carefully considered this season. There are points and scallops cut on the sleeves and falling over the hand, and little circular frills set in, and the facing of these is quite as important as the trimming outside, if not more so. White satin is the prevailing facing, and this is covered with cream lace or black chintilly, or trimmed with little frills of lace or chiffon.

Pretty evening dresses for young girls are made of cream net over taffeta silks and trimmed from waist to hem with frills of white satin ribbon. Belts for the neck are not really novelties, but they have blossomed out in new and varied designs for the summer girl. The latest is a sort of dog collar in silver or gold arranged in medallions with chains between, or made in a solid band set with jewels. These are worn over a band of colored ribbon, with a belt for the waist to match.

A parasol which matches the color in your hat is the chic thing to have this season. A pretty summer cape is made with two accordion plaited ruffles of white chiffon striped with black satin in the edge. The plaitings are finished with a tiny ruche of chiffon, and a ruche of chiffon with long scarf ends completes this dainty wrap, made on a white taffeta silk undergarment.

Guimpes with sleeves made of chiffon or silk can be purchased in the shops for almost any price between $50 and $15. The new moire silks interwoven with floral designs are as soft and pliable as Oriental satin.

Velvet and neck chains strung with coral beads are one of the season's novelties. A few yards of tulle, more yards of fine wire and a bunch of flowers form a good recipe for a fashionable toque. Simple enough in the abstract, yet no one but the most artistic milliner can bring anything like success out of this combination.

Making hat crowns of flowers is one of the novel effects in millinery, but the latest form of vegetation used for this purpose is moss, not artificial moss, but the real thing.

Calamity howlers may get their deadly work in somewhere, but they certainly don't keep customers away from Thueson's tailoring business, 23 Chestnut street.

Stewart as a Gambler. Senator Stewart of Nevada tells the following story of his only experience as a gambler: "My first and only experience was in San Francisco in the spring of 1859. I was a youngster, and had wandered into a resort called the El Dorado, at which all sorts of games were in progress, and on the tables were piled up huge stacks of gold and silver coin. I looked on as a green youth would, and was attracted to a roulette wheel. A miner was betting $100 at every turn, and luck seemed to come his way. I didn't have much money, but concluded I'd take a chance, and started in with a silver quarter, following every bet of the miner. I ran this 25 cent piece up to $25, and thought I was my fortune, obeyed the bidding of the croupier and quit. As I went out of the place I heard an old gambler say, 'the sucker will be back inside of an hour and lose it all.' That remark, for all I knew, had a great effect on me. After a year, for I not only resolved not to go back, but never to fight any game of chance in the future. So I quit the gambling then and there and kept my resolution."

Hard on Him. From the Detroit Free Press. "Something must be done with those boys of mine at college," exclaimed a staid old citizen. "They're wilder than March hares and in hot water all the time." "Oh, well, they're young yet, and you must make allowances." "Make allowances, man? That's what's keeping me poor!"

CURED HIS STUTTERING

What a Mauser Bullet Did to a Volunteer Soldier.

TOLD BY AN ANACONDA BOY

Private H. E. Redmond of Colorado Shot in the Mouth by a Mauser Bullet and Now Talks Freely.

Do you stutter? Get shot in the mouth with a Mauser bullet and you will stutter no more.

It is a kill or cure remedy, but one case at least is on record where it has cured without killing. The other cases of stuttering people being shot in the mouth cannot be reported on, as all the patients died. Nevertheless the operation may have been successful.

Private H. E. Redmond, Company C, 1st Colorado volunteers, the star stutterer of the Eighth army corps, is the man who proved the success of the Mauser bullet cure for stuttering.

An Anacoda volunteer, a member of Company M, writes to his relatives in this city of the case. They do not desire his name used. The young man at the time of writing was a patient in the first reserve hospital near Manila.

"Do not be worried about me," he writes, "I am only a little knocked out by the heat and will be out in a few days, the doctor says."

"There has been an odd case here in the hospital, H. E. Redmond, a private in C company of the Colorado regiment, has been cured of stuttering by a Mauser bullet. That's what he says, anyhow. He was shot in the mouth by a Mauser bullet at the battle of Marikina, March 21. The bullet went in at a little scar just above his upper lip and alongside his nose. "Previous to being shot Redmond is said to have been the worst stutterer in the Eighth army corps. I don't know how he passed the physical examiners, but he got in somehow and all kinds of stories are told about his stuttering. When at the Presidio, San Francisco, he was on sentry duty one night and when grand rounds came around he got stuttering and could not challenge them. The result was he was put in the guard house for neglect of duty. At Marikina and, in fact, every engagement in which he took part, Redmond kept all near him laughing by his stuttering attempts to laugh by the niggers. He was always good-humored about it and everybody likes him.

"Now, although he has stuttered from the time he was born, he speaks as freely as you or I. When first wounded he could not talk at all except when he had let all stuttering and he is so overjoyed at his cure that he talks most of the time. 'I can tell a story now,' he says.

"Captain Dillon, who was acting major and wounded, as you probably know, is here in the hospital and is doing well."

Handsome Compartment Cars.

"The compartment cars consist of seven double compartments and two drawing rooms, divided in the center by a corridor. The compartments, in suites of two or more rooms, are finished in different woods—padouk, St. Jaco mahogany and Cirrasian walnut—and the colors of the draperies used in connection with the different woods are in perfect harmony. With the padouk is used a delicate blue, with the mahogany a soft warm olive, while with the walnut is a happy combination of warm walnut brown, Venetian red and delicate cream." The compartment cars referred to are carried on the Milwaukee's celebrated Pioneer Limited—the only perfect train in the world.

"You see, madam, Ivory Soap is really the most economical. The cake is so large that it easily divides into two cakes of the ordinary size. There is twice as much soap as you get in the usual cake of toilet soap. Then it is very economical in use, for although it lathers quickly, it is always firm and hard, even in hot water. As it floats, you can not lose it or leave it to waste in the bowl. We sell it to all of our best trade for general use."
