RED CUNNINGHAM'S FIGHT

How He Met a Famous Boxer in the Fistic Arena.

VICTIM OF HIS FRIENDS

They Made Him Believe He Was a Great Man in the Pugilistic World.

The story printed in the Standard several days ago, telling how the brother of "Red" Cunningham in Buffalo, N. Y., learned of "Red's" death in Anacoda through a story about him in the Standard, has brought out several recollections of "Red," who was a well-known character.

"Part of the time he was a barber and part of the time he dealt faro," said an old-timer, discussing him yesterday. "He was a better faro dealer than barber, for he was dextrous with cards—honestly so, I mean—but at barbering he could raise everlasting hades. He was one of those barbers who go over once and then, when going over a second time go under about an inch. Whew!" (rubbing his chin reflectively) "how he could mangle a man."

"Red" was tall, awkward and ungainly, but good-natured. Now and then the boys used to put up jobs on him. Jimmy Johnson was the leading spirit in one of the jobs, perhaps the biggest in which poor "Red" was ever the butt.

"Jack Dempsey, the Neapoli, was coming here with a company giving athletic exhibitions. In the company Jack had a sparring partner every bit as clever as Jack, who was offering $25 for any local man in the town who would show to stand against him. When the coming of the show was heralded in Anacoda Jimmy Johnson and the boys set about jobbing "Red." By dint of persistent flattery they induced "Red" to accept the fighting man of town and could pull down that $25 easier than winking.

"The boys constituted themselves 'Red's' trainers. They fitted up quarters in the back room of a saloon and there they used to give 'Red' his exercise, rubbing him down and throwing a few drinks into him every now and then. They would chase up a different hobo or hanger-on every day, represent him to 'Red' as a good fighter and have the two put on the gloves.

"To insure a victory for 'Red' they would fix the hobo ahead of time. 'Red' would knock the hobo down all over the ring, the latter appearing to be getting fearfully trounced, while the boys would stand around in an apparently wild state of enthusiasm over 'Red's' prowess. Day by day 'Red' would be convinced he was the only thing on top of earth and thought of meeting Dempsey himself.

"The night of the show arrived. All the boys were there occupying front seats. Dempsey and his partner sparring their rattling, brilliant bout, the club swinger gave his exhibition, the other members on the programme came and went and then the big thing of the evening was announced.

"Red" stepped awkwardly into the ring amid tumultuous applause. He had been fitted out with tight trunks and a belt made of the American and Irish flags. He haughtily acknowledged the salutation of the crowd.

"When the bout began 'Red's' face, or such of it as we could see when the other fellow's gloves were all over the ring, was a study. He actually couldn't do a thing but fiddle with his arms a little after the man had hit him. The real fighter would slap him on one cheek and then on the other and would vary the proceedings by gently pushing 'Red's' face back, while 'Red' would fan the air wildly.

"The boys were convulsed. They howled with merriment.

"Come up here and take some of it yourselves, if you like it so well," growled, but the boys only shouted the more.

"That was the last of 'Red's' pugilistic career. Never again did he have aspirations in that direction."

"On to Manila," 25 cents, silver or stamps, at Standard offices in Anacoda, Butte, Missoula or Great Falls.

The overcoat we're turning out to individual measure for $28 has many good points. We have the cloth in large variety of weight and patterns. Thursday.

HE TOOK HIS OWN BOOK

But the Jury Held His Act Was Larceny Nevertheless.

CHRISTIANSEN IS GUILTY

The Fine Placed at One Dollar—He Tried to Save His Account Book When the Constable Served an Attachment.

Whether or not a creditor who tries to get away with his books in the face of an attachment is guilty of larceny is a question that was debated long and earnestly before a jury in Justice of the Peace Devine's court room yesterday. The jury finally decided he was guilty, but on the principle that "It is a sin to steal a pin;

To steal a tater is a greater," and fixed the punishment at a fine of $1.

The trouble began on Monday, when Constable Lynch went to A. Christiansen's place of business on Cedar street to serve an attachment sued out by the Copper City Commercial company to secure payment of a bill of $88, which, by the way, Christiansen denies he owes.

While serving the attachment, Lynch detected Christiansen in the act of removing a book from a drawer and concealing it under his coat.

Lynch accused Christiansen of trying to get away with the book. Christiansen said it was his book and he had a right to it. They didn't come to blows, but they talked like it and finally the constable arrested Christiansen and took him to the station. There the book was rescued from under Christiansen's coat when he was searched.

Now the constable wanted this book particularly. It contained the names of Christiansen's debtors and the amounts they owed him and would be handy in case it was desired to garnish.

Yesterday afternoon Christiansen was tried before a jury in Justice Devine's court. Constable Lynch told the story as related in the foregoing. Mr. Walsh had witnessed the affair and corroborated the testimony. J. P. Devine, who was employed in the store, had been present, but his recollection of all that happened was not good.

The defense, which was represented by Attorney John W. James, argued that the book was not the property of the Copper City Commercial company and that in the taking no larceny could have been committed. He held that if Christiansen had been guilty of any offense it was that of contempt.

Prosecuting Attorney Duffy, in reply, argued that the book, while the property of Christiansen originally, by the serving of the writ had passed to the constable under the appointment created by that writ. He argued along these lines at some length.

After the matter was submitted to the jury that body continued the argument, for there was a lengthy debate behind the closed doors of the jury room. A verdict was returned after 45 minutes' deliberation, finding Christiansen guilty and fixing his sentence at a fine of $1.

From his own court room Justice Devine then went to the table cloth, room to sit in place of Magistrate J. M. Kennedy, who was in Butte. The only prisoners brought before him were Mrs. Rody and Mrs. Boyle, charged with disturbing the peace. They are members of the East End Growler club arrested Sunday night at the home of Mrs. Rody. The case was set at first for 7 p. m., but later reset for 2 p. m. to-day.

While in the court room Mrs. Boyle smiled graciously upon Prosecuting Attorney Duffy.

"Have you seen what my husband has done to me, Mr. Duffy?" said she. "I have," said Mr. Duffy. "He's sued you for divorce and he's saying some bad things about you in the suit."

"So he is," said Mrs. Boyle, "and did you see the man he put in there? Sure, if as soon put a hat on a pig and kiss it as that man."

And then Mrs. Boyle gathered her skirts about her and joined Mrs. Rody in a descent to the cells below.

School Will Not Close. The work will continue as usual in the graded and high school departments and in voluntary departments.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others. Why Not You? My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well. Adolph L. Millet, Manchester, N. H.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa. Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known to our friends as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galishe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial."

Not a Surprise. It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine in and in telling of the benefit they have received from it. Of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by all druggists.

Will Give a Ball. Daughters of Pocahontas Arranging for an Elaborate Affair. Thanksgiving even, Nov. 29, Junia council, Degree of Pocahontas, will give a ball at A. O.
