They Indorse the Action of the Superintendent in the Smallpox Matter.

The board of education at its meeting last night briefly referred to the historic smallpox regime. The question came up on the report of the city superintendent of schools, who stated that he had complied with the order of the president and vice president of the board in admitting children to the schools, who could show satisfactory evidence of successful vaccination...

The superintendent also showed a letter from City Physician Alexander to the principal of the Lincoln school, in which that official demanded that the principal admit into the school a little boy who lives with his parents in an apartment house from which floats the telltale yellow flag of warning. The superintendent replied: "Send the boy home with the instructions to remain there until the quarantine shall be removed from the house in which he lives."

The janitor and supply committee was given one more week to report on the wood question.

THOROUGHLY RENOVATED.

The South Butte Presbyterian Church Being Beautified Throughout.

The South Butte Presbyterian church is undergoing a thorough renovation. It is expected that by next Sunday the work will be finished and will then be one of the best and cleanest churches in the city of Butte. Since last January the company of faithful people have done exceedingly well. There is no debt and through the faithful and hard work of their financial agent, Mrs. W. Davies, the affairs are in excellent condition. The congregations, both on Sunday morning and evening, are unusually large. The Sunday school next Sunday will convene after the morning service. The Young People's society is about as lively a society as any in Butte and has among her members some of the very best Christian workers. The people of this part of the city are beginning to take great interest in their church. The ladies of the church are working hard for a grand and useful year of service in the near future. The pastor, Frederick Tonge, is not the least among the hard workers in the church, and was honored this year by being elected president of the Silver Bow Ministerial association, and prior to that to the moderatorship of the Butte presbytery of the synod of Montana.

WILL HOLD AN INQUEST.

Coroner Will Endeavor to Ascertain the Cause of Dan Agoa's Death.

Nothing new was learned yesterday in connection with the sudden death of Dan Agoa on Monday. Though the police made careful inquiry into the case, Dr. MacNevin stated to Coroner Jullien that he had no doubt in his mind that the wound on Agoa's head was the cause of his death, and the coroner accordingly decided to hold an inquest to ascertain if possible how he received the injury. The inquest will be held at Duggan's this evening.

The funeral of Patrick Quinn will leave the residence of his niece, Miss M. E. Ryan, No. 408 West Quartz street, this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The body of Dan Agoa was shipped last night to Harrison, New Jersey.

GRADUALLY DYING OUT.

No New Cases of Smallpox for Some Days.

The smallpox scare appears to be gradually dying out. There have been no new cases for three or four days, and only two or three suspicious cases have been reported. Dr. Monroe visited a couple of suspects yesterday, but found they were not smallpox cases. The afflicted are all reported as doing well, and in two of the cases the quarantine was raised. Those are the O'Donnell home at Walkerville and the home of young Madden in Gallatin street. It is now believed all danger of an epidemic is past.

Thanksgiving Day is near.

Thanksgiving day is but a few short days distant. Housekeepers throughout the land are making preparations for a grand dinner on that day. Those residing in Butte are reminded that in order to complete the menu for that day the ordering of a case of Centennial beer is most important. It will add a zest to the meal that is really surprising—at least this is the experience of thousands of families who use it as a daily accompaniment to their meals.

CASE OF SELF MURDER

Isaac Moore Deliberately Took His Own Life.

DETAILS OF THE SUICIDE

Coroner's Inquest Develops Nothing Further Than Already Known—Dead Man Was Very Uneasy in His Mind.

Coroner Jullien held an inquest on the body of Isaac G. Moore, the dairyman who committed suicide Saturday night by shooting himself at his ranch south of Rocker. From the testimony taken there could be no doubt that the shooting was a case of self-murder, and the jury so found in its verdict.

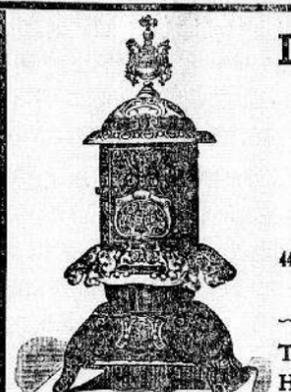

Sebastian Rodoni was the first witness called. He said he had known Moore nine years and had worked for him at different times during that period. He was employed by a certain home with Moore, came home Saturday evening; heard him inquire of Fred Deuchler what kind of a mess of milk the cows had given and if the cream had been taken care of. Receiving an answer that the cream had been taken care of, Moore got up from the table and went out. The men were still at the table. They supposed he had gone down to take care of the cream, as that was his work ordinarily. He was apparently perfectly sober. After witness and the rest of the men finished supper they went to bed. The bed was not far from the house. In 5 or 10 minutes the McQuarrie boy came into the cabin and told the witness that Mrs. Moore wanted him. Witness went out and told by Mrs. Moore that her husband had left the house with his gun, and she feared, with no good intention. She said Moore was not at the cow barn or milk house, and with dark and no light he could not call to Moore three times, but got no answer; started to step inside when Moore warned him to keep back or he would get shot; started in again, but Moore repeated his threat to shoot, and witness sprang back and begged him not to kill himself. Then the shot was fired and Moore fell to the floor dead. Once after Moore was injured, more than a year ago, he told the witness that if he did not get well again like other people he would get out of the way.

Manuel Strozzal had worked for Moore at his ranch for seven years. He saw Moore when he had come Saturday evening. He seemed preoccupied and ill-natured. He set down at the table and told of meeting two men on the road inquired his way to the ranch and between Rocker and the ranch who inquired his way to the ranch. He said he told them to keep away from him or he would knife them. The circumstances of the suicide, the witness related in much the same language as the preceding witness. The witness said he arrived at the horse barn just as the shot was fired; was probably 20 feet away from Moore; ran up and, a light being brought, saw Moore lying on his back in the doorway, blood was flowing over the floor and a revolver lay near his feet. He was dead. Witness never heard Moore threaten to kill himself, though soon after his injury he had said it were better to be dead than crazed or crazy. Soon after Moore's discharge from the hospital Mrs. Moore gave the witness a revolver and asked him to keep it. She did not make any explanation, and he did not know at the time exactly what her purpose was. Two or three months after that she asked him for the gun, and he gave it back.

Arthur McQuarrie, a boy who was at the ranch, and Fred Deuchler gave testimony corroborative of the preceding witnesses and Deuchler told of a conversation Moore had with one of the men at the ranch before the suicide. Moore was doing some hard work about the ranch and the man inquired why he worked so hard when he had so many men around him. Moore replied: "If I didn't keep busy I would go crazy."

The testimony of Chris Bilate added nothing to the inquiry. The jury returned the following verdict: "That the deceased came to his death in South Butte township, Silver Bow county, Montana, on Nov. 18, 1899, from the effects of a gun shot wound inflicted by the hand of said deceased with suicidal intent."

The funeral of the dead milkman was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Charles M. Brittain at 1101 West Broadway. The remains were buried at Mount Moriah cemetery.

Packed joint base. The under button and base top are each formed with a peculiar groove made to hold asbestos rope packing. When this is inserted and the parts bolted together, a joint is formed that is fire-proof, air tight and indestructible. It is better than a base cast in one piece, because expansion of either part will not result in breakage. The joint between the fire pot and base top is made in the same manner. THE ASH PIT is deep and massive, and the ash door fits upon a straight seat, perfectly tight. The DRAIFT VALVE is operated by means of a screw and hand wheel. Two complete turns of the wheel releases the screw and permits the valve to be thrown back, disclosing the opening for the shaker. This obviates the necessity for a shaker opening into the ash pit. BALL BEARING GRATE RESTS UPON STEEL BALLS three-quarters of an inch in diameter, and moves without friction. It has a cone center and both shakers and dampers. HOT BLAST BURNER. At the top of the fire pot and extending completely around the stove on the inside is a hollow ring or chamber, which receives air through a damper under the feed door, and discharges it through small perforations. This supplies oxygen for burning the gases and for burning fine coal. It also protects the sheet steel at the point where it is subject to most injury.

EXTRAORDINARY SKILL

How often we hear it said that Butte is overrun with doctors! This assertion is doubtless true, but why are so many men ailing? Why do they continuously take treatment for their private ills and yet never get well? In the majority of cases it is because they secure only ordinary treatment. It is because they go to the general practitioner, who lacks the teachings of experience in specialty cases, or, what is still worse for them, they go to the self-styled specialist whose specialty embraces, as their announcements imply, every known disease. It is because they come in contact with too many bells, specifiers, free samples, trial treatments, electro-medical combinations or similar devices. That such treatment does not nor cannot cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men is well known to all who have tried them.

Neglected or badly treated cases of VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON, IMPOTENCY or allied troubles require the very best treatment the medical profession affords. They require superb skill. They require expert knowledge, born of great volumes of experience in treating them. They require the deepest, clearest, keenest possible insight into the mysteries of human functions, shrouded as they often are in darkness, where the ordinary medical eye sees but little and guesses at facts.

Syphilitic Blood Poison. Completely and permanently eradicated from the system in from 30 to 90 days by a treatment that contains no injurious medicines, but leaves the patient in as healthy a condition as before contracting the disease. Gonorrhoea Recently Contracted Cured in 3 to 10 Days. Gleet, Stricture, Varicocele, Hydrocele Permanently Cured. CERTAINTY OF CURE is what you want—free treatment schemes, electric belts, patent medicines, never cure this class of diseases. If you have tried them you know the result. Our charges are within the reach of all; rich and poor alike are invited to have a confidential talk regarding their troubles. No honest man need go without the treatment that will effect his complete and permanent cure. Consultation Free. Write—Home treatment is always satisfactory and strictly confidential.
